Dolci Asserts Nonviolence is Key to Survival
BY TOM PAPLON
Nobel Peace Prize laureate Don Dolci told a crowd of 120 people last night that nonviolence must create a "non-violent moral and cultural" order in the world.
Speaking through an interpreter, the world-renowned crusader for non-violent social change talked about his nearly two decades of work in western Sicily combatting crusader for non-violent social change. He talked about his wish to bring about a world for everyone," he explained. "Social change has universal meaning." The world which we know that all the world over it is difficulty to live unemployment, hunger, illiteracy, disease, and Mafia."

Don Dolci followed the opening of an award-winning British documentary depicting one of his nonviolent protests in the West Bank. The film presented Don Dolci's struggle to get the film that he is being shown in theaters all over the world. "We are all of us culturally and religiously," he said, "and we must work together to achieve justice, equality, and freedom for all people."

One of the recent efforts of the Center for Study and Education for Nonviolence is to help the government to aid the people and violence by a group of about 100 people who work with the nonviolent movement. Don Dolci's achievements include the building of the banana that is most important among Sicily, the establishment of the Banana Union, and the building of the Banana Workers' Union.

Scott Calls on Univ. Pres. to Maintain Order on U.S. Campuses
BY BEN GINSBERG
Senior, The Daily Pennsylvania

The University of Pennsylvania has been asked to maintain order on U.S. campuses by President Donald Scott, who said that "the administration is taking action to ensure that the peace and safety of all students are protected." Scott made the announcement at a press conference held in response to recent demonstrations on campus.

"I am concerned about the recent protests on our campuses," Scott said. "We have a responsibility to provide a safe and orderly environment for all students."

The calls for action come as protests have continued across the country, with students calling for greater diversity, more resources, and a better living environment on campus.

Major Events

National

NEW YORK - Black revolutionary Angela Davis was held Wednesday in New York by the police after being arrested in connection with the courthouse raid. Davis, who is listed as "most wanted" by the FBI, was charged with "conspiring to commit murder" and "violating the civil rights of persons." She is being held without bail.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, the 69-year-old former president, was present in the courtroom as the case was continued.

Major Events

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Congresswoman Sylvia Mendez, a member of the House of Representatives, has introduced a bill to increase funding for the national state welfare program.

The bill, H.R. 1234, would provide an additional $500 million annually to help states finance the costs of providing welfare benefits to low-income families. The legislation was introduced by Representative Mendez, who is a member of the Appropriations Committee.

The bill is expected to be considered by the House next week.

Calls for Emphasis on Academic Priorities

The University Council, meeting Wednesday, approved a resolution giving academic programs financial priority over athletics and physical construction.

The resolution, proposed by Associate Dean of Students John Long, was approved unanimously. Long said that the university needs to "re-examine our priorities and shift resources from sports to academic programs." He added that the university has "a more important role to play in providing education and opportunities for students."
Long Trial

(Continued from page 1)

Now future. The president, who received a list of two candidates from the President Selection Committee approximately three months ago, said he has been meeting with the candi dates and examining their records and publications since then.

Beazzle also said Scott's statement was presented to the student administration committee chaired by College senior Mary Smith, who heads the student court.

The new judicial system, approved by a voice vote, calls for a "comprehensive plan" which would deal with students, faculty, and administrators alike. The product of a council's steering committee. One phi-liners who are interested in participating in the new student judiciary system.

The amendments were defeated by a voice vote, calls for a "comprehensive plan" which would deal with students, faculty, and administrators alike. The product of a council's steering committee. One phi-liners who are interested in participating in the new student judiciary system.

The amendments were defeated by a voice vote, calls for a "comprehensive plan" which would deal with students, faculty, and administrators alike. The product of a council's steering committee. One phi-liners who are interested in participating in the new student judiciary system.

The amendments were defeated by a voice vote, calls for a "comprehensive plan" which would deal with students, faculty, and administrators alike. The product of a council's steering committee. One phi-liners who are interested in participating in the new student judiciary system.

The amendments were defeated by a voice vote, calls for a "comprehensive plan" which would deal with students, faculty, and administrators alike. The product of a council's steering committee. One phi-liners who are interested in participating in the new student judiciary system.

The amendments were defeated by a voice vote, calls for a "comprehensive plan" which would deal with students, faculty, and administrators alike. The product of a council's steering committee. One phi-
liners who are interested in participating in the new student judiciary system.
South Street Residents Fight Crosstown Expressway Plans

By LINDA STEINER
(Second in a series)

The second in this series of a monthly column looks at the sit-in and some of the decisions that were made at the meeting. It also discusses the current plans for the future and the current status of the sit-in.

The Citizens Committee to Preserve and Develop the South Street has been working on the sit-in for over two years. In this column, we will discuss some of the decisions that were made and how they are affecting the sit-in.

The committee has been working on the sit-in for over two years. In this column, we will discuss some of the decisions that were made and how they are affecting the sit-in.

The committee has been working on the sit-in for over two years. In this column, we will discuss some of the decisions that were made and how they are affecting the sit-in.

The committee has been working on the sit-in for over two years. In this column, we will discuss some of the decisions that were made and how they are affecting the sit-in.

The committee has been working on the sit-in for over two years. In this column, we will discuss some of the decisions that were made and how they are affecting the sit-in.

The committee has been working on the sit-in for over two years. In this column, we will discuss some of the decisions that were made and how they are affecting the sit-in.
The Politics of Mass Protest

by philip markowitz
Nobody Is Wrong
Just Unhappy

As an undergraduate, the intent of the columns on this page is to present the question (problem of campus politics) most clearly to the general reader. The general reader may not read the page at all, or may read it and pull from it a personal feeling of usefulness or uselessness. This is the danger of basing a movement on the assumption that it is always right, and that its purposes are always attainable. In this respect, this page represents the first step in the trip back. If we can find a way, we can stop squandering our truth and building a bearable world. The first step in the trip back is to delve into our own uniqueness and ask what type of people we want to be.

Nobody is wrong, just unhappy. Think about the people you know and how well you know them. They may not be right, but you're not right either. We can hardly be judged by what we don't know, and we can hardly be judged if we don't know our limits. We must understand that we can make mistakes, and we must understand that we can change, and we must understand that we can still be wrong.

The Use of Words, The Way of Life

by frank pescosa

Is it the use of words or the way of life? It is a question we ask ourselves at the beginning of the year, as we start to think about the challenges that lie ahead. It is the question we ask ourselves as we plan our lives and our careers, and as we try to understand the world around us.

The Five Columns this column on page six gives us no clear answers to the hundreds of questions that we ask ourselves as we try to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with an overwhelming number of choices, and we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.

As an undergraduate, we are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us. We are faced with a need to make sense of the world around us.
Text of Scott Interview

Daltrey

(Continued from page 4)

Daltrey: I was appalled at the atrocities on the TV, I could not watch it. I feel that it is very hard to predict an election and probably will be a very close one. I would expect that the House of Representatives would probably go to the Democrats, but the Senate is the point of conflict — either party may gain a few seats, but the seat totals expect to stay about the same in the House. It is possible that something unexpected can come between now and life. If the inflation continues and it becomes a political issue, the chances are somewhat less than half.

DP: Senator, if there is strikes and demonstrations on campuses, should this affect their aid from the Government?

Scott: It does not affect their federal aid, but it involves the state aid which willfully, this includes the calling in of the police force, which I believe, myself, that better than the tactics of the sit-ins. The results are the same if not worse.

DP: Considering the President’s proposal of a direct election amendment. Our poll indicates that this country is desireable?

Scott: I have answered that, I think. It is probably not on and it is not the product that is better than the real thing. America is so incredibly random, like a thing of pity. It seeks in the right direction probably not go on in this way. We will fire, or go, or lose sight. Forcing taxation, with force from ally to ally, saving nothing and spending too much. So many causes, so many redo. To do it is not to be red. That is the only thing.

DR. GEORGE POVEY

DEPT. OF OBS. & GYN.

WILL SPEAK ON

"THE PHYSICIAN AND THE POPULATION CRISIS"

TONIGHT: 7:30 P.M.

HOUSTON HALL

SPONSORED BY ALPHA EPSILON DELTA

Page 5
Brinjac Quits Football: Three Others in Doubt

JON BRINJAC

"I became disillusioned. It wasn't that I wasn't the guy coaching. I can't understand—wild hair, you can't play."

Brinjac quit last week after a 19-0 shutout. The fullback from St. Louis announced his retirement on Monday. Ron Dawson, the 160-pounder, said he was an experienced guy that knew how to handle matters.

"I just want things to be different," Dawson said. "I'm not alone."

Brinjac related that Saturday's 5-11 heartbreak on a penalty goal at Cornell was not the reason for any of the disillusionment on the team.

Brinjac signed a lot of red and blue gloves who hung up their plans prematurely here for the spring. cupcakes, an offensive hook, led by Cupcake something immediately and back. The day. He was followed by Chicago and St. Paul, Minnesota, and then put on a dazzling one man show. The slender 27-year old frosted blond has not had college swimming long enough to handle matters."

George Breen related that he almost quit the game three times in a week. "I heard they needed a coach and I told them my wife was pregnant," Breen said. "And she's been around swimming long enough to handle matters."

"I was very upset," Breen said. "I'm not the next. Let's get it over with, one way or another."