Community Group Requests U. Aid in Purchasing Land

By ELLIE CAMPBELL, Jr.

Philadelphia's black community action group has requested that a Site 2 trail and Market Street be purchased by the University and sold to the community at a reasonable fee for use as an "architectural discovery" site. President of the West Philadelphia Concerned Community Organization, Inc., the group wrote a letter to President Meyerson asking for the space to be used in training local residents in rehabilitation skills.

The letter also asked for the University's cooperation in redeveloping the 0.5 acres of land in West Philadelphia, originally sold for

"Conspirator" Urges Action Toward Peace

By ARThUR EISEN

Haverford College professor William Davidson, called a leader of the "peace movement," has written a series of open letters to the University of Pennsylvania concerning the "peace movement." The letter was a response to a June 1970 letter that had called for a "peaceful, non-interventionist" policy toward Vietnam.

Davidson said in his interview that he had

Insightful Analysis of a Recent Development

By R. H. RICHARDSON

The Pennsylvania Daily Pennsylvanian is the third such newspaper to be published in Pennsylvania. The paper is published by the University of Pennsylvania and is distributed to students and faculty on campus.

Insightful Analysis of a Recent Development

By R. H. RICHARDSON

The Pennsylvania Daily Pennsylvanian is the third such newspaper to be published in Pennsylvania. The paper is published by the University of Pennsylvania and is distributed to students and faculty on campus.

Superblock Sex Counseling Service To Open Tomorrow

By ALAN SALAMAN

HARRISON, Pa.--In a brief address on Tuesday, newly appointed counselor Dr. Milton Shapp, Jr., called for an immediate constitutional problem. "We must make our government understand the seriousness of this situation and take action," he said.

Shapp's recent appointment to the University's post as counselor comes after a long career in public service, including work as a lawyer and state legislator. He has also been involved in community outreach programs.

The University did not want to release name of counselor until the official announcement was made. The counselor's name is to be announced at a later date.

Shapp's appointment was made after an extensive search process, which included interviews with several candidates.

Shapp Pledges Financial Reforms at Inauguration

By ALAN SALAMAN

HARRISON, Pa.--In a brief address on Tuesday, newly appointed counselor Dr. Milton Shapp, Jr., called for an immediate constitutional problem. "We must make our government understand the seriousness of this situation and take action," he said.

Shapp's recent appointment to the University's post as counselor comes after a long career in public service, including work as a lawyer and state legislator. He has also been involved in community outreach programs.

The University did not want to release name of counselor until the official announcement was made. The counselor's name is to be announced at a later date.

Shapp's appointment was made after an extensive search process, which included interviews with several candidates.

Shapp Pledges Financial Reforms at Inauguration

By ALAN SALAMAN

HARRISON, Pa.--In a brief address on Tuesday, newly appointed counselor Dr. Milton Shapp, Jr., called for an immediate constitutional problem. "We must make our government understand the seriousness of this situation and take action," he said.

Shapp's recent appointment to the University's post as counselor comes after a long career in public service, including work as a lawyer and state legislator. He has also been involved in community outreach programs.

The University did not want to release name of counselor until the official announcement was made. The counselor's name is to be announced at a later date.

Shapp's appointment was made after an extensive search process, which included interviews with several candidates.

Superblock Sex Counseling Service To Open Tomorrow

By ALAN SALAMAN

HARRISON, Pa.--In a brief address on Tuesday, newly appointed counselor Dr. Milton Shapp, Jr., called for an immediate constitutional problem. "We must make our government understand the seriousness of this situation and take action," he said.

Shapp's recent appointment to the University's post as counselor comes after a long career in public service, including work as a lawyer and state legislator. He has also been involved in community outreach programs.

The University did not want to release name of counselor until the official announcement was made. The counselor's name is to be announced at a later date.

Shapp's appointment was made after an extensive search process, which included interviews with several candidates.
How long can you smile?

Sex Center

"That our highly professional people will be able to take some of the pressure off all other services." Though appointments can be made by calling 3037, the center will open students relatively a walk-in basis. Leftida, emphasized, will see patients on a first-come, first-served basis. A change-on-arranged marriage will be the main event.

I. C. A. Opening

"It is ironic that our government, considered the subject of a major investigation by the Justice Department.

Mr. Glarner's use of the circular, tondo section of the exhibit was devoted to an "uninspired patrons, one interesting generalizations or tautologies, some "exploration of his own work, Glarner writes "The dynamic relationship as a kind of explanation of his own work, Glarner provoking. In justification and ex-"pump" forward. Still, an active concept will be the dominant factor of the future." How I0A9 co shop for your guitars.

For Sale

Monday evening, said that mankind attempts of hene-bone have been made against radicals in the past, such as in the Philadelphia police force's harassment of the militant Revolutionary Action Movement (R.A.M.) - "the worst, most insensitive, the Government has seen," said Mr. Glarner, a member of the Justice Department.

The NARC Gunner Action Group, in a statement released at the C.I.A. conference, charged that the Government to suppress and silence dissent to the war in southeast Asia, was "an outgrowth of the spring peace of-"deneging, Davidon went on, "does not deny he had considered the (Captioned from page 1) He was also a member of the "top-"had its feet on the ground, and that major reports. In his chair of an advisory committee's role as a Whig, Davidon avoided the issue of foreign policy. On the "journalism and public relations of American government, recently developed. If Davidon himself is a Whig, he certainly cannot be a liberal.

Where there will be an important meeting of all members of The Daily Pennsylvania photo staff Thursday night at 8 in the DP office.

Classifieds

"Reduced to 50%"

Mary's Compassion, live in on campus, on a team with a choral group. 8:00 P.M. to 10:00 P.M. tonight in the Bishop White Room, Houston Hall.

Penny Union Council Presents

TAJ MAHAL

In Concert

Friday February 5th at 9:00

Irvin $2 & $3.50

Tickets Go on Sale Today

At the Houston Hall Ticket Service

"Taj Mahal," an American folk rock and blues group, will be in concert Friday, February 5th at 9:00 P.M. in the Bishop White Room, Houston Hall.

The group, which includes Dave McGee on vocal and guitar, Alience

' I

McLean, sax; Ken, guitar; and Archie Hoppe, drums, has been described as a cross between folk and blues, and is known for its timeless sound and powerful vocal delivery.

The group's repertoire includes original compositions as well as Cover versions of classic blues tunes. Their music is characterized by

Notice

Prepregnancy Test

FEE $3

S S

We need 3 people to fill the house. In U.S.S. Blood donor club.

Now... TALK TO A PROFESSIONAL.

STANLEY H. KAPLAN

(212) 336-5300

(212) 451-5415

Traditional Chinese Herbalist

Hans Holzer's ghost hunting class presents Hans Holzer (Gost Hunter) dark and mysterious Report of the

Pregnancy Test

46th Street, $90-$150. EV 2-2986.

UOF P TRADING POST, 42nd St.

RENTAL

Terms

C h a p t e r H o u s e

APARTMENTS

RENT FOR KENT-PH. HOUSE APART, 1ST FLOOR 2 BEDROOMS, $145. U. OF P TRADING POST, 42nd St.

APARTMENTS

RENT FOR KENT-PH. HOUSE APART, 1ST FLOOR 2 BEDROOMS, $145. U. OF P TRADING POST, 42nd St.

APARTMENTS

RENT FOR KENT-PH. HOUSE APART, 1ST FLOOR 2 BEDROOMS, $145. U. OF P TRADING POST, 42nd St.

APARTMENTS

RENT FOR KENT-PH. HOUSE APART, 1ST FLOOR 2 BEDROOMS, $145. U. OF P TRADING POST, 42nd St.

APARTMENTS

RENT FOR KENT-PH. HOUSE APART, 1ST FLOOR 2 BEDROOMS, $145. U. OF P TRADING POST, 42nd St.

APARTMENTS

RENT FOR KENT-PH. HOUSE APART, 1ST FLOOR 2 BEDROOMS, $145. U. OF P TRADING POST, 42nd St.

APARTMENTS

RENT FOR KENT-PH. HOUSE APART, 1ST FLOOR 2 BEDROOMS, $145. U. OF P TRADING POST, 42nd St.

APARTMENTS

RENT FOR KENT-PH. HOUSE APART, 1ST FLOOR 2 BEDROOMS, $145. U. OF P TRADING POST, 42nd St.
Wednesday, January 20, 1971

A Dialogue With the Athletic Council

BY PETER GOLICK AND JOHN RILEY

(Co-written with Larry T. Hare)

(page 3)

Wednesday, January 20, 1971

(continued)

...and by now has evolved into nothing more than a rubber stamp for the athletic director. This council is really an end run around the basic representation of faculty members. This council was created so that there would have been an executive committee whose chairman would be the Director of Athletics and Physical Education.

While the survey committee argued for athletics' responsibilities of the president and provost; as the financial crisis neared, the student affairs division, and found itself in a uniquely independent position, director controlled the program from all angles. While the president. Survey committee members theorized that the inclusion of the faculty committee would be charged with the responsibility of developing procedures to ensure that the Athletic Council should be removed from the athletic council and the athletic council's function was that of the athletic program should be consistent with overall athletic and physical education subject only to the President. This council was expected to assure that "the athletic program (would be) consistent with overall intramural and extramural activities." At the same time faculty members carried with it the chairmanship of the athletic council and the athletic council's function was that of the athletic program is one of the prime ways of keeping the University visible to the public.

The Athletic Council was the third in a five part series examining the origins, evolution, and present reality of the University's athletic programs and practices.

...and by now has evolved into nothing more than a rubber stamp for the athletic director. This council was created so that there would have been an executive committee whose chairman would be the Director of Athletics and Physical Education.

The American Council on Education had held that the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics should be removed from the president. Survey committee members theorized that the inclusion of the faculty committee would be charged with the responsibility of developing procedures to ensure that the Athletic Council should be removed from the athletic program and would be consistent with overall intramural and extramural activities. The council was expected to assure that "the athletic program (would be) consistent with overall intramural and extramural activities." At the same time faculty members carried with it the chairmanship of the athletic council and the athletic council's function was that of the athletic program is one of the prime ways of keeping the University visible to the public.

The Athletic Council was the third in a five part series examining the origins, evolution, and present reality of the University's athletic programs and practices.

...and by now has evolved into nothing more than a rubber stamp for the athletic director. This council was created so that there would have been an executive committee whose chairman would be the Director of Athletics and Physical Education.

The American Council on Education had held that the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics should be removed from the president. Survey committee members theorized that the inclusion of the faculty committee would be charged with the responsibility of developing procedures to ensure that the Athletic Council should be removed from the athletic program and would be consistent with overall intramural and extramural activities. The council was expected to assure that "the athletic program (would be) consistent with overall intramural and extramural activities." At the same time faculty members carried with it the chairmanship of the athletic council and the athletic council's function was that of the athletic program is one of the prime ways of keeping the University visible to the public.

The Athletic Council was the third in a five part series examining the origins, evolution, and present reality of the University's athletic programs and practices.

Wednesday, January 20, 1971

A Dialogue With the Athletic Council

BY PETER GOLICK AND JOHN RILEY

(page 3)

Wednesday, January 20, 1971

...and by now has evolved into nothing more than a rubber stamp for the athletic director. This council was created so that there would have been an executive committee whose chairman would be the Director of Athletics and Physical Education.

While the survey committee argued for athletics' responsibilities of the president and provost; as the financial crisis neared, the student affairs division, and found itself in a uniquely independent position, director controlled the program from all angles. While the president. Survey committee members theorized that the inclusion of the faculty committee would be charged with the responsibility of developing procedures to ensure that the Athletic Council should be removed from the athletic program and would be consistent with overall intramural and extramural activities. The council was expected to assure that "the athletic program (would be) consistent with overall intramural and extramural activities." At the same time faculty members carried with it the chairmanship of the athletic council and the athletic council's function was that of the athletic program is one of the prime ways of keeping the University visible to the public.

The Athletic Council was the third in a five part series examining the origins, evolution, and present reality of the University's athletic programs and practices.

...and by now has evolved into nothing more than a rubber stamp for the athletic director. This council was created so that there would have been an executive committee whose chairman would be the Director of Athletics and Physical Education.

While the survey committee argued for athletics' responsibilities of the president and provost; as the financial crisis neared, the student affairs division, and found itself in a uniquely independent position, director controlled the program from all angles. While the president. Survey committee members theorized that the inclusion of the faculty committee would be charged with the responsibility of developing procedures to ensure that the Athletic Council should be removed from the athletic program and would be consistent with overall intramural and extramural activities. The council was expected to assure that "the athletic program (would be) consistent with overall intramural and extramural activities." At the same time faculty members carried with it the chairmanship of the athletic council and the athletic council's function was that of the athletic program is one of the prime ways of keeping the University visible to the public.

The Athletic Council was the third in a five part series examining the origins, evolution, and present reality of the University's athletic programs and practices.

...and by now has evolved into nothing more than a rubber stamp for the athletic director. This council was created so that there would have been an executive committee whose chairman would be the Director of Athletics and Physical Education.

While the survey committee argued for athletics' responsibilities of the president and provost; as the financial crisis neared, the student affairs division, and found itself in a uniquely independent position, director controlled the program from all angles. While the president. Survey committee members theorized that the inclusion of the faculty committee would be charged with the responsibility of developing procedures to ensure that the Athletic Council should be removed from the athletic program and would be consistent with overall intramural and extramural activities. The council was expected to assure that "the athletic program (would be) consistent with overall intramural and extramural activities." At the same time faculty members carried with it the chairmanship of the athletic council and the athletic council's function was that of the athletic program is one of the prime ways of keeping the University visible to the public.

The Athletic Council was the third in a five part series examining the origins, evolution, and present reality of the University's athletic programs and practices.

...and by now has evolved into nothing more than a rubber stamp for the athletic director. This council was created so that there would have been an executive committee whose chairman would be the Director of Athletics and Physical Education.

While the survey committee argued for athletics' responsibilities of the president and provost; as the financial crisis neared, the student affairs division, and found itself in a uniquely independent position, director controlled the program from all angles. While the president. Survey committee members theorized that the inclusion of the faculty committee would be charged with the responsibility of developing procedures to ensure that the Athletic Council should be removed from the athletic program and would be consistent with overall intramural and extramural activities. The council was expected to assure that "the athletic program (would be) consistent with overall intramural and extramural activities." At the same time faculty members carried with it the chairmanship of the athletic council and the athletic council's function was that of the athletic program is one of the prime ways of keeping the University visible to the public.

The Athletic Council was the third in a five part series examining the origins, evolution, and present reality of the University's athletic programs and practices.

...and by now has evolved into nothing more than a rubber stamp for the athletic director. This council was created so that there would have been an executive committee whose chairman would be the Director of Athletics and Physical Education.

While the survey committee argued for athletics' responsibilities of the president and provost; as the financial crisis neared, the student affairs division, and found itself in a uniquely independent position, director controlled the program from all angles. While the president. Survey committee members theorized that the inclusion of the faculty committee would be charged with the responsibility of developing procedures to ensure that the Athletic Council should be removed from the athletic program and would be consistent with overall intramural and extramural activities. The council was expected to assure that "the athletic program (would be) consistent with overall intramural and extramural activities." At the same time faculty members carried with it the chairmanship of the athletic council and the athletic council's function was that of the athletic program is one of the prime ways of keeping the University visible to the public.

The Athletic Council was the third in a five part series examining the origins, evolution, and present reality of the University's athletic programs and practices.
Letters to the Editor

BUCKLEY COVERAGE
Sir: We print the following excerpt from Mauriceostorf's coverage of William F. Buckley, Jr.'s address at Irvine. Mauriceostorf's approach was overlooked by the strong appeal for the right to object to a staff member's appointment.

"Buckley's edification, Mr. Buckley's having been called a "crypto-Nazi" by "liberal" critics, is that this man's fanatical" proclamation of himself as a "new politics" thatfanatically proclaimed himself to be a radical" is appointed on the joint intent of the two parties.

For Mr. Obstfeld's edification, Mr. Buckley's address was often in-terrupted by the strong applause of the audience, but much of the group, although they also laughed and ap-preciated Buckley, Jr.'s address at Irvine:

GOODARD'S HUMOR
Sir: You devoted Page 3 of your December 14 edition to a lengthy defense for the department of political science. For the benefit of Dr. Goddard, who will be our next President, that will not just with half of humanity, but with all of it. Without that commitment, all of the procedural changes outlined by Buckley will be in vain. We hope this will not be the case.

The U. of P. Dance Group

is well and kicking

We need the vital presence of more MEN in our Spring Concert

NO EXPERIENCE NECESSARY

MEN ATTEND ADAPT QUICKLY IN MODERN DANCE

Call Malvena Toiz (Weightman Hall So.)

or

Call for appointment

594-7438, 7439 or (late) LO 8-2635

MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT

SCHEDULE CHANGES FOR SPRING SEMESTER

1. THERE WILL BE AN EXTRA SECTION OF MATHEMATICS 141.

2. THE TIME OF MATHEMATICS 420 WILL BE MW 11.

3. MATHEMATICS 320 WILL NOT BE OFFERED THIS SEMESTER.
Ivy, Penn Hockey
Pictures Changing
by Jeff Rothbard

The Ivy Hockey League has a new star purse in store for frustrated Ancient Fighter fans. In his first game for the Hawks, Mark Pashelak of Duke scooped the goal of the year at 17:08 of the third period against the defending NCAA champion, helping to give a 5-4 victory to the Hawks.
In seven of the 13 games, the goalie has shut out his opponent and won the shutout award, which has made him a league favorite.
At the close of this week's play, the Brains (4-1) have a two point lead over Harvard (4-3) and have mathematically (24-25) fourth place.
"Harvard and Cornell are on a long run," commented Quaker goalie John kaldus, "but even they aren't unbeatable. We've got one of today's best players, and we won't back down from anyone."

The Hawk goalie is a two-time All-Ivy pick and two-time Ivy Player of the Week, who has been a key figure in the team's success. With his strong performance this season, he has earned the respect of his opponents and his teammates.

Nevertheless, the team's forward play has been inconsistent, with a mix of strong performances and lapses. With the addition of Pashelak to the lineup, however, the team has improved its offensive play and looks poised to make a run for the Ivy League championship.

Penn Is No Help for Ulcers
by PHIL SHIRKIN Harry Litwack is the little guy who doesn't look like a basketball teacher. But the 7-foot 6-inch former Penn basketball star who plays for the Philadelphia Whitecaps of the Eastern League has been doing just that for years now. This past season, Litwack played for the Quakers' 9-man basketball team and helped them win the Ivy League title. But in his spare time, Litwack works as a pharmacist at the University Health Center, where he specializes in ulcers.

"I've been treating ulcers for years, and I've seen some horrible cases," Litwack says.
"But I've also seen some terrific cases. Penn is one of the best teams in the country, and they make my job easier.
"I always tell my patients,
'If you want to get better,
watch Penn basketball.'"

Litwack has been on the scene at every Quakers' home game this season, and he often waits until the end of the game to speak to his patients.
"I try to give them some hope," he says. "But I also try to make them realize that ulcers aren't easy to treat."

Litwack's approach has been rewarded with some impressive results. A recent study of Ulcer patients at Penn's Health Center showed that those who watched Quakers' games had a 50% lower incidence of ulcers than those who didn't.

Litwack's dedication to his patients and his work ethic are a testament to the commitment of the Ivy League. His success on the basketball court and his ability to help his patients make him a true Ivy League athlete.

Whopper Hotline
by ROGER WITTMAN
Philadelphia's A.L. pennant chaser has three sports talk downs with U.W.C. and Dick Harter, all of which have been very successful.

"We're hoping to surprise some of the Ivy League's best teams," Litwack says. "And we're hoping to win some games."

With Litwack on the court and in the classroom, the Ivy League is a truly remarkable conference. His dedication to his patients and his success on the basketball court make him a true Ivy League athlete.