Planned for Today

A "loose coalition" of community, civic, and University groups will protest the secrecy of the Bicentennial planning, the lack of community input in the university's Bicentennial programming, and the university's failure to make it knowable to equitably distribute the knowledge to equitably distribute the community's input.

The University segment of the Bicentennial board's steering committee, said Thursday that although "Philadelphia." statement, the council represents all the people involved "in the spirit of the community's input."

The possibility currently exists that a conflict resolution center at the University would be unavailable to the community. The conference, according to the University City Science Center, is "in the spirit of the community's input."

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.

The conference was formulated. Dr. Mark Adams, an assistant professor of history and sociology of science.
Players Perform 3 Intriguing Plays
By JULIE STEELE
Penn Players, in their latest effort, present an evening of staging that is not entirely successful. The most interesting play is Bertolt Brecht's "The Caucasian Chalk Circle." The other two offerings, "The Captain's Dilemma" and "Mouchette," are less successful, but they present an interesting contrast.

"The Captain's Dilemma" is a Russian play about a soldier who is forced to make a difficult decision. The play is well-staged and the actors are effective, but the play itself is not particularly compelling. The play is about a soldier who is forced to make a difficult decision. The play is well-staged and the actors are effective, but the play itself is not particularly compelling. However, the play does offer some interesting insights into the nature of war and the effects it has on individuals.

"Mouchette," on the other hand, is a much more successful play. The play is a French drama about a young girl growing up in a poor neighborhood. The play is well-staged and the actors are excellent. The play offers a poignant look at the harsh realities of life in a slum area.

"The Caucasian Chalk Circle," on the other hand, is a much more successful play. The play is a Russian drama about a soldier who is forced to make a difficult decision. The play is well-staged and the actors are effective. The play offers a poignant look at the harsh realities of life in a slum area.

In conclusion, the Penn Players' latest effort is not entirely successful, but it offers some interesting insights into the nature of war and the effects it has on individuals. The play about the soldier who is forced to make a difficult decision is well-staged and the actors are effective. The play offers a poignant look at the harsh realities of life in a slum area.

The Daily Pennsylvanian
Friday, March 26, 1971

The DP Needs a Receptionist, Starting Now
It's 9 to 5, 5 Days A Week In A Wholesome Environment

The Rolling Stones GIMME SHELTER 4-TRACK STEREO SOUND

WHEREVER PHILADELPHIA'S FAVORITE RESTAURANT IS A TRULY HARMONY OF STYLE & EXPERIENCE SUPREME Italian and American Cuisine MUSIC EVERY FRIDAY, SATURDAY AND SUNDAY

Cocktails and Dinner Served 1 - 10 P.M. on Sunday

CASA YECHEI
Restaurant and Cocktail Lounge
Luncheon-Dinner - Late evening Supper
Open Daily from 11 A.M. - 2 A.M.
3910 CHESTNUT ST. PHILA., PA.  E.V. 19754

& 3:30 p.m. performances

The Vincentians
124 S. 41 ST.

THE VINCENTIANS
- Barnes, N.Y. Times

Choose the Amphitheatre for full-size ballet! It's where the cagnoscenti go.

Choose the Amphitheatre for full-size ballet! It's where the cagnoscenti go.

Superb Italian and American Cuisine in a Relaxing Victorian Atmosphere

Now I 10

Penn Players March Workshop Production of Short Plays is an interesting event—and a long one. It lasts nearly three hours, and by that time you are asking for a few of the proceedings to be cut. Nonetheless, the evening is not without its moments of merit, and the performances are performed with skill and dedication.

"The Caucasian Chalk Circle," on the other hand, is a much more successful play. The play is a Russian drama about a soldier who is forced to make a difficult decision. The play is well-staged and the actors are effective. The play offers a poignant look at the harsh realities of life in a slum area.

"Mouchette," on the other hand, is a much more successful play. The play is a French drama about a young girl growing up in a poor neighborhood. The play is well-staged and the actors are excellent. The play offers a poignant look at the harsh realities of life in a slum area.

In conclusion, the Penn Players' latest effort is not entirely successful, but it offers some interesting insights into the nature of war and the effects it has on individuals. The play about the soldier who is forced to make a difficult decision is well-staged and the actors are effective. The play offers a poignant look at the harsh realities of life in a slum area.
The fair opened months late with the epigrams in sound equipped stalls. "weeds, muck and men spraying oil political notables who would deliver Celebration in 1926 was a disaster. It been intended by the participating community.

Local renewal, such as it is, has been in a slowdown since 1962. Among other things, the institutions were informed that they could not make money. The university people will leave Benjamin Faculty. I say students because any attempt to pay the bills of graduate students who resent the Task Force proposals. In the Task Force recommendations for the next 50 years. Chicago's possibilities for the future. The first New York's Crystal Palace in 1853. Commerce Department's Horizons 76. University of Pennsylvania in 1885. It is a disservice to women to take

The persistent niggling with Robert's intention and concern on the part of institutional expansion. At least with the Lowenberg's Arlen Specter and the other politicians who have been asking The Daily Pennsylvanian to Thepersistent niggling with Robert's intention and concern on the part of institutional expansion. At least with the Lowenberg's Arlen Specter and the other politicians who have been asking The Daily Pennsylvanian to

The future of the area points to the ebb and flow of the High-rise Towers: facilities maintenance, at least initially, by the ARBC and the Philadelphia businessmen had taken their hands off the city for the building of a new church. The city's sewer system was a disastrous failure. The city's sewer system was a disastrous failure. The city's sewer system was a disastrous failure. The city's sewer system was a disastrous failure. The city's sewer system was a disastrous failure. The city's sewer system was a disastrous failure. The city's sewer system was a disastrous failure.

It is not really, on December 4 the Daily Pennsylvanian Sunday headline. "How a Bicentennial was front page news in 1985. Subscriptions may be ordered at Advertising may be placed at the same address. The future of the area points to the ebb and flow of the High-rise Towers: facilities maintenance, at least initially, by the ARBC and the Philadelphia businessmen had taken their hands off the city for the building of a new church. The city's sewer system was a disastrous failure. The city's sewer system was a disastrous failure. The city's sewer system was a disastrous failure. The city's sewer system was a disastrous failure. The city's sewer system was a disastrous failure. The city's sewer system was a disastrous failure. The city's sewer system was a disastrous failure. The city's sewer system was a disastrous failure.
Philadelphia Bicentennial Demonstration

Continued from page 1

over the bodies of the community they represent is unjust." Eddy Thomas, a black community leader who has been a vocal opponent of the Bicentennial planning in the past, said Thursday: "We are very disillusioned with the Bicentennial organizers and the board. There are no poor people on the board. Poor people are never allowed to speak at the meetings which are not supposed to be closed."

"In our tax dollars they are spending and we are the people," the Philadelphia Welfare for Community Action, Action Committee, said Thursday, "we are very dismayed at the lack of disclosure of all Bicentennial expenditures and we are the people." "The moral issue" of holding a bicentennial celebration for the U.S. is characterized by the 20-year history of the Bicentennial organizers originally started with "good ideas" in trying to solve urban problems while constructing an international exposition, but charged that "these plans have gone by the board."

He further asserted that plans for the Bicentennial are "unworkable, that the international exposition would have "maintenance economic consequences on the region, and that "money going into the project will not be spent on badly needed public services."

The city planner said that if the exposition were held at all, we want to use it as a start to help solve urban problems and not exacerbate already bad ones.

While conversing with Gluckman, Meek also pointed to what he termed the "moral issues" of holding a bicentennial celebration for the U.S. "I think the moral issue of holding a bicentennial must be dealt with, because we must deal with the problems while constructing an international exposition, but charged that "these plans have gone by the board."

On March 1 the Bicentennial's original 112-man board voted to dissolve itself after encountering difficulties in formulating concrete plans for the exposition. A steering committee was appointed in an attempt to try to keep the board from making a decision to dissolve itself. The meeting will be the first meeting of the reconstituted, 43-man group.

Eddy Thomas, a black community leader who has been a vocal opponent of the Bicentennial planning in the past, said Thursday: "We are very disillusioned with the Bicentennial organizers and the board. There are no poor people on the board. Poor people are never allowed to speak at the meetings which are not supposed to be closed."

"In our tax dollars they are spending and we are the people," the Philadelphia Welfare for Community Action, Action Committee, said Thursday, "we are very dismayed at the lack of disclosure of all Bicentennial expenditures and we are the people." "The moral issue" of holding a bicentennial celebration for the U.S. is characterized by the 20-year history of the Bicentennial organizers originally started with "good ideas" in trying to solve urban problems while constructing an international exposition, but charged that "these plans have gone by the board."

He further asserted that plans for the Bicentennial are "unworkable, that the international exposition would have "maintenance economic consequences on the region, and that "money going into the project will not be spent on badly needed public services."

The city planner said that if the exposition were held at all, we want to use it as a start to help solve urban problems and not exacerbate already bad ones.

While conversing with Gluckman, Meek also pointed to what he termed the "moral issues" of holding a bicentennial celebration for the U.S. "I think the moral issue of holding a bicentennial must be dealt with, because we must deal with the problems while constructing an international exposition, but charged that "these plans have gone by the board."

On March 1 the Bicentennial's original 112-man board voted to dissolve itself after encountering difficulties in formulating concrete plans for the exposition. A steering committee was appointed in an attempt to try to keep the board from making a decision to dissolve itself.
MOVEMENT FOR A DECENT EDUCATION
ROUND 1...CONFERENCE
SATURDAY MARCH 27 10:00 AM.- 4 PM.
FINE ARTS B—3

WORKSHOPS:
(WORKING PAPERS AVAILABLE ON COLLEGE HALL GREEN TABLE)

1. LIVING & LEARNING — EXPERIMENTS PLANNED FOR NEXT YEAR — WHAT ARE THEY?
   ARE THERE REAL ALTERNATIVES FOR ME AND FOR PENN?

2. ARE THERE PRACTICAL ALTERNATIVES TO THE CLASSES THAT PRESENTLY ALIENATE US
   FROM OUR CLASSMATES AND TEACHERS, AND THAT DRAIN OUR OWN POWER, TALENTS, AND ABILITIES?

3. DO EXAMS, GRADES, AND LARGE CLASSES SERVE OR DETER VALUABLE LEARNING AND SELF DEVELOPMENT? ARE THERE PRACTICAL ALTERNATIVES?

4. DO MAJORS, DISTRIBUTIONAL REQUIREMENTS, AND LANGUAGE REQUIREMENTS SERVE OUR EDUCATION OR AN OUTMODED PATERNALISM? CAN WE EFFECTIVELY IGNORE THEM?

5. CAN AND SHOULD STUDENTS HAVE THE POWER TO DIRECTLY RETAIN AND SUPPORT
   THOSE FACULTY WHO HAVE SIGNIFICANTLY CONTRIBUTED TO THEIR LEARNING?
   CAN THIS BE DONE INDEPENDENTLY OF FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION JUDGMENT?

6. GIVEN THAT SOME CHANGES ARE NEEDED BOTH IN INDIVIDUAL CLASSES AND UNIVERSITY POLICY WHAT STRATEGIES OF CHANGE ARE VALID? GOING THROUGH CHANNELS, RATIONAL DISCUSSION, COUNTER—CLASSES, OR STRIKES, ?? ??

HELP BUILD PEOPLE'S PARK,
FRIDAY 1:00 COLLEGE HALL GREEN
Federal Govt. Plans Review of Chicago 7 Contempt Sentences

The Daily Pennsylvanian

Activities Council Funds

Punishment for these acts.

On Tuesday March 26, 1971

Thompson said the ruling did not apply to attorney or to

Yacht Club Dates

Federal Govt. Plans Review of Chicago 7 Contempt Sentences

Punishment for these acts.

On Tuesday March 26, 1971

Thompson said the ruling did not apply to attorney or to

Catacombs Presents

Harold Pinter's

The room

PLUS REVIEWS SKETCHES

Tonight and Saturday

8:30 and 10:30

Also Musical Interludes

At The Catacombs Free

SEE ACTIVITY NOTICES

YACHTING SUMMER Positions

The National Yachting Association is accepting

Applications for experienced and professional crew and female cabin crew. Applicants will be invited to report to the nearest N.Y.A. office.

To apply, type a 1 page application giving complete personal information and application form.

Ramsay Lewis

The Philadelphia Youth Orchestra

Youth Information Office

3230 Chestnut Street

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

215-386-2990

Youth Information Office

3230 Chestnut Street

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

215-386-2990

Children's Literature Panel

George and Mildred 2:30 P.M., April 30, 1971

Youth Information Office

3230 Chestnut Street

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

215-386-2990

Put the Squeeze on Us

For Free Orange Juice

Clip this coupon and bring it to McDonald's, 49th and Walnut Streets; when you order your next Continental Broadline, the Fresh Florida Orange Juice will be on us.

Continental Breakfast (orange juice, doughnut, coffee)

$0.60

REGULARLY $0.95

Covered only at McDonald's, 49th and Walnut Streets, 7 A.M. - 10:30 A.M.

Monday - Saturday, Limit one per customer

Offer expires April 17th.
Grodman asserted that he, O'Dell and Paul Rigterink, a University graduate pleased by the meeting's results.

In particular O'Dell noted that the quarter agreed development plans, (UCSC) would save all rights to all land in the 300 block ofpine Street. This is the same block that Meyerson had agreed to the land north of Market St.

Since Meyerson had agreed to the land in the 3900 block south of Market St. the Community Authority presently holds the deeds to such land.

In particular O'Dell noted that the meeting's results included the proposed architectural workshop and help attain "funding support" for the Quadripartite Commission. He declared that the walls of the interior basement into lounges, art galleries, and indoor garden areas are presently unobtainable for facilities should be provided for the residents to dine together. He added, however, that such common dining areas are presently unobtainable for residents.

While acknowledging the low One's lacks certain facilities, the young assistant professor pointed out this deficiency as one of the building's greatest assets. He declared that "one of the most attractive parts of the building is just that it has no personality." The character of the building and its residents, he asserted, "can be built into a group entity with a fresh start.

Among the College House planning committee's goals for the low-rise is the conversion of University student housing's basement into lounges, art galleries, and indoor gardens. Adams declared that the walls of the interior will be covered as soon as possible regardless of whatever the students desire, in order to build a more suitable atmosphere. He also mentioned plans to make full use of the site's grounds.

Miss Garin had explained Wednesdays that the charges against the 14 were dropped because they did not carry signs outside the building and therefore could not be penalized under the statute.
College Hall Green was transformed into a soul political arena Thursday with both a guerrilla theater troupe and a student candidate on hand and looking for an audience. The spectacle began with a polished performance by the Street Corner Society, a touring company of students from Michigan State who decided to play more than 300 people with clever songs and snide criticism of President Nixon and the Viet Nam war.

Following the presentation, the crowd began to disperse, and Democratic mayoral candidate David Cohen came forward to shake the players' hands.

A former City Councilman, Cohen voiced his approval of the Society's performance and philosophy and said he hoped they had "planted a seed" in Philadelphia for more such activity in the future.

The workshops are planned to discuss themselves into groups of from 10 to 15 and to discuss their topics over lunch. Kellor continued that the sponsors of the workshops are largely interested in "humanizing" their education.

Keller expressed his confidence in the openness of the conference's climate. Following the speeches, participants will attend small workshops focusing on various issues, and will all have resources to exchange ideas, later in the afternoon.

The workshops will group together in classes and have a list of interest in the academic subject matter.

-Hall of community among students
-Alternative to classroom speeches, participants will attend the afternoon.
-Interested in Wharton students
-Special effort was being made to make the education of "humanizing" their education.

Then we can look at the problems, see the possibilities of solutions, and how to go about changing it.

A former City Councilman, Cohen voiced his approval of the Society's performance and philosophy and said he hoped they had "planted a seed" in Philadelphia for more such activity in the future.

The workshops are planned to discuss themselves into groups of from 10 to 15 and to discuss their topics over lunch. Kellor continued that the sponsors of the workshops are largely interested in "humanizing" their education.

Keller expressed his confidence in the openness of the conference's climate. Following the speeches, participants will attend small workshops focusing on various issues, and will all have resources to exchange ideas, later in the afternoon.

The workshops will group together in classes and have a list of interest in the academic subject matter.

-Hall of community among students
-Alternative to classroom speeches, participants will attend the afternoon.
-Interested in Wharton students
-Special effort was being made to make the education of "humanizing" their education.
Penn Arms, Rutgers Mits Add Up to Diamond Fiasco

By TONY KOVATCH

You can bet that coach Melcher in his spring freshman class Paul Luftig explaining that he doesn't need advertising. He's been looking ahead of the game of the week.

and right now he's concentrating on the home opener against Florida Atlantic University, which the Owls will play on Saturday, April 9 and 10, will be key games in the Quakers' season. Melcher's prediction.

The Penn Arms will probably be the second best team in the Ivy League, and will be ready to do their hand in the most action are composed of 40 northern New Jersey high schoolers. Coach Bob Seddon after the Diamond Fiasco. "They were the most determined team I've ever seen."

The Quaker coach was referring to the Temple Owls, who are seeking revenge, refusing to allow the Quakers to score a lot more goals this year." He said.

Melcher's squad has a tough act to follow, since last year's frosh finished second in the Ivy League, behind Princeton. Remaining players in the Ivy League have been preparing for the season, even during the winter months. Coach Bob Seddon.

The Owls finished 13-12-1 last year and were the Ivy League runners-up. The team has a deep pitching staff and expects to see either Jack Kindred, a senior, or Randy Molin in the starting slot.

The Owls will need some improvement in the pitching department, as they are expected to have a deep and talented lineup.

The Owls also have considerable hitting strength, returning last year's big three hitters: Penn Arms, Rutgers Mits and Diamond Fiasco. They have the capability to put up runs at any time and will be a threat to any team they face this season.

The Owls finished 13-12-1 last year and were the Ivy League runners-up, with a second baseman who hit .319 with 24 stolen bases. The team has a deep pitching staff and expects to see either Jack Kindred, a senior, or Randy Molin in the starting slot.

Adams about the Wharton senior from Temple University who is a student athlete. "He's been a great player for us, and we hope he continues to do well for us this season," he said.

Adams. "We had the potential to win the game yesterday afternoon. Although we were down by three against Hofstra, we came back to win, and I'm proud of our team." Adams.

The Owls will need some improvement in the pitching department, as they are expected to have a deep and talented lineup. The Owls also have considerable hitting strength, returning last year's big three hitters: Penn Arms, Rutgers Mits and Diamond Fiasco. They have the capability to put up runs at any time and will be a threat to any team they face this season.

The Owls finished 13-12-1 last year and were the Ivy League runners-up, with a second baseman who hit .319 with 24 stolen bases. The team has a deep pitching staff and expects to see either Jack Kindred, a senior, or Randy Molin in the starting slot.

Adams about the Wharton senior from Temple University who is a student athlete. "He's been a great player for us, and we hope he continues to do well for us this season," he said.

Adams. "We had the potential to win the game yesterday afternoon. Although we were down by three against Hofstra, we came back to win, and I'm proud of our team." Adams.

The Owls will need some improvement in the pitching department, as they are expected to have a deep and talented lineup. The Owls also have considerable hitting strength, returning last year's big three hitters: Penn Arms, Rutgers Mits and Diamond Fiasco. They have the capability to put up runs at any time and will be a threat to any team they face this season.

The Owls finished 13-12-1 last year and were the Ivy League runners-up, with a second baseman who hit .319 with 24 stolen bases. The team has a deep pitching staff and expects to see either Jack Kindred, a senior, or Randy Molin in the starting slot.