Indo-Pakistan War Continues; Security Council Seeks Halt

By STEVE BIDDLE

An unprecedented large turnout of over 2,000 young voters from at least 38 states came to Chicago this weekend in the "emergency conference of new voters" and formed a National Youth Caucus to "create a viable force in the American political system, not for ourselves but for what we believe in — a movement for basic change in our society."-component largely of college students - who over a weekend spent the day holding a "national offensive" to form a "national youth network." The group - composed largely of radical youth - took an overwhelmingly supportive stand for the defeat of the Nixon administration, an end to the war, a broadening of national priorities, the "opening up of the political process," and the "end to government by deceit and manipulation." Further, the caucus vowed to work to ensure that both 1972 presidential conventions have at least a ten percent youth representation in their delegations.

To that end, potentially the most important issue to come out of the gathering - the "right of new voters" - will come out of the weekend meetings in Chicago. The caucus will seek both to recruit new voters and to elect delegates to the national conventions from the newly formed "new voter" movement.

Students Form National Caucus To Mobilize Youth Vote in '72

Wideman Replaces Walmsley as Black Studies Comm. Chairman

By MAURICE OBSTFELD

Byrne Professor of Physics Roger Walmsley, who has been stepping down from the chairmanship of the President's black studies panel, has been replaced by Dr. John Wideman, associate professor of English and newly appointed director of the university's black studies committee.

Wideman said it was his own decision to replace Walmsley because he had "been thinking of the task I might be able to perform in the future." Wideman said that he had stepped down from the chairmanship of the President's black studies committee because it was "in as many ways as I can imagine" a "more critical task" at the present time.

The new committee chairman declared that he did not have any information about the task that the new committee will perform. "I want to be sure that we do as good a job as possible," he said. "I want to be sure that we do as good a job as possible." Wideman predicted that he would complete the task that the new committee will perform.

The black studies committee was originally formed in Nov. 1970 by President Meyerson, who appointed a task force to study the future of the university's black studies program. The task force's report was submitted to the university's black studies committee, which was then formed by the task force.

The committee was not finally formed until May 1971, and held two meetings before it temporarily disbanded for the summer.

Wideman Replaces Walmsley as Black Studies Comm. Chairman

By BY MAURICE OBSTFELD

Byrne Professor of Physics Roger Walmsley, who has been stepping down from the chairmanship of the President's black studies panel, has been replaced by Dr. John Wideman, associate professor of English and newly appointed director of the university's black studies committee.

Wideman said it was his own decision to replace Walmsley because he had "been thinking of the task I might be able to perform in the future." Wideman said that he had stepped down from the chairmanship of the President's black studies committee because it was "in as many ways as I can imagine" a "more critical task" at the present time.

The new committee chairman declared that he did not have any information about the task that the new committee will perform. "I want to be sure that we do as good a job as possible," he said. "I want to be sure that we do as good a job as possible." Wideman predicted that he would complete the task that the new committee will perform.

The black studies committee was originally formed in Nov. 1970 by President Meyerson, who appointed a task force to study the future of the university's black studies program. The task force's report was submitted to the university's black studies committee, which was then formed by the task force.

The committee was not finally formed until May 1971, and held two meetings before it temporarily disbanded for the summer.

Wideman Replaces Walmsley as Black Studies Comm. Chairman

By BY MAURICE OBSTFELD

Byrne Professor of Physics Roger Walmsley, who has been stepping down from the chairmanship of the President's black studies panel, has been replaced by Dr. John Wideman, associate professor of English and newly appointed director of the university's black studies committee.

Wideman said it was his own decision to replace Walmsley because he had "been thinking of the task I might be able to perform in the future." Wideman said that he had stepped down from the chairmanship of the President's black studies committee because it was "in as many ways as I can imagine" a "more critical task" at the present time.

The new committee chairman declared that he did not have any information about the task that the new committee will perform. "I want to be sure that we do as good a job as possible," he said. "I want to be sure that we do as good a job as possible." Wideman predicted that he would complete the task that the new committee will perform.

The black studies committee was originally formed in Nov. 1970 by President Meyerson, who appointed a task force to study the future of the university's black studies program. The task force's report was submitted to the university's black studies committee, which was then formed by the task force.

The committee was not finally formed until May 1971, and held two meetings before it temporarily disbanded for the summer.

Wideman Replaces Walmsley as Black Studies Comm. Chairman

By BY MAURICE OBSTFELD

Byrne Professor of Physics Roger Walmsley, who has been stepping down from the chairmanship of the President's black studies panel, has been replaced by Dr. John Wideman, associate professor of English and newly appointed director of the university's black studies committee.

Wideman said it was his own decision to replace Walmsley because he had "been thinking of the task I might be able to perform in the future." Wideman said that he had stepped down from the chairmanship of the President's black studies committee because it was "in as many ways as I can imagine" a "more critical task" at the present time.

The new committee chairman declared that he did not have any information about the task that the new committee will perform. "I want to be sure that we do as good a job as possible," he said. "I want to be sure that we do as good a job as possible." Wideman predicted that he would complete the task that the new committee will perform.

The black studies committee was originally formed in Nov. 1970 by President Meyerson, who appointed a task force to study the future of the university's black studies program. The task force's report was submitted to the university's black studies committee, which was then formed by the task force.

The committee was not finally formed until May 1971, and held two meetings before it temporarily disbanded for the summer.

Wideman Replaces Walmsley as Black Studies Comm. Chairman

By BY MAURICE OBSTFELD

Byrne Professor of Physics Roger Walmsley, who has been stepping down from the chairmanship of the President's black studies panel, has been replaced by Dr. John Wideman, associate professor of English and newly appointed director of the university's black studies committee.

Wideman said it was his own decision to replace Walmsley because he had "been thinking of the task I might be able to perform in the future." Wideman said that he had stepped down from the chairmanship of the President's black studies committee because it was "in as many ways as I can imagine" a "more critical task" at the present time.

The new committee chairman declared that he did not have any information about the task that the new committee will perform. "I want to be sure that we do as good a job as possible," he said. "I want to be sure that we do as good a job as possible." Wideman predicted that he would complete the task that the new committee will perform.

The black studies committee was originally formed in Nov. 1970 by President Meyerson, who appointed a task force to study the future of the university's black studies program. The task force's report was submitted to the university's black studies committee, which was then formed by the task force.

The committee was not finally formed until May 1971, and held two meetings before it temporarily disbanded for the summer.

Hurok Receives Glee Club Award of Merit

By STUART STEIN

Sol Hurok, the New York impresario who has introduced many major orchestral performers in this country over the last 50 years, was presented with the University Glee Club's Award of Merit at their annual banquet Saturday night.

The 83-year-old Russian-born cultural exchange promoter, who has been most recently in the news for his attempts to schedule an American tour of the Bolshoi Opera Company, accepted the award before a gathering of over 100 glee club members and their guests.

Although Hurok did not play a specific role in setting up arrangements for the club's five-day stay in Moscow last summer, he was declared eligible by the Ivy League eligibility committee before he can be declared eligible for the award.

The award, the highest glee club honor, was given to Hurok "in recognition of his service to music and his belief in music's ability to "create a climate in which the (youth) problems may be solved," said Dr. Daniel Ellsberg, Sen. Alan Cranston, Rev. Jesse Jackson, Robert Kennedy, and others.

"It's only because of the young people that I came here tonight," he concluded. "I give you a great deal of pleasure.

Hurok, a bush in a room filled with archeological remnants of a (Continued on page 5)
News in Brief

New York, the command spokesman said, although they could have planes retaliated against the North Vietnamese missile sites.

WASHINGTON—Congressional hopes to adjourn this week were dimmed today as the Senate passed a measure to extend its session at least until next week. The 92nd Congress must resolve before the 92nd Congress can adjourn. Foreign aid

U.S. PLANES EVADE MISSILES

Sudden Flights by aircraft evaded by American planes in a North Vietnamese missile attack earlier today revealed the exact route of the attack and proved that the planes evaded them and they exploded har-

COUNSELORS

CONGRESSMEN MAY WORK OVERTIME

WASHINGTON—Congressional hopes to adjourn this week

RHODES—President Nixon will assure the North Vietnamese that America is continuing its policy of containing the ASEAN—President Nixon will assure the North Vietnamese that America is continuing its policy of containing the

THE DAILY PENNSYLVANIA

Wednesday, January 6, 1971

CLASSIFIEDS

MISSING

Blood Donors Wanted

FOR SALE: NEW HAMPTON CLASSIC

For information:

TUE. DEC. 7

HOLIDAY COFFEE HOUR

11-12:00 HOUSTON HALL LOUNGE

Holiday Entertainment

MOVIES OF THE WEEK

THURS. DEC. 9th RLC

“CRIME OF M. L" LANGE"

TRANSPORT from PARISIDE

7 & 10 pm. FINE ARTS AUD.

FRID. DEC. 10

“THE INNERS” STARRING STEVE MCKEON

IRVINE AUD. 7 & 9:30

SAT. DEC. 11

“WESTSIDE STORY” IRVINE AUD.

SUN. DEC. 12

“LOVERS AND OTHER STRANGERS” IRVINE AUD. 7 & 9:30

QUESTION of the DAY NAME OF HENRY HOFFMAN A.F.L.C.I.O. STUDENT ANSWER TO FRIDAY’S QUESTION: MANOS HODIDIANOS

NEW YORK, the command spokesman said, although they could have planes retaliated against the North Vietnamese missile sites.

WASHINGTON—Congressional hopes to adjourn this week were dimmed today as the Senate passed a measure to extend its session at least until next week. The 92nd Congress must resolve before the 92nd Congress can adjourn. Foreign aid

U.S. PLANES EVADE MISSILES

Sudden Flights by aircraft evaded by American planes in a North Vietnamese missile attack earlier today revealed the exact route of the attack and proved that the planes evaded them and they exploded har-

COUNSELORS

CONGRESSMEN MAY WORK OVERTIME

WASHINGTON—Congressional hopes to adjourn this week were dimmed today as the Senate passed a measure to extend its session at least until next week. The 92nd Congress must resolve before the 92nd Congress can adjourn. Foreign aid

U.S. PLANES EVADE MISSILES

Sudden Flights by aircraft evaded by American planes in a North Vietnamese missile attack earlier today revealed the exact route of the attack and proved that the planes evaded them and they exploded har-

COUNSELORS

CONGRESSMEN MAY WORK OVERTIME

WASHINGTON—Congressional hopes to adjourn this week were dimmed today as the Senate passed a measure to extend its session at least until next week. The 92nd Congress must resolve before the 92nd Congress can adjourn. Foreign aid

U.S. PLANES EVADE MISSILES

Sudden Flights by aircraft evaded by American planes in a North Vietnamese missile attack earlier today revealed the exact route of the attack and proved that the planes evaded them and they exploded har-

COUNSELORS

CONGRESSMEN MAY WORK OVERTIME

WASHINGTON—Congressional hopes to adjourn this week were dimmed today as the Senate passed a measure to extend its session at least until next week. The 92nd Congress must resolve before the 92nd Congress can adjourn. Foreign aid

U.S. PLANES EVADE MISSILES

Sudden Flights by aircraft evaded by American planes in a North Vietnamese missile attack earlier today revealed the exact route of the attack and proved that the planes evaded them and they exploded har-
As Budgets Shrink, Faculty Unions Gain Momentum

(Continued from page 1)

...as the very basic and valid
conflict between professors and their employers. The American Association of University
Professors (AAUP), the National
Education Association (NEA), and
the American Federation of Teachers
(AFT). The latter two are professional unions and have the most exclusive bargaining rights: the
American Association of University
Professors (AAUP); the National
Education Association (NEA); and
the American Federation of Teachers
(AFT).

At institutions where academic tradition is held most dear — and
Pennsylvania falls into this category,
— professors apparently hope that a
strong show of force, and public officials. They feel this can only
be met by a strong show of force,
such as a union.

The February 1971 issue of the
American Association of University
Professors' magazine, _高等教育_,
contains a long interview with
Dr. William Gomberg, a faculty member of the AAUP national board.

As Budgets Shrink, Faculty Unions Gain Momentum

...as the very basic and valid
conflict between professors and
their employers. The American Association of University
Professors (AAUP), the National
Education Association (NEA), and
the American Federation of Teachers
(AFT). The latter two are professional
unions and have the most exclusive bargaining rights: the
American Association of University
Professors (AAUP); the National
Education Association (NEA); and
the American Federation of Teachers
(AFT).

At institutions where academic
tradition is held most dear — and
Pennsylvania falls into this category,
— professors apparently hope that a
strong show of force, and public officials. They feel this can only
be met by a strong show of force,
such as a union.

The February 1971 issue of the
American Association of University
Professors' magazine, _高等教育_,
contains a long interview with
Dr. William Gomberg, a faculty
member of the AAUP national board.

As Budgets Shrink, Faculty Unions Gain Momentum

...as the very basic and valid
conflict between professors and
their employers. The American Association of University
Professors (AAUP), the National
Education Association (NEA), and
the American Federation of Teachers
(AFT). The latter two are professional
unions and have the most exclusive bargaining rights: the
American Association of University
Professors (AAUP); the National
Education Association (NEA); and
the American Federation of Teachers
(AFT).

At institutions where academic
tradition is held most dear — and
Pennsylvania falls into this category,
— professors apparently hope that a
strong show of force, and public officials. They feel this can only
be met by a strong show of force,
such as a union.

The February 1971 issue of the
American Association of University
Professors' magazine, _高等教育_,
contains a long interview with
Dr. William Gomberg, a faculty
member of the AAUP national board.

As Budgets Shrink, Faculty Unions Gain Momentum

...as the very basic and valid
conflict between professors and
their employers. The American Association of University
Professors (AAUP), the National
Education Association (NEA), and
the American Federation of Teachers
(AFT). The latter two are professional
unions and have the most exclusive bargaining rights: the
American Association of University
Professors (AAUP); the National
Education Association (NEA); and
the American Federation of Teachers
(AFT).

At institutions where academic
tradition is held most dear — and
Pennsylvania falls into this category,
— professors apparently hope that a
strong show of force, and public officials. They feel this can only
be met by a strong show of force,
such as a union.

The February 1971 issue of the
American Association of University
Professors' magazine, _高等教育_,
contains a long interview with
Dr. William Gomberg, a faculty
member of the AAUP national board.

As Budgets Shrink, Faculty Unions Gain Momentum

...as the very basic and valid
conflict between professors and
their employers. The American Association of University
Professors (AAUP), the National
Education Association (NEA), and
the American Federation of Teachers
(AFT). The latter two are professional
unions and have the most exclusive bargaining rights: the
American Association of University
Professors (AAUP); the National
Education Association (NEA); and
the American Federation of Teachers
(AFT).

At institutions where academic
tradition is held most dear — and
Pennsylvania falls into this category,
— professors apparently hope that a
strong show of force, and public officials. They feel this can only
be met by a strong show of force,
such as a union.

The February 1971 issue of the
American Association of University
Professors' magazine, _高等教育_,
contains a long interview with
Dr. William Gomberg, a faculty
member of the AAUP national board.

As Budgets Shrink, Faculty Unions Gain Momentum

...as the very basic and valid
conflict between professors and
their employers. The American Association of University
Professors (AAUP), the National
Education Association (NEA), and
the American Federation of Teachers
(AFT). The latter two are professional
unions and have the most exclusive bargaining rights: the
American Association of University
Professors (AAUP); the National
Education Association (NEA); and
the American Federation of Teachers
(AFT).

At institutions where academic
tradition is held most dear — and
Pennsylvania falls into this category,
— professors apparently hope that a
strong show of force, and public officials. They feel this can only
be met by a strong show of force,
such as a union.

The February 1971 issue of the
American Association of University
Professors' magazine, _高等教育_,
contains a long interview with
Dr. William Gomberg, a faculty
member of the AAUP national board.

As Budgets Shrink, Faculty Unions Gain Momentum

...as the very basic and valid
conflict between professors and
their employers. The American Association of University
Professors (AAUP), the National
Education Association (NEA), and
the American Federation of Teachers
(AFT). The latter two are professional
unions and have the most exclusive bargaining rights: the
American Association of University
Professors (AAUP); the National
Education Association (NEA); and
the American Federation of Teachers
(AFT).

At institutions where academic
tradition is held most dear — and
Pennsylvania falls into this category,
— professors apparently hope that a
strong show of force, and public officials. They feel this can only
be met by a strong show of force,
such as a union.

The February 1971 issue of the
American Association of University
Professors' magazine, _高等教育_,
contains a long interview with
Dr. William Gomberg, a faculty
member of the AAUP national board.
On Dean Wolfman’s Comments

WERNER GUNDERHEIMER

Alfred Rieber, the Rieber committee was chaired by associate physics professor Roger Meyerson and the College Hall brain trust, which included three former members of the Phillips committee and eight members of the University’s steadily-worsening black studies community. The Phillips committee had at least managed to make a start - and we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.” The Rieber committee had at least managed to make a start. And we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.” The Rieber committee had at least managed to make a start - and we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.” The Rieber committee had at least managed to make a start - and we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.” The Rieber committee had at least managed to make a start - and we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.” The Rieber committee had at least managed to make a start - and we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.” The Rieber committee had at least managed to make a start - and we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.” The Rieber committee had at least managed to make a start - and we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.” The Rieber committee had at least managed to make a start - and we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.”

On Dean Wolfman’s Comments

WERNER GUNDERHEIMER

Alfred Rieber, the Rieber committee was chaired by associate physics professor Roger Meyerson and the College Hall brain trust, which included three former members of the Phillips committee and eight members of the University’s steadily-worsening black studies community. The Phillips committee had at least managed to make a start - and we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.” The Rieber committee had at least managed to make a start. And we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.” The Rieber committee was chaired by associate physics professor Roger Meyerson and the College Hall brain trust, which included three former members of the Phillips committee and eight members of the University’s steadily-worsening black studies community. The Phillips committee had at least managed to make a start - and we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.” The Rieber committee had at least managed to make a start. And we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.”

On Dean Wolfman’s Comments

WERNER GUNDERHEIMER

Alfred Rieber, the Rieber committee was chaired by associate physics professor Roger Meyerson and the College Hall brain trust, which included three former members of the Phillips committee and eight members of the University’s steadily-worsening black studies community. The Phillips committee had at least managed to make a start - and we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.” The Rieber committee was chaired by associate physics professor Roger Meyerson and the College Hall brain trust, which included three former members of the Phillips committee and eight members of the University’s steadily-worsening black studies community. The Phillips committee had at least managed to make a start - and we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.” The Rieber committee was chaired by associate physics professor Roger Meyerson and the College Hall brain trust, which included three former members of the Phillips committee and eight members of the University’s steadily-worsening black studies community. The Phillips committee had at least managed to make a start - and we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.”

On Dean Wolfman’s Comments

WERNER GUNDERHEIMER

Alfred Rieber, the Rieber committee was chaired by associate physics professor Roger Meyerson and the College Hall brain trust, which included three former members of the Phillips committee and eight members of the University’s steadily-worsening black studies community. The Phillips committee had at least managed to make a start - and we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.” The Rieber committee was chaired by associate physics professor Roger Meyerson and the College Hall brain trust, which included three former members of the Phillips committee and eight members of the University’s steadily-worsening black studies community. The Phillips committee had at least managed to make a start - and we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.” The Rieber committee was chaired by associate physics professor Roger Meyerson and the College Hall brain trust, which included three former members of the Phillips committee and eight members of the University’s steadily-worsening black studies community. The Phillips committee had at least managed to make a start - and we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.” The Rieber committee was chaired by associate physics professor Roger Meyerson and the College Hall brain trust, which included three former members of the Phillips committee and eight members of the University’s steadily-worsening black studies community. The Phillips committee had at least managed to make a start - and we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.” The Rieber committee was chaired by associate physics professor Roger Meyerson and the College Hall brain trust, which included three former members of the Phillips committee and eight members of the University’s steadily-worsening black studies community. The Phillips committee had at least managed to make a start - and we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.”

On Dean Wolfman’s Comments

WERNER GUNDERHEIMER

Alfred Rieber, the Rieber committee was chaired by associate physics professor Roger Meyerson and the College Hall brain trust, which included three former members of the Phillips committee and eight members of the University’s steadily-worsening black studies community. The Phillips committee had at least managed to make a start - and we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.” The Rieber committee was chaired by associate physics professor Roger Meyerson and the College Hall brain trust, which included three former members of the Phillips committee and eight members of the University’s steadily-worsening black studies community. The Phillips committee had at least managed to make a start - and we don’t wish to take away from that. This is the point that the Wolfman committee rejected. Both black students and black studies majors “can’t, at least for the time being, find a fair way out.”
Soviet to Stay Out of Indo-Pakistan Conflict

The Soviets said Sunday they would try to keep the Indo-Pakistan conflict from becoming a world war. However, in a further warning to Pakistan, Moscow reminded that the Indo-Pakistan conflict was part of the "international struggle against the imperialists and their agents in Asia and Africa." The statement said that the United States and China, as well as the Soviet Union, had to solve the situation. The statement went on to say that the governments of all countries should act to prevent a war from erupting.

Hurok Receives Award

Hurok, the impresario who brought the Beatles to America, was honored for his greatest success, according to the statement. The Beatles were the greatest of his successes, the statement said. Hurok said that the youth of Russia "carry on just as they do everywhere." The statement went on to say that the Beatles were the victims of "cold hearted internationalists." A few of the soloists did not want to go on tour, and eventually the overall youth of Russia would not accept their role as the victims of "cold hearted internationalists.""The Beatles were not the only ones who wanted to return to Australia.

Hockey Player

Pierre was the only boy who went around the entire course of the hockey game. Pierre was the second boy who went around the entire course of the hockey game. Pierre was the only boy who went around the entire course of the hockey game.

National Youth Caucus

The national youth caucus was selected as "the most outstanding" of the national caucuses. The caucus was selected as "the most outstanding" of the national caucuses.

Paint the Red Town, Glee Club Show, Opens Annenberg Stand

The first five numbers featured a group of guitarists playing "The Beatles". The group was playing a popular rock and roll tune, according to the statement. The Beatles were not the only ones who wanted to return to Australia. The Beatles were not the only ones who wanted to return to Australia.

LET'S SAVE IT. PEACE BY PEACE.
We're Out To Kill The Competition

L.P. SERIES 54'

And Don't Overlook These

SPECIAL 2 RECORD SET!

LADY LAY

ALL ALONE THE WATCHTOWER

HARD RAIN'S A GONNA FALL

I SHALL BE RELEASED

THE MIGHTY QUINN

MAGGIE'S FARM

I'LL BE YOUR BABY TONIGHT

IF NOT FOR YOU

SPECIAL 2 RECORD SET!

IT'S ALL OVER NOW, BABY BLUE

DON'T THINK TWICE, IT'S ALLRIGHT

MEMPHIS BLUES AGAIN

WATCHING THE RIVER FLOW

ALL I REALLY WANT TO DO

JUST LIKE TOM THUMB'S BLUES

TOMORROW IS A LONG TIME

SPECIAL 2 RECORD SET!

T. REX

ELECTRIC MARRION

FLEETWOOD MAC

FUTURE GAMES

VAL MORRISON

TUPelo HONEY

SEALS & CROFTS

YEAR OF SUNDAY

Alice Cooper

Killer

RETROS TELL A MAJORITY

CODE "D"

CODE "4"

CODE "E"

CODE "E"

CODE "E"

CODE "E"

L.P. SERIES "2"

L.P. SERIES "3"

L.P. SERIES "1"

L.P. SERIES "2"

L.P. SERIES "3"

L.P. SERIES "5"

ALSO AVAILABLE AT

BIG SAVINGS!

Columbia

Columbia

Columbia

Columbia

Columbia

Columbia

SPECIAL 2 RECORD SET!

SPECIAL 2 RECORD SET!

SPECIAL 2 RECORD SET!
Frosh Cagers Torpedo Plebes

By GLENN UNDERBRIDGE

Protein basketball coach Ray Corossus had to add two more minutes remaining in Saturday's encounters to his burned-out schedule. The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.

The third year mentor had a winning assignment for the warriors to stand by, but at least by leaving he seconds remaining gave the frosh a head start to deadlock the score. Byers had filled that post since the Carazo had to abandon ship with ten seconds remaining in Saturday's encounter with Navy's yearlings.
The first-year goalie wasn’t ready to let that edge go, as he proved in a pre-season game over Princeton, where he scored a perfect 10, and on Saturday against Colgate, where he got the first shutout of his collegiate career. In between, the sophomore goalie made 30 saves in a 12-3 victory over Colgate, becoming the first freshman goalie to start in a major college hockey game since 1970. In his next game, against Connecticut, he made 28 saves in a 3-1 win, becoming the first freshman goalie to record a shutout in his first three collegiate games.

The goalie’s performance was a testament to the strength of the Penn defense, which allowed just three shots in the first period. The Quakers continued their dominance in the second period, bringing the score to 9-0, and ending the game with a final score of 12-3. The Penn defense was complemented by a strong forward line, with goals from Weatherby and six assists from Swanson. The game was characterized by a high level of intensity and a strong sense of teamwork, with each player contributing to the overall success of the team.

The win against Colgate marked a significant milestone for the Penn hockey team, as it was their first victory of the season. The team’s performance against Colgate was a testament to their hard work and dedication, and it set the stage for a successful run in the Atlantic 10 Conference. With this victory, the Penn hockey team is well on their way to achieving their goals for the season, and they will continue to work hard to maintain their momentum.

---

CANZOTTI-ROCKETT

Cantab Fencing

By JAY BARNHURST

The first-year mentor wasn't ready to let that edge go, as he proved in a pre-season game over Princeton, where he scored a perfect 10, and on Saturday against Colgate, where he got the first shutout of his collegiate career. In between, the sophomore goalie made 30 saves in a 12-3 victory over Colgate, becoming the first freshman goalie to start in a major college hockey game since 1970. In his next game, against Connecticut, he made 28 saves in a 3-1 win, becoming the first freshman goalie to record a shutout in his first three collegiate games.

MERMEN SWAMP POOL

By KEITH MERRILL

In a most generally acclaimed dose of championship, the men's swimming team swept the Harvard and Yale meet, 155-109. The Red and Blue dominated the event, winning every event in both the 50 and 200-yard freestyle, and setting two new meet records. The team's victory was especially significant, as it came in the midst of a tough season and against two of the nation's top teams. The Red and Blue's strong performance was a testament to the hard work and dedication of the swimmers, who trained tirelessly to achieve this level of success.

---

SWORDSMEN SLICE BIG RED

As Fernandez Wins Key Bout

By DAVE CRANDLER

The Swimmers sliced the Big Red in a 152-110 victory on Saturday afternoon, setting two new meet records and capturing the first place in both the 50 and 200-yard freestyle. The team's performance was a testament to their hard work and dedication, and it marked a significant milestone for the Penn swimming team.

---

FAST MOVING

SUNNYSIDE TURF

By PHIL SHIMKIN

The first-year goalie wasn’t ready to let that edge go, as he proved in a pre-season game over Princeton, where he scored a perfect 10, and on Saturday against Colgate, where he got the first shutout of his collegiate career. In between, the sophomore goalie made 30 saves in a 12-3 victory over Colgate, becoming the first freshman goalie to start in a major college hockey game since 1970. In his next game, against Connecticut, he made 28 saves in a 3-1 win, becoming the first freshman goalie to record a shutout in his first three collegiate games.

---

TICKETS ON SALE DAILY

14-10 CLASS OF '74 SKATING RINK

Box Office 594-6607

By KEITH MERRILL

In a most generally acclaimed dose of championship, the men's swimming team swept the Harvard and Yale meet, 155-109. The Red and Blue dominated the event, winning every event in both the 50 and 200-yard freestyle, and setting two new meet records. The team's victory was especially significant, as it came in the midst of a tough season and against two of the nation's top teams. The Red and Blue's strong performance was a testament to the hard work and dedication of the swimmers, who trained tirelessly to achieve this level of success.

---

By KEITH MERRILL

In a most generally acclaimed dose of championship, the men's swimming team swept the Harvard and Yale meet, 155-109. The Red and Blue dominated the event, winning every event in both the 50 and 200-yard freestyle, and setting two new meet records. The team's victory was especially significant, as it came in the midst of a tough season and against two of the nation's top teams. The Red and Blue's strong performance was a testament to the hard work and dedication of the swimmers, who trained tirelessly to achieve this level of success.

---

By JAY BARNHURST

The first-year mentor wasn't ready to let that edge go, as he proved in a pre-season game over Princeton, where he scored a perfect 10, and on Saturday against Colgate, where he got the first shutout of his collegiate career. In between, the sophomore goalie made 30 saves in a 12-3 victory over Colgate, becoming the first freshman goalie to start in a major college hockey game since 1970. In his next game, against Connecticut, he made 28 saves in a 3-1 win, becoming the first freshman goalie to record a shutout in his first three collegiate games.