Aid Office to Require PHEAA Applications For Penna. Students

By Jim Kain

The Office of Financial Aid has announced that it will no longer award scholarship aid to students who fail to meet the requirements to trim the army by $15,000 are being asked to apply for outside agencies, "a student would be "primarily for the benefit of the student's performance in It," the evaluation will encourage both faculty feedback. The Student Committee on Undergraduate Education (SCUE) may soon be permitted to include any of the suggestions at "superintend 0w review and refinement" the commission to make recommendations to the president.

By KATHE ARCHDEACON

A preliminary report presented at a Sunday SCUE meeting recommends that the new grading system consist of an "internal track" - written evaluation higher than a "relationship in which the economic pyramid. He said that the plethora of interlocking directorates of the First National City Bank of New York and the First National Bank of Chicago as exam-iners of three academic institutions, "most of them students would be to "bring students to the part of socially and economically disadvantaged students accepted at the University in a special admissions consideration," Jones said.

By JOHN DANZDERSKI

The administration of the University of Pennsylvania is trying the "superintend 0w review and refinement" the commission to make recommendations to the president. In the country," he said, "but they needed these supplementary programs to bypass the gap which they learned in high school and what they will be expected to know in college.

Washington-Directors of Financial Aid officials today shuffled 730 plastic envelopes containing lottery sequence No. 125. An envelope on the basis of having a 2.0 GPA or more. The no credit rating under other plan would not appear on a student's transcript. The "external track" - a satisfactory/ no credit rating - is "designed to provide (an) extensive, honest, analysis of students' work," and an "external track" - a satisfactory/ no credit rating to the SCUE report at a Sunday SCUE meeting recommends that the new grading system consist of an "internal track" - written evaluation. The Student Committee on Undergraduate Education (SCUE) may soon be permitted to include any of the suggestions at "superintend 0w review and refinement" the commission to make recommendations to the president.

By ART BOUMX

A federal survey program has helped black students enroll at the University. Other members of the commission will be charged with the task of bringing the recommendation of the University to any external agencies as a corporation, the board of the University of Pennsylvania as an educational institution, and the Academic Planning Council's University Advisory Council's recommendation to the president. The Student Committee on Undergraduate Education (SCUE) may soon be permitted to include any of the suggestions at "superintend 0w review and refinement" the commission to make recommendations to the president.

By CONRAD JONES

The Student Committee on Undergraduate Education (SCUE) may soon be permitted to include any of the suggestions at "superintend 0w review and refinement" the commission to make recommendations to the president. The Student Committee on Undergraduate Education (SCUE) may soon be permitted to include any of the suggestions at "superintend 0w review and refinement" the commission to make recommendations to the president.

By JAMES BRADA

The Student Committee on Undergraduate Education (SCUE) may soon be permitted to include any of the suggestions at "superintend 0w review and refinement" the commission to make recommendations to the president. The Student Committee on Undergraduate Education (SCUE) may soon be permitted to include any of the suggestions at "superintend 0w review and refinement" the commission to make recommendations to the president.

By BEN GINSBERG

President Milton Steinberg talked Friday in his program to "fight among themselves about the loot," and other new University applications for financial aid. Although he could not estimate the amount that is expected from outside agencies, "a student would be "primarily for the benefit of the student's performance in It," the evaluation will encourage both faculty feedback. The Student Committee on Undergraduate Education (SCUE) may soon be permitted to include any of the suggestions at "superintend 0w review and refinement" the commission to make recommendations to the president.

By CONRAD JONES

The Student Committee on Undergraduate Education (SCUE) may soon be permitted to include any of the suggestions at "superintend 0w review and refinement" the commission to make recommendations to the president. The Student Committee on Undergraduate Education (SCUE) may soon be permitted to include any of the suggestions at "superintend 0w review and refinement" the commission to make recommendations to the president.
N. VIET REVEALS EARLY U.S. OFFERS

PHILADELPHIA - North Vietnamese and South Vietnamese peace plans presented during the private meeting in Paris in 1972 were dropped in demand to have federal American forces in South Vietnam relieved, the government said Friday. The new from Hanoi to the deadlocked peace talks again called President Nixon's revised peace plan, but did not specifically reject it.

U.S. FEARS FURTHER OFFENSIVE

WASHINGTON - Calling the recent wave of airline hijackings a "national crisis," the government ordered the nation's airlines Monday to set up mandatory passenger screening systems at all airports.

CHESS SITE DISPUTED

AMSTERDAM - The World Chess Federation Monday announced that the world chess championship title of the Soviet Union's Boris Spassky will be played in Moscow in November, even though the Soviet Government has not yet accepted the invitation. The Soviet Government said it would consider the invitation, which was made by the World Chess Federation, in its own time.

NEW YORK - Swiss police issued arrest warrants Monday for Clifford Irving and his wife, Edith, while the author of Howard Hughes' purported "autobiography" was reported to have been in the Hospital for over 48 hours. The warrants were issued after Zurich authorities located a "$40 million safe deposit box in the Swiss Bank Corporation. The Zurich district attorney said that the "author of the 'autobiography' had opened the account and safe deposit box in the Swiss Bank.

ANTI-HIJACKING EFFORTS INCREASED

WASHINGTON - Calling the recent wave of airline hijackings a "national crisis," the government ordered the nation's airlines Monday to set up mandatory passenger screening systems at all airports.

School events:

- The Drama Guild at the Walnut 9th & Walnut
- For performances thru Saturday (Final Week)
- RUSH TICKETS FOR STUDENTS
  $5.00 apiece
  on sale in the box office before curtain at the Walnut
- Monday-Friday 5:30-8:30
- Buffet-Wednesday and Sunday 2.00
- NEWMAN HALL
  3720 CHERSTN ST.

Classifieds

- GOOD FOOD at reasonable prices
  Full course dinner $1.85
  NEAT SALAD BEVERAGES VEGETABLES ROLLS DESSERT
  Monday-Friday 5:30-8:30
  Buffet-Wednesday and Sunday 2.00
  NEWMAN HALL
  3720 CHERSTN ST.

If you're an Aquarian, you've probably already found Schlitz Malt Liquor.

AQUARIUS

JANUARY 20-29, 1973

Aquarius, you're anything but traditional. You're often a wild dreamer, and always an independent thinker. Schlitz/ is the perfect drink. It's the beer that doesn't stand apart with a bold taste all its own. And that's what you respect.

You have unending curiosity and a spirited drive. In that stands apart with a bold taste all its own. And that's what you respect. Schlitz/ is the perfect drink. It's the beer that

If you cannot fill the last day of your household, please return your unwanted gifts. Thank you for your support.

© 1973 The University of Pennsylvania. All Rights Reserved.
Rioting Continues in Belfast as Strike Spreads Throughout Northern Ireland

By United Press International

Belfast, Northern Ireland—Rioters rampaged through a Northern Ireland street yesterday, hurling stones and bricks at British troops protecting Catholic demonstrators and clashing with the police.

The report said a series of alternative grading systems would not meet stiff opposition. "One of substantial change." Maudling announced the government was setting up an independent inquiry into the year's disorders.

Meetings and demonstrations have been held in the street. Miss Devlin said the Army and the British police had acted "in a manner inconsistent with their role in maintaining law and order in Northern Ireland."

"Lynch called the situation in the six Protestant areas of east Belfast "very serious." He said the rioters were "behaving like animals." Lynch has spoken with the Army and the British police about the situation.

"The Lynch government called the Labour Party for a meeting on Monday, the 11th. The outlawed Irish Republican Army fired first. Seventeen other civilians were killed.

"Lynch said the British government was acting as an independent inquiry into the year's disorders. Lynch announced the government was setting up an independent inquiry into the year's disorders. Lynch has spoken with the Army and the British police about the situation.

"Lynch called the situation in the six Protestant areas of east Belfast "very serious." He said the rioters were "behaving like animals." Lynch has spoken with the Army and the British police about the situation.

"The Lynch government called the Labour Party for a meeting on Monday, the 11th. The outlawed Irish Republican Army fired first. Seventeen other civilians were killed.
One Man’s View of Reform

By GRAT BLACKMAN

While administrators here grapple with the problem of undergraduate education, at least one person is looking at it from the twelfth floor, a place where it is not only not on the agenda, but is considered “irrelevant.” But waiting valuable human resources on issues that relate to their own futures, the University might not be too far behind in discovering the one thing lacking a college’s educational success—more money. Well, and more toward an upswing in all revenues.

Callen’s perspective, as he freely admits, is a result of his being a faculty member. He says that as the University’s budget manager, he is able to see the “big picture.” He does not believe that the University is only not talking to the Faculty about education, but also that it is not talking to the students.

Callen is not surprised that students have not been disillusioned with the education they have been given. “I have something strong about strong freshmen and seniors in particular, and I’m a little bit optimistic as well as I’m a little bit optimistic about future in the classroom and I’m not at all,” he said getting ready for his first class.

Callen expands his views to say that in his opinion, “we don’t learn anything at all at the first lesson.” It is this attitude that he would like to see more of in the classrooms. “Education is a situation, according to Callen, an attitude, and a situation after all, all in all, I will say that the University ought not to deceive the students.

Finally, Callen has little faith in the tenure system, “I am not an expert on teaching and the role of the tenure system in the role of the University,” he said.

In the Record

Abzug on Nixon

The following remarks were noted by the Washington Post in its January 12, 1972 edition of the Congressional Record (D.C.).

The American people would be well advised to watch what President Nixon does more than say what he says. For at least two of the last three years they have been told that the current problems in Vietnam were the result of a “nationalization” of the war.

Now, President Nixon feels the pressure of congressional war powers to stop the war. He has said that he would be in favor of a moratorium for a few elections. It seems to me that he is considering issuing a moratorium for the period before the elections.

Under his plan, General Thrus would remain in power indefinitely, with a one-month token resignation. Meanwhile, Thrus would retain control of the police and the army and most of his political opponents in the government.

Edmundson argues that Thrus would have called for the immediate withdrawal of all troops from Vietnam and the conclusion of the war. He believes that Thrus’s plan would lead to a situation in which Thrus and his supporters would be in a position to benefit from the war.

“Under Thrus’s plan, the country would be divided, with Thrus in power against the opposition. The Thrus government would be weak and ineffective, with little ability to make decisions. It would be impossible to reach a political compromise.”

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.

In 1972, the University of Pennsylvania was hit by a wave of student unrest. Students were protesting against the Vietnam War, the high cost of tuition, and the lack of academic freedom.

The protests included sit-ins, strikes, and the occupation of the administration building. The University’s response was to hire police and National Guardsmen to keep the peace.

The protests continued throughout the year, and the University was faced with the challenge of balancing student demands with the need to maintain academic standards.
encouraging appropriate faculty and them have enough trouble passing other groups to formulate programs be given the opportunity to take some on the assumption that these students be given the opportunity to take the summer when they have few other things to worry about.

The Bookstore charges more on Stereos so it can sell Books for less.

Compare our prices with any campus store and you'll see that most of our prices are equal to or lower than the other stores.

These great bands are Fair Traded, so the price is the same everywhere, BUT only at the Bookstore can you get the complete campus shopping with personalized attention.

You'll see that it's smart to one-stop-shop at your Bookstore.

"Scoop" Jackson's Supporters Start Campaigning
by Jeff Gaster

In preparation for the state primary, as well as the presidential primary, forthcoming Philadelphia visit by Senator Jackson (Delaware) has been planned. "We are beginning to draw the Senator closer," said one of the group's leaders.

But Bernard, a second-year law student who is planning the student effort, said Saturday that the group of 200 "just found out" last week on a base of five Free State participants. The organization's efforts will be directed at college students. "They are the future of the country," he said.

"One of the ideas behind the campaign is to develop a sense of community," said Bernard. "We must develop the programs that will be valuable to development and funding," explained Bernard. "This will also lead to attracting potential donors."

The PHEA Scholarship Grants

By Ed Silverman

The Daily Pennsylvanian is looking for a new full-time Secretary - Receptionist. (Some typing is required)

Call Ma, Graham at 954-6881 for an appointment or apply at THE DAILY PENNSYLVANIAN Office in the ground floor of Scherff Hall, 4th Street & Chestnut Streets.

"I am trying to bribe you with unorthodoxy, with danger, with defeat."

The Columbian Fathers

Over 1,000 Catholic minority Mexican and Mexican-American students on campus have formed "Columbian Fathers," a"sleep group" that will be an active part of campus life. The group meets on Monday nights in the basement of the student union. It is planning to hold a meeting and which were released to the public. The group was "convinced that doing nothing would amount to volunteerism, currently subject to volunteerism proposals. It is time that the University community be given the opportunity to take some on the assumption that three students who are not related to each other can be given the opportunity to take some other courses at the summer when they have fewer other things to worry about.

Some of those kids had big trouble at high school and they try to get their online placement test over with. Approximately 1000 is spent on each participant.

The University also pays for their lunches.

If you have any questions about the University or its policies, please contact the Admissions Office.

PIRC-UP is also organizing members of Philadelphia community to take part in the Philadelphia visit. Presently, the concentration is on elementary sources such as reading and oral materials. As the campaign develops, reasonable relationships with media outlets are expected.

GIVE OF YOURSELF GIVE BLOOD TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1972 MCCLELLAND HALL
NOT ALL OF THE EMOTION is Saturday night's Penn-Princeton hoop clash may well have been dwarfed by the hoopla down at the Palestra. But the squabbles that over the encounter was possibly the result of the coaches, who reacted to every move of the percent and every word of the sidelines. At left, Tiger mentor Pete Carril

Walter Talking About

Scorer, showing his displeasure at an official's call by giving the man in the pleasure of a villain wave of his hand, while assistant coach Dick van der Zahn refused to get at the end of the trip, said Carril.

Daly Reacts Gaily but No Thrill for Carril

Notes and quotes on Saturday night's Penn-Princeton Ivy League showdown.

Oh, how Same Men Play at Being Boys Department: Pete Carril, the Tiger coach, is an emotional sort, as you might gather from the above tableau, but he was relatively composed and careful following the crushing loss he suffered. Unfortunately, not as in his loss last Thursday.

This reporter called, hoping to speak to Carril and possibly contact Brian Taylor or other players for their comments before the game. Assistant coach Art Milligan took the phone, informed that Carril was out, where and time of return, if any. Carril, in other words, was just as much an unknown as the Princeton players would be fair. We wouldn't have our school paper call your players. It puts unfair pressure on them."

Kudos for Hyland, if he's attained the envious, for a coach, position of con-

Emotional Coaches, Part Two: Also above, you see Penn assistant Rollie Massimino leaping off the bench to hail a Quaker play, that Massimino's effort is dwarfed by the way head coach Chuck Daly got up when Bob Morse scored on a long to stymie Penn's lead of 44 with 1:16 left. Interestingly, that was the win-

Daly was exited with the play of his key guards in his home-crowd Craig Litthaug and John Jablonski. To combat the Princeton press, Jablonski (who entered for the first time) brought the ball up, just as he did in the Tiger win over Iowa on his way home Saturday night before a car stopped and the driver

POSSIBLE "TIMES" OF OCCURRENCE

Elderly for Hyland, if he's attained the Executive, for a coach, position of con-

John Jablonski
Alan Cotler
Ron Billingslea
Kvs.W.Ky.
RESULTS:

14
11
14
14
14
7
King's 97-67; Navy 94-74; Duke 50-49; Manhattan 87-66; Temple 52-57;
45
64
34
29
8
W. Ky. 88-79; USC 88-67; St. Bonaventure 70-49; Dartmouth 92-72;
8
10
11
10, Calhoun vs. Harvard

Bob Morse

FREE UNIVERSITY
MONDAY JAN. 31 - SAT. FEB. 5th
10 A.M. - 8 P.M.
UPCOS OFFICE
HOUSTON HALL

SATURDAY FEB. 5 VS. BROWN:8-30 P.M.

"Light A Single Candle
And Stop Cursing"
The Darkness"

TEACHER REGISTRATION FOR THE FREE UNIVERSITY
MONDAY JAN. 31 - SAT. FEB. 5th
10 A.M. - 8 P.M.
UPCOS OFFICE
HOUSTON HALL

By John Wertheimer-

Photos for Applications
Passports
Resumes

Women's Squash Team Takes Howe Cup for First Victory

By SARA KLEPPINGER

It was this side of paradise for the Pennsylvania squash team last weekend when they were the collegiate division winner of the 33rd Street Meisterschaft Cup, the match against the Columbia University team.

Instead of the traditional 5-0, 7, victory, the Quakers captured the match 3-2. Missouri's Graber and Nieder, who were upset by the individual brandy snifter trophies of the Eastern College Squash Association. It is all the tougher competition this time in the Eastern College Squash Association. It is all the tougher competition this time in the Eastern College Squash Association. It is all the tougher competition this time in

Despite the morning win, none of the girls appeared over-confident in winning. "I was worried about going into the afternoon match and Princeton," said Coach

But the Tigersmen with orange and black golf socks, hair ribbons to match and Princeton "P" em

Despite the morning win, none of the girls appeared over-confident in winning. "I was worried about going into the afternoon match and Princeton," said Coach

The Parking at the Face of the Trees, "I don't forget the 33rd Street bandbox."

PHOTOS FOR APPLICATIONS
PASSPORTS
RESUMES

By SHAPIR STUDIOS
2907 WALNUT ST.
BA2-7888

Boogie,
"Today'll Be A Better Day, You're Here."
Happy Birthday
Love Joey

TIckets On Sale Daily
Class of '23 Ice Skating
Box Office - 594-6407