Financial Aid Cut for 2 Grad Schools

By JUDY APPELBAUM

The University has cut $300,000 in federal funds for student financial aid to the graduate schools, the University said in an announcement at the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences (GSAS) and the Graduate School of Fine Arts (GSFA).

The cut in financial aid will decrease approximately 27 percent from last year, and because of the University's financial situation, the percentage of last year's aid that will be given will probably be less than that given in past years. A total of $1,100,000 was given in past years to students now enrolled in GSAS. The amount of aid to be offered to currently-enrolled students of the Graduate School of Fine Arts (GSFA) allocation will decline by about ten percent.

The allocates to GSAS and GSFA were recommended by the University's Educational Policy Committee and the Academic Integrity Committee. The General Counsel's Office helped to formulate the guidelines for the use of the funds, George L. Cash, director of student affairs, said.

In a statement on GSFA, said the various graduate deans of the University's schools and colleges in which graduate students are located will have to decide on the amount of aid they will give to their students.

In past years some aid has been given to graduate students at the University, in addition to the University's own funds. The amount of aid to be given depends on the student's status as a citizen of the United States and his need.

Specter Says Students 'Moonlighting'

Committee Meets to Screen Applicants

A total of $1,100,000 was given in past years to students now enrolled in GSAS. The amount of aid to be offered to currently-enrolled students of the Graduate School of Fine Arts (GSFA) allocation will decline by about ten percent.

In a statement on GSFA, said the various graduate deans of the University's schools and colleges in which graduate students are located will have to decide on the amount of aid they will give to their students.

In past years some aid has been given to graduate students at the University, in addition to the University's own funds. The amount of aid to be given depends on the student's status as a citizen of the United States and his need.

Specter Says Students 'Moonlighting'

Committee Meets to Screen Applicants

A total of $1,100,000 was given in past years to students now enrolled in GSAS. The amount of aid to be offered to currently-enrolled students of the Graduate School of Fine Arts (GSFA) allocation will decline by about ten percent.

In a statement on GSFA, said the various graduate deans of the University's schools and colleges in which graduate students are located will have to decide on the amount of aid they will give to their students.

In past years some aid has been given to graduate students at the University, in addition to the University's own funds. The amount of aid to be given depends on the student's status as a citizen of the United States and his need.

Specter Says Students 'Moonlighting'

Committee Meets to Screen Applicants

A total of $1,100,000 was given in past years to students now enrolled in GSAS. The amount of aid to be offered to currently-enrolled students of the Graduate School of Fine Arts (GSFA) allocation will decline by about ten percent.

In a statement on GSFA, said the various graduate deans of the University's schools and colleges in which graduate students are located will have to decide on the amount of aid they will give to their students.

In past years some aid has been given to graduate students at the University, in addition to the University's own funds. The amount of aid to be given depends on the student's status as a citizen of the United States and his need.

Specter Says Students 'Moonlighting'

Committee Meets to Screen Applicants

A total of $1,100,000 was given in past years to students now enrolled in GSAS. The amount of aid to be offered to currently-enrolled students of the Graduate School of Fine Arts (GSFA) allocation will decline by about ten percent.

In a statement on GSFA, said the various graduate deans of the University's schools and colleges in which graduate students are located will have to decide on the amount of aid they will give to their students.

In past years some aid has been given to graduate students at the University, in addition to the University's own funds. The amount of aid to be given depends on the student's status as a citizen of the United States and his need.

Specter Says Students 'Moonlighting'

Committee Meets to Screen Applicants

A total of $1,100,000 was given in past years to students now enrolled in GSAS. The amount of aid to be offered to currently-enrolled students of the Graduate School of Fine Arts (GSFA) allocation will decline by about ten percent.

In a statement on GSFA, said the various graduate deans of the University's schools and colleges in which graduate students are located will have to decide on the amount of aid they will give to their students.

In past years some aid has been given to graduate students at the University, in addition to the University's own funds. The amount of aid to be given depends on the student's status as a citizen of the United States and his need.

Specter Says Students 'Moonlighting'

Committee Meets to Screen Applicants

A total of $1,100,000 was given in past years to students now enrolled in GSAS. The amount of aid to be offered to currently-enrolled students of the Graduate School of Fine Arts (GSFA) allocation will decline by about ten percent.

In a statement on GSFA, said the various graduate deans of the University's schools and colleges in which graduate students are located will have to decide on the amount of aid they will give to their students.

In past years some aid has been given to graduate students at the University, in addition to the University's own funds. The amount of aid to be given depends on the student's status as a citizen of the United States and his need.

Specter Says Students 'Moonlighting'

Committee Meets to Screen Applicants

A total of $1,100,000 was given in past years to students now enrolled in GSAS. The amount of aid to be offered to currently-enrolled students of the Graduate School of Fine Arts (GSFA) allocation will decline by about ten percent.

In a statement on GSFA, said the various graduate deans of the University's schools and colleges in which graduate students are located will have to decide on the amount of aid they will give to their students.

In past years some aid has been given to graduate students at the University, in addition to the University's own funds. The amount of aid to be given depends on the student's status as a citizen of the United States and his need.

Specter Says Students 'Moonlighting'

Committee Meets to Screen Applicants

A total of $1,100,000 was given in past years to students now enrolled in GSAS. The amount of aid to be offered to currently-enrolled students of the Graduate School of Fine Arts (GSFA) allocation will decline by about ten percent.

In a statement on GSFA, said the various graduate deans of the University's schools and colleges in which graduate students are located will have to decide on the amount of aid they will give to their students.

In past years some aid has been given to graduate students at the University, in addition to the University's own funds. The amount of aid to be given depends on the student's status as a citizen of the United States and his need.
Class Size

By Chat Blakeman

There are a number of problems with introductory courses. Not only can classes range in size from large to small, but the number of sections at the same time can be quite large. The University may be increasing the number of students per section, but there is no law that all courses have to be taught in the same way.

Some courses at the University can have more than 100 students, while others have as few as 20. This difference is due to a variety of factors, such as the size of the department, the level of the course, and the time of year.

By combining introductory history lectures, for example, and the number of students and one of ten is minimal.

The Language Requirement

By Scott Gibson

The administration's approval last week of plans by the Undergraduate Education Committee to eliminate the language requirement from all courses was met with intense opposition from student groups.

The language department at the University is one of the largest in the nation, but it is also one of the most controversial. The department is composed of hundreds of faculty members who teach a wide variety of courses, from introductory Latin to advanced French.

Over the past few years, there has been a growing demand for the elimination of the language requirement. The University has been debating this issue for several years, but it has never been resolved.

The language requirement is not beneficial to many students, and it should be considered the Administration's weak spot in the debate.

In the case of the language requirement, Clark said: "There is absolutely no point in taking another language for the purpose of having a second major, or even a minor, in another language. If one is interested in learning a foreign language, he should be encouraged to do so, but he should not be forced to do so by the University's requirements."

The requirement is further complicated by the fact that the language courses are not taught in any particular language. The courses are taught in English, and the students are not required to learn the language.

The requirement is not effective in any way, and it is a waste of time and money. The University should consider the students' needs and interests and create a curriculum that is more relevant to their lives and careers.
Kaysen Cites Gap Between Business, Public Interests

By JOHN DANIELS

"The political power of public opinion is growing. The market system is declining in favor of the political power of votes," political economist and Wharton professor Robert Kaysen told small audience of Wharton students at the American Economic Association's autumn meeting.

The address was the third lecture in the Crearley Memorial lecture series sponsored by the Wharton Graduate School of Business Management. The series is a part of Wharton's "elements of a national master plan." For these reasons, he said, the philosophy of Social Darwinism, he explained that American business had left the market." The practice was settled into the habit of leaving social problems to businessmen and government in the near future, and reported that protest to the demand for more equity is more effective, Kaysen said, "and the tendency not to question it was a nonexistent." Kaysen said that in America's present business system, the institution is to profit. The second is to "resist political rules of society and still turn a profit. The second is to "resist political rules of society and still turn a profit." Kaysen said that in America's present business system, the institution of any other such rules. "This management philosophy has been effective," Kaysen said, "and the tendency not to question it was a positive in America's record of corporate growth." But such a philosophy, he contended, must in the long-run create problems. "The demand for more equity is more widely accepted than it has been at any other time." However, even Adam Smith knew problems to the market system was problems because leaving the market." The practice was settled into the habit of leaving social problems to businessmen and government, he said.

Business had ignored the social problems because leaving the problems in the realm of private enterprise in the near future, and reported that protest to the demand for more equity is more effective, Kaysen said, "and the tendency not to question it was a nonexistent." Kaysen said that in America's present business system, the institution is to profit. The second is to "resist political rules of society and still turn a profit." Kaysen said that in America's present business system, the institution of any other such rules. "This management philosophy has been effective," Kaysen said, "and the tendency not to question it was a positive in America's record of corporate growth." But such a philosophy, he contended, must in the long-run create problems. "The demand for more equity is more widely accepted than it has been at any other time." However, even Adam Smith knew
Muskie Campaigns

(Continued from page 1)

Muskie said the United States should end the war "so we can". He said that by breaking off negotiations and stopping up building, Muskie has "taken a reverse direction", so that the situation in Vietnam is even more "unfavorable to us". The senator has put back three years. "We ought to have learned that we can't solve Vietnam's problems with our bombing," and called Nixon's actions of the last two weeks "an invitation to continue war and killing."

On the issue of the economy, Muskie said, was not a good idea of their own, detailing how the present administration's policies have fallen. He said the "only policy that will work" is to end the war in Vietnam. He said Nixon has been "tackling territorial or other disputes."

---

News in Brief

Admiral Says N. Viet Thrust Contained

WASHINGTON - Adm. Thomas Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, reported Tuesday that the North Vietnamese were not "as much Vietnam has been contented, etc. to transporting arms and ammunition for a closed hearing."

"As far as I know, the North Vietnamese troops are concentrating on the Sana River and the northeastern U. S. troops in the area, South Vietnamese troops are concentrating on the Hue River." He added that he has been "tackling territorial or other disputes." He said Nixon has been "tackling territorial or other disputes." He said Nixon has been "tackling territorial or other disputes."

Prison Guard Testifies At Angela Davis Trial

SAN ANGELO, CALIF. - A San Quentin prison guard who is an expert prison guard who is an expert witness testified Tuesday that the prisons' policies that inmates will not be allowed to use violence. "I am not the accused," he said at a press conference. He added that he has been "tackling territorial or other disputes." He said Nixon has been "tackling territorial or other disputes.

---

Protest

(Continued from page 1)

very much aware that the POW's are in the United States."

"He told us that the invasion has been a, "he said at a press conference. He added that he has been "tackling territorial or other disputes."

Jersey Congressman Denies Tax Evasion

NEWARK, N.J. - Rep. Cornelius Gallagher, a World War II hero and seven-term House member, has been charged with income tax evasion. Gallagher, who served in the South Pacific during World War II, has been accused of underpaying his income taxes.

He said he "didn't know" whether he would be re-elected to the House. "I am not the accused," he said at a press conference. He added that he has been "tackling territorial or other disputes."

---

Speech to the House

WASHINGTON - Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall said Tuesday that the nation's third attempted extortionist strike was "a general strike."

"I am not the accused," he said at a press conference. He added that he has been "tackling territorial or other disputes."

A Federal judge in New York has prepared a seven-point "charter for European peace," as a basis for a "general strike."

"I am not the accused," he said at a press conference. He added that he has been "tackling territorial or other disputes."

---

Other Charges

Another San Quentin officer testified that he "didn't know" whether he would be re-elected to the House. "I am not the accused," he said at a press conference. He added that he has been "tackling territorial or other disputes."

At Angela Davis Trial

WASHINGTON - Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall said Tuesday that the nation's third attempted extortionist strike was "a general strike."

"I am not the accused," he said at a press conference. He added that he has been "tackling territorial or other disputes."

---

Other Charges

Another San Quentin officer testified that he "didn't know" whether he would be re-elected to the House. "I am not the accused," he said at a press conference. He added that he has been "tackling territorial or other disputes."

---

At Portland Airport

WASHINGTON - The Federal Aviation Administration said Tuesday that it will investigate two cases involving in-flight hijackings on charges they had failed to comply with government requirements for "safe and secure flying." The FAA said it will investigate two cases involving in-flight hijackings on charges they had failed to comply with government requirements for "safe and secure flying." The FAA said it will investigate two cases involving in-flight hijackings on charges they had failed to comply with government requirements for "safe and secure flying." The FAA said it will investigate two cases involving in-flight hijackings on charges they had failed to comply with government requirements for "safe and secure flying." The FAA said it will investigate two cases involving in-flight hijackings on charges they had failed to comply with government requirements for "safe and secure flying."
Administrators Testify for State Funds

The University’s current financial problems were a result of several factors, a report of the President’s charge information, which he said “has been and is the result of some hard-difficulties.” Meyerson singled out the University’s inability to cover its operating costs, a lack of faculty and staff handling, and the lack of funds. He also revealed that the cost of books had gone up so rapidly that he would “set aside the fact that it is no longer on the list of today’s most pressing problems.”

Meyerson also said that in the past, the state’s financial problems, the University had to appeal directly to the state legislature for additional funds. He referred specifically to the Medical School and the Veterinary College.

The President made a special plea in regard to the Dental School, saying that it has a $1.2 million deficit, as well as the Commonwealth, although it is one of the largest and three of the state’s major schools of Pennsylvania.

Meyerson was accompanied to the General Assembly by State Representative Martin Mullen, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, and others. Mullen told the General Assembly that this year the University would consider a “contractual arrangement” with the state regarding the Dental School. Meyerson’s statement said that it appears that one of the biggest advantages the University has is in the area of state legislation. That is to say, if the University were to play in the Commonwealth, it would have a greater amount of $1 million annually. He is to say that the University should consider the Commonwealth’s need in dental service.

The University’s graduate students received $2 million in state funds last year. The University has requested that a small increase be granted for this year.

Grad Aid

(Continued from page 1)

In presenting a case for the Commonwealth’s financial aid to the University, Meyerson pointed out that each year the University would consider a “contractual arrangement” with the state regarding the Dental School. Meyerson’s statement said that it appears that one of the biggest advantages the University has is in the area of state legislation. That is to say, if the University were to play in the Commonwealth, it would have a greater amount of $1 million annually. He is to say that the University should consider the Commonwealth’s need in dental service.

The University’s graduate students received $2 million in state funds last year. The University has requested that a small increase be granted for this year.

Grad Aid

(Continued from page 1)

In presenting a case for the Commonwealth’s financial aid to the University, Meyerson pointed out that each year the University would consider a “contractual arrangement” with the state regarding the Dental School. Meyerson’s statement said that it appears that one of the biggest advantages the University has is in the area of state legislation. That is to say, if the University were to play in the Commonwealth, it would have a greater amount of $1 million annually. He is to say that the University should consider the Commonwealth’s need in dental service.

The University’s graduate students received $2 million in state funds last year. The University has requested that a small increase be granted for this year.

Grad Aid

(Continued from page 1)

In presenting a case for the Commonwealth’s financial aid to the University, Meyerson pointed out that each year the University would consider a “contractual arrangement” with the state regarding the Dental School. Meyerson’s statement said that it appears that one of the biggest advantages the University has is in the area of state legislation. That is to say, if the University were to play in the Commonwealth, it would have a greater amount of $1 million annually. He is to say that the University should consider the Commonwealth’s need in dental service.

The University’s graduate students received $2 million in state funds last year. The University has requested that a small increase be granted for this year.

Grad Aid

(Continued from page 1)

In presenting a case for the Commonwealth’s financial aid to the University, Meyerson pointed out that each year the University would consider a “contractual arrangement” with the state regarding the Dental School. Meyerson’s statement said that it appears that one of the biggest advantages the University has is in the area of state legislation. That is to say, if the University were to play in the Commonwealth, it would have a greater amount of $1 million annually. He is to say that the University should consider the Commonwealth’s need in dental service.

The University’s graduate students received $2 million in state funds last year. The University has requested that a small increase be granted for this year.
Morse has already been accepted at Penn Medical School, and he has indicated he will attend if his offers he was also drafted by Dallas of the ABA isn’t good enough. "By not going to medical school for a single reason, I would be jeopardizing my career to some extent, and I think I should be reimbursed for this," he adds. "I don’t care to have to wait around." Morse also stated that he has received offers from Europe to play, and that competing in a foreign country would be "a real possibility."

New York attorney Bill Moden, who represented the Lakes, told McMillion when he was at Columbus, is active as Morse’s agent.

Live and Learn!

BOAC’s summer student programs are a great way to have a vacation in Britain and at the same time earn credits at your university. Twenty-one programs are offered by Overseas Airways Corporation for the summer of 1972. Students can take advantage of these programs to gain credit for the course you like. All the courses offered in the BOAC programs are prepared under the auspices of the British Student Travel Centre. And on most programs, accommodations, relevant excursions and meals are included. And you’ll have plenty of free time to see the sights and more than a few, such individuals and groups can take advantage of these programs.

When the next student migration to Britain begins this summer (as one of the largest ever), the next generation of students will have the opportunity to experience the British way of life and the English-speaking world. BOAC’s summer student programs offer an opportunity to study and enjoy the culture of the United Kingdom and Ireland. Each program is carefully planned to provide a balance of academic instruction and extracurricular activities.

The programs are designed to meet the academic requirements of students at all levels of study, from high school to graduate school. Each program is taught by experienced instructors who are experts in their respective fields. The programs are located throughout the United Kingdom and Ireland, including universities, colleges, and cultural centers.

The BOAC programs offer a wide range of subjects, including English language, history, literature, art, music, and more. Each program has a unique focus and offers a variety of courses that cater to different interests and abilities.

The BOAC programs are open to students from all over the world. Students from the United States, Canada, and other countries are welcome to participate in these programs. The programs are designed to be flexible and can be tailored to meet the needs of individual students.

If you are interested in participating in a BOAC summer student program, contact the Study Abroad Office at your university. They can provide you with more information about the programs and help you determine which program is best for you.

The BOAC Summer Student Program offers a unique way to earn college credits while experiencing the culture and history of the United Kingdom and Ireland. These programs are an excellent opportunity for students to broaden their horizons and gain a deeper understanding of the world around them.

Keep free radio alive this summer

Bo AC takes good care of you.

Sisterhood is Powerful by Robin Morgan
—The Female Eunuch by Germaine Greer
-Sexual Politics by Kate Millett

A Toast to the University of Pennsylvania’s Sisterhood

JUDITH DEWITT

Sports Editor

DAVE CHANDLER

Sports Copy Editor

University of Pennsylvania’s Annenberg Center for Communication Arts and Sciences

PRESENTS

THE PLOUGH AND THE STARS

by Sean O’Casey

directed by Thomas Gruenenwald

ZELLERBACH THEATRE

3680 WALNUT STREET

PREVIEWS APRIL 15, 17

APRIL 18 through 29

7:30 p.m.

THE PLOUGH AND THE STARS

An Inquiry into the Causes and Consequences of War

by Shlomo Sand

This groundbreaking book challenges the traditional narrative of Jewish history and offers a new perspective on the consequences of war and civil strife.

Shlomo Sand, a leading scholar of Jewish history, reconsiders the role of military occupation in the history of the Middle East and the consequences of war and civil strife.

The book is divided into three parts:

1. The Role of Military Occupation in the History of the Middle East

2. The Consequences of War and Civil Strife

3. The Implications for Peace and Security

Sand argues that military occupation has been a central factor in the history of the Middle East and that it has contributed to the persistence of war and civil strife. He also examines the role of other factors, such as religion, politics, and economics, in shaping the region's history.

The book is a must-read for anyone interested in Middle Eastern history, international relations, and the history of war and civil strife.

Order your copy today and discover a new perspective on the consequences of war and civil strife.
Netmen Notch Win Over State

By SARA REICHEL

Jayson Schwartz exhibited the style and form which has earned him the Daily Pennsylvanian’s coveted Mr. Penn Men’s Tennis honors as the Quakers swept 9-0 into their third win in four matches this season.

Schwartz was extended to a doubleheader second set by Stan’s John Bortner and it was during this set that the points were at four apiece. With the ball in play for the fifth time, Schwartz served and Bortner hit the wild shot which Schwartz returned to successfully reach a hard passing shot that Bortner went long.

The Quaker racketmen have been moving from a 1-10 record in 1964 to an 8-1 start this year as Chris Sadkowski and Steve Issadore and Doug Pollock beat Mike Schmidt added single tallies. The team’s total score of 368 was a new low for recent competition and Norbury, who competed from 1957-60.

As Soph Fires 67

Two records were set Monday when the Penn golfers (2-2-1) overpowered Villanova (1-3-0) at the Main Line. International sophomore Vince Scarpetta shot a 67 to tie the single-90 holes record of 67 set by St. Joe’s Angelenos yesterday as they dealt Penn its second loss in as many years. First to halve the Quakers (6.5.5 in Big Five) eight times, but couldn’t get his team off the ground for a big win this year. Moreau, St. Joe’s, Jarell duo had returned the属于的 first six no one knew. And Penn junior Gary Martin was in better form.

Sensational sophomore Vince Scarpetta shot a 67 to tie the single-90 holes record of 67 set by St. Joe’s Angelenos yesterday as they dealt Penn its second loss in as many years. First to halve the Quakers (6.5.5 in Big Five) eight times, but couldn’t get his team off the ground for a big win this year. Moreau, St. Joe’s, Jarell duo had returned the 属于 the first six no one knew. And Penn junior Gary Martin was in better form.

Calhoun Inks Phoenix Contract;
Morse Considers Pros,Medicine

As predicted in yesterday’s DP, Corky Calhoun has signed a one-year Phoenix Suns contract. As the Phoenix Fans of the National Basketball Association, the professional team announced yesterday afternoon. Details of the new pact were given, but reliable sources indicate that it is for three years, has a no-cut clause, and is in the vicinity of $500,000.

As Soph Fires 67

The team’s total score of 368 was a new low for recent competition and Norbury, who competed from 1957-60.

As Soph Fires 67

Two records were set Monday when the Penn golfers (2-2-1) overpowered Villanova (1-3-0) at the Main Line. International sophomore Vince Scarpetta shot a 67 to tie the single-90 holes record of 67 set by St. Joe’s Angelenos yesterday as they dealt Penn its second loss in as many years. First to halve the Quakers (6.5.5 in Big Five) eight times, but couldn’t get his team off the ground for a big win this year. Moreau, St. Joe’s, Jarell duo had returned the 属于 the first six no one knew. And Penn junior Gary Martin was in better form.

Sensational sophomore Vince Scarpetta shot a 67 to tie the single-90 holes record of 67 set by St. Joe’s Angelenos yesterday as they dealt Penn its second loss in as many years. First to halve the Quakers (6.5.5 in Big Five) eight times, but couldn’t get his team off the ground for a big win this year. Moreau, St. Joe’s, Jarell duo had returned the 属于 the first six no one knew. And Penn junior Gary Martin was in better form.

As Soph Fires 67

Two records were set Monday when the Penn golfers (2-2-1) overpowered Villanova (1-3-0) at the Main Line. International sophomore Vince Scarpetta shot a 67 to tie the single-90 holes record of 67 set by St. Joe’s Angelenos yesterday as they dealt Penn its second loss in as many years. First to halve the Quakers (6.5.5 in Big Five) eight times, but couldn’t get his team off the ground for a big win this year. Moreau, St. Joe’s, Jarell duo had returned the 属于 the first six no one knew. And Penn junior Gary Martin was in better form.

As Soph Fires 67

Two records were set Monday when the Penn golfers (2-2-1) overpowered Villanova (1-3-0) at the Main Line. International sophomore Vince Scarpetta shot a 67 to tie the single-90 holes record of 67 set by St. Joe’s Angelenos yesterday as they dealt Penn its second loss in as many years. First to halve the Quakers (6.5.5 in Big Five) eight times, but couldn’t get his team off the ground for a big win this year. Moreau, St. Joe’s, Jarell duo had returned the 属于 the first six no one knew. And Penn junior Gary Martin was in better form.