Penn Faces Dartmouth For Ivy Football Title

By Dave Chandler

Penn seeks its first Ivy League football championship since 1959 this Saturday, as the Quakers face conference-leader Dartmouth on the Mountain.

The Quakers, winners of their last three games after a 1-3 start, have compiled a 5-3-1 MAIA record. WPI (730) AM 93.9 FM) will broadcast the game, with Bob Goblin and John Welsh.

By SCOTT GIBSON

Will Head State Office

By SCOTT GIBSON

Conrad Jones, associate dean of students and head of the University's advising office, has resigned, to become assistant director of the Commission of Higher Education in Harrisburg.

Mr. Jones, who directed Philadelphia's Student Employment Program for five years before coming to the University in 1970, will take over the newly created office that will oversee minority problems in state colleges. He had assumed the position of assistant director of the University of Pennsylvania Institute in Philadelphia this summer.

Mr. Jones, who is also a part-time lecturer in the sociology department and is vice president-elect of the Pennsylvania Association for the Advancement of Higher Education, will work closely with President Martin Meyerson, who chairs the University's Committee on Minority Affairs in Higher Education.

"I don't think that there's ever been a time in this University's history when the problems of minority groups were more important," Mr. Jones said. "I think that the University has a moral obligation to contribute to the solution of those problems, and that's why I've accepted this offer." Mr. Jones's new position will become effective immediately.

Mr. Jones said he was not sure how many successful matches he could arrange, but that "$2 million in state funds to 20 administrators as advocate for students"

Noted.

"Loughran was as good as any goalie in the country," Mr. Jones said, "and I'm sure he'll be missed by anyone." Mr. Jones also praised the Quaker defense for its "defensive smarts".

In addition to being a superb administrator and valuable staff person here, Loughran repeatedly snuffed scoring threats before they began. Through the first half Drexel had only three shots on goal, as the Quakers were playing almost exclusively in their own half of the field. The Dragons didn't score until 35:16, when Doug King put one past Penn State goalie Tim Loughran, and it was as good as any goal in the country this year.

"Loughran was as good as any goalie in the country," Mr. Jones said, "and I'm sure he'll be missed by anyone." Mr. Jones also praised the Quaker defense for its "defensive smarts".

Great goalkeeping by Loughran for Penn permitted the game to develop into a man-against-man contest and was one of the reasons why the Quakers were able to overcome Drexel's opening goal and go on to a 4-0 victory in the first round of the NCAA tournament last night at Drexel in the first round of the NCAA tournament last night.

Mr. Jones, who directed Philadelphia's Student Employment Program for five years before coming to the University in 1970, will take over the newly created office that will oversee minority problems in state colleges. He had assumed the position of assistant director of the University of Pennsylvania Institute in Philadelphia this summer.

Mr. Jones, who is also a part-time lecturer in the sociology department and is vice president-elect of the Pennsylvania Association for the Advancement of Higher Education, will work closely with President Martin Meyerson, who chairs the University's Committee on Minority Affairs in Higher Education.

"I don't think that there's ever been a time in this University's history when the problems of minority groups were more important," Mr. Jones said. "I think that the University has a moral obligation to contribute to the solution of those problems, and that's why I've accepted this offer." Mr. Jones's new position will become effective immediately.

Mr. Jones said he was not sure how many successful matches he could arrange, but that "$2 million in state funds to 20 administrators as advocate for students"

Noted.

"Loughran was as good as any goalie in the country," Mr. Jones said, "and I'm sure he'll be missed by anyone." Mr. Jones also praised the Quaker defense for its "defensive smarts".

In addition to being a superb administrator and valuable staff person here, Loughran repeatedly snuffed scoring threats before they began. Through the first half Drexel had only three shots on goal, as the Quakers were playing almost exclusively in their own half of the field. The Dragons didn't score until 35:16, when Doug King put one past Penn State goalie Tim Loughran, and it was as good as any goal in the country this year.

"Loughran was as good as any goalie in the country," Mr. Jones said, "and I'm sure he'll be missed by anyone." Mr. Jones also praised the Quaker defense for its "defensive smarts".

Great goalkeeping by Loughran for Penn permitted the game to develop into a man-against-man contest and was one of the reasons why the Quakers were able to overcome Drexel's opening goal and go on to a 4-0 victory in the first round of the NCAA tournament last night at Drexel in the first round of the NCAA tournament last night.

Mr. Jones, who directed Philadelphia's Student Employment Program for five years before coming to the University in 1970, will take over the newly created office that will oversee minority problems in state colleges. He had assumed the position of assistant director of the University of Pennsylvania Institute in Philadelphia this summer.

Mr. Jones, who is also a part-time lecturer in the sociology department and is vice president-elect of the Pennsylvania Association for the Advancement of Higher Education, will work closely with President Martin Meyerson, who chairs the University's Committee on Minority Affairs in Higher Education.

"I don't think that there's ever been a time in this University's history when the problems of minority groups were more important," Mr. Jones said. "I think that the University has a moral obligation to contribute to the solution of those problems, and that's why I've accepted this offer." Mr. Jones's new position will become effective immediately.

Mr. Jones said he was not sure how many successful matches he could arrange, but that "$2 million in state funds to 20 administrators as advocate for students"

Noted.

"Loughran was as good as any goalie in the country," Mr. Jones said, "and I'm sure he'll be missed by anyone." Mr. Jones also praised the Quaker defense for its "defensive smarts".

In addition to being a superb administrator and valuable staff person here, Loughran repeatedly snuffed scoring threats before they began. Through the first half Drexel had only three shots on goal, as the Quakers were playing almost exclusively in their own half of the field. The Dragons didn't score until 35:16, when Doug King put one past Penn State goalie Tim Loughran, and it was as good as any goal in the country this year.

"Loughran was as good as any goalie in the country," Mr. Jones said, "and I'm sure he'll be missed by anyone." Mr. Jones also praised the Quaker defense for its "defensive smarts".

Great goalkeeping by Loughran for Penn permitted the game to develop into a man-against-man contest and was one of the reasons why the Quakers were able to overcome Drexel's opening goal and go on to a 4-0 victory in the first round of the NCAA tournament last night at Drexel in the first round of the NCAA tournament last night.

Mr. Jones, who directed Philadelphia's Student Employment Program for five years before coming to the University in 1970, will take over the newly created office that will oversee minority problems in state colleges. He had assumed the position of assistant director of the University of Pennsylvania Institute in Philadelphia this summer.

Mr. Jones, who is also a part-time lecturer in the sociology department and is vice president-elect of the Pennsylvania Association for the Advancement of Higher Education, will work closely with President Martin Meyerson, who chairs the University's Committee on Minority Affairs in Higher Education.

"I don't think that there's ever been a time in this University's history when the problems of minority groups were more important," Mr. Jones said. "I think that the University has a moral obligation to contribute to the solution of those problems, and that's why I've accepted this offer." Mr. Jones's new position will become effective immediately.

Mr. Jones said he was not sure how many successful matches he could arrange, but that "$2 million in state funds to 20 administrators as advocate for students"

Noted.

"Loughran was as good as any goalie in the country," Mr. Jones said, "and I'm sure he'll be missed by anyone." Mr. Jones also praised the Quaker defense for its "defensive smarts".

In addition to being a superb administrator and valuable staff person here, Loughran repeatedly snuffed scoring threats before they began. Through the first half Drexel had only three shots on goal, as the Quakers were playing almost exclusively in their own half of the field. The Dragons didn't score until 35:16, when Doug King put one past Penn State goalie Tim Loughran, and it was as good as any goal in the country this year.

"Loughran was as good as any goalie in the country," Mr. Jones said, "and I'm sure he'll be missed by anyone." Mr. Jones also praised the Quaker defense for its "defensive smarts".

Great goalkeeping by Loughran for Penn permitted the game to develop into a man-against-man contest and was one of the reasons why the Quakers were able to overcome Drexel's opening goal and go on to a 4-0 victory in the first round of the NCAA tournament last night at Drexel in the first round of the NCAA tournament last night.
Death at Southern U.

Governor Edwards has stated that even if it should develop that the two dead men were killed by the police, he would not blame the police; Mayor Davis has had this to say: "The men have been shot and killed by police; and it is the job of the police to protect the community.

Our thoughts are with the relatives of the deceased and with the community to express their views of the situation.

"Think They've Figured Out A System To Keep Me From Growing?"

By Alice Stone

Can women be minority? Is the liberation changed women significantly? A jest through Philadelphia women's movement, which included participation in a nonconformist. Women's Arts Center, indicates that women weren't changed much -- if at all. In fact, there's a vast gulf between the high-falutin rhetoric of Coco, Sistemas and Freedon and what actually occurring at the grass-roots level.

First, consciousness raising:

This is a system-group therapy with a little group's name. The system's name is "Women's Liberation.

Second, commitment to a new lifestyle. The system's name is "consciousness-raising group."

Third, consciousness-raising. This is a system-group's name. The system's name is "a new lifestyle."

who is a very bright lawyer.

Intelellectual sparkle

By Roger O'Dell

R. Buckminster Fuller's outgoing of thought of the "First, consciousness-raising."

This night was most refreshing and an intellectual experience. It was a true scholarly experience. It was a true scholar: the extent of his knowledge and presentation. It was a true scholar: the extent of his presentation. It was a true scholar: the extent of his presentation. It was a true scholar: the extent of his presentation. It was a true scholar: the extent of his presentation.

University Year for ACTION

is a component of the ACTION agency in Washington, D.C. UVA takes Penn students away from full in-classroom work and places them in community and city agencies for one year. They receive a small stipend and a housing allowance. Starting in January, 1973 UVA placements are available in these fields.

Jazz in Irvine

A Benefit for the Curtis Organ

Merkurk Davis & Clouds

Merkurk Davis is Miles Davis, Jr., who plays an electric trumpet with a 10-piece jazz group. The Curtis Organ will be present.

Monday, Nov. 27 Irvine Auditorium 8 p.m.

$1.50 Donation at Door

Penn Varsity Ice Hockey

P R I V A T E  T U N I L L  7 6 3  3  4  6 2  3

Tickets Now: 10 AM-3 PM. Class of 1933 Ice Rink • Call 594-6607

University Year for ACTION

is a component of the ACTION agency in Washington, D.C. UVA takes Penn students away from full in-classroom work and places them in community and city agencies for one year. They receive a small stipend and a housing allowance. Starting in January, 1973 UVA placements are available in these fields.

Mental Health - Horizone House

Community Organizing - Citizen Participation Coordinator

Housing - Horizone House, City Planning Commission

Education - OIC

Health Delivery - Revierview House, City of Phila., OIC

Consumer Fraud - District Attorney's Office

Administration of Justice - Safe Streets

Drug & Alcoholism - Diagnostic & Rehabilitation Center, et al.

FOR DETAILS CONTACT:

JUDY SAMUELS

101 Sergeant Hall

34th & Chestnut Streets

594-7174
Conrad Jones Resigns

Conrad Jones resigned yesterday as dean of students at the University of Washington. Jones, who had been a professor of political science at the university, was appointed to the post in 1970. The announcement was made by Chancellor W. D. S. Ingersoll.

Jones said he had decided to resign because of "a change in the University's attitude towards its non-traditional students." He also cited a lack of resources for these students and a lack of support from the administration.

The resignation is effective immediately, and the University has not announced a replacement. Jones will continue to work at the university as a professor of political science.

---

Penn union council presents
mahavishnu orchestra with john mc laughlin and rowan brothers

Saturday, December 9
8 p.m. irvine
Tickets: $4, in advance at Houston hall ticket agency.

---

VolksWagen and Foreign Car Repairs
BA 2-065
PETCO AUTO SERVICE

Classifieds

---

Event notices

---

Letter to the Editor

---

Cafe theater

---

Wananaker's

---

Bus drivers extra money for college students.

---

Test drive a volkswagen without a car dealer

---

Globe Sales Co.

---

Penn union council presents
Mahavishnu orchestra with John McLaughlin and Rowan Brothers

Saturday, December 9
8 p.m. irvine
Tickets: $4, in advance at Houston hall ticket agency.

---

Volkswagen and Foreign Car Repairs
BA 2-065
PETCO AUTO SERVICE

Classifieds

---

Event notices

---

Letter to the Editor

---

Cafe theater

---

Wananaker's

---

Bus drivers extra money for college students.

---

Test drive a volkswagen without a car dealer

---

Globe Sales Co.
Quakers Seek First Ivy Crown Since 1959

The Quakers Seek Their First Ivy Crown Since 1959

By Ted Meitzer

While most of the sports action takes place here in Philadelphia this weekend with both the football and basketball teams here, the other Ivy teams are also in town. The Penn hockey team travels north to Boston to begin in search of a young but dangerous Northeastern team on Saturday night.

The Quaker hockey team has been changing at the bit for some real competition, having already scrimmaged the freshmen, and this weekend they will play against Northeastern and Virginia Tech. Sources say that Northeastern will be looking for some substantial gains in the quality of the third line and blue line.

"If we play them even through the first three games, then we have," remarked captain Mike Halbert.

Bootsers Seek Title Against Dartmouth

It may be a NCAA football time, but Penn's soccer season is not finished. This weekend, Dartmouth comes to Franklin Field to face the Quakers in one of the final games of the year.

The Dartmouth game is a key test for the Quakers, who have had a solid season so far. Both teams are close to each other in the conference standings, and this weekend's game could determine who will finish first.

The Quakers have been looking forward to this game for a long time, and they hope to come out on top. "This is the biggest game of our life," said Dartmouth coach Jim Tuppeny.

The Big Green, although starting a 4-0-2 record and taking command of the game," observed coach and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and offensive guard the Halbert, "If we wait until next year, we might have some trouble on our hands. We're going to have to do what we did against Yale — come out and defensive end Don I.uke. "To go out as Ivy champions can start a string of championships."