Apollo 17 Blasts Off in Last Moon
Mission Following Lengthy Delay

By United Press International

CAPE KENNEDY-Apollo 17's blastoff was delayed an hour Sunday because of a technical hitch, but the NASA-accredited launch finally occurred early Monday morning, giving the nation's sixth moon flight a chance to relax and work out its way around the earth before breaking the atmosphere. The flight to a 25 billion project, and a total of 130 searchlights encircling the launch site.

The launch sought was a rendezvous with the moon, the first time a man has been able to bring a friend on a date with the moon. The moon's surface was last inhabited in May by astronauts of the Apollo 13 mission, who returned from their excursion to the moon's surface by closing the hatch of their craft and went on to build a new space station in the skies of the Earth.

A computerized sequencing of the Apollo 17 mission was held for 130 searchlights encircling the launch site.

there was no indication of what the purpose might be. The computerized sequencing was held to discuss the course of the Apollo 17 mission.

A wide range of communities was made available for the Apollo 17 mission. The landing was lauded with more than 130 million dollars spent on a space station in television.

The mission's launch was marked with a spectacular display of light, a display that was to be repeated on the moon itself. The light was a symbol of the moon's surface, which is covered with a blanket of gray dust. The moon's surface is covered with a blanket of gray dust. Pinball Freaks Abound at University

By Jim Mardian

The campus was filled with a thick layer of smoke as a crowd gathered around a group of pinball machines. The machines were placed in a circle, and the smoke filled the air around them. The crowd was so large that the machines were almost hidden from view.

The machines were of various types and sizes, ranging from small coin-operated games to large, commercial models. The players were all enjoying themselves, laughing and cheering as they competed for high scores.

Nixon Names Dent Commerce Sec., Retains Butz

By United Press International
WASHINGTON - The White House announced Wednesday that John A. Shriver, an old confidante of former President Lyndon B. Johnson, will be named Commerce Secretary, replacing Raymond G. Batz, the latest casualty of Dr. Richard Nixon's cabinet shuffle.

News Democratic Group Urges Party Restoration
WASHINGTON - Repealing the "sick politics" of George McGovern, a new organization of liberal Democrats Wednesday urged that the party's "certain democratic principles" be restored. The group, formed in the wake of the primary season, was described by Ziegler as a man with "an exceptionally distinguished record." The new group would include "the wishes and hopes of a majority of the American people."

Formation of the Coalition for a Democratic Majority was announced by seven of 81 organizers and supporters. These new conference meetings conclude with Saturday's nominating convention. On that date, it will determine whether Mrs. Jean Britton of Texas or Mrs. Jeanne Wiley of Kentucky will be the party's nominee for Senator from the state. The National Committee of the Democratic Party will meet again Thursday night to select the party's presidential candidate. Mr. Nixon's挑选 will be announced by seven of 81 organizers and supporters. Allende Goes to Moscow To Discuss Aid for Chile

WASHINGTON - President Salvador Allende Wednesday arrived in Moscow aboard a special State Department plane. The move by the Chilean leader was an indication that he was looking for new international allies and for ways to reduce the international pressure on his government. Allende has been under pressure from a number of countries and by the United Nations to liberalize the economy and end the military rule in his country.

Allende arrived in Moscow late Wednesday night, but the terms of his visit were not announced. The trip is expected to last about 48 hours, and Allende is scheduled to meet with Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev and other Soviet leaders. The trip is likely to be seen as a significant step in Allende's efforts to improve relations with the Soviet Union.

Condition Still Critical

really doesn't play in the game machines because of problems with repairing and maintaining new machines. The machines are filled almost every hour and sometimes there is a problem with the machine at the end of the line and when there are people waiting.

According to rough calculations, at least 60 percent of the time the machines are filled when they are played. This means that for an average of 60 minutes a player must play the pinball machines. "I don't think this is a real challenge," said a man who had just played a few minutes ago. "I would rather play another game, such as Texas Hold'em or Scrabble, because they are a real challenge."

Freshmen Cagers, Led by Enoch, Overcome Sloppy Play.

By BOB RUBIN

Any team can win on the good days, but it takes a good team to win on the bad ones. The Quakers learned this lesson yesterday when they lost 67-34 to the Rutgers Scarlet Knights, 18-9, after scoring only 12 points in the first half.

The Scarlet Knights, with their young and talented team, outscored the Quakers in every quarter. They were led by junior forward Enoch, who had 16 of his 18 points in the second half.

Carazan admitted: "We did not play a good game. We were sloppy, and this resulted in our loss."

The Quakers, who were well-balanced in scoring, were led by Carazan, who had 12 points, and Ed Stefaniski and a Penn full court press. They were bothered by a share. They were bothered by a share. They were bothered by a share.

"They were committed in the contest, and it turned the game around," Carazan continued.

The Quakers' biggest problem was their defense, which allowed Rutgers to score freely. The Scarlet Knights had more than their share. They were bothered by a share. They were bothered by a share. They were bothered by a share.

"The Quakers take a 32-24 halftime lead into the lockerroom," Carazan commented. "We were down 10 points at the start of the game, but we did not give up. We fought back hard and came within 10 points on one occasion.

"However, we were not able to hold on to our lead in the second half. The Scarlet Knights were too strong and too fast for us." Carazan concluded.

In the second half, the Scarlet Knights increased their lead to 18 points, and the Quakers were unable to reverse the situation.

Carazan said: "The Scarlet Knights are a very good team. They have a lot of skill and experience. We will have to improve our defense in order to compete with them in the future."
