Arrival of Viet Cong Complete
Military Comm.

By United Press International

A joint American-South Vietnamese military commission, conceived by the warring parties in Vietnam, was completed Thursday with the arrival of the Viet Cong representatives and the commission will probably keep its eye on the completion of the peace negotiations in Paris. The U.S. and South Vietnamese representatives are reportedly to come to the prospect of dealing with these Viet Cong delegates. They were flown aboard seven unarmed U.S.
POWs. The release of at least some American POWs depended on getting the JMC into operation since the commission is required by the Paris peace agreement to decide on areas for the release of POWs. It is not a question of stop using

Newman: An Accountant Takes Over Business

SNEAKY SPEAKS
Sophomore Steve Newman, the new business manager of the Daily Pennsylvanian, has a reputation on the business staff as a stickler for accuracy. Last year, when a DP student was working a job in a local drug store, Newman learned that the student was taking short change to blow his budget. The student was no longer on the paper. "I had a look at the bookkeeping, and I found that he was taking short change," Newman said. "I told the guy that I was going to write a story about it, so he decided to take seriously his job."

"Manny" is the name of Newman's new pet. "He can now bark," Newman said. "I told him that he had to learn to bark, so he did."

Newman's first day of work on the DP was Monday. "I had to make a lot of decisions, including which students to hire," Newman said. "I also had to make sure that the business operations run smoothly and that the paper is in good condition."

Newman is a business student at the University of Pennsylvania. "I'm not sure if I'll stay at Pennsylvania," Newman said. "I might transfer to another university."

Newman is planning to major in accounting. "I want to go into accounting," Newman said. "I think it's a good field."

The Essential Feature is Human Consciousness

The Supreme Court decision in the landmark cases to prevent transfers of millions of Americans and destroy millions of others. It may be helpful to the latter to consider carefully the distinguished features of human life. It must be protected by law and which is the essence of human life.

'They've Been Pretty Selective

In Avoiding Multiple Targets

This feature cannot be the amazing human life, human consciousness. It is the distinctive feature. Consciousness, it is difficult to perceive that the essence of human life. If it can be perceived in any way, it is by the consciousness, the essence of human life. If it can be perceived in any way, it is by the consciousness, the essence of human life. If it can be perceived in any way, it is by the consciousness, the essence of human life. If it can be perceived in any way, it is by the consciousness, the essence of human life.

Perhaps we could agree that the essential feature is human consciousness; human life is human consciousness. The feature which endows us with it is the consciousness, the essence of human life. If it can be perceived in any way, it is by the consciousness, the essence of human life. If it can be perceived in any way, it is by the consciousness, the essence of human life.

An Outsider's View

How Desperately We Need PIRG

By Steve Biddle

If one has ever been intimately involved in the academic complex, or has made the rounds of the university departments, it quickly becomes apparent that within the universities there exist two distinct subcultures. One is the academic subculture, the other is the university subculture. The former is based on the faculty, and the latter on the students. The former is characterized by a commitment to research and teaching, and the latter by a commitment to service and community.

On the surface, these two subcultures may seem to be at odds with each other. But beneath the surface, there is a deep-seated antagonism between them. The faculty, who are the intellectual elite, see themselves as the guardians of knowledge and the repository of wisdom. The students, who are the intellectual underdogs, see themselves as the victims of an oppressive system that prevents them from realizing their full potential. The two subcultures are locked in a constant struggle for power and influence.

Struggling Icemen Set for Bruins

By TED METZGER

After losing to Princeton on Wednesday night the Icemen started looking around for holes to crawl into. The season still has a long way to go, and the Princeton hockey team will be doing far more than looking around for holes to crawl into. The win over Brown (4-3) propelled the Class of '23 Rink into the top tier of the E.I.S.L. With five games remaining in the regular season, the Icemen will have to show their mettle to remain in contention for the league title, especially with the addition of the strong Harvard team to the schedule.

The Icemen have scored only one goal in their last four games, and the team is looking to right the ship against the Bruins. "We need to show some fight," commented Coach Allan J. Underberger. "They're a tough team, and we need to step up our game to have a chance against them." The Bruins have won six of their last seven games, and the Icemen will have to be at their best to compete.

Despite this conflict of records, Coach J. Underberger believes that "with enough heart, we can compete with them. They're a tough team, but we're confident in our ability to compete." The Icemen have shown improvement in recent games, and they will look to continue this trend against the Bruins.

Mermen Travel to Main Line to Meet Villanova

By ANDY FISCHERMAN

Two years ago Penn won the E.I.S.L. title, took the Palestra, and had a record of 22-11. That only sets the stage for this year. The Mermen face Villanova this weekend in the Palestra for a crucial game in the Ivy League. The second-year coach George Brown has come todominate the Ivy League. The Mermen have not faced Villanova in two years, and the team will be looking to take advantage of this opportunity.

"We're excited to face Villanova," said Coach Brown. "They're a good team, and we need to take this opportunity to show what we're made of." The Mermen have won three of their last four games, and they will be looking to continue this trend against Villanova.

Wrestlers See Big Red Tomorrow; Seek Pride, Not the Championship

By RICK FURLONG

When Penn wrestles Cornell tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 P.M. in the Palestra, it will be a battle for pride. Cornell is currently ranked 14th in the Ivy League, while Penn is ranked 8th. Despite this conflict of records, Coach Gerry Alaimo believes that "we're playing for pride, not the championship. We want to show that we're a tough team, and we're willing to fight for every point." The Mermen have faced Cornell in the past, and they will be looking to continue their winning streak against the Big Red.

DP Tabs Outstanding Penn Sports Figures

Football coach Harry Gable has been named "DP's Man of the Year" by The Daily Pennsylvanian for his outstanding contribution to the university. The coach's dedication to his players and his work ethic have made a positive impact on the university. "Coach Gable has been a rock for our players," said the Daily Pennsylvanian.
