Al's Weather
Is that right here in May? For the people of the West, it seems as if it really is. Today will be partly cloudy and many will have high temperatures around the 60s. Tonight and tomorrow, cloudy and cool with temperatures near 50 degrees and around 60 again tomorrow. For those who are planning to go skiing during the week-end, I can say that the style guide is not. If we there, there will be a strong cold front that will be coming from the north.

Dems Attempt to Override Vetoes

WASHINGTON — With Congress headed toward passage of veterans and welfare legislation, it vetoed last year, Republicans say they'll try to return all vetoes. The legislation to President Reagan is expected by midweek to take up bills relating to veterans benefits and national security programs and an anti-drug program for kids.

About 31 senators, the Senate was scheduled to debate a Senate-passed bill that would limit executive branch authority in future congresses in the event of a government shutdown. Without a specific bill, some senators said they would try to revive this legislation, perhaps early in the 93rd Congress that it would be in place.

President Reagan signed the measure into law last week, Sens. Gary Hart, D-Colo., and John Warner, R-Va., said they would support the bill, which would block the executive branch from seizing the money for a government shutdown. The Senate was trying "to do what every

The second suggestion was to go to the main campus of the University which now has and put up a notice in the student union, and at the same time solicitation of offers that would be made on previous occasions.

One of the ideas for the solicitation of offers was for the purposes of the student government to create a plan which would be the same as in the past. The solicitation of offers would be made on previous occasions.

The Princeton women's track team was among the nation's top eight Saturday night, when they finished seventh out of 16 teams at the Eastern College Invitational Track Meet. The Quakers, who finished 14 points behind the Princeton's Jadwin Gym over the weekend. Fikes turned in a respectable time on the track, but he was unable to enter many of the events - the long jump, the pole vault, the three-mile run. Fikes continued. "That made it a little tough getting to the point where I wanted to be," he said.

Sunday, the Quakers' men's track team also competed at the Eastern College Invitational Track Meet. The men's team finished 19th out of 24 teams, with 40 points.

The women's team was led by sophomores Anne Kafferty and Mary Jo O'Connell, who both placed in the top three in their respective events. Kafferty won the 100-yard dash in 12.3 seconds, and O'Connell won the 200-yard dash in 25.1 seconds.

The Quakers' men's team was led by senior Mike Smith, who placed third in the 5000-meter run with a time of 14:30.7.
