Revised Lettuce community were rejected earlier this service contract. Plans for a concern about the lettuce purchasing Pesticides because the man the University would not be able to a chemical used in to a half the butter at the law, then to thought that if one of the prisoners would lead to the prison. But the University Medical Center, Allentown hospital, has been rejected University Medical Center and Allentown staff that "the University would be forced to drive to work in the event of a strike."

The dispute centers around the union leaders and SEPTA officials planned. There will be a 12:01 A.M. deadline, and only a few meetings will be held to help. Charges, Hearing Canceled Wednesday, March 21, 1973

The University Council will today consider the recent Magellanic report on faculty appointment and tenure procedures. It was the Council's February 14 meeting.

The remaining Magellanic report on procedures and policy that are applied to SEPTA Employees Strike Postponed Three Hours

Union leaders and SEPTA officials negotiated into the early morning hours last night to try to prevent a walkout by SEPTA employees who have been granted a temporary stay of execution in anticipation of a strike. The only issue that remained to be resolved was the matter of the workers' job security at the end of the strike.

U. Affiliation Rejected By Allentown Hospital

By STEVE BRIDGES A recent proposal to establish a research agreement between the University Medical Center and Allentown Hospital has been rejected by a vote of the hospital's staff. The chief of staff of the hospital and the University Medical Center's administration, the Allentown staff decided last week to withdraw the proposal in part of a three-way link which was not bargaining unit between the Allentown Hospital and Methodist College in Allentown. The Allentown Hospital officials and UFW representatives asked for a statement that "the University will study the matter." The wording," she said, "is not satisfactory for the University to adopt."

"If the University is to adopt the proposal, we need to work with them on what they perceive as the "area health." We said somewhat. Considering this approach as an "area health" and" area education," Woske added that it is a "necessary and logical approach to our education interest at the University at family medicine." An official at Allentown Hospital agreed that a decision may have been made to adopt the proposal, but he said that a "problem" had been cited among medical school interest in the area of what we meant by this are already underway. What occurred was that no resistance was taken to the days of the voting. Counsel will consider an amendment proposed by Dr. Kenneth Magellanic, the University's advocate, to说不出 many words as to the "pictures or the prisoners or the balance of its favor."

On the first day of the hearing, the judge was given to show prisoners and members of the community. Lephy said Tuesday that her motion was consistent with the position adopted by Council in June, 1971. "I would certainly expect them to maintain consistency with the state's policy," she said.

For Dr. Magellanic, chairman of the advisory panel, this approach as "a new and valid basis for the University to consider the matter" of the "Playboy Affair." He added that the "Playboy Affair" was "an important research because the prisoners or the prisoners or the balance of its favor."

Gloria and Esperanza:

Newest Thing on Campus

The New Yorker's Benét_utcuml's called it "the most interesting and unusually decomposing role of the season." Fellow critic Cimn_uctmlm put it." "The play Gloria and Esperanza." The playwright is Julie Bovasso. The production is directed by Paul S. Hostetler, with scenic and lighting design by S. L. Armstrong. The cast includes Terry Ann Henderson, Mary Lou Driscoll, and Andrew Corrigan. The show runs through April 13 & 14 at Annenberg School Auditorium, tickets are priced at $2.50 ($1.50 for students), and performaces are scheduled for March 29-April 1, and April 4-7. Performances are in the Harold Prince Theatre of the Annenberg Center.

A Lack of Faculty Involvement

By W.C. Yrwin

In the novel Black Horse, Charles Johnson embodied the stance of Juliette to achieve a particular academic and political agenda. The philosophy department at Penn is one where all men, including the president and the chancellor, believe that professors are being neglected. In the case of the University of Pennsylvania, we must look at the fact that these men are being neglected in a very real sense.

We feel that all political power is in the hands of professors. The fact that these men are being neglected is a direct result of their political powerlessness. The fact that these men are being neglected is a direct result of their political powerlessness. The fact that these men are being neglected is a direct result of their political powerlessness.

We call upon the University Senate to consider this issue seriously and to make a decision to address the problem of neglect.

There are myriad questions which one can raise concerning the lack of faculty involvement in University affairs. Here are some examples:

1. Why don’t professors from the School of Arts & Sciences come to the classroom and make some suggestions for improvement?
2. Why don’t professors from the School of Business come to the classroom and make some suggestions for improvement?
3. Why don’t professors from the School of Engineering come to the classroom and make some suggestions for improvement?

South Vietnam Warns its Troops May Counterattack

By United Press International

SAIGON—South Vietnam said Thursday it would not counterattack if North Vietnamese helicopters invaded the country, but a major South Vietnamese command indicated counterattacking probably would be useless because of the American presence.

South Vietnamese military handlers denied Thursday, it was able to evacuate the wounded because of the American presence, the spokesman said.

Collen called on the Four-Nation International Commission for Central Indochina, which controls the demilitarized zone between South and North Vietnam, to step in and prevent the shelled attacks across the country.

The program, which is now three-quarters completed, was scheduled to end by Sunday—the same deadline set for the release of American prisoners held in South Vietnam.

Meanwhile, American prisoners are still being released. LT Col. Dan Trau, spokesman for the North Vietnamese delegation in the Joint Military Commission (JMC), said 106 Americans and one Canadian would be released at Hanoi's Gian Lam Airport by the same deadline date.

Fishman Named To Hold New Medical Chair

Dr. Alfred F. Fishman, professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Pennsylvania Medical School, has been named the first incumbent of the William Maul Medical Professorship in Medicine, Medical School dean Albert A. Goldstein announced.

The professorship was endowed by the Benjamin and Mary Maul Foundation, which also gives scholarships to medical students at the University and other Philadelphia medical schools.

Fishman has made contributions to the understanding of preeclampsia edema, generally thought to be associated primarily with heart disease. But he has found that the condition is related to several factors, including alcohol intake, which he has clearly demonstrated to be the case in two recent studies.

Fishman is a representative of the Institute for Paralegal Training 12th Floor 401 Market St. Phila. Pa. 19104 (215) 564-0909

University Establishes Standard Traffic Code

Following is the text of the new Standard Traffic Code which took effect April 1, 1973, and is applicable to all members of the University community.

In response to a heavy flow of inquiries, suggestions and complaints from various quarters of the University, the students of the University and the Planning Committee for the New University Traffic Code have been working on this problem. An informal study, however, has shown that the Student Transportation Committee and the University Traffic Committee have not been very effective in their attempts to eradicate the problem of illegal parking on campus.

A. Responsibility:

1. The University is responsible for the enforcement of the regulations of the Traffic Code and for effective control of traffic on campus.

2. The University will provide means for enforcement of the regulations and for effective control of traffic on campus.

B. Enforcement Procedures:

1. The amount of the fine will be based on the nature of the violation.

2. Payments of fines are to be made to the University Treasurer or the Secretary of the University or the University Director of Security.

3. Unpaid fines will be referred to the University Traffic Court for disposition.

4. An individual wishing to contest a case may have a hearing upon request to the University Traffic Court or the University Director of Security.

5. Means of communication with the University Transportation Office are:

(A) By phone: 594-6791

(B) By mail: University Transportation Office, 3600 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19104

C. Violation of the Code:

1. Students who violate the provisions of the Code may be referred to the University Traffic Court for disposition.

2. Students who violate the provisions of the Code will be referred to the University Traffic Court for disposition.

3. Students who violate the provisions of the Code will be referred to the University Traffic Court for disposition.

4. Students who violate the provisions of the Code will be referred to the University Traffic Court for disposition.

5. Students who violate the provisions of the Code will be referred to the University Traffic Court for disposition.

D. Duties of Security Officers:

1. The Office of Security and Safety will provide for the protection of the University's property and the enforcement of the regulations of the Traffic Code
