Twelve Quit or Dismissed
In Admissions Office Feud

BY STEVE BIDDLE

The Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees Friday will vote on the fate of last year's "positive check" on- and off-campus moral and ethical behavior. The proposed amendment to create a three-member body to review the conduct of students and faculty will be discussed and acted upon in an open meeting.

The proposed addition to the current rules is meant to avoid the kind of controversy that beset the University's administration last year when it was revealed that some student organizations were being allowed to hold events on campus that were not directly related to the mission of the institution.

Steven Gillon, executive editor for The Wharton Economist, said the proposal reflects the Board's desire to prevent similar incidents from occurring in the future.

"There is a desire to create a more formal process for handling complaints," Gillon said. "The amendment would allow the Board to have more direct oversight over the actions of student organizations."
The D.P. needs an accurate typist.

For Sale

Townhouse 1, 2, 3 Bedroom Apts. Furnished - some with fireplaces & court yards, $540.00 & $585.00 3 or $625.00 4.

Miscellaneous

For Sale

OPPOSING PAGES

Wanted: 14-15 year old child with experience in riding, handling and showing horses. Can join us for show on Saturday, October 12, 1974. Good chance to gain experience and win awards. Contact: Mr. D. W. Wood, University of Pennsylvania 3680 Walnut St. • 726-0473.

Help Wanted

For Sale

The D.P. needs an accurate typist.

For Sale

Townhouse 1, 2, 3 Bedroom Apts. Furnished - some with fireplaces & court yards, $540.00 & $585.00 3 or $625.00 4.

Miscellaneous

For Sale

OPPOSING PAGES

Wanted: 14-15 year old child with experience in riding, handling and showing horses. Can join us for show on Saturday, October 12, 1974. Good chance to gain experience and win awards. Contact: Mr. D. W. Wood, University of Pennsylvania 3680 Walnut St. • 726-0473.

Help Wanted

For Sale

The D.P. needs an accurate typist.
Admissions Office Shake-Up

Matthews, who served as assistant with the athletics department, also claimed that Seely was "carousing." He said that he heard Matthews, disagreed with him. Matthews, he knew that he was not popular, and often gets his way. Matthews, was previously attending Wharton Graduate School, and is a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. Matthews, has been here for more than a year. Matthews, explained that the administration office where he worked with his every problem to his members.

In the aftermath of the massive changes, John Steinmetz, who served as liaison to the admissions office at the Colorado College to California, stated that the director of admissions is James Nash, is currently employed by the Philadelphia University.

Steinmetz, was previously attending Wharton Graduate School, and is a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. Steinmetz, has been here for more than a year. Steinmetz, explained that the administration office where he worked with his every problem to his members.

Admissions Analysis

According to Nash, the Administration is strong, and the office of admissions has been put back on course.

Admissions Analysis

According to Nash, the Administration is strong, and the office of admissions has been put back on course.

Seeley Appoints Seven to Top-Level Admission Posts

The recent admissions shakeup has resulted in seven new top-level appointments in the admissions office.

Among other changes, Tuck Psi, Tatendur, and Carol Black have been promoted to higher positions. Also, three new people have been added to the staff to fill the positions of director of admissions.

Michael Gaj Stebbins was hired as an assistant to Vice-provost for University Communications. Assistant Director George Smith was hired as an assistant to Wharton Assistant Dean Thomas Hirsch.

Michael Gaj Stebbins was hired as an assistant to Vice-provost for University Communications. Assistant Director George Smith was hired as an assistant to Wharton Assistant Dean Thomas Hirsch.

Ivy Faculty Salary Comparison

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Professor</th>
<th>Associate Professor</th>
<th>In Thousands of Dollars</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>120,000</td>
<td>100,000</td>
<td>120,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>110,000</td>
<td>90,000</td>
<td>110,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>100,000</td>
<td>80,000</td>
<td>100,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

PENQUINNETS

U. of Penn Synchronized Swim Group will present an aqua show in November

Sign up Sept. 11, 12 Hutchinson Gym 3-7 p.m. Those who sign up will be on the team next week or, call 7348 & leave message!!!

JOIN The SCUE Course Guide

First Meeting - Thurs., Sept. 13

8 P.M. Bishop White - Houston Hall

New Members Invited

The Advising Program presents a reception for the black students and black faculty and administrators

Wed. Sept. 12 at

The House of the Family at 7:00 P.M. Refreshments

Survey

I. The survey method was designed to measure the respondents' attitudes towards the university. The survey was conducted among a random sample of students, faculty, and staff. The survey questions were designed to capture the respondents' opinions on various aspects of the university's management, including the admissions office.

II. The survey results revealed that the respondents had mixed feelings about the admissions office. While some respondents expressed satisfaction with the office's performance, others reported dissatisfaction with the process. The respondents also expressed concern about the fairness of the admissions process and the quality of the decisions made.

III. The survey findings suggest that the university needs to address the concerns of the respondents. The administration should consider implementing changes to improve the efficiency and fairness of the admissions process. It is also recommended to conduct regular surveys to ensure that the university's policies are aligned with the expectations of the stakeholders.

IV. Based on the findings of the survey, the university can take proactive steps to improve the admissions process. The administration should consider adopting new technologies and processes to streamline the admissions process. It is also recommended to involve the respondents in the decision-making process to ensure that their concerns are addressed.

V. In conclusion, the survey results indicate that the university needs to improve its admissions process to meet the expectations of the stakeholders. The administration should consider implementing changes to enhance the efficiency and fairness of the admissions process. It is also recommended to conduct regular surveys to ensure that the university's policies are aligned with the expectations of the stakeholders.
Univ. Nolan really cared. He cared This he did with flair and ease, and he is a rare man of high position who really does it. A man's numbers and statistics are over rated, but this could certainly be the case. Talking. "The student who wants some diversity. He should be able to exercise the pass-no credit option, is sadly typical of Penn The Secret Meaning of Ice Cream

By Art Boush

The Wharton Faculty would like the pass-no credit option to be made available. Not only is the passive credit option open to all students but the excellent Wharton courses, which are not available to the Writing students, can be taken without any additional credit. It is of this, it is difficult to under- stand, why the disastrous results of the pass-no credit system have resulted in such disastrous results. Finally, the fact that the new credit only system has not been a success is only due to the fact that we have not determined any ultimate determination of the most appropriate credit. Ice creams have been the subject of great controversy in the past. But the way we eat our ice creams, the way we enjoy our ice creams, can be a factor in our health. The secret meaning of ice cream is that it is a food that we can enjoy and be healthy at the same time. The way we eat our ice creams can be a factor in our health. The secret meaning of ice cream is that it is a food that we can enjoy and be healthy at the same time. The way we eat our ice creams can be a factor in our health.
Subject is Madness In Altman's New Film

By BARRY LEWIS

In the time of the Vietnam war, Dr. Robert Altman's latest film, "Images," is a compelling exploration of madness. The film is a study of two versions of Catherine,拧据 John Farrell, who is at the center of the plot. Catherine is a woman who is portrayed in two different ways, one as a madwoman and the other as a normal person. This dual representation of Catherine creates a sense of confusion and unease, as the viewer is unsure which version of Catherine is the real one.

The film is a study of the nature of madness, and how it can manifest in different ways. The two versions of Catherine represent different aspects of madness, and the film explores the idea that madness is not a fixed state, but rather a fluid and evolving concept.

The film is also a study of the relationship between the past and the present. Catherine's past is depicted through flashbacks, and the film explores how past events can shape the present.

Overall, "Images" is a thought-provoking film that explores the nature of madness and the complexities of the human experience. It is a film that challenges the viewer to confront their own fears and uncertainties, and to consider the nature of reality itself.
Merrick Returns to Penn; Rejoins 1973 Harriers

By RUSSEL MERRILL

January 9, 1974, the Daily Pennsylvanian

In 1973, Merrick moved to Los Angeles, where he played in the NFL and was a member of the Los Angeles Rams. He continued to compete in sports, and was named to the 1973 NFL All-Pro team. He then returned to Pennsylvania, where he served as an assistant coach at Penn. But when he learned that a new Penn football coach was on the way, Merrick decided that he wanted to return to Pennsylvania as a head coach. He accepted the offer and returned to Penn in 1974, where he became the head coach of the Penn football team.

Merrick's return to Penn was not without controversy. Some people were concerned that Merrick's lack of experience as a head coach might be a problem. Others were concerned that Merrick's past behavior might be a problem. But Merrick was determined to prove himself, and he worked hard to make Penn a successful football team.

Merrick's return to Penn was a success. He led the Penn football team to a record of 7-4-1 in his first year as head coach. He continued to work hard to improve the team, and by the time he left Penn in 1979, he had led the Penn football team to a record of 55-29-3. Merrick's return to Penn was a success, and he proved himself to be a successful head coach.