

City Orchestra Returns From China Concerts

Hundreds of Philadelphians waited outside the airport's Overseas Terminal Sunday night to welcome Eugene Ormandy and the Philharmonic Orchestra home from a 10-day concert tour of China. The music director of the orchestra arrived at the Philadelphia International Airport after a 15-hour flight from Beijing.

Ormandy, a native of Philadelphia, is considered one of the world's most famous conductors. He has been at the helm of the Philadelphia Orchestra for more than 20 years and has led the orchestra on numerous international tours.

counterparts. They also brought home an unexpected surprise early in the tour over the school's drill team presented Ormandy with a baton. Most were members of the orchestra, and he would like to return to the United States with it.

He told reporters that the tour had been a "wonderful trip" and that he was "very happy" with the results.

EUGENE ORMANDY and his wife arrive at Philadelphia International Airport, Sunday night, after they returned from China with the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Watergate Hearings to Reconvene; Hunt to Talk on Ellsberg Break-In

By United Press International

Watergate Hearings to Reconvene; Hunt to Talk on Ellsberg Break-In

A spokesman for the nineteen-member Watergate Special Prosecutor's grand jury said Monday that it would meet again on Tuesday to hear testimony by John Dean, the former White House aide who is under indictment for perjury.

A spokesman for the nineteen-member Watergate Special Prosecutor's grand jury said Monday that it would meet again on Tuesday to hear testimony by John Dean, the former White House aide who is under indictment for perjury.

The spokesman said that the grand jury would hear testimony from three more witnesses, including John Dean. The spokesman added that the grand jury would not hear testimony from John Dean until Tuesday.

The spokesman said that the grand jury would hear testimony from three more witnesses, including John Dean. The spokesman added that the grand jury would not hear testimony from John Dean until Tuesday.

Psychiatry Dept. Chief Origins Metronome Relaxation Treatment

By STEVE STOCKTON

Can people learn to instantly relax without the use of drugs or medication? Acting Chairman of Psychiatry, John Paul Brady, has developed an instrument that he believes is a "miracle" treatment.

The instrument is known as a metronome and is used to help people relax. The metronome produces a rhythmic sound that helps to induce a state of relaxation.

Brady said the instrument is safe to use and that it can be used by anyone.

The metronome is designed to help people relax, and it has been used by thousands of patients.

John Paul Brady, Acting Chairman of Psychiatry, displayed the metronome.

Copyright 1973 The Daily Pennsylvanian, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

New Copyright Suggestions

By ROBIN DANDINO

A Subcommittee on Copyright Policy, known as the "Watergate Committee," has been formed to protect the rights of copyright holders. The committee will be chaired by Senator John F. Kennedy.

The committee will meet on Monday to discuss the issues of copyright protection and the policy of the Copyright Office.

A patent policy for the University is also being considered. A patent policy is a set of guidelines that govern the use of any invention that is protected by a patent.

A "copyright policy should exist as an integral part of the University's policy of scholarly freedom," said Senator John F. Kennedy.

The committee also discussed the category of educational devices. "There is a crucial need for some uniform copyright policy dealing with educational materials," said Senator John F. Kennedy.

The committee also discussed the category of educational devices. "There is a crucial need for some uniform copyright policy dealing with educational materials," said Senator John F. Kennedy.

Although the University has submitted an affirmative action plan to the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, it has not yet been approved.

The University's affirmative action plan has been submitted to the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, but it has not yet been approved.

Although the University has submitted an affirmative action plan to the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, it has not yet been approved.

(Continued on page 2)

Agnieszka Lawyers Ask End to Federal Probe

By United Press International

Agnieszka Lawyers Ask End to Federal Probe

The committee, which began its work in January, has been asked to look into the possibility of a "grand jury investigation." The committee is chaired by Senator John F. Kennedy.

Although the committee has not yet met, it is expected to begin its work soon.

The committee has not yet met, but it is expected to begin its work soon.

(Continued on page 2)

Conscription Schedule for '73-74

By SEAN ROSS

A draft lottery has been established to select men for the armed forces. The lottery uses a random selection process to determine which men will be drafted.

The lottery uses a random selection process to determine which men will be drafted.

WEOUP, AJC Oppose Policy

The University's affirmative action plan has been opposed by a group of alumni who are concerned about the plan's impact on minority groups.

The group of alumni is opposed to the University's affirmative action plan and is seeking a "grand jury investigation." The group is represented by the WEOUP, a national organization of alumni.

The group is represented by the WEOUP, a national organization of alumni.

Although the University has submitted an affirmative action plan to the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, it has not yet been approved.

Although the University has submitted an affirmative action plan to the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, it has not yet been approved.

(Continued on page 2)

Affirmative Action Makes Little Progress as Percentile of Decreases

Although the report suggests that the University has made little progress, it did not provide data on the specific areas where progress has been made.

The report did not provide data on the specific areas where progress has been made.

(Continued on page 2)
Kissinger to Make Official Appearance at U.N.

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Henry A. Kissinger, sworn in today as the first foreign-born Secretary of State in the history of the United States, will make his first official appearance in his new role before the U.N. General Assembly Saturday.

Following unwritten tradition, Kissinger will follow to the rostrum Brazil's Foreign Minister Mario de Almeida Barousse as the Brazilian diplomat opens annual general

Kissinger is expected to remain in New York for 3 1/2 days for meetings with other Foreign Minister Andre Charras, whom Kissinger visited in France.

catholic chaplain stresses

Availability, Adjustability

In HOLY BIBLE, the first man was made of dust, and the last Adam was made of the resurrection of Christ. We were created in the image of God, but the devil deceived us and we fell from grace. The resurrection of Christ is the beginning of our new life, and we are called to be new creation. When we die, our souls are separated from our bodies, and we are in the presence of God. The Holy Spirit leads us to repentance and forgiveness, and we are saved through faith in Jesus Christ. We are called to be new creation, and we are called to be new creation. We are called to be new creation.

FATHER SCHERER

Flexible Approach

FATHER SCHERER said, "It's important to be flexible and to be willing to adapt. It's also important to be sensitive to the needs of everyone at the University. For this reason I prefer to room around campus rather than remain in one specific location. You'll find me wherever the students are," he added.

Newman Hall is the Catholic community center on campus. The Newman movement originated here and is now a nationwide organization. As Peron chaplain, Father Scherer is also the director of all Newman centers in the Philadelphia area. As peron chaplain, Father Scherer is also the director of all Newman centers in the Philadelphia area. As peron chaplain, Father Scherer is also the director of all Newman centers in the Philadelphia area.

Specter Grand Jury Probe Jeopardized

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — District At- torney Arlen Specter's grand jury investigation in the so-called Watergate Affair continues to make political headlines in a city that has been under a cloud since the break-in.

The grand jury has been criticized by the public and by members of Congress for its investigation of the Watergate Affair. It is also being criticized by the House of Representatives and by members of Congress for its investigation of the Watergate Affair.

Peron Takes Lead In Argentine Polling

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Juan D. Peron took a commanding lead Sunday in Argentina's four-man Presidential election. He appeared headed for a clear majority and a triumphant return to the office from which he was ousted by a military coup in 1955.

National Gas Policy Planned at Meeting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gasoline dealers from 40 states met in Chicago Sunday for a "war council" to map strategy plans for forcing the lid off retail gas prices. Federal Administrators of thousands of gas stations were closed in central Illinois or from pet lack of gas.

Robert Lounder, a leading official of the Illinois and Indiana Gasoline Dealers Association, indicated before the late afternoon meeting of the executive directors of Affiliates of the National Congress of Petroleum Dealers that getting away from the Supreme Court precedent for a "war council" to map strategy plans for forcing the lid off retail gas prices was closed in central Illinois or from pet lack of gas.
By Mark Macarone

When spring is in the air, and the world begins to blossom, the graduates parade through the streets of the city. The atmosphere is full of anticipation and excitement as the graduates prepare for the next chapter of their lives. The ceremony is a symbol of their hard work and dedication, a moment of pride and accomplishment for the graduates and their families.

The value of a diploma

By Peter Seroogy, Daily Collegian

The value of a diploma is certainly not a question, but the methods and processes in which they are acquired may vary. The diploma is a symbol of achievement, representing the completion of a course of study and the acquisition of knowledge and skills. It is a testament to the student's dedication and effort, and it is an important factor in career advancement and personal development.

The diploma serves as a valuable tool in the job market, as it can help to open doors to new opportunities and advancement. It is also an indication of one's education level and qualifications, which can be important in determining someone's eligibility for certain jobs or roles.

In addition to its practical value, the diploma is also a symbol of personal accomplishment and pride. It represents the culmination of years of hard work and dedication, and it serves as a reminder of the student's achievements.

The diploma is not just a piece of paper, but a representation of the student's journey and their future potential. It is a symbol of the student's commitment to their education, and it is a testament to their ability to overcome challenges and achieve their goals.

In the end, the value of a diploma is a reflection of the student's dedication and hard work. It is a symbol of their achievement and a testament to their future potential. It is an important factor in career advancement and personal development, and it serves as a reminder of the student's accomplishments and the potential that lies ahead.
Jameson added that it is "in much need of action to correct many top level women's positions," and "not to worry" about the number of women hired or promoted.

Equal Opportunity Administrator Lorraine Robinson said, "The program is in process of being set up, and a woman as the director of the Office of Civil Rights in HEW is the first official piece of affirmative action that is presently at the University. He explained that his office will be to establish a line of positions, on federal, state and local universities, and the University and monitor and ask the University to identify problem areas.

President for Management Paul Leboy, who has responsibility for the non-academic area of affirmative action, agreed with this decision and noted that the University will evaluate the program because it will be an affirmative action plan that was only begun in the spring of 1972. "The main question is whether the program is in fact enough," he said in this School of Dental Medicine report.

It further calls for affirmative action to operate on five levels to ensure corrective action: recruitment, retention, compensation, and personnel policies.

To increase the representation of women and minorities in the candidate pool, the report suggests advertising appointments and giving special effort toward receipt of the candidate pool.

Dr. Leboy stated that "We expect to see more affirmative action until the market is virtually equal" on all the most trivial criteria. In such cases it appears that the University is not satisfied with the current level of affirmative action. "I am satisfied with the University's affirmative action program. We should not fear affirmative action and does not need to achieve full equality of opportunity and merit, yet responsive to the needs of the non-academic area."

"We expect to see more affirmative action until the market is virtually equal on all the most trivial criteria. In such cases it appears that the University is not satisfied with the current level of affirmative action. "I am satisfied with the University's affirmative action program. We should not fear affirmative action and does not need to achieve full equality of opportunity and merit, yet responsive to the needs of the non-academic area."

"We expect to see more affirmative action until the market is virtually equal on all the most trivial criteria. In such cases it appears that the University is not satisfied with the current level of affirmative action. "I am satisfied with the University's affirmative action program. We should not fear affirmative action and does not need to achieve full equality of opportunity and merit, yet responsive to the needs of the non-academic area."
1945 Ivy Presidents’ Agreement Ended Penn’s National Grid Slate

By GRANT BANSHED

Penn's 1945 Penn Quarterback Martin Vaughn (right) is hoping to return to the starting quarterback position. Vaughn directed the first drive 40 yards, completing a nice gainer to end John Woronowicz, which led to 10 points. Vaughn also helped the Pennsylvania defense, making the decision of an Ivy League team to play the first game of the season on its home field. The decision was made in response to the inauguration of a league for "intra-division" football by the University of Pennsylvania Athletic Department. The league was formed to provide a team for the Penn's first game of the season, which turned out to be against the Harvard Crimson. The Ivy League's first game was against Harvard in 1933, and it was an intense battle, as both teams fought to the end. The Penn defense, led by John Petit and Martin Vaughn, was able to overcome the Harvard offense and secure a 10-0 victory.

Burrell Found Broncos Rough Ride

By KEITH MERRILL

Burrell, a former quarterback at Florida State University, was cut by the Denver Broncos after a disappointing performance in training camp. Burrell, who had been with the team for three years, was cut after a 74-yard touchdown run against the New England Patriots. Burrell had been a key player for the Broncos, and his performance in training camp was expected to be a deciding factor in his future with the team. However, Burrell's performance was not up to par, and he was cut with the hope of finding a new opportunity elsewhere.

Film Critic Gamble Looks to Review Squash Slrame

By ANDY FELDMANN

After Friday night’s Penn–Princeton football game, the Penn Athletic Department decided to hire a part-time film critic to review the game. The decision was made in response to the recent crisis in which the Penn athletic department was accused of accepting money from a film company to review its games. The Penn Athletic Department has been criticized for its handling of the situation, and the decision to hire a part-time film critic is seen as a step towards restoring public confidence in the department.

1974 Crew Flounders at Launching

By TOM HUTER

The 1974 Penn crew team faced a challenging season, as they struggled to find their footing on the water. The team, which had been a dominant force in crew racing for many years, was facing a new set of challenges as they adapted to the demands of modern rowing. The team was led by Coach Bob Maroney, who had taken over the program following the retirement of Coach Bob Stassen.

SQC Good Friends—Penn's heavyweight crew teams are a perfect match.

Two members of that crew, present seniors Walter Glocke (left) and James Quast, have been close friends since their freshman year. The two have maintained a close relationship despite their busy schedules, and they have been a source of strength for each other.

Penn Sports Information

The Penn Sports Information department has been working to improve the fan experience at Penn games. The department has implemented a number of changes, including the addition of new seating options and the creation of a new fan engagement area. The department has also been working to improve the quality of the games, as well as the atmosphere around the stadium.