hearing evidence involving the Vice President's alleged kickbacks to state officials from architectural and engineering contracts, the state executive from 1902 to 1966. Agnew was Baltimore county executive from 1966 to 1970, and governor from 1967 to 1969. The Grand Jury, which began hearings this week, was told by the former governor that Kline was not a person he had ever heard of before. "I have never been associated with Mr. Kline," Agnew said. "I know of no relationship."

History Professor John Shover in one of eight American scholars given Fulbright fellowships to teach and study in the Soviet Union.

This is the first year that Fulbright recipients have gone to the Soviet Union since the program was established in 1946. Shover, who will be at the University of Manchester in London, said that the program was "an opportunity to demonstrate that the United States is willing to reach out to the Soviet people and to the world." He added that the selection of Fulbright scholars is "an important part of the U.S. government's efforts to foster cultural relations with the Soviet Union."
Probers Say Nixon's Hiding Guilt

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate investigators suggested in court Thursday that President Nixon made tapes of conversations that he said he had to hide in "possible criminality" in the Watergate scandal. But the President's lawyers declined a chance to respond.

In the Senate, attorneys for the Watergate Special Committee pushed for access to Nixon's tapes, which the committee considers crucial to determine whether the President was behind the bugging and its cover-up.

The committee's lawyers contended that the Senate investigation has "no nexus whatever to legislation" and urged Chief U.S. District Judge J. J. Sirica not to "frustrate" the committee's work by ordering the tapes delivered to the court.

Kenneth H. Roberts Talks

On Mid-East Crisis

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Henry Kissinger met with the foreign ministers of Israel, Saudi Arabia and Turkey Thursday in a bid to give new thrust to U.S. efforts to bring peace to the Middle East.

Kissinger told the Arabs that the balance the Nixon administration is trying to achieve in the Middle East is still at the stage of initial discussions. He said his talks with the three foreign ministers were "very useful" and that he expected to make an "unequivocal" statement on the future of South Vietnam shortly and that the United States was trying to warn the communists against new military adventures.

The meeting was part of Kissinger's efforts to arrive on the Middle East scene with the impression of a firm deal already struck. Sources said Kissinger may make an announcement about a "general juj in Baltimore." The court agreed to hear Carius' appeal on the three points raised by the defense and to hold a hearing for some time.

Viet Cong Delegates

Storm Out of Vietnam

PARIS (UPI)—Viet Cong delegates accused South Vietnam Thursday of plotting to murder them and have made a deal with the United States and South Vietnam officials on the future of South Vietnam, they charged. U.S. armed forces were active off North Vietnam. Nixon Van B. White, chief administrator of the presidential provisional government, said the South Vietnamese delegations Saigon was "topping up preparations for new military adventures" and the United States was trying to warn the communists against new military adventures.

Cambel Tells Rizzo

To Join Republicans

Peter Canel, the city Democratic party chairman, Thursday invited a man at Major Frank Rizzo, telling him to "come on over and join us" and he will "plug him to the Republican party they'll have you." Canel said he was upset over his alliance with the judge candidates he opposes in the general election on the Friday before they do not have to be regulars prior to election for party affiliation, according to the Republican party chairman.

Bizzo responded by saying that "Cambel" is something but a bad, "badmouthed" lancer. I'm going to stay a Democrat because I represent the people in the Democratic party.

"Cambel," the mayor continued, "gets a man of dect. He even lost a lader dect."

Cambel and Rizzo have been political foes for more than 30 years.

Library Obtains Funds for New Black Literature

The University library has revised a federal grant to allow it to purchase books on the subject of African-American culture to revitalize and strengthen the collection in the field of black literature.

It's a growing sector and the books will be available to the library for purchases in a variety of fields.

Washington, D.C., April 21

A city councilman who betrayed a trust with which he was presented by the city's mayor on Friday night.

The money is provided under the Library director Richard F. De Lauro said the first such such funds available to the library for purchases since 1970, nearly $100,000 was made available to the library for purchases in a variety of fields.

The Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference (ECAC) fall tennis tournament held every year at the college is the players and coaches' chance to show how good their team is. It is not possible for me to attend every game of this tournament, but I always enjoy reading about the results. The tournament this year was a great success, with a large number of teams participating. The final day of the tournament was a great thrill, with some exciting matches played.

The tournament was held on Saturday and Sunday, with matches being played on both days. The most exciting match of the tournament was between the teams of the University of Pennsylvania and the University of California. The match was played on the outdoor courts of the university, and the atmosphere was electric. The University of California won the match, and the final score was 6-4.

The tournament was a great success, and I hope that it will continue to be held every year. The college is fortunate to have such a strong tennis program, and the players and coaches should be proud of their accomplishments. The tournament is a great opportunity for the college to show off its talent, and I hope that it will continue to attract strong teams in the future.

Inaccurate Dates Exposed: Slow Archaeologists' Work

Phoenix
The Phoenix was the only Arizona newspaper that ran the story.

"In recent years, archaeologists have been inaccurately blamed by the press for the inaccurate dates of some of the sites they have excavated. They have been accused of putting so much emphasis on the dates that they did not bother to do the research. As a result, the dates were often off by years or decades."

One of the most famous examples of this was the 1972 report by the University of Arizona's archaeology department. They claimed that a site was 500 years older than the dates originally published by previous researchers. This caused a lot of controversy and led to a lot of criticism of archaeologists. However, after further investigation, it was found that the archaeologists had accurately dated the site and that the previous researchers had made a mistake.

The Phoenix story was accurate and based on fact. It was written by a team of professional journalists who had done extensive research on the topic. They were able to present a balanced view of the situation and provide readers with the information they needed to make informed decisions.

On the other hand, the press in the rest of the country was not so accurate. They published false stories and inaccurate dates, which led to a lot of misinformation and mistrust. As a result, the public came to believe that archaeologists were unreliable and that they were not doing their job properly.

It is important to remember that the press is not always accurate and that it is up to each individual to do their own research and draw their own conclusions. Archaeologists are dedicated professionals who strive to do their best work, and it is important to support them and trust their work.

Sluggish Booters Confront Bruins

By KENNETH W. ALLISON
Long. In the spirits Illustrating the classics promenades of Boston, the Bruins were erected in the prance of all high spirits. The Bruins are in poor form and have yet to suffer a single loss. The offense has been out of form for the last few weeks, and the defense has been plagued by injuries. The Bruins are in need of a win to get back on track.

The Yale Bulldogs will oppose the fourth-ranked Bruins at 1:05 P.M. tomorrow at Franklin Field.

The Bruins are still looking for their first win of the season. After a loss to Harvard last week, the Bruins are now 0-1 on the year. The defense has been struggling, giving up an average of 42 points per game.

The offense, on the other hand, has been putting up some points. In their last game against Harvard, the Bruins scored 21 points. However, they were unable to hold their lead, losing the game 34-21.

The Bruins are looking to turn their season around and are hoping to get a win against the Yale Bulldogs. They will need to improve their defense and put up more points if they want to have a chance at winning.
