Midwest Peace Holds As POW Swap Begins

By Valedictor Frenon

Red Cross mercy planes started shuttling between Houston and Tel Aviv on Monday, flying Egyptian and Israeli prisoners of war to their respective homes in a long-weekend swap arranged by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin.

Sadat and Begin had met several times during the past year, culminating in the signatory of the 1979 peace treaty between the two nations. The swap made the 1979 peace treaty in place.

The swap began with the exchange of 15 Nigerian soldiers captured by Israeli forces in the Sinai Desert last May. They were flown to Houston and flown to Tel Aviv, where they were greeted by their families.

The swap marked the first time that POWs were exchanged in the Middle East, and it was seen as a significant step forward in the peace process.

Rathskeller Saloon Planned In Upcoming Houston Hall Work

By DON McNEIL

The first major step in the renovation of Houston Hall, the construction of a "Rathskeller," which will allow students to drink and socialize has been approved by the University.

Rathskeller is said to be inspired by the German university halls, which often feature a bar and a large, communal space. The Rathskeller will be a similar space, but with a focus on providing a casual, relaxed environment for students to hang out and socialize.

The Rathskeller will be located in Houston Hall, which is currently under renovation. The renovation is expected to be completed by the fall of 2024.

Student Dining Service Workers Reject Partial Meal Contract Refund Proposal

By STEVE HODGE

The University's Student Dining Service Workers have rejected the University's offer to provide a partial refund on meal contracts.

The workers were upset about the contract terms and the lack of representation during the negotiation process. They also felt that the University was not being fair in its offer.

The workers had previously rejected a contract offer that included a $250 partial refund on meal contracts, and they are now poised to strike if the University does not meet their demands.

Quad Erupts In Fracas

A battle between two residence halls Wednesday night brought four Philadelphia police cars to the scene.

What appeared to be a water fight between two dorms changed into a free-for-all similar to Rodin's work. Eggs, water, toilet paper and fire crackers were launched for almost two hours until things were quieted. According to Quad assistant George Vroom, the police were alerted by a student rather than by any University employees.

Vroom, who attempted to get the students to retire, said that the Philadelphia police are knowledgable and two have already been cited.

The rare presence of Philadelphia police in the Quad apparently caused more trouble than the bombardment. According to Quad assistant George Vroom, the police were present, they merely went in to get their disturbance.

In addition to a few broken windows, several fire extinguishers were emptied, causing a danger if a fire occurs before they are restocked.

According to Vroom, approximately ten students were brought into University security offices to get their disturbance.

No disciplinary action was taken and damage was reported as "minimal."

The Quad was社会效益 by a group of students. Vroom added, "There was no attempt to break windows." He said.

Hubley Aims for 35th As Frosh Face Lions

BY BOB PALI.

Following the Penn soccer team's recent 2-1 loss to Yale and its earlier 3-0 punishment of Dartmouth, many may question the improved aspects of this year's team. While the Quakers are building in the display this afternoon at 2 P.M. in New York, few doubt that the Quakers are building in the promise of victory. Hubley declares, "We showed a lot of good this year on Mercer (4-3-1)." He added, "We will never have the Quakers be a streak team. We will play a good team, and we will win most of them."

Tactically, the University Daily, which has played Penn in the past two seasons, has noticed a lack of variety in Hubley's formation. "I have no concerns, commenting, "I don't think they have the speed to put us out of this game."

But Hubley, the coach who has led Penn to 1-4-1 this season, shows little anxiety over the personnel in front of him. He is not worried about the future. "I have a great team in front of me," Hubley said.

The scoring continued when Beren scored from 25 yards. From then on, most of the play of the Quakers had was quickly wiped out by the Quakers. The score of 1-0 stood.

The semifinal victory, which was the first of the season, was the result of a great team effort. The Quakers were able to put some spirit into them. I don't think they will win today."

The Lions, on the other hand, were able to put some spirit into them. I don't think they will win today."

Breen Raises Rases For Women Swimmers

BY BOB WILCMANN.

For the two Penn women's swimmers who are not selected for the Olympics, Hubley has expressed a great deal of confidence in his teams. Hubley has also expressed a great deal of confidence in his teams. "I hope they will show up in bikinis," stated Breen, a swimmer who wore the custom-made swimsuit.

Hubley commented, "I hope it will carry them through.

Quaker Search for Rebound in Lions' Den

The Penn-Columbia football game cannot exactly be classified as a gridiron spectacle, though the circumstances of the last two encounters were different. Despite the poor performance in Columbia's last outing, the Quakers have reason to be optimistic. The team's recent performance was due to various factors, including weather and injury, and not necessarily indicative of their true capabilities.

In a match-up of two teams with similar records, the Quakers and Rutgers will face each other in a crucial game for both programs. The Quakers are looking to improve their standing in the Ivy League, while Rutgers is hoping to solidify their position in the National Championship race. This game will be a test of the teams' ability to bounce back from recent setbacks.

The game against Columbia is a crucial one for the Penn football team, as it could secure their place in the District Playoff rankings. The team's morale and confidence will be tested, and a win could propel them closer to reaching their goals.
