"Even those who do come to church seem to be hesitant to speak with me, afraid to be drawn into a larger, deeper commitment,"

The survey also indicated that religious preference is a significant factor in students' choice of roommates. Of those indicating they had roommates, 30 percent of those identifying themselves as Catholics, 9 percent per cent of all Protestants, and 99 percent of all Jews were living with at least one person of another faith. Moreover, 61 percent of the Catholics, 99 percent of the Protestant, and 10 percent of the Jewish students said they were living with at least one person of another faith. Fifty-nine percent of Jewish students said they had taken, or planned to take, a course in religious thought, history, or a religious-related language. Only 17 percent of Catholics and 10 percent of Protestants surveyed responded similarly.

"Most students want comfort. Only a minority want challenge and will actively seek a roommate of another faith for a growth or learning experience."
Evidence Demanded by 'Appalled' Council Representative

As one who has been intimately involved with the Student Activities Council over the years, I am appalled by the actions of the Finance Committee. A current member of the Activities Council and the sponsor of Letters to the Editor, I am writing to express my concern over the recent decision of the Finance Committee to deny the Student Activities Council requested funds. The Finance Committee has always been accused of being inflexible and insensitive to the needs of the student body. However, I believe that their recent actions are not only unacceptable, but also damaging to the functioning of the Student Activities Council.

Students ‘Pawns’ to Finance Committee

On Thursday, March 21, the Student Activities Council greeted a large amount of new power in the relatively minor Finance Committee of the Student Council. Despite a petition of 500 signatures from the Student Council, the Finance Committee passed the resolution to keep all club funds frozen. The Finance Committee is a relatively insignificant body, yet it now has the ability to control more than the funds of the student body.

Activities Council Continues

The much ballyhooed phenomenon of the Student Activities Council has yet to be realized. In order to make the recognition process more rigorous, the Student Activities Council, a current member of the Activities Council, and the sponsor of Letters to the Editor, has been allocated a significant amount of money for the fiscal year.

At a Loss

In recent years, there has been a great deal of effort to involve us in the decision-making process. We have been granted the right to vote on important issues, such as the budget of the college. However, despite our efforts, the Finance Committee continues to make decisions that affect our lives without our input.

THE COURSE GUIDE HAS ARRIVED

In order to assist students in their decision-making process, The Course Guide has been released. This publication is designed to inform students about the various courses offered at the university, as well as the instructors and course requirements.

The Student Activities Council has made it clear that it is committed to providing quality service to the student body. We are dedicated to ensuring that all students have access to the resources and opportunities necessary to succeed academically and personally.

Finance Internship

The Student Activities Council currently offers a Finance Internship program. This program is designed to provide students with practical experience in the field of finance. It is open to all students who are interested in pursuing a career in finance.

Sponsor

At the request of Joanne, the Student Activities Council has appointed me as the sponsor of Letters to the Editor. As such, I will be responsible for ensuring that the column is published in a timely and accurate manner.

In an effort to foster a more inclusive and diverse campus, the Student Activities Council has implemented a new policy of allowing students to voice their opinions and concerns through the column. We believe that this will help to promote a sense of community and unity among the student body.
