Walnut Block Demolition Begins

As Legal Controversies Continue

By ROY CORN and ANDY HOFFMAN

The demolition of the 19th-century Walnut Block, which was one of the oldest buildings in Philadelphia, was scheduled to start in early October. The demolition is part of a $60 million urban renewal project called the "Harmon Hall Renovation Proposal." The project is intended to provide more space for educational and research activities at the University of Pennsylvania.

The demolition of the block was met with a mix of reactions. Some people are concerned about the loss of historic buildings, while others see the project as an opportunity to create more space for modern uses.

In response to the protests, the University has promised to "留存" a 9,000 square foot "historic space" in the new building. However, many residents and preservationists feel that this is not enough to compensate for the loss of the historic block.

Union Accepts Design For Custodial Reform

By ROY CORN and ANDY HOFFMAN

The University's custodial staff, represented by the Pennsylvania AFL-CIO, have reached an agreement with the University to improve working conditions and job security. The agreement includes provisions for a 2% wage increase, a new health care plan, and the creation of a grievance procedure.

The agreement is a victory for the union, which has been fighting for better working conditions for many years. The University has agreed to continue its efforts to implement the agreement.

Schwecker Campaign Effort Displays 'Relaxed, Personal' Flavor

By ROY CORN and ANDY HOFFMAN

The Schwecker campaign has been described as "relaxed, personal, and low-key." Schwecker, a candidate for mayor of Philadelphia, has been focusing on the issues of education and crime. The campaign has had a "low profile," with Schwecker minimizing his involvement in the media.

Schwecker's campaign strategy is to present himself as a "man of the people," who is not afraid to get his hands dirty. The campaign has been described as "down-to-earth," with Schwecker avoiding the "highfalutin'" tactics of his rivals.

The campaign has been criticized for its lack of a "game plan," with Schwecker's strategy being described as "ad hoc." However, Schwecker's campaign managers have praised his "relaxed" approach, saying that it has helped to create a positive image for the candidate.
Classifieds

Apartments

- 2 BEDROOM APARTMENT: $275 per month, includes water and garbage pickup.进化路10号。联系人：Sandy Brown, 594-6791。

Typist

- SELECTRIC III TYPIST: Immediate need. Position open in the morning. Contact: Elizabeth Jones, 594-6791。

Help Wanted

- STUDENT ATTENDANTS NEEDED: Immediate need. Contact: Student Services, 594-6791。

Merchandise

- UNLIMITED 24-HOUR PARKING: 120 Concession Ave 523 a month. Hilton Garage BA 2 9794 Special September Rate: 18.45 per month. Contact: Hilton Garage, 594-6791。

Miscellaneous

- SPECIAL SEPTEMBER RATE: 18.45 per month. Contact: Hilton Garage, 594-6791。

---

Super Saturday

Sept 21

Orientation For New Foreign Students
International House 10 P.M.
Free Rap Sessions
Boat Ride. Folk Dancing. Music
For Complete Info Call EV 71529
Register Saturday 10 A.M.
Front Lobby

---

Haig Role

(Continued from page 1)

Konrad observed the flow—Haig was expected to leave the White House this week for vacation, and the post of acting secretary of state in December 8 when Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, Jr., takes over. Haig, 70, retired from active duty as a four-star Army general in August, 1973, four months after he became Nixon's chief of staff. The Watergate Defendant was released last July for his 1973-1974 term as deputy national security affairs adviser under Henry A. Kissinger. He was appointed Army Vice Chief of Staff in January, 1973, three months before he joined Nixon's White House Staff.

---

Campus Events

Today

Midnight Movies

- Alfred Hitchcock'sMIDNIGHT MOVIES

Free Rap Sessions

PSYCHO

- PSYCHO

---

Future

November

- TWO THEATRE AFRICAN ARTS COLLECTIVE FROM CAMEROON

---

Official Notices

- HELP WANTED: Secretarial, Library Staff. Contact: Student Services, 594-6791.
Displays Line
Van Pelt Hall
By EILEEN O'BRIEN
Since last spring, those walking through the Van Pelt Library murals have been aware of some of Philadelphia's extraordinary cultural collections. By the fall of 1974, visitors will be able to see both the library's collections and a general survey of Philadelphia's major cultural institutions at the expanded University Museum, which will be open to the public from Thursday, Sept. 19, through Sept. 29 in the Houston Hall lobby.

Ongoing

Where's Poppa?
Thursday, Sept. 19
Walking Tall
FRIDAY, SEPT. 20
Psycho
FINES AND LATE FEES
WHERE'S PAPPA?
Carl Reiner's comedy of a man who learns what it means to grow up with an alcoholic or problem drinking parent (details below). All tickets are $1.00. "All people, straight or gay, can relate to the film," Orth said. "It is a very natural thing."

CA Film Studies Gay Life
FRIDAY, SEPT. 20
DUSK MENEHK
by Dennis Menhik
This week's focus is on gay life and gay culture. The feature film of the week is about gay life in the 1950s, and the documentary is about gay life in the 1970s. The film and the documentary are both part of the library's two current exhibits, one about gay life in the American South and the other about gay life in the American West.

Revolutions in Psychohistory
by EILEEN O'BRIEN
This week's focus is on the history of psychology and psychoanalysis. The film of the week is about the history of psychology and psychoanalysis in the United States. The documentary is about the history of psychology and psychoanalysis in Europe.

Revolutionary heroes, martyrs, modern symbols of protest from a display marking the 300th anniversary of the beginning of the Cuban revolution. Character study is the theme of the exhibit from the CA sponsored film "A Very Natural Thing" (left), which is shown in the Egyptian and African Art Gallery during the Film Studies Gay Life series. The people are part of the film's dramatic story of the efforts of the Cuban people to establish a new society.

By EILEEN O'BRIEN
This week's focus is on the history of psychotherapy and psychoanalysis. The film of the week is about the history of psychotherapy and psychoanalysis in the United States. The documentary is about the history of psychotherapy and psychoanalysis in Europe.

This Week's Focus

-- by EILEEN O'BRIEN
On Campus at (if needed)
Where's Poppa?
Thursday, Sept. 19
Walking Tall
FRIDAY, SEPT. 20
Psycho

This Week's Focus

-- by EILEEN O'BRIEN
On Campus at (if needed)
Where's Poppa?
Thursday, Sept. 19
Walking Tall
FRIDAY, SEPT. 20
Psycho

CA Film Studies Gay Life
FRIDAY, SEPT. 20
DUSK MENEHK
by Dennis Menhik

Revolutionary heroes, martyrs, modern symbols of protest from a display marking the 300th anniversary of the beginning of the Cuban revolution. Character study is the theme of the exhibit from the CA sponsored film "A Very Natural Thing" (left), which is shown in the Egyptian and African Art Gallery during the Film Studies Gay Life series. The people are part of the film's dramatic story of the efforts of the Cuban people to establish a new society.

Cuban Revolution Marked
Cuba's revolution marked
by Eileen O'Brien
This week's focus is on the history of psychotherapy and psychoanalysis. The film of the week is about the history of psychotherapy and psychoanalysis in the United States. The documentary is about the history of psychotherapy and psychoanalysis in Europe.
Seely and Constructive Change

By Richard R. Beeman

Year number 10. September 16, editorial on the occasion of the 10th anniversary of Seely's arrival. The article reflects on the changes that have occurred, particularly in admissions, and the staff's commitment to improvement.

'Peter Seely was committed to the dramatic improvement in admissions at the University of Pennsylvania; the central administration, while vaguely sharing the commitment, was unable to provide him with the resources to make that a reality.'

Letters to the Editor

Redeveloping With Community Interaction

It seems inevitable that the University of Pennsylvania will face a major redevelopment effort in the near future. The University has a history of expanding and improving its facilities, and it is likely that this trend will continue.

The most recent redevelopment effort was the Blackstone Hall project, which involved the construction of a new residence hall for African American students. This project was funded through a combination of private and public funding sources.

Typically, RDA has shown its support for redevelopment projects by seeking to ‘involve the community’ as much as possible. However, this involvement has often been limited, with community members left out of key decision-making processes.

The article suggests that there is a need for more active engagement between the University and surrounding communities, particularly to ensure that residents' voices are heard in the planning and execution of redevelopment projects.

New Program in Fun and Games

There are many programs available at the University of Pennsylvania, including academic programs, sports teams, and student organizations. These programs provide students with opportunities to explore their interests, develop new skills, and make connections with others.

One of the most popular programs is the Student Activities Board (SAB), which is responsible for coordinating extracurricular activities. The SAB oversees a wide range of activities, including sports, music, and theater.

The SAB is currently planning a new program focused on fun and games, which will include activities such as dodgeball, frisbee, and soccer. The program aims to provide students with a fun and engaging way to stay active and connect with others.

Activities Night

We are taking this opportunity to explain the Jewish Student Activities Board (JSAB) which was held Wednesday night.

During the past couple of years, the JSAB has held Activities Night to introduce new students to the various Jewish student groups on campus. The event has been well-received, with many students attending and learning about the different organizations.

The JSAB is a student organization that works to promote Jewish culture and values on campus. They organize events such as Shabbat dinners, lectures, and cultural celebrations to engage students in Jewish life.

Financial Aid

The University of Pennsylvania offers a wide range of financial aid options to help students pay for their education. These options include scholarships, grants, loans, and work-study programs.

The University is committed to providing financial aid to students who demonstrate financial need. They work with students to develop a plan that meets their individual needs and helps them stay on track to graduation.

The University offers a variety of scholarships to students based on academic achievement, financial need, and other criteria. These scholarships can help reduce the cost of tuition and other expenses.

The University also offers grants and loans to help students pay for their education. Grants do not need to be repaid, while loans do.

The University's financial aid office is dedicated to helping students understand their options and find the financial aid that is best for them. They encourage students to apply for financial aid as soon as possible to ensure they are considered for all available aid.

The University's financial aid office is located in the Student Financial Services building. Students can contact them by phone, email, or in person to learn more about the financial aid options available to them.

The University of Pennsylvania is committed to providing a high-quality education to all students, regardless of their financial situation. They are dedicated to helping students make the most of their educational experience and succeed in their academic pursuits.
Guerrillas End Siege

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (UPI) - Three Japanese guerrillas ended a 12-day takeover of the French embassy here Tuesday, traded their remaining hostages to Dutch authorities in return for freedom, and departed for Osaka, Japan.

The incident began Sunday after French Ambassador Jacques Servan-Schreiber, a fellow guerrilla and a childhood friend, took off by jeep for his personal luggage. Servan-Schreiber and his wife were among those detained.

Saturday, September 18, 1974

News in Brief

Schweiker Campaign

(Continued from page 1)

Schweiker's past record of support for intern-city rehabilitation and his involvement in a bill to expand the city's power will be highlighted by a television program that may make him an attractive candidate in the black community.

In 1980, Schweiker hosted the Metropolitan County organization and, by taking his campaign directly to the voters, won the Republican congressional nomination with the support of only ten Republican committee.

Schweiker defeated a token Democratic candidate to win his congressional seat last year, and won re-election in 1984, and 1986.

The file is also available at http://www.schweiker.com/press.html.

Contact: LSAT Review Course, Inc.
P.O. Box 267
Camden, N.J. 08101
Call (215) 5617440
**

---

Women's Dynasty?

As the season comes to an end, the tenants court more crowded, and our backhands more fierce, our tennis courts now in quiet, putting together a powerhouse.

---

Contribute, Learn, and Have Fun at the PCB

The Pennsylvania Consumer Board is a city-wide consumer complaint handling agency based at the University of Pennsylvania. We invite all students and community volunteers interested in really doing something about consumer rip-offs to join us.

As members of the PCB, you will work with individual consumers to settle disputes and present a number of volunteer opportunities. As a PCB volunteer, you will:

- help in the Philadelphia School District student united

---

Academic Credit

Because the problems of consumerism touch on so many diverse academic disciplines, the Penn Consumer Study Group has been created to bring together students and faculty from a number of different University departments who share a common interest in consumer issues. As a result, this course offers you the opportunity to earn academic credit in a number of different departments.

---

Where and When

There will be a wine and cheese introductory meeting for all people interested in contributing in any way to the activities of the Pennsylvania Consumer Board. Come to the Third Floor of Hudson Hall (314 Spruce) on Thursday, Sept. 14 at 4 P.M. or drop in anytime.

---

Super Sophs

As Quakers Eyes Ivy Soccer Crown

The Super Sophs - Quaker soph Pete Dickstein (left), Paul Tomassen, and Blank Grint (right) have been starting senior members of the lacrosse team for the past three years and have been instrumental in helping the team reach its current level of success.

---

Professionally Speaking, Ex-Penn Star Sheffield Scores in Lacrosse

They had a tough time finding a regular spot in the Toronto lineup but have found one on the Kings this season. Pugh and his teammates have been working very hard and have reaped the benefits of their efforts.

---

In the Net

The Pennsylvania Consumers Board is a city-wide consumer complaint handling agency based at the University of Pennsylvania. We invite all students and community volunteers interested in really doing something about consumer rip-offs to join us.

As members of the PCB, you will work with individual consumers to settle disputes and present a number of volunteer opportunities. As a PCB volunteer, you will:

- help in the Philadelphia School District student united

---

Academic Credit

Because the problems of consumerism touch on so many diverse academic disciplines, the Penn Consumer Study Group has been created to bring together students and faculty from a number of different University departments who share a common interest in consumer issues. As a result, this course offers you the opportunity to earn academic credit in a number of different departments.

---

Where and When

There will be a wine and cheese introductory meeting for all people interested in contributing in any way to the activities of the Pennsylvania Consumer Board. Come to the Third Floor of Hudson Hall (314 Spruce) on Thursday, Sept. 14 at 4 P.M. or drop in anytime.