Kennedy Reveals Decision Not to Run for Presidency

By United Press International

WASHINGTON — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, barred from running for president by a triggertable accident, said Monday he had made a "firm, final and unconfessed" decision against running for President or Vice President in 1988.

In refusing to follow his assassinated brothers into a presidential campaign, the 70-year-old Senator from Massachusetts, said his family "no longer feels that the(3) best interest of the country and the party is served by my continuing to be a candidate for the office (Continued on next page)

U.S. Negotiates To Acquire Title To Walnut Site

BY MARC GOLDSTEIN

Negotiations are in the closing stages of land in the 19th block of Walnut Street through several years of legal maneuvering. The land is the property of the Philadelphia Bar Foundation and Anderson Foundation.

The University is currently slated to rebuild the block, but the proposed 19th block of Walnut Street is the property of the Philadelphia Bar Foundation and Anderson Foundation.

Rumors About First Lady's Illness Spreading

WASHINGTON (UPI) - First lady Barbara Bush's weekend hospitalization was not the result of a medical emergency, the White House said yesterday.

A presidential spokesman said Bush had been admitted to Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D.C., for observation and treatment of a viral infection.

The spokesman, who asked for Bush's privacy, said the first lady was expected to be released within a day or two.

Bush, 54, has been under medical care since Friday, when she was taken to the hospital with symptoms of a viral illness.

The White House said Bush was being treated with antibiotics and other medications.

The spokesman said Bush's condition would improve as the treatment continued.

Bush is recovering from a viral infection that caused her to miss the opening of the Democratic National Convention in Atlanta last week.

She was expected to return to the White House on Monday.

The spokesman said Bush's condition would be monitored closely.

He said Bush's husband, President George Bush, was expected to visit her at the hospital.

Congratulations. Those of you reading this sport these days in a special treat. Yes, believe it or not, the fall season is back in town. Bringing you the best in Ivy League football predictions is the Ivy Harriers alumni, alumni of the men’s and women’s cross country teams. Our first alumni to open the season’s column, the Harriers alumni open their season today when they travel north to Dartmouth for a 1 p.m. tilt.

The season’s column, “The Harriers”， opens with alumni Bill Jones discussing last year’s team’s performance and strategies for this season. He states that “the Harriers are ready to take on the challenge of the Ivy League this season.”

The alumni also discuss their predictions for the upcoming season, including picks for the Ivy League’s top teams. They note that Dartmouth, Harvard, and Princeton are expected to be major contenders this year.

The alumni also discuss their personal experiences with the sport and share stories from the past. They mention how the sport has evolved over the years and how it has changed since their time as athletes. They also discuss the importance of the sport in the Ivy League and the impact it has on the community.

The alumni conclude with their predictions for the Ivy League’s top teams and their expectations for the season. They believe that Dartmouth, Harvard, and Princeton will be the dominant teams in the Ivy League this year and that the season will be exciting to watch.

In conclusion, the alumni’s predictions and insights provide a unique perspective on the upcoming season of Ivy League football. Their personal experiences and knowledge of the sport make for a fascinating read, and their predictions will be exciting to follow throughout the season.
