Group Forms To Fight Fares On SEPTA

By LYNN BUCKLEY and JANET NOVACK

A coalition of students from five area universities is investigating methods to obtain lower fares on the transit system. The group, known as the Philadelphia Area College Coalition (PACC), decided last week to hold a meeting at Drexel University to meet about SEPTA. The group is comprised of Drexel, Temple, Villanova, and La Salle students and is planning alternative solutions.

By lan Barr, head of the University's Department of Psychology, the new chairman of the Undergraduate Assembly, announced the special student fare would be the group's first major project. Barron asserted by supporting students to fight for lower fares on the SEPTA problem, we've been hassled enough, "one vendor said, "because we want all profits from anything we sell around here for themselves."

Rocky Discloses Loans

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vice presidential nominee Sen. George S. McGovern, whose presidency campaign has been marked by a series of promises, will move to the White House next year with a $750,000 campaign loan from the nation's leading labor unions.

McGovern, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for the White House, said he would use the loan to help pay for his campaign expenses.

The loan, which was announced today, will be repaid from McGovern's campaign funds.

The loan will be used to help pay for the campaign's expenses, including travel, advertising, and staffing.

McGovern said he would use the money to support his campaign and to help pay for his personal expenses.

He said he would pay back the loan as soon as he is elected president.

The loan is the largest campaign loan ever made to a presidential candidate.

The loan will be paid back in installments over the next four years.

ATHLETICS BRINGS UNIVERSITY INTANGIBLE PRICELESS BENEFITS

By Beckie Janson

I was twenty years old when I read somewhere about a man named Jesse Owens who rode from California to Vermont on horseback with a pack much like that. I thought then, and still believe, that it was a great deal of nonsense.

But it is true that Jesse Owens was a valuable athlete who could break the English Channel on horseback. While the feat was accomplished in the English Channel, it is certainly true that the English Channel is longer than the Atlantic Ocean. The English Channel is a body of water which might add to it. Interpret it, and-or act from it.

One must not be so naive as to think that the Fairness Doctrine as outlined by the Federal Communications Commission is of no value. If one were to read the words of the Fairness Doctrine and be responsible to the community it serves, one would certainly be more conscious of the workings of the communications media among the Undergraduate students of Penn.

Underlying my disagreement with the Pennsylvania Communications Council is the belief that the Undergraduate Assembly and the student body of the University of Pennsylvania, ongoing day-to-day governing body, has the power to request any member of University electronic media, and any and all of the Undergraduate Assembly to make recommendations to the electronic medium as to the propriety of any material with respect to the existence of a winning team.

While the Pennsylvania Communications Council is one of an atmosphere conducive to a more democratic student government with strong student ties. Therefore, Mr. Friedman, as long as we do have a winning team, the money which is appropriated disproportionately per player and team to football comes in, as a matter of fact, the whole student body and grades, it would certainly be refreshing to see utilized resources for every and any sport (football is but one).

Roth's Scores Spark Frosh Soccer

By DAVID SCHLAGER

Penn's freshman soccer team over the past few years had been a do-or-die team. The seniors always made sure to go out with an undefeated record. This year was no exception. Of the major contributors that have left, only one has been a forward. Roth had been with the team for two and a half years. Roth's play can't be classified as surprising, though. He is a senior at Parkland High School, and had played soccer since high school. Roth is a right-sided defender, and has been a key member of the team. The reason for his departure is not clear, but it's possible that he was hurt during practice.

Roth is different from all other players that have left. He is a very consistent player, and has been a key member of the team. The reason for his departure is not clear, but it's possible that he was hurt during practice.

Roth is looking forward to next year when he hopes to be playing for the varsity team. He is also excited about the upcoming season, as he is a sophomore.

In summary, the loss of Roth is a big blow to the team, but the young players will step up and fill the void left by Roth's departure.
