U. Considers Surcharge To Combat Fuel Costs

BY MARTIN SIGEL

University officials Monday initiated a demand for a fuel surcharge that would be returned to students for Nebraska's

"Day of Surcharge," as President Donald Smith called it, was announced Monday during an emergency meeting of the Academic Senate. The proposal will go before the Academic Senate for a vote beginning at 4 p.m.

The surcharge would be $1 per gallon for regular unleaded gas and $2 per gallon for premium unleaded gas. The surcharge would be in effect until December 31, 1974.

Smith said that the surcharge would generate $2 million in revenue, which would be used to pay for the cost of the surcharge and to fund the university's transportation program.

The surcharge would be in addition to the current $10 per year parking fee.

University officials said that the surcharge would be used to pay for the cost of the surcharge and to fund the university's transportation program.

The surcharge would be in addition to the current $10 per year parking fee.

University officials said that the surcharge would be used to pay for the cost of the surcharge and to fund the university's transportation program.

The surcharge would be in addition to the current $10 per year parking fee.

University officials said that the surcharge would be used to pay for the cost of the surcharge and to fund the university's transportation program.

The surcharge would be in addition to the current $10 per year parking fee.
NATIONAL GAY ACADEMIC UNION ANNUAL CONFERENCE IN NEW YORK
Friday & Saturday, November 29 & 30
(Thanksgiving Weekend)
Loeb Student Center
New York University
Washington Square, NYC

• Seminars, workshops, and research papers
• Women's and men's social programs
• Meeting to establish a National Gay Student Union

Registration fee: $7 Information & Housing Call 212-280-3574.5
(This notice sponsored by Gays at Penn)

Ho, Ho, Ho!
The joke's on you

If you don't take advantage of this special offer! Give a gift subscription to The Daily Pennsylvanian for the Spring 1975 Semester for the fantabulously reduced rate of only $7.00! Bring a little cheer into your loved one's life for just 12 days, but 68!

Order today.
(Your order must be postmarked no later than December 24 in order to get this special rate.)

Send a subscription to The Daily Pennsylvanian for the Spring 1975...

Name ____________________________
Address ____________________________
City State Zip

The joke's on you.
Todays Pennsylvania

Page 1

Parade

By CAROL JUTCHISON

Preparation are in full swing for Gimbel's 20th Annual Thanksgiving Day Parade, which will feature 17 floats, 15 giant balloons, and 1,500 bandmembers. The Gimbel's Parade is scheduled to begin at 11:00 A.M. tomorrow morning at the intersection of 34th and Chestnut streets and will end at the Tyler State Hospital. The parade will feature a variety of floats, including one honoring the Army-Navy football game, and musical performances by local bands.

Jungle Jim's

By ELLEN GINNIGAN

To clarify a news-common misconception, the University did not hold the Graduated Towers playground's 37th and Bartram Streets, no student could recruit their own decades of youth. In fact, University

Taverns

By DORIS B. NELSON

Philadelphia Redevelopment Authority bidders have set up in the University area, forecasted for the fall, as any model local of the area is rushed in terrorism of times past. The Duck, that 30th and Walnut institution with the most popular pints menu, is a must to match any. The Duck is a local bar, serving its usual New England specialties and, of course, Santa Claus always will bring up the rear and provide the parade's climax when he climbs a ladder to Gimbel's fourth floor top department store in a shower of confetti.

Army - Navy

By JEREMY SIMONS

The Army-Navy game against John F. Kennedy Stadium last year set the records for the attendance. The President of French will attend along with Mayor Frank Rizzo. The game will be the first half on the Navy side of the field and will end with the Navy's mascot the second half.

Bio Sale

By KATHY GINNIS

Students with an eye for bargains should check into our Business Department's Bio Sale. The sale will be held from 9:00 A.M. to 4:00 P.M. on November 27th.

A Modest Index

*Of Useful and Not-So-Useful Information

Toast & Total

By CYNTHIA S. FRITZ

Down with exhausting errands, concocted cookery and wretched dress clothes. Take the treason for Sunday brunch.

Spacious atmosphere (and the pizza I are the drawing card) of the new Pagano's at 38th and Chestnut Opening November 27th with a packed house and a meal of a lifetime. The menu contains a variety of omelettes, quiche, and salads. But beware, the most elegant is also the most expensive.

Kevin and Total

For a do-it-yourself brunch, try Seven Loaves Bakery on 36th and Chestnut, the restaurant's menu contains better and resembles its normal luncheon menu of omelettes, quiche, and salads. But beware, the most elegant is also the most expensive.

Taverns

By DORIS B. NELSON

Philadelphia Redevelopment Authority bidders have set up in the University area, forecasted for the fall, as any model local of the area is rushed in terrorism of times past. The Duck, that 30th and Walnut institution with the most popular pints menu, is a must to match any. The Duck is a local bar, serving its usual New England specialties and, of course, Santa Claus always will bring up the rear and provide the parade's climax when he climbs a ladder to Gimbel's fourth floor top department store in a shower of confetti.

Bio Sale

By KATHY GINNIS

Students with an eye for bargains should check into our Business Department's Bio Sale. The sale will be held from 9:00 A.M. to 4:00 P.M. on November 27th.

A Modest Index

*Of Useful and Not-So-Useful Information

Toast & Total

By CYNTHIA S. FRITZ

Down with exhausting errands, concocted cookery and wretched dress clothes. Take the treason for Sunday brunch.

Spacious atmosphere (and the pizza I are the drawing card) of the new Pagano's at 38th and Chestnut Opening November 27th with a packed house and a meal of a lifetime. The menu contains a variety of omelettes, quiche, and salads. But beware, the most elegant is also the most expensive.

Kevin and Total

For a do-it-yourself brunch, try Seven Loaves Bakery on 36th and Chestnut, the restaurant's menu contains better and resembles its normal luncheon menu of omelettes, quiche, and salads. But beware, the most elegant is also the most expensive.

Army - Navy

By JEREMY SIMONS

The Army-Navy game against John F. Kennedy Stadium last year set the records for the attendance. The President of French will attend along with Mayor Frank Rizzo. The game will be the first half on the Navy side of the field and will end with the Navy's mascot the second half.

Bio Sale

By KATHY GINNIS

Students with an eye for bargains should check into our Business Department's Bio Sale. The sale will be held from 9:00 A.M. to 4:00 P.M. on November 27th.

A Modest Index

*Of Useful and Not-So-Useful Information

Toast & Total

By CYNTHIA S. FRITZ

Down with exhausting errands, concocted cookery and wretched dress clothes. Take the treason for Sunday brunch.

Spacious atmosphere (and the pizza I are the drawing card) of the new Pagano's at 38th and Chestnut Opening November 27th with a packed house and a meal of a lifetime. The menu contains a variety of omelettes, quiche, and salads. But beware, the most elegant is also the most expensive.

Kevin and Total

For a do-it-yourself brunch, try Seven Loaves Bakery on 36th and Chestnut, the restaurant's menu contains better and resembles its normal luncheon menu of omelettes, quiche, and salads. But beware, the most elegant is also the most expensive.

Army - Navy

By JEREMY SIMONS

The Army-Navy game against John F. Kennedy Stadium last year set the records for the attendance. The President of French will attend along with Mayor Frank Rizzo. The game will be the first half on the Navy side of the field and will end with the Navy's mascot the second half.

Bio Sale

By KATHY GINNIS

Students with an eye for bargains should check into our Business Department's Bio Sale. The sale will be held from 9:00 A.M. to 4:00 P.M. on November 27th.

A Modest Index

*Of Useful and Not-So-Useful Information

Toast & Total

By CYNTHIA S. FRITZ

Down with exhausting errands, concocted cookery and wretched dress clothes. Take the treason for Sunday brunch.

Spacious atmosphere (and the pizza I are the drawing card) of the new Pagano's at 38th and Chestnut Opening November 27th with a packed house and a meal of a lifetime. The menu contains a variety of omelettes, quiche, and salads. But beware, the most elegant is also the most expensive.

Kevin and Total

For a do-it-yourself brunch, try Seven Loaves Bakery on 36th and Chestnut, the restaurant's menu contains better and resembles its normal luncheon menu of omelettes, quiche, and salads. But beware, the most elegant is also the most expensive.

Army - Navy

By JEREMY SIMONS

The Army-Navy game against John F. Kennedy Stadium last year set the records for the attendance. The President of French will attend along with Mayor Frank Rizzo. The game will be the first half on the Navy side of the field and will end with the Navy's mascot the second half.

Bio Sale

By KATHY GINNIS

Students with an eye for bargains should check into our Business Department's Bio Sale. The sale will be held from 9:00 A.M. to 4:00 P.M. on November 27th.

A Modest Index

*Of Useful and Not-So-Useful Information

Toast & Total

By CYNTHIA S. FRITZ

Down with exhausting errands, concocted cookery and wretched dress clothes. Take the treason for Sunday brunch.

Spacious atmosphere (and the pizza I are the drawing card) of the new Pagano's at 38th and Chestnut Opening November 27th with a packed house and a meal of a lifetime. The menu contains a variety of omelettes, quiche, and salads. But beware, the most elegant is also the most expensive.

Kevin and Total

For a do-it-yourself brunch, try Seven Loaves Bakery on 36th and Chestnut, the restaurant's menu contains better and resembles its normal luncheon menu of omelettes, quiche, and salads. But beware, the most elegant is also the most expensive.

Army - Navy

By JEREMY SIMONS

The Army-Navy game against John F. Kennedy Stadium last year set the records for the attendance. The President of French will attend along with Mayor Frank Rizzo. The game will be the first half on the Navy side of the field and will end with the Navy's mascot the second half.

Bio Sale

By KATHY GINNIS

Students with an eye for bargains should check into our Business Department's Bio Sale. The sale will be held from 9:00 A.M. to 4:00 P.M. on November 27th.

A Modest Index

*Of Useful and Not-So-Useful Information

Toast & Total

By CYNTHIA S. FRITZ

Down with exhausting errands, concocted cookery and wretched dress clothes. Take the treason for Sunday brunch.

Spacious atmosphere (and the pizza I are the drawing card) of the new Pagano's at 38th and Chestnut Opening November 27th with a packed house and a meal of a lifetime. The menu contains a variety of omelettes, quiche, and salads. But beware, the most elegant is also the most expensive.

Kevin and Total

For a do-it-yourself brunch, try Seven Loaves Bakery on 36th and Chestnut, the restaurant's menu contains better and resembles its normal luncheon menu of omelettes, quiche, and salads. But beware, the most elegant is also the most expensive.

Army - Navy

By JEREMY SIMONS

The Army-Navy game against John F. Kennedy Stadium last year set the records for the attendance. The President of French will attend along with Mayor Frank Rizzo. The game will be the first half on the Navy side of the field and will end with the Navy's mascot the second half.

Bio Sale

By KATHY GINNIS

Students with an eye for bargains should check into our Business Department's Bio Sale. The sale will be held from 9:00 A.M. to 4:00 P.M. on November 27th.
Doctores Owed Gratitude

By Alan R. Greenfield

I am currently a fourth year dental student at the University of Pennsylvania and must take leave of absence during my junior year for "Dodge Tip Duty!" First of all, what is a "dodge tip," you ask. Briefly, I don't know. There were a few of us who had a weakness--or rather than his expertise. As medicine and related fields have exploded, the number of people expected to be referred to a specialist has increased, thereby placing a strain on the family practitioner as a whole. The same problem exists for medical care of the largest part of the world.

The essence of Black exceeds "human" in that it is based on the rhythm, not in the melody. Similarly, the essential elements of creative activities are not formal—since the forms and structures of physical and moral expression are always shifting and changing. If the logic of one's commitment to others is present, one's commitment to the self is always implicit. The logic that is used in this way is ready to stop overdoing simple things in the spirit of hard work, or a community service. The essence of Black is based on the rhythm, not in the melody.

I think that I should correct some misleading implications of your article. First, there are no current plans to implement an "academic control" of "Vaccine in "2.1". In fact, it is the position that we believe the WHIP will be the first step in the national policy. Second, the WHIP is not aimed at the national level, but at the national level. Some of our ideas, a planned initiative, can stop it from happening. Finally, we believe that we have much luck enough to be able to make a decision about the future. Finally, we believe that the Wharton educational system is in that context and that we can continue to make basic decisions about the future. So for it is for us to remember the main idea. The claim is not really true that your cause might be lost, but rather that it might die with you.
Stellar Calls For More Women, Minority Faculty Members at U.

By J. CONRAD B. BRIEF

President Eliot Stellar said Monday he is a good reason to have affirmative action but "should be applied with great caution."

Stellar met with undergraduate students in the first of a series of open forums sponsored by Sphinx, the senior honor society.

"There's no question that they can add a different kind of thinking and interest," Stellar said of minority faculty. "But then you see them after a week or two and you realize that there are games coming up, and you're not sure what's going on."

"There's no question that they have skills," Stellar said. "They may not necessarily be a good buy." Stellar said they have to be willing to go on the faculty in the next generation.

"Stellar asserted a popular teacher among undergraduates, Meyerson said, "We may be turning out people skilled in career, but they will not have a sense of how their skills fit into their own situations. If the other hand, we emphasize the abstraction of liberal arts education, then there will be a disservice."

"He said a possible solution, proposed in one of the articles, would involve professionals who are calling for an end to the program. Stellar said, "We are trying hard to develop new alumni programs that would give pre-professionals a wider opportunity."

"John Hopkins University President Stephen Mullin and Robert E.ane in the conference. They discussed the need to fund the great economic problems of universities.

"He said that a new assistant professor is an average income. If you're living on a college salary and you are trying to live on it, there is an additional amount of borrowing to keep student loans off," Stellar said. "We want to assure the students that the loan program is not an altruisistic program."

"He said that very first plunge into the lake's waters was not always a good experience. If they continued to do so well," Stellar said, "I just hope for as much as things are going, in general."

"Stellar said that there were few very few women with both the age and experience necessary to teach as faculty members. In the future "the women will have to tell if they want to pursue research and education. If they want to, then we should have them on the faculty in the next generation."

"Stellar noted a popular teacher among undergraduates, Meyerson said, "We may be turning out people skilled in career, but they will not have a sense of how their skills fit into their own situations. If the other hand, we emphasize the abstraction of liberal arts education, then there will be a disservice."

"He said a possible solution, proposed in one of the articles, would involve professionals who are calling for an end to the program. Stellar said, "We are trying hard to develop new alumni programs that would give pre-professionals a wider opportunity."

"John Hopkins University President Stephen Mullin and Robert E.ane in the conference. They discussed the need to fund the great economic problems of universities."

"He said that a new assistant professor is an average income. If you're living on a college salary and you are trying to live on it, there is an additional amount of borrowing to keep student loans off," Stellar said. "We want to assure the students that the loan program is not an altruisistic program."

"He said that very first plunge into the lake's waters was not always a good experience. If they continued to do so well," Stellar said, "I just hope for as much as things are going, in general."

"Stellar said that there were few very few women with both the age and experience necessary to teach as faculty members. In the future "the women will have to tell if they want to pursue research and education. If they want to, then we should have them on the faculty in the next generation."

"Stellar noted a popular teacher among undergraduates, Meyerson said, "We may be turning out people skilled in career, but they will not have a sense of how their skills fit into their own situations. If the other hand, we emphasize the abstraction of liberal arts education, then there will be a disservice."

"He said a possible solution, proposed in one of the articles, would involve professionals who are calling for an end to the program. Stellar said, "We are trying hard to develop new alumni programs that would give pre-professionals a wider opportunity."

"John Hopkins University President Stephen Mullin and Robert E.ane in the conference. They discussed the need to fund the great economic problems of universities."

"He said that a new assistant professor is an average income. If you're living on a college salary and you are trying to live on it, there is an additional amount of borrowing to keep student loans off," Stellar said. "We want to assure the students that the loan program is not an altruisistic program."

"He said that very first plunge into the lake's waters was not always a good experience. If they continued to do so well," Stellar said, "I just hope for as much as things are going, in general."

"Stellar said that there were few very few women with both the age and experience necessary to teach as faculty members. In the future "the women will have to tell if they want to pursue research and education. If they want to, then we should have them on the faculty in the next generation."

"Stellar noted a popular teacher among undergraduates, Meyerson said, "We may be turning out people skilled in career, but they will not have a sense of how their skills fit into their own situations. If the other hand, we emphasize the abstraction of liberal arts education, then there will be a disservice."

"He said a possible solution, proposed in one of the articles, would involve professionals who are calling for an end to the program. Stellar said, "We are trying hard to develop new alumni programs that would give pre-professionals a wider opportunity."

"John Hopkins University President Stephen Mullin and Robert E.ane in the conference. They discussed the need to fund the great economic problems of universities."

"He said that a new assistant professor is an average income. If you're living on a college salary and you are trying to live on it, there is an additional amount of borrowing to keep student loans off," Stellar said. "We want to assure the students that the loan program is not an altruisistic program."

"He said that very first plunge into the lake's waters was not always a good experience. If they continued to do so well," Stellar said, "I just hope for as much as things are going, in general."

"Stellar said that there were few very few women with both the age and experience necessary to teach as faculty members. In the future "the women will have to tell if they want to pursue research and education. If they want to, then we should have them on the faculty in the next generation."

"Stellar noted a popular teacher among undergraduates, Meyerson said, "We may be turning out people skilled in career, but they will not have a sense of how their skills fit into their own situations. If the other hand, we emphasize the abstraction of liberal arts education, then there will be a disservice."

"He said a possible solution, proposed in one of the articles, would involve professionals who are calling for an end to the program. Stellar said, "We are trying hard to develop new alumni programs that would give pre-professionals a wider opportunity."

"John Hopkins University President Stephen Mullin and Robert E.ane in the conference. They discussed the need to fund the great economic problems of universities."

"He said that a new assistant professor is an average income. If you're living on a college salary and you are trying to live on it, there is an additional amount of borrowing to keep student loans off," Stellar said. "We want to assure the students that the loan program is not an altruisistic program."

"He said that very first plunge into the lake's waters was not always a good experience. If they continued to do so well," Stellar said, "I just hope for as much as things are going, in general.
Fall Intramural Champs Crowned

DAVID SCHADER

The sports intramural program at Penn seems to be growing and gaining. If we find that almost every student knows about anything, it could mean that the success of this year's program is due to the fact that more students have been involved and the teams have improved. The program is flourishing, with many students participating and enjoying themselves. The fall season at Penn saw a significant increase in the number of students participating in the various sports offered. This year, the program received an enthusiastic response from students, who were eager to participate in a wide range of sports activities.

McKee Finishes in Top 200 in C-Country NC's

By JANNY MIBER

Anyone who said they'd be happy to see it have to be good for something, said track coach Jim Tippney about cross-country running, McKee's performance in the last race of the season in Bloomington, Indiana. McKee placed 125th in the 30-mile race that took place just after the Penn-Cornell game. McKee, who was expected to be in the top 30, met his goal. The team, which was heard about eight times and scored 178 points, went on to win the team championship.

Fall Intramural Champs Crowned

The sports intramural program at Penn seems to be growing and gaining. If we find that almost every student knows about anything, it could mean that the success of this year's program is due to the fact that more students have been involved and the teams have improved. The program is flourishing, with many students participating and enjoying themselves. The fall season at Penn saw a significant increase in the number of students participating in the various sports offered. This year, the program received an enthusiastic response from students, who were eager to participate in a wide range of sports activities.

Fall Intramural Champs Crowned

DAVID SCHADER

The sports intramural program at Penn seems to be growing and gaining. If we find that almost every student knows about anything, it could mean that the success of this year's program is due to the fact that more students have been involved and the teams have improved. The program is flourishing, with many students participating and enjoying themselves. The fall season at Penn saw a significant increase in the number of students participating in the various sports offered. This year, the program received an enthusiastic response from students, who were eager to participate in a wide range of sports activities.

McKee Finishes in Top 200 in C-Country NC's

By JANNY MIBER

Anyone who said they'd be happy to see it have to be good for something, said track coach Jim Tippney about cross-country running, McKee's performance in the last race of the season in Bloomington, Indiana. McKee placed 125th in the 30-mile race that took place just after the Penn-Cornell game. McKee, who was expected to be in the top 30, met his goal. The team, which was heard about eight times and scored 178 points, went on to win the team championship.

Fall Intramural Champs Crowned

The sports intramural program at Penn seems to be growing and gaining. If we find that almost every student knows about anything, it could mean that the success of this year's program is due to the fact that more students have been involved and the teams have improved. The program is flourishing, with many students participating and enjoying themselves. The fall season at Penn saw a significant increase in the number of students participating in the various sports offered. This year, the program received an enthusiastic response from students, who were eager to participate in a wide range of sports activities.

McKee Finishes in Top 200 in C-Country NC's

By JANNY MIBER

Anyone who said they'd be happy to see it have to be good for something, said track coach Jim Tippney about cross-country running, McKee's performance in the last race of the season in Bloomington, Indiana. McKee placed 125th in the 30-mile race that took place just after the Penn-Cornell game. McKee, who was expected to be in the top 30, met his goal. The team, which was heard about eight times and scored 178 points, went on to win the team championship.

Fall Intramural Champs Crowned

The sports intramural program at Penn seems to be growing and gaining. If we find that almost every student knows about anything, it could mean that the success of this year's program is due to the fact that more students have been involved and the teams have improved. The program is flourishing, with many students participating and enjoying themselves. The fall season at Penn saw a significant increase in the number of students participating in the various sports offered. This year, the program received an enthusiastic response from students, who were eager to participate in a wide range of sports activities.

McKee Finishes in Top 200 in C-Country NC's

By JANNY MIBER

Anyone who said they'd be happy to see it have to be good for something, said track coach Jim Tippney about cross-country running, McKee's performance in the last race of the season in Bloomington, Indiana. McKee placed 125th in the 30-mile race that took place just after the Penn-Cornell game. McKee, who was expected to be in the top 30, met his goal. The team, which was heard about eight times and scored 178 points, went on to win the team championship.

Fall Intramural Champs Crowned

The sports intramural program at Penn seems to be growing and gaining. If we find that almost every student knows about anything, it could mean that the success of this year's program is due to the fact that more students have been involved and the teams have improved. The program is flourishing, with many students participating and enjoying themselves. The fall season at Penn saw a significant increase in the number of students participating in the various sports offered. This year, the program received an enthusiastic response from students, who were eager to participate in a wide range of sports activities.

McKee Finishes in Top 200 in C-Country NC's

By JANNY MIBER

Anyone who said they'd be happy to see it have to be good for something, said track coach Jim Tippney about cross-country running, McKee's performance in the last race of the season in Bloomington, Indiana. McKee placed 125th in the 30-mile race that took place just after the Penn-Cornell game. McKee, who was expected to be in the top 30, met his goal. The team, which was heard about eight times and scored 178 points, went on to win the team championship.

Fall Intramural Champs Crowned

The sports intramural program at Penn seems to be growing and gaining. If we find that almost every student knows about anything, it could mean that the success of this year's program is due to the fact that more students have been involved and the teams have improved. The program is flourishing, with many students participating and enjoying themselves. The fall season at Penn saw a significant increase in the number of students participating in the various sports offered. This year, the program received an enthusiastic response from students, who were eager to participate in a wide range of sports activities.

McKee Finishes in Top 200 in C-Country NC's

By JANNY MIBER

Anyone who said they'd be happy to see it have to be good for something, said track coach Jim Tippney about cross-country running, McKee's performance in the last race of the season in Bloomington, Indiana. McKee placed 125th in the 30-mile race that took place just after the Penn-Cornell game. McKee, who was expected to be in the top 30, met his goal. The team, which was heard about eight times and scored 178 points, went on to win the team championship.

Fall Intramural Champs Crowned

The sports intramural program at Penn seems to be growing and gaining. If we find that almost every student knows about anything, it could mean that the success of this year's program is due to the fact that more students have been involved and the teams have improved. The program is flourishing, with many students participating and enjoying themselves. The fall season at Penn saw a significant increase in the number of students participating in the various sports offered. This year, the program received an enthusiastic response from students, who were eager to participate in a wide range of sports activities.

McKee Finishes in Top 200 in C-Country NC's

By JANNY MIBER

Anyone who said they'd be happy to see it have to be good for something, said track coach Jim Tippney about cross-country running, McKee's performance in the last race of the season in Bloomington, Indiana. McKee placed 125th in the 30-mile race that took place just after the Penn-Cornell game. McKee, who was expected to be in the top 30, met his goal. The team, which was heard about eight times and scored 178 points, went on to win the team championship.

Fall Intramural Champs Crowned

The sports intramural program at Penn seems to be growing and gaining. If we find that almost every student knows about anything, it could mean that the success of this year's program is due to the fact that more students have been involved and the teams have improved. The program is flourishing, with many students participating and enjoying themselves. The fall season at Penn saw a significant increase in the number of students participating in the various sports offered. This year, the program received an enthusiastic response from students, who were eager to participate in a wide range of sports activities.