University Area Construction Sites Violate Streets Department Laws

BY DEBRA MELHIS
Construction of two buildings next campus has caused the violation of sidewalks in violation of Philadelphia Streets Department regulations.

Equipment including cranes and cement mixers as well as wooden partitions and fences have been used to create the barriers. Of the buildings, 5th and Chester Streets and the Winter Institute at 34th and Spruce Streets. This construction has caused significant traffic problems.

Traffic Engineer Earl Moore of the Streets Department said Wednesday he had found any period in his files showing the closure of the sidewalk or any part of it at the Belden St site. Moore said a permit had been issued in 1972 to the Winter Institute which specified the sidewalk was to be "completely closed off." He connected the contractor for the building, "probably done more than they were allowed."

The Streets Department has received two complaints about the barricades, one from the Winter Institute and one from a neighbor. Moore said he planned "to get the barricades down as soon as possible." He said he had received a written warning in response to the first complaint.

A spokesman for the Winter Institute's contracting company, Remington and Neiditch, said Wednesday that the company had "had the barricades on the sidewalk for a period of time and it's possible they had been there ten days at most, they didn't know what they were doing." He added he had been "in touch with the Streets Department about the situation." He added "no one else has noted a complaint."

La Terrasse Must Stay

The city zoning board decided to deprive the restaurant La Terrasse of its current location despite an apparent zoning violation. The ruling is unusual and unprecedented, as no similar case has been recognized in the city. La Terrasse is a unique and popular restaurant that offers a charming dining experience. The zoning board has denied the restaurant's application for a special permit to stay in its present location. The restaurant, which gives character to the University of other good spots

Big Mac Bonanza

By Peter Oliver

Many among us have spread the gospel of the Big Mac, a McDonald's hamburger which will ultimately leave the earth, but is still a familiar sight. Others have found similar enjoyment in other fast-food chains. But here is a story about a McDonald's hamburger.

One McDonald's hamburger has appeared recently among us, a humble hamburger still to be found in small towns, and it has sparked a new interest in the McDonald's brand. While all around us there is war and strife, we may find solace in the simple pleasures of eating a Big Mac.

In Moscow, the world of McDonald's is a place of technological advancement, a symbol of the future. It is here that one can taste the finest in American fast-food, the Mc-takeover of the world. The world has changed, and so too has the Big Mac.
