Management Graduate Students To Assist Work-Study Program

By LEAH ANNETTE TRACY

The University Rugby Club goes through their paces on Franklin Field Tuesday night. No, these men aren't "just" athletes. They are "Keggers," as members of this well-known team call themselves.

The team of three or four graduate students learned of their plan to keep the hospital open at the February 10 Trustees' meeting. It is the consensus of many that the University's Affirmative Action program is "in need of emergency assistance" on this crucial front.

The University's Affirmative Action program, executive director of Personnel Relations Robert Balonides said Tuesday.

The University's trustees were presented with a "full-scale" plan to keep the hospital open at the February 10 Trustees' meeting. It is the consensus of many that the University's Affirmative Action program is "in need of emergency assistance" on this crucial front.

The University's Affirmative Action program, executive director of Personnel Relations Robert Balonides said Tuesday.

Staff offices will be made on the basis of inquiries, and the achievement of Affirmative Action goals will be affected since...
The Daily Pennsylvania

Affirmative Action

(Continued from page 1)

female and minority-group employees in an attempt to achieve parity for workers in equivalent job classes. The policy also included Executive Assistant to the President, Bratton, Johnstone, and Monday salary equalization efforts. The current budget includes a "set aside for salary equalizations," which, Johnstone added, "will not be a set aside for salary equalizations but will be set aside for any equitable increases.

The added "if there are any new areas of pay discrimination equalities will have to take place,

President Wetzel's secretary, Ms. Connie Robinson, an ongoing effort for the University salary committee, has reviewed that, according to Johnstone, salary adjustments made last year have not caused the budget to be equitable pay.

Planning "small student governance," and facilities improvement.

A particular effort will be made to expand library hours during exam periods and promote greater emphasis on teaching ability as a factor in tenure decisions. The new budget includes an additional $100,000 for salaries and a reduction in the library budget of $50,000, which will be used to support the new budget. The Planning and Facilities Committee has approved the new budget, which will be presented to the Board of Trustees for approval.

The Assembly also approved the new budget for $5,520, which includes $1,000 for next year and $1,500 for the current year, and reduced allocations to the Student Activities Office for Undergraduate Education to $1,986.

APARTMENTS

APARTMENTS FOR RENT

Efficiencies, 4/2 Rooms & 2 Bathrooms, Immediate Occupancy
J. O. J. Millard Real Estate
4-237

Midnight Movies presents
WHITE HEAT
Sat. Mar. 1
F.A.B. 1:50

The Daily Pennsylvanian 2

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27th

A night of the Park

PARK NIGHT

ONE NIGHT ONLY!!
WE NEED YOU!!

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27th

CAMPUS EVENTS

CAMPUS EVENTS

CAMPUS EVENTS

CAMPUS EVENTS

CAMPUS EVENTS

CAMPUS EVENTS
Penn Players Resurrect Dracula For U. Audience

By CYNTHIA A. FROST

For 89 years, he has beenlettered to his enemies because he must keep his head above ground. Dracula is dead. But he's not dead in Europe in a single night.

Who is this creature? None other than the lesser of Bram Stoker's most notorious miscalculation, Count Dracula, who has perished from his native land Transylvania to this country and now sees the stage at Broad Auditorium.

Sponsored by Penn Players and PUC, the original 227 stage adaptation of this play, will be presented Feb. 27, March 2 and March 4.

After the matinee death of one man in a single night in Old HH Cafeteria, the love and hate triangles of Count Dracula, (Stuart Berman), will enrage and excite another woman who exhibits the same sexual symptoms as her dead but undead friend, Lucy.

Dracula's performance at the school of Dr. John Glen (Gregory Sussi), the largest in the world, is one of the many films designed to explore the world of film history and the power of the screen.

PUC Cafe to Open In Old HH Cafeteria

By KATIE COTTAM

A Little Night's Music, a film sponsored by the Penn Union Council (PUC), will open March 1 in Old HH Cafeteria. The first featured performer will be songwriter and musician BUZZ LINHARDT.

Linhardt's compositions include the Bette Midler Ml Friends album and the soundtrack to the film "Deathstyles" starring Mike Myers.

December, 1973, a series of five notorious works: "The Outsiders," is a series of five notorious works that, according to the film's director, are "a product of America and Iran.

Films will be shown Wednesdays through Saturdays at Annenberg Center Studio Theater. The series is called "Deathstyles," a series of five films designed by filmmakers around the world who are representing the world of film history and the power of the screen.

The process of documentary film reception and performance will be explored in the course of the spring semester at the Annenberg Center for Communication, through the screening of the films and the promotion of the course from 1970 to the present.

Finale: One of Federico Fellini's early works, "I vitelloni," will be performed as a series, appropriately entitled "Early Fellini." The film is also a personal study of the life of a painter.

The cafe will hold 300 people and Sandier said refreshments will include "cheese, crackers, ice cream, fruit and beverages" will be sold and "the atmosphere and good music," director Alan Sandier explained. "Should range around 12.90 a show, he said.

ACCU PIZZA
Delicious pizza, hoagies, steaks
Brand new pizzeria open now for business.

Stop by & try us out
Located at: 350 S. 47th St. between Spruce & Pine
For fast service call: GR 4-7150
Open 7 days a week:
Monday - Thursday 11:00 am - 1:00 am
Friday & Saturday 11:00 am - 2:00 am
Sunday 2:00 pm - 1:00 am

Wharton SCUE sponsors
Open Forum and Vote on
WHARTON NATURAL SCIENCE REQUIREMENT
Interested students and faculty are welcome to attend.
Thursday, February 27
Dietrich 4:30 P.M.

SUNDA Y
Tell Them Willie Boy Is Here
University Museum 2-29
Robert Redford and Robert Blake in a modern retelling of anti-Indian prejudice.

Death styles
Annenberg Center
La Mora de Los Hornos
6:30

TUESDAY
For Pete's Sake
Irvine Hall 7:30 and 10:00
Barney Rosenthal and Michael Sarrazi in hilarious comedy

B.C. BLOCK
The Annenberg Center's Center will offer over fifty different films in five series this spring. The series will include unusual and eclectic works which explore a specific theme of American culture or style.

Films will be shown Wednesday through Saturdays at Annenberg Center Studio Theater. The series is called "Deathstyles," a series of five films designed by filmmakers around the world who are representing the world of film history and the power of the screen.

Films will be shown Wednesdays through Saturdays at Annenberg Center Studio Theater. The series is called "Deathstyles," a series of five films designed by filmmakers around the world who are representing the world of film history and the power of the screen.

The process of documentary film reception and performance will be explored in the course of the spring semester at the Annenberg Center for Communication, through the screening of the films and the promotion of the course from 1970 to the present.

Finale: One of Federico Fellini's early works, "I vitelloni," will be performed as a series, appropriately entitled "Early Fellini." The film is also a personal study of the life of a painter.

Tickets are on sale at Houston Hall Ticket Office.

FREE UNIVERSITY STUDENT REGISTRATION
Thursday, March 1
Sign-up in basement of Houston Hall
4:30 p.m. to 6:00 p.m., 243-7329
Overnight Service on Resumes IDs, Passports, Applications etc.

At: Custom Photo
54th St. Chestnut
One block from High Rises!
BA 2 4145
The Campaign Ahead

It is good to see the University’s much-delayed Development Campaign be launched in June. As many have noted, the success of the drive is vitally important for the future of the University.

It is unfortunate the drive must be kicked off in such hard economic times. But the fund-raising road must start if the spirit of the much-maligned Development Commission report is to be kept alive.

Perhaps there is some consolation in the hope that the financing campaign the momentum necessary to achieve its substantial goal.

Workable Solution?

It is commendable to see that the University trustees, in an attempt to rail themselves of the financial burden of Graduate students, have come up with a solution to the facility open.

Under the proposed plan, the University will continue to assume financial responsibility for the hospital only until it can establish itself as an economically self-sustaining institution.

As yet, however, no concrete reasons have been given for anyone to think that the Graduate faculty will be able to sustain itself financially. The hospital runs a $9,000 deficit last year and there is no direct proof that this figure can be wiped out within the near future.

A consulting firm was brought in to study the Graduate Hospital budget and boldly claimed that the unit “might well be” able to run off its deficit this year. But even if it turns out to be true, this does not mean it can be attributed as concrete evidence.

In addition, the hospital cannot become independent because, although important $40 million are made available for the hospital, the University is not accepting any responsibility for this fund. The hospital must be given an opportunity to become self-supporting before the hospital is able to raise such a large amount of money from university sources without saying that it is “in an endless quandary with philanthropic, Riyadh, and comfortably paid medical students. In fact, the chairs were probably for the students in need of a break in addition to getting in every boasted. This was the production of “Joe Egg” didn’t even have its premiere. What a pity. Why this production of “Joe Egg” didn’t even have its premiere. What a pity. Why this production of “Joe Egg” didn’t even have its premiere. What a pity.

Now’s the time for most. For most of us it seems as though we spend a great deal of time as an editorial position on the arts staff of the University. As a result, I have been doing a lot of newspaper-like performance by my peers in the arts. It would be unfair to say that you’ve only got so much time and who wants to waste it on the arts. I don’t have to tell you the same reason you’ve been giving yourself about it.

Thus ends the note. I can’t think of the first time I wrote to you and what a pleasant surprise it was. At the close of my freshman year a warm and intelligent being, I want to be. I was going to be.

When I first thought that I would work long enough the kiddo might sneak off and all the parts. But there was a flaw in that plan, of course, and the first thing I started to do was put it out of plastic containers first, and this was getting to be a very easy proposition, and I just couldn’t decide to hide behind some bubble wrapping the villain when he showed up again.

You can imagine my surprise when I see the moment when this event is transcribed and I hear the commotion created and the gossip spread about the university’s position on our college student. All this is to say that I think your letter was a good idea. As a result of my freshman year a warm and intelligent being, I want to be. I was going to be.

When I first thought that I would work long enough the kiddo might sneak off and all the parts. But there was a flaw in that plan, of course, and the first thing I started to do was put it out of plastic containers first, and this was getting to be a very easy proposition, and I just couldn’t decide to hide behind some bubble wrapping the villain when he showed up again.

You can imagine my surprise when I see the moment when this event is transcribed and I hear the commotion created and the gossip spread about the university’s position on our college student. All this is to say that I think your letter was a good idea. As a result of my freshman year a warm and intelligent being, I want to be. I was going to be.

When I first thought that I would work long enough the kiddo might sneak off and all the parts. But there was a flaw in that plan, of course, and the first thing I started to do was put it out of plastic containers first, and this was getting to be a very easy proposition, and I just couldn’t decide to hide behind some bubble wrapping the villain when he showed up again.

You can imagine my surprise when I see the moment when this event is transcribed and I hear the commotion created and the gossip spread about the university’s position on our college student. All this is to say that I think your letter was a good idea. As a result of my freshman year a warm and intelligent being, I want to be. I was going to be.

When I first thought that I would work long enough the kiddo might sneak off and all the parts. But there was a flaw in that plan, of course, and the first thing I started to do was put it out of plastic containers first, and this was getting to be a very easy proposition, and I just couldn’t decide to hide behind some bubble wrapping the villain when he showed up again.

You can imagine my surprise when I see the moment when this event is transcribed and I hear the commotion created and the gossip spread about the university’s position on our college student. All this is to say that I think your letter was a good idea. As a result of my freshman year a warm and intelligent being, I want to be. I was going to be.

When I first thought that I would work long enough the kiddo might sneak off and all the parts. But there was a flaw in that plan, of course, and the first thing I started to do was put it out of plastic containers first, and this was getting to be a very easy proposition, and I just couldn’t decide to hide behind some bubble wrapping the villain when he showed up again.

You can imagine my surprise when I see the moment when this event is transcribed and I hear the commotion created and the gossip spread about the university’s position on our college student. All this is to say that I think your letter was a good idea. As a result of my freshman year a warm and intelligent being, I want to be. I was going to be.

When I first thought that I would work long enough the kiddo might sneak off and all the parts. But there was a flaw in that plan, of course, and the first thing I started to do was put it out of plastic containers first, and this was getting to be a very easy proposition, and I just couldn’t decide to hide behind some bubble wrapping the villain when he showed up again.

You can imagine my surprise when I see the moment when this event is transcribed and I hear the commotion created and the gossip spread about the university’s position on our college student. All this is to say that I think your letter was a good idea. As a result of my freshman year a warm and intelligent being, I want to be. I was going to be.
News Analysis

In January, when Langfitt revealed Graduate's problems, the University decided definitely to get rid of the hospital. He was given until March 1 to make his recommendation. It has been proved impossible to work out a plan to save the hospital's existence within two months. Langfitt's most recent recommendations were not available, but it does indicate that could be done. Future study of the consequences of community ownership is required.

The proposal given the University numerous times up a difficult decision. In that time, perhaps the state, which has been operating the hospital by voting funds. Or changes in the hospital's administration, the state would be saved.

If those changes fail, the University will be fixed with the immediate prospect of closing Graduate Hospital.

Spring Break
March 18 to 26
8 days - 7 Plants

For Information and Reservations Call: Penwinters in Travel, 922-3200

PENNQUINNETT WORKSHOP
Synchronized Swimming & Creative Aquatics
Classes-Weightman Pool - Once a Week
Conditioning Workouts - Stunts - Figures
Sign up Gibelm Gym, Weightman Hall-south end
Feb. 28 - Mar. 3, 9:30-4:00 or call 7438
Great Fun!! Exercise!! Creative!!

Open Mon, Tues, Weds, Thurs, Sun
11 am to midnight
5 Sat til 1 am
Home of Fine Maxi-Food
Tacos - Burritos - Enchiladas - Tamales - Chile - Beans - Rice
Also orders complete dinners to take out
Corner of 9th & Chestnut
BA 2 1 900

MURDER

The proposed budget for the University, which is due to be presented to the Board of Trustees next month, is bound to be a controversial one.

The main problem is that the University is facing a severe financial crisis.

The deficit is due to a number of factors, including rising costs for salaries, wages, and benefits, as well as declining enrollments and decreased state funding.

In order to address the deficit, the University administration has proposed a number of budget cuts, including reductions in staffing and increased fees for students.

The proposal has been met with a mixed reaction from students, faculty, and alumni. Some have expressed concern about the impact of the cuts on the quality of education and the University's ability to fulfill its mission.

However, others have noted that the University has faced financial challenges in the past and that the proposed cuts are necessary to ensure its long-term sustainability.

In the end, the decision will likely be made by the Board of Trustees, who will have to weigh the competing needs of the University with the needs and concerns of its stakeholders.

Spring Break-Away Vacations
Jamaica $244
Nassau $259
San Juan $239

Affordable one week vacations to the world's most popular sun resorts

UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA TRAVEL SERVICE
Travel American-in-7520-2688 or stop by Houston Hall Director's Office 3417 Spence St., Philadelphia, PA. 19174

* All prices based on quad occupancy & taxes.
Special Campus Performances!

Mystery Loves Company
Feb. 27, 28; Mar. 1 at the Annenberg Auditorium

Tickets: Annenberg Center Box Office

Free People's 437 Locust St.

Painters Pants white cotton drill
$4.75

Daley Wins Primary

U.S. Prepared Airlift To Cambodian Capital

Realizing that the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh, which the U.S. has threatened to invade, may yet be taken by Communist forces, the U.S. government is preparing an emergency airlift to the city.

The airlift would involve the use of military and civilian aircraft, including DC-10s and DC-11s.

The operation is expected to begin as soon as the U.S. military determines that the situation in Phnom Penh has deteriorated to the point where airdrops are no longer possible.

The airlift would be designed to evacuate as many as 50,000 people from Phnom Penh and the surrounding areas.

The operation is expected to be completed within 72 hours.

In addition to the airlift, the U.S. is also planning to establish a military presence in the city to ensure the safety of American interests.

The operation is expected to cost $200 million.

(Continued from page 1)

"Hopefully, we will be able to alleviate some of the problems that are under-utilized," Friedman said. "There is legislation in the pipeline which will help the situation in the future."...
Miracle by Machinski
Saves Women Cagers

More words couldn't describe such a game. Sensational, incredible, spine-tingling. Reproductions of all these adjectives seem paltry in describing the women cagers' 84-78 win over Drexel at the Franklin Fieldhouse Saturday.

There are words, however, to describe the Quakers' play in the first half of the contest: stellar, hernias, zucchini, you get the idea. The Red and Blue, minus starting quaf of Gail Shaffer (knee), had trouble in many areas. Penn's running game was non-existent, the boards were all over the place and the Quakers controlled the boards and got back quickly after a score. All the half, Penn trailed and ended 36-34.

The distaff Quakers came out hustling in the second half, with Lesbia McNulty providing a spark off the bench. Denise Laidley and Vivian Girifalco began to control the boards and the offense went on a roll. It took a super play to put the game away in the second half.

It took a super play to put the game away in the second half. When you consider that Drexel was a 1.5 seed, the contest was supposed to be a close one. But the Quakers were just too far ahead of Drexel.

What makes a hockey team turn a game around? "A name. Sensational, incredible, spine-tingling. Reproductions of all these adjectives seem paltry in describing the women cagers' 84-78 win over Drexel at the Franklin Fieldhouse Saturday."

Drexel and Penn had a back and forth contest, just to name a few. The Red and Blue, minus starting quaf of Gail Shaffer (knee), had trouble in many areas. Penn's running game was non-existent, the boards were all over the place and the Quakers controlled the boards and got back quickly after a score. All the half, Penn trailed and ended 36-34.

The distaff Quakers came out hustling in the second half, with Lesbia McNulty providing a spark off the bench. Denise Laidley and Vivian Girifalco began to control the boards and the offense went on a roll. It took a super play to put the game away in the second half. When you consider that Drexel was a 1.5 seed, the contest was supposed to be a close one. But the Quakers were just too far ahead of Drexel.

What makes a hockey team turn a game around? "A name. Sensational, incredible, spine-tingling. Reproductions of all these adjectives seem paltry in describing the women cagers' 84-78 win over Drexel at the Franklin Fieldhouse Saturday."

Drexel and Penn had a back and forth contest, just to name a few. The Red and Blue, minus starting quaf of Gail Shaffer (knee), had trouble in many areas. Penn's running game was non-existent, the boards were all over the place and the Quakers controlled the boards and got back quickly after a score. All the half, Penn trailed and ended 36-34.

The distaff Quakers came out hustling in the second half, with Lesbia McNulty providing a spark off the bench. Denise Laidley and Vivian Girifalco began to control the boards and the offense went on a roll. It took a super play to put the game away in the second half. When you consider that Drexel was a 1.5 seed, the contest was supposed to be a close one. But the Quakers were just too far ahead of Drexel.

What makes a hockey team turn a game around? "A name. Sensational, incredible, spine-tingling. Reproductions of all these adjectives seem paltry in describing the women cagers' 84-78 win over Drexel at the Franklin Fieldhouse Saturday."

Drexel and Penn had a back and forth contest, just to name a few. The Red and Blue, minus starting quaf of Gail Shaffer (knee), had trouble in many areas. Penn's running game was non-existent, the boards were all over the place and the Quakers controlled the boards and got back quickly after a score. All the half, Penn trailed and ended 36-34.

The distaff Quakers came out hustling in the second half, with Lesbia McNulty providing a spark off the bench. Denise Laidley and Vivian Girifalco began to control the boards and the offense went on a roll. It took a super play to put the game away in the second half. When you consider that Drexel was a 1.5 seed, the contest was supposed to be a close one. But the Quakers were just too far ahead of Drexel.

What makes a hockey team turn a game around? "A name. Sensational, incredible, spine-tingling. Reproductions of all these adjectives seem paltry in describing the women cagers' 84-78 win over Drexel at the Franklin Fieldhouse Saturday."

Drexel and Penn had a back and forth contest, just to name a few. The Red and Blue, minus starting quaf of Gail Shaffer (knee), had trouble in many areas. Penn's running game was non-existent, the boards were all over the place and the Quakers controlled the boards and got back quickly after a score. All the half, Penn trailed and ended 36-34.

The distaff Quakers came out hustling in the second half, with Lesbia McNulty providing a spark off the bench. Denise Laidley and Vivian Girifalco began to control the boards and the offense went on a roll. It took a super play to put the game away in the second half. When you consider that Drexel was a 1.5 seed, the contest was supposed to be a close one. But the Quakers were just too far ahead of Drexel.

What makes a hockey team turn a game around? "A name. Sensational, incredible, spine-tingling. Reproductions of all these adjectives seem paltry in describing the women cagers' 84-78 win over Drexel at the Franklin Fieldhouse Saturday."

Drexel and Penn had a back and forth contest, just to name a few. The Red and Blue, minus starting quaf of Gail Shaffer (knee), had trouble in many areas. Penn's running game was non-existent, the boards were all over the place and the Quakers controlled the boards and got back quickly after a score. All the half, Penn trailed and ended 36-34.

The distaff Quakers came out hustling in the second half, with Lesbia McNulty providing a spark off the bench. Denise Laidley and Vivian Girifalco began to control the boards and the offense went on a roll. It took a super play to put the game away in the second half. When you consider that Drexel was a 1.5 seed, the contest was supposed to be a close one. But the Quakers were just too far ahead of Drexel.

What makes a hockey team turn a game around? "A name. Sensational, incredible, spine-tingling. Reproductions of all these adjectives seem paltry in describing the women cagers' 84-78 win over Drexel at the Franklin Fieldhouse Saturday."

Drexel and Penn had a back and forth contest, just to name a few. The Red and Blue, minus starting quaf of Gail Shaffer (knee), had trouble in many areas. Penn's running game was non-existent, the boards were all over the place and the Quakers controlled the boards and got back quickly after a score. All the half, Penn trailed and ended 36-34.
Hoosters Erase 14-Point Deficit; Clip Owls, 57-55, on Haiger Game-Winner

Thursday, February 26, 1975

7-2 Win Honolulu's Departure

BY DAVID CROWDER

"I didn't know if my final home game," commented a happy (quarter denominator Tim Nicholls) "just one game from the end of a one-on-one foul situation, it was evident that, unlike Saturday's Quaker game, the players would have to be more patient and not as predictable. It was a sign of the times, and the players responded. They were careful with the ball, taking their time and playing a more deliberate game."

The Quakers had a chance to pull away in the second half, but fortunately for the Owls, they were unable to do so. In the end, it was the Owls who pulled away and secured the victory. With this win, the Owls solidified their position in the top five and set themselves up for a shot at the Big Ten title. The game was a great opportunity for both teams, and it was a fair result.

The Not-so-Big Five

BY TOM BUTERA

The Daily Pennsylvanian

The Temple Owls continued their streak against Hofstra, winning 92-80 on Wednesday night. The Owls were able to build a lead early in the game and never looked back. The Owls' defense was strong throughout the game, limiting Hofstra to just 80 points. The Owls' offense was also impressive, with 92 points scored. The Owls' win improves their record to 10-3 on the season.

The game started with Hofstra jumping out to an early lead, but the Owls were able to rally and take the lead in the second half. The Owls' defense was key in limiting Hofstra to just 80 points. The Owls were able to hold Hofstra to just 40 points in the second half, which was crucial to the Owls' victory.

The Owls' offense was also impressive, scoring 92 points on the night. The Owls were led by J.J. Redd, who scored 23 points and grabbed 12 rebounds. The Owls' bench also contributed, with six players scoring double-digit points.

Overall, it was a great win for the Owls, who are now 10-3 on the season. The Owls will look to continue their streak in their next game against Florida Atlantic on Saturday night.