Rally Behind Bowser

The University of Pennsylvania has dropped 10 points to 590 verbal SAT scores this year, among the smallest increases in the Ivy League. Other Ivy schools have kept verbal scores level or rising, but none have seen a greater decline than the University of Pennsylvania. The average score for the Class of 1979 is among the smallest in the Ivy League, with a mean score of 1320. The University of Pennsylvania has the largest number of students enrolled among the Ivy League schools, and its freshman scores dropped 10 points from last year. The school is also known for its strong performance in the arts and humanities, and its students are often accepted into Ivy League and other selective universities.

U. S. SAT Drop Smallest in League; Average Scores Remain Lowest

The University of Pennsylvania, like other Ivy League institutions, has seen a significant decline in SAT scores for the Class of 1978. However, the school has maintained the lowest average scores among the Ivy League schools, with a mean score of 1320. This year, the University of Pennsylvania saw a decrease of 10 points in the verbal SAT scores for the Class of 1979, bringing the mean score to 590. Acupuncture Relieves Pain in Animal Muscles, Bones

Acupuncture has been used to treat pain in animals for many years. In recent years, researchers have been studying the effectiveness of acupuncture in treating pain in animals. The results have been promising, with many studies showing that acupuncture can be an effective treatment for pain in animals. The technology is also being used to treat pain in humans, and it is gaining popularity as an alternative treatment for pain management.

Letters to the Editor

Appalled at the DP's Lack of Taste

Concerning Michael Friedman's article, "The Ten-Rat Terror." (DP, Sept. 21.) I could not believe that the DP, in which I live and breathe, would go so far as to print Mr. Friedman's work as barren. It was branded by its proprietor in our editorial paper and was one of the most disheartening articles I have ever read. When I read the DP instead of printing it, I was almost physically ill. It is an open secret that Mr. Friedman's attempt to alter the course of people who are within the confines of one's own, that I am not a part of it, is a response to the women's movement are the JAPS (Jewish American Progressive Students) by certain characteristics as females. I, too, am a Jewish woman and have unfortunately been doing for thousands of years, among other people to our appearance. As such, these women that we are now being discriminated against, not because of non-conformity and disrespect for society, nor majors in pre-wed. Conformity and disrespect for society. I am a JAPS member and have responded to your article, and I believe this article is akin to much of the rest of the article, I have read your article and I know, with the hope that you will learn to think more about the people around you and accord them the proper respect they deserve.

Recycling Group Resumes Collection of Newspapers

By BARBARA KENNEDY

Tuesday morning will mark the beginning of the Penn Recycling Group’s third annual “open season” on campus. Flinn’s Chairman of the Club, therefore, the acquisition of newspapers is stepped up to an all-time high.

Newspapers are saved every time one bit of paper is recycled. Therefore, in the past two years concerned Penn students have totaled more than 1,000 tons of newsprint.

The recycling group will collect recyclables and computer paper from the campus community. The collected material will be at the base of a recycling tower inside Hill House, inside the Quad and outside Graduate Towers. Large rental trucks will be set up each of the collection points, and will remain in these places for deposit throughout the week.

Saturday, pickers will collect and handle the paper. The handlers will then be paid approximately 80 cents per ton to track.

Socialists Denied Funds By Activities Council

By PETER GRANT

The Student Activities Council (SAC) at Princeton has denied the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) any financial assistance for the 1975-76 year. The YSA was the only political group other than the New Left group called the Free People's Alliance. The Council denied the funds on the grounds that the group fails to meet the criteria stated in a resolution passed in 1974 by the Student Senate.

The YSA proposal was for $25 to cover room and board expenses for the group's Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) to attend national functions and meetings. The group was also told that the funds they were requesting would be "in keeping with the policy of the administration to not provide financial assistance to student groups that advocate the overthrow of the government of the United States in any way - whether for educational purposes, political purposes, or for any other purposes of the administration." The report seen by the YSA stated that the group's"activities create a social cost "associated with use of the facilities and equipment provided by the University." The group was also told that the group's "participation in the administration's social cost program will be terminated if it is determined that the incident in question means the group is attempting a direct attack on the administration's autonomy - we will not return funds to the group unless the group itself comes to the president and asks for them, it will not be included in the social cost program and it will be terminated if the situation continues to develop." The group was also told that the funds would be "in keeping with the policy of the administration to not provide financial assistance to student groups that advocate the overthrow of the government of the United States in any way - whether for educational purposes, political purposes, or for any other purposes of the administration." The report seen by the YSA stated that the group's "activities create a social cost "associated with use of the facilities and equipment provided by the University." Gotta Believe - What Went Wrong? for Phillies fans of recent memory. These are the names that have defined the past few seasons for the Philadelphia Phillies. However, there are players on the roster who are eager to make their mark and ensure that their names are remembered for years to come.

One of those players is giving his all to prove himself. In a recent game against the Atlanta Braves, he displayed his exceptional skills and quickly gained the attention of fans and coaches alike. His performance not only helped his team secure a victory but also showcased his talent and potential for future success.

With each passing day, the pressure to prove oneself increases. The expectations are high, and the competition fierce. But this player remains undeterred. He continues to work hard,不断提高 his skills, and remains focused on achieving his goals.

As the season progresses, his dedication and determination will undoubtedly be rewarded. His contributions to the team will be evident, and his legacy will be cemented in the annals of Phillies history.

For this player, every game is an opportunity to shine, and every moment on the field is a chance to make a lasting impact. The future is bright, and he is determined to make the most of it.
