Public Policy School Students Urgad Major

By ELLIS M. KIERBERG

A new undergraduate fellowship program is being planned in the law school as part of the late A. E. Whitney's bequest to the University. The law school, the political science department, and the business school are collaborating in the scheme. The purpose of the program is to eliminate students who are planning a major in law but who lack political science background. The program will be called the "Whitney Fellowship Program" after the late proved four-year period. The program is designed to provide financial assistance to students who have demonstrated ability and promise in the field of public policy. The program will be administered by the political science department in conjunction with the law school. The program will provide tuition, fees, and a stipend of $7,500 per year for a total of $28,500 throughout the four years. The program will be open to students who have completed at least their second year of study and who have demonstrated exceptional academic achievement and potential in the field of public policy. The program will be competitive, and applicants will be evaluated based on their academic record, extracurricular activities, and letters of recommendation. The program will be open to students from all backgrounds and will not discriminate on the basis of race, gender, religion, or national origin. The program will also provide opportunities for students to participate in internships and to develop professional skills. The program will be administered by a committee consisting of the dean of the law school, the dean of the political science department, and the director of the political science department. The program will be funded by a bequest from the late A. E. Whitney.

news in brief

Busing, pharmacy license law for enforcement officers and wardrobes sparked yesterday that urged banning the renunciation of the Santa Cruz Christian life in singing it. In testimony before the House Intelligence Committee, witnesses told of electronic eavesdropping by both law enforcement and private detective agencies, described a lively commercial trade in surveillance equipment and allowed the telephone companies, the FBI and Justice know what is going on," the spokesman said. "We have confirmation that Dr. Harman is in trouble. The kidnappers originally threatened to execute their hostage if three CIA priests were not released.

The shoe you wear on your face acknolwedges its competition with a smile.

Whether it's The Earth Shoe, Roots, or any other brand, shoe company with The Nature Shoe will reveal certain glaring differences very much in favor.

In almost every Nature Shoe you'll find a soft lining and a comfortable interior sole, which are completely absent from every other shoe of its kind. The Nature Shoe is simply a perfectly constructed to the human foot that it's patented, which Roots is not. And unlike The Earth Shoe, The Nature Shoe provides added support in the back, where it's most needed — the ankle heel shoe, by any comparison, The Nature Shoe is the only expression of the negative heel concept so perfectly that you can wear it on your face.

Foglietta Calls for 'Holy Crusade'

BY JANET NOVACK

Thomas Foglietta called on West Philadelphia businessmen to join him in a "holy crusade for the city of Philadelphia," during a campaign speech to the area Chamber of Commerce Thursday.

"The purpose of my crusade is to get the city of Philadelphia back," Foglietta asserted, in the "most serious crisis," in the municipal election. "It’s not just the little people that have the brothers and sisters," who are afraid of Mayor Frank Rizzo, the Republican challenger claimed.

While the "fat cats" are giving their money and their big words to Frank Rizzo, Foglietta said, his big money and their big words to business, "is the way of New York, Foglietta called while the "fat cats are giving their money and their big words to Frank Rizzo, Foglietta said, his big money and their big words to business, "is the way of New York, Foglietta called in a "holy crusade for the city of Philadelphia businessmen to join him.

Despite Chamber of Commerce head Thacher Longstreth’s well-publicized praise of Rizzo’s efforts on behalf of business, Foglietta criticized the Rizzo administration for attracting industry to the city. Citing Philadelphia has lost "£1.2 billion and 80,000 jobs." In the last five years, he attributed the decline to "the entire atmosphere of the city under Rizzo.

Foglietta said he would establish a "moral" court to get out there and get out those who are "slumming the community and the advisory boards in the city's educational and fiscal problems.

Surging Spikers Streak to Sweep of F&M

BY CINDY KINNE

Drew HA, in the second game, Penn's newly installed volleyball team (1-4) charged to score seven straight points and clinch a sweep of Franklin and Marshall (1-5) in the Centennial Conference opening match on Thursday night. (98-76). When Westphal's ace served for match point, the Dutchmen's free blocking forces in service returned Carrie Howton's Queens' second straight 11-8.

"This was a much more exciting match than Ogontz," explained Alex Curry, commenting in the first game for the Red and Blue. "They (the Diplomats) were good, consistent volleyball players, but they're not in the same class as a team like Princeton."

Despite the loss, the festivities were exuberant. That was the least dismal part of the day for Penn. Despite the lopsided score, the Red and Blue felt it turned in an excellent overall team effort.

for knowing Baker off his game remains to be seen. "We can take it," Baker stated, "but we can't give it away.

"Despite Penn's shortcomings, Delaware does not take the Quakers lightly. "They'll be out to prove they're not as bad as we recall," said junior fullback John Gamble.

"With a guy like John Borozzi is somebody of the job, offensively Penn just hasn't got it together yet."

More Ivy League has virtually eliminated Penn as a title contender, placing an emphasis of Penn's football fortunes in the hands of the league's more experienced players. Yet along with the physical superiority, Saturday's contest with the Quakers presents the opportunity for the Quakers to redeem a little of their devastated self-respect.

"By no means are we a poor team," junior quarterback Bill Polec said. "We have something to prove.

"Two years ago, Dartmouth was the spoiler to Penn's Little League, 5-2, and Brown went on to win the league. Saturday, it will be up to the Quakers to silence the Green and demonstrate the defense.

Saddened and severely, the battle has been lost.

"In the worst loss I've seen in seven years," declared Penn assistant coach Douglas Bailey.

"Our forward line could not hold the ball—we couldn't put pressure on their defense," added Graustein, who faced Dartmouth Saturday at 11:00 AM in the Ivy League, who face Dartmouth (2-1) before a Wednesday contest with Williams, 0-0.
