Student Input on WXPN Lacking Despite Agency Promises

By P. E. WEST

See that University officials have promised a preliminary job outline for WXPN, an independent student-oriented radio station, according to the Student Affairs Committee, the station officials are concerned that, while students are trying to contribute to decisions, "no one else will," administrators have maintained that students would have input into all decisions regarding the reorganization of WXPN. Station officials claim they were never aware of the fact that a job description was being drafted.

The committee first heard about the thing February 7 when it just happened to be in (Auditorium) President Charles D. Cowden's office and he showed it to me. WXPN Technical Director Kevin Daven explained last week that the move, coming up to the station's birthday, was done February 11.

When first presented with the draft of the job description, Daven said he was unacquainted about its content. "It's not. (Continued on page 2)"

News Analysis

At their January board meeting, the trustees mandated that the University hire a professional station manager "so as soon as possible," but information available this week is that a "formal description of the manager's job will not be available until the policy board meets."--

Presidential Assistant Margaret Beckman and lieutenants for the inter- boarder of Friday and Monday, meet with Campus Design. Two minutes later, the members of the panel, which includes both University and non-University communications experts, will be unannounced and meet with the president, Friday morning. There will be student input into all decisions at this time.

U. May Establish Academy For Children of Faculty

By DANIEL M. ARBT

The University, through renewed interest in an effort to attract faculty and staff members into a private endowed school for the children of faculty and staff members, will move the organization of the possible educational institution to the private-aided academy for study of University residence. PUC Movies: Sex Draws Students But Violence Fails to Score

By STEPHEN BROWN

The Penn Union Council is going to buy the 36-foot by 36-foot screen for the student union's new movie theater. To be erected in the fall, the screen will be used for the screening of films selected by the student body or the student union. The screen will also be used for the presentation of television programs and other audio-visual presentations.

The screen will be located in the student union's new multipurpose room, which is currently under construction. The screen will be 10 feet wide and 20 feet high. The screen will be placed on the ceiling of the room and will be lowered to the floor when not in use. The screen will be suspended by a motorized lift system. The screen will be made of a high-quality, durable material that will withstand the rigors of frequent use. The screen will be installed in the fall and will be ready for use by the end of the fall semester.

PHG Closing

The city will also have to contract with private hospitals to perform medical services for patients covered by the city's medical plan. This will also be trying to defray some of the costs of closing the hospital, she speculated, that the city's decision to shut down the hospital, she added.

"There may be a consultant group to plan the closure pending, the city will get emergency aid from the state to aid in the closing and prepare a consultant's report," Storey said. He pointed out that after an official announcement like this, the city will not find a new hospital, even though a $300,000 contract has been made with a consultant group to plan the closing. "Without a new hospital, there's no PGH," Storey said.

"We hope" there will be some protest against the closing of the hospital, she added.

Rizzo admitted that the strongest protests would come from community groups and from the unionized PGH employees injured on the job. "Without a new hospital, there's no PGH," Storey said.

Rizzo said Sunday he didn't think "they can relocate all these workers."

"We're going to see how much additional leverage we can get from the state," he said. "If we can't get a commitment to say that we will relocate us anywhere that will be as beneficial as PGH."

What a different a day makes.

On Friday evening at Payne Whitney Gymnasium on the Yale campus, Penn (10-12-4) seemed to be playing as a team again, getting their first win of the season against their archrival Princeton (12-6-4) with a 12-2-5 victory. The win was sure to redound to the Red and Blue’s advantage in the Ivy standings.

The following evening, the Quakers traveled up to Providence and Brown’s distinctive M thinks arena for a convincing Brown victory of 4-3. Princeton was led by the 12-5-7 coalition of annual starters and seniors, scoring multiple goals past the goalline.

The 60 points against the Princeton defense was a huge accomplishment for the Quakers, who have been struggling offensively this season. The win will give them some much-needed confidence heading into the final stretch of the season.

The Quakers are now 7-2 in the Ivy League and 8-3-2 overall, while Princeton is 3-6-3 in the Ivy and 6-5-5 overall. This game was a huge opportunity for the Quakers to gain some much-needed momentum heading into the final stretch of the season.
