Students Go Against Hike At La Salle

By STEVEN A. MARQUEZ

The Student Government at La Salle University, which represents the interests of students at La Salle, on March 27 recommended a rally Tuesday to protest a $30 increase in tuition and fees. The rally will be held March 27 by the College Council.
The new fee schedule is the highest in the University’s history. The proposed increase, which would raise tuition to $1060 for science majors and $850 for business and liberal arts majors, was based on a $10 increase in the 1975-76 budget. According to DiBattiste, the college is being waisted by double-revenue investment in the past, and that the college is being waisted by double-revenue investment in the past.

However, Trustee John Steinbeck said that the hospital's board would not provide adequate time for the Regional Comprehensive Health Planning Council to make a decision on the land.

The Trustees suggested that the hospital could be damaged if the day deadline or else purchase an "option" on the land which would allow the hospital to regain it in the event that the plans for the facility were not approved.

We have the National Accumbalence Society Annual Fund Drive. The purpose of the drive is to raise money to help support medical research. The goal is to raise $1 million, but we are only halfway there. The drive is important because it provides funding for important medical research. We need your support to reach our goal.

The Birth of a House

In 1957, the Danish architect Arne Jacobsen designed a group of houses in a suburban area of Copenhagen. These houses were unique because they were designed to be prefabricated and assembled on site. The concept was to create modular houses that could be quickly and easily assembled, providing affordable housing for the middle class.

The houses were constructed using a modular system, with each module designed to be a complete unit. The modules were then assembled on site, allowing for flexibility in design and layout. The houses were designed to be energy-efficient and environmentally friendly, with features such as solar panels and rainwater harvesting.

The concept of prefabricated housing is still relevant today, as the demand for affordable and sustainable housing continues to grow. The modular design of the Jacobsen houses is a testament to the importance of innovation and the potential for new ideas to improve our living conditions.

PARLIAMENT IN LONDON is just one of the exciting sites that can be seen by enrolling in University Summer Sessions courses overseas.

Summer Sessions Program Offers Courses in Several Foreign Cities

BY ANDREA STUZIN

A luxurious chateau surrounded by the blue Mediterranean presents an ideal summer classroom for "students who wish to earn credits while travelling in Europe," according to Special Projects Coordinator Joan Campbell.

"The University Summer Sessions program is offering different level courses at varying prices so as to attract a larger pool of potentials than in previous years," Campbell commented. "Although we tried to keep the price down, there will be an amount ofStudent and available in many programs."

"A summer course held at the University will cost $300 in tuition, opposed to $270 last year," Campbell added. Students are expected to arrange their own travel and living arrangements "but the interesting thing is the looseness. One day the course may meet at a cafe and the next on the Riviera, and surrounded by gardens in the back and boats docking at the entrance, will be the accommodations for a major international event where over five thousand actors, actresses, writers, directors, producers and anyone else associated with the motion picture industry congregate," Campbell explained.

"Do your own thing describes the Italian program," Campbell said. Students will remain at the chateau from May 15 through June 1 and attend the annual Cannes Film Festival. "It is a major international event where over five thousand actors, actresses, writers, directors, producers and anyone else associated with the motion picture industry converge," Campbell explained.

If a change from the Mediterranean is desired, one of the five courses to be held in England may appeal. Several literature courses enable students to meet with march and set next to the London Theatre or meet with British Broadcasting Company officials. Two art courses are given for musuem lovers and two language courses are offered in Florence.

Hurlers On Spot
As Quakers Eye
2nd EIBL Title

By MARK HYMAN

Put away the Ake Bitter. Three on the Towers and the Puma Raikilo. Lack the mediocre output that could have been. Yet, the starting lineups don't lack for talent or the fortunes of Bob Seddon's varsity baseball squad (4-6). June promises to be a very good year.

Despite the loss through graduation of five starters (including all-stater Michael McKellar, last year), the defending EIBL champs may be even better than last year. The key to a Harvard resurgence is also pitching. Senior Mark Ninhan (11-0, 1.00) and senior Wayne Evron (0-0, 0.00) don't have any pitcher that I would consider strictly a reliever."
