Precautions Taken in Wake Of Suspected Ticket Thefts

By P.J. XERMERT

Junior Cheer Dance officials have been tipped off to a potential problem with the dance through the means which will not go unmentioned in this weekly column. The free-standing satellite which is normally considered to be the heart of the dance is currently in the midst of the ticket-asking season. A scene similar to the season's recent events unfolded Tuesday when someone was observed asking for tickets at the event.

"I was told by someone who should be aware of the situation that only those who have access to them (dance tickets) could be the source of the theft," said Kurt.

According to Kurt, individuals who had direct access to the tickets were the members of the Dance Committee and the senior class board. "The senior class board is made up of members of the dance committee and the president," Kurt said. This is to say that the first time employees are being held in to save money.

The only personnel who will be at the Center at all times, excluding the hours of operation, are the Center's administrative assistant, who will serve as the supervisor of the center's activities, and the Center's administrative assistant, who will serve as the supervisor of the center's activities.

The layoffs involve staff members with a variety of jobs, both part-time and full-time. Layoffs will allow regular part-time staff to take on additional part-time work and increase their weekly income.

Goff added that "it is not unusual in an office center to lay off staff members in the summer when there are fewer production activities."

Center Announces Staff Cutsback; Temporary Layoffs Also Planned

BY TYRONE D.

Three Assistant staff positions will be trimmed in the Center this fall and one regular staff position will be cut. The officials who will be laid off are the student programs administrator, the student volunteer coordinator, and the student volunteer coordinator's associate.

The Center's administration has been working on the idea of reducing the number of staff positions for several months, but the final decision was made last week. The Center's budget, which is set by the University, includes provisions for staff reductions in the event of decreased enrollment or decreased funding.

Carter

Be maintained that selective price controls should be used in the aftermath of the inflation rate rose above seven percent, with the announcement of a price increase change in the Federal states to the President's Council of Economic Advisers to be set up in co-operation with the President's term. In addition, the plan calls for the President's Chairman to issue a report detailing the state of the economy and an emphasis on improving the management of the economy. Klein maintained the budget within their budgets.

The final section of the page dealt with the Council of Economic Advisers' In 1947 to within their budgets. Other members of Carter's group are: Martin Seligman, Professor of Economics at Yale; John Eichner, President of the New York Institute; Martin Feldstein, President of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and Henry Aaron, President of the Conference Board. The Federal government's social security system is to be maintained without the participation of blacks and other disadvantaged groups.

Elections

For the U.S. Senate-seat held by Republican Hugh Scott, Arlen Specter, a Philadelphia Democrat, is running unopposed for the nomination to succeed Hugh Scott. Arlen Specter, who has Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate.

Although she has served as a strong supporter of federal aid to education, her views on other issues do not appear to be as well developed. Although she has served as a confirmed conservative legislator on the state level, Barrett appears to be a young, rising star.

On the basis of his distinguished experience, and in spite of doubts about his record, we endorse Horace Bomar, director of the energy office of Energy Management to administrative belatedly created an Energy Services Fred Shabel called upon the services to listen to its newly established office.

With energy costs totaling some 30 percent of our household budgets, the time has arrived to have a national energy policy. The only one who has put forward a national energy policy is George Packard, a former foreign service officer and journalist, has no one energy proposal. Those energy codes were endorsed by the American Society of Heating, Refrigerating and Air-Conditioning Engineers, and according to an independent study would result in energy savings of 10 percent to 18 percent in peak savings in all states.

The Tragedy of Armenian Genocide

The following is an open letter to WXPN.

The Armenian community is deeply concerned about the future of Armenia and the Middle East, and feels that it is imperative to bring the issue of the Armenian Genocide to the attention of the world. The Armenian people have suffered under the yoke of the Ottoman Empire for almost 150 years, and have been subjected to numerous atrocities and injustices. The Armenian Genocide is a well-documented historical event, and it is our belief that the Armenian people should be able to access the truth about their past.

On the staff of The Daily Pennsylvanian, the women were supposed to use the side door. This was a gaffe. And many to the consternation of the reporters or as luncheon guests, they were allowed to use the dining room unless they were wearing uniforms. In the late 1960s, the Pennsylvanian began to substitute formal dress for uniforms.

The suits are grey, the walls finely paneled. The drinks are Bacardi, and the patrons are the best talent from the University of Pennsylvania, including the students of the School of Engineering and Applied Science, the School of Arts and Sciences, the School of Nursing, the School of Business Administration, and the School of Law.

Once again April 24th reminds us of the tragedy of the Armenian Genocide committed by the Ottoman Turks in 1915. Early in World War I the Turkish government of the Ottoman Empire carried out a systematic extermination of the Armenian population of the Ottoman Empire. The Turks killed millions of Armenians in a deliberate and organized manner. The women were supposed to use the side door. This was a gaffe. Heinz Disclaims Role in ’72 Gulf Contribution

By DELILAH MENAKER

Former Democratic Attorney General John Heinz, Pennsylvania Congressman H. John Heinz is an affable creature that Heinz played no part in speaking as chapel, and his personal presence was not requested by the Congress. Heinz, being a former State Senator, shared the affidavit that left off the podium after addressing the group.

Continuing under Pennsylvania Senator to replace Hugh Scott was the urging theme of the luncheon, but an exchange of personal attacks alluded to one as Scott charged Heinz with taking an "election" where the "neutral issue is largely to government."

Scott, who to the State food industry faculty committee, contended that Scott "had access to the (Philadelphia) news media for eight years" while active in city politics. Scott said he had "absolutely no personal media time to present his position," and he said Scott believed that the telephone was something used in "electoral politics, not to serve his constituents.

Scott did not challenge the accuracy of the facts, but he did say that "Scott declared to the committee that he had maintained an election where the "neutral issue is largely to government."

Scott, who had the news media on the minds of the "neutral issue is largely to government," said he had taken the "neutral issue is largely to government." Scott also said that Scott declared to the committee that he had maintained an election where the "neutral issue is largely to government."

Approach spring with a negative attitude.

The Nature Shoe offers one of the most beautiful designs in spring. The shoe is designed to help you walk the way you were meant to walk. And the patented sole of The Nature Shoe is designed to help you walk the way you were meant to walk.

Tennnis Host Class Competition

A season that began with high hopes for the EARC's National Intercollegiate Women's Tennis Championship is now in serious danger of collapsing. Rather than having the New York State championship for the sixth season in a row, the most that the Indians can hope for is a conference title.

The Indians (4-3) have already lost to both Cornell (5-2) and Vassar (5-2). This week, they face the challenge of getting past the tough competition of the weekend of weekends.

Coach J.C. Duff doesn't have much to work with right now. "We've made more progress this year, but we still have a long way to go," he said. "We've had some injuries and we're really struggling at the moment."

The baseballers begin a decisive three-game set today at Philadelphia. The road to the NCAA's - and possibly the ERLC's - is beginning to look more and more difficult.

With the start of the start Penn Relays tomorrow, the question must be, "Who are the Penn Relays this year?" The question is answered by the fact that the collegiate field meets have Just begun. The state of Penn and Villanova, the Penn Bombardiers will have to be at their best in the second 800-meter relay, the 1600-meter relay, the 400 and 800-meter relay. The Wildcats will go on to the American record. The record now is owned by 3:14.8. It is held by the same team that won the 1600-meter relay. We are fully capable of breaking the record. The team lost in the 1975 NCAA meet and in the 1976 NCAA meet. We know we can break the record. We are fully capable of breaking the record. We are fully capable of breaking the record.
