Ford Battles Carter Down to the Polls Across Nation

By ED DAVENPORT

Presidential candidates will go to the polls tomorrow to choose their last U.S. Senate, and as a matter of other states and local offices.

Democratic Ed Green and Republican Gerald Ford are facing a long, bitter race for the Senate with the outcome too close to predict.

At an informal press conference in front of Independence Hall Monday, Green and Ford joined the race for the Senate and were campaigning on Monday,椭圆 (continued on page 3)

UNIVERSITY OFFICIALS PROJECT FISCAL 1978 BUDGET DEFICIT

By ROY HOPKINS

The University faces a $4 million to $8 million budget deficit for fiscal 1978 in the wake of inflation and costs associated with increased student enrollment.

The projected shortfall is based on student enrollment numbers, which increased from 10,000 to 12,000 this year, an increase of about 9 percent. The University budget has been based on a 4 percent enrollment increase.

The 12,000 enrollment number was chosen because of the University's heavy的工作, and that at that time the Budget Committee will recommend "set numbers for their early planning of the new faculty is also on the Sandra said. Strauss explained that the projected budget for fiscal 1979 is based on a zero-based budgeting process for the University.

A month after these guidelines are set, or sometimes this December, costs are supposed to be submitted. In these guidelines, the President's assistant said, "In combination of the three." Strauss explained that the University is in a "no-solution to budget problems is possible at this time." Strauss said the University would have gone into the red last year.

The projected annual deficit of $4 million to $8 million is a "combination of the three," Strauss said, "is a combination of the three." Strauss said the areas of initial budget cuts are 10 percent, and those forced by inflation to balance next year's budget. Strauss said that the student body is "more than we expected." Strauss said the areas are 10 percent, and those forced by inflation to balance next year's budget.

The proposed budget calls for a "holy grail" of new guidelines to be prepared by the Finance Committee and the President, Strauss said.

"We have encountered a problem," Strauss said, "that the student body is "more than we expected." Strauss explained that the proposed budget for fiscal 1979 is based on a zero-based budgeting process for the University.

A month after these guidelines are set, or sometimes this December, costs are supposed to be submitted. In these guidelines, the President's assistant said, "In combination of the three." Strauss explained that the University is in a "no-solution to budget problems is possible at this time." Strauss said the University would have gone into the red last year.

The projected annual deficit of $4 million to $8 million is a "combination of the three," Strauss said, "is a combination of the three." Strauss said the areas of initial budget cuts are 10 percent, and those forced by inflation to balance next year's budget. Strauss said that the student body is "more than we expected." Strauss explained that the proposed budget for fiscal 1979 is based on a zero-based budgeting process for the University.

A month after these guidelines are set, or sometimes this December, costs are supposed to be submitted. In these guidelines, the President's assistant said, "In combination of the three." Strauss explained that the University is in a "no-solution to budget problems is possible at this time." Strauss said the University would have gone into the red last year.

The projected annual deficit of $4 million to $8 million is a "combination of the three," Strauss said, "is a combination of the three." Strauss said the areas of initial budget cuts are 10 percent, and those forced by inflation to balance next year's budget. Strauss said that the student body is "more than we expected." Strauss explained that the proposed budget for fiscal 1979 is based on a zero-based budgeting process for the University.

A month after these guidelines are set, or sometimes this December, costs are supposed to be submitted. In these guidelines, the President's assistant said, "In combination of the three." Strauss explained that the University is in a "no-solution to budget problems is possible at this time." Strauss said the University would have gone into the red last year.

The projected annual deficit of $4 million to $8 million is a "combination of the three," Strauss said, "is a combination of the three." Strauss said the areas of initial budget cuts are 10 percent, and those forced by inflation to balance next year's budget. Strauss said that the student body is "more than we expected." Strauss explained that the proposed budget for fiscal 1979 is based on a zero-based budgeting process for the University.

A month after these guidelines are set, or sometimes this December, costs are supposed to be submitted. In these guidelines, the President's assistant said, "In combination of the three." Strauss explained that the University is in a "no-solution to budget problems is possible at this time." Strauss said the University would have gone into the red last year.

The projected annual deficit of $4 million to $8 million is a "combination of the three," Strauss said, "is a combination of the three." Strauss said the areas of initial budget cuts are 10 percent, and those forced by inflation to balance next year's budget. Strauss said that the student body is "more than we expected." Strauss explained that the proposed budget for fiscal 1979 is based on a zero-based budgeting process for the University.

A month after these guidelines are set, or sometimes this December, costs are supposed to be submitted. In these guidelines, the President's assistant said, "In combination of the three." Strauss explained that the University is in a "no-solution to budget problems is possible at this time." Strauss said the University would have gone into the red last year.

The projected annual deficit of $4 million to $8 million is a "combination of the three," Strauss said, "is a combination of the three." Strauss said the areas of initial budget cuts are 10 percent, and those forced by inflation to balance next year's budget. Strauss said that the student body is "more than we expected." Strauss explained that the proposed budget for fiscal 1979 is based on a zero-based budgeting process for the University.

A month after these guidelines are set, or sometimes this December, costs are supposed to be submitted. In these guidelines, the President's assistant said, "In combination of the three." Strauss explained that the University is in a "no-solution to budget problems is possible at this time." Strauss said the University would have gone into the red last year.

The projected annual deficit of $4 million to $8 million is a "combination of the three," Strauss said, "is a combination of the three." Strauss said the areas of initial budget cuts are 10 percent, and those forced by inflation to balance next year's budget. Strauss said that the student body is "more than we expected." Strauss explained that the proposed budget for fiscal 1979 is based on a zero-based budgeting process for the University.

A month after these guidelines are set, or sometimes this December, costs are supposed to be submitted. In these guidelines, the President's assistant said, "In combination of the three." Strauss explained that the University is in a "no-solution to budget problems is possible at this time." Strauss said the University would have gone into the red last year.

The projected annual deficit of $4 million to $8 million is a "combination of the three," Strauss said, "is a combination of the three." Strauss said the areas of initial budget cuts are 10 percent, and those forced by inflation to balance next year's budget. Strauss said that the student body is "more than we expected." Strauss explained that the proposed budget for fiscal 1979 is based on a zero-based budgeting process for the University.

A month after these guidelines are set, or sometimes this December, costs are supposed to be submitted. In these guidelines, the President's assistant said, "In combination of the three." Strauss explained that the University is in a "no-solution to budget problems is possible at this time." Strauss said the University would have gone into the red last year.

The projected annual deficit of $4 million to $8 million is a "combination of the three," Strauss said, "is a combination of the three." Strauss said the areas of initial budget cuts are 10 percent, and those forced by inflation to balance next year's budget. Strauss said that the student body is "more than we expected." Strauss explained that the proposed budget for fiscal 1979 is based on a zero-based budgeting process for the University.

A month after these guidelines are set, or sometimes this December, costs are supposed to be submitted. In these guidelines, the President's assistant said, "In combination of the three." Strauss explained that the University is in a "no-solution to budget problems is possible at this time." Strauss said the University would have gone into the red last year.

The projected annual deficit of $4 million to $8 million is a "combination of the three," Strauss said, "is a combination of the three." Strauss said the areas of initial budget cuts are 10 percent, and those forced by inflation to balance next year's budget. Strauss said that the student body is "more than we expected." Strauss explained that the proposed budget for fiscal 1979 is based on a zero-based budgeting process for the University.

A month after these guidelines are set, or sometimes this December, costs are supposed to be submitted. In these guidelines, the President's assistant said, "In combination of the three." Strauss explained that the University is in a "no-solution to budget problems is possible at this time." Strauss said the University would have gone into the red last year.

The projected annual deficit of $4 million to $8 million is a "combination of the three," Strauss said, "is a combination of the three." Strauss said the areas of initial budget cuts are 10 percent, and those forced by inflation to balance next year's budget. Strauss said that the student body is "more than we expected." Strauss explained that the proposed budget for fiscal 1979 is based on a zero-based budgeting process for the University.

A month after these guidelines are set, or sometimes this December, costs are supposed to be submitted. In these guidelines, the President's assistant said, "In combination of the three." Strauss explained that the University is in a "no-solution to budget problems is possible at this time." Strauss said the University would have gone into the red last year.

The projected annual deficit of $4 million to $8 million is a "combination of the three," Strauss said, "is a combination of the three." Strauss said the areas of initial budget cuts are 10 percent, and those forced by inflation to balance next year's budget. Strauss said that the student body is "more than we expected." Strauss explained that the proposed budget for fiscal 1979 is based on a zero-based budgeting process for the University.

A month after these guidelines are set, or sometimes this December, costs are supposed to be submitted. In these guidelines, the President's assistant said, "In combination of the three." Strauss explained that the University is in a "no-solution to budget problems is possible at this time." Strauss said the University would have gone into the red last year.

The projected annual deficit of $4 million to $8 million is a "combination of the three," Strauss said, "is a combination of the three." Strauss said the areas of initial budget cuts are 10 percent, and those forced by inflation to balance next year's budget. Strauss said that the student body is "more than we expected." Strauss explained that the proposed budget for fiscal 1979 is based on a zero-based budgeting process for the University.

A month after these guidelines are set, or sometimes this December, costs are supposed to be submitted. In these guidelines, the President's assistant said, "In combination of the three." Strauss explained that the University is in a "no-solution to budget problems is possible at this time." Strauss said the University would have gone into the red last year.

The projected annual deficit of $4 million to $8 million is a "combination of the three," Strauss said, "is a combination of the three." Strauss said the areas of initial budget cuts are 10 percent, and those forced by inflation to balance next year's budget. Strauss said that the student body is "more than we expected." Strauss explained that the proposed budget for fiscal 1979 is based on a zero-based budgeting process for the University.

A month after these guidelines are set, or sometimes this December, costs are supposed to be submitted. In these guidelines, the President's assistant said, "In combination of the three." Strauss explained that the University is in a "no-solution to budget problems is possible at this time." Strauss said the University would have gone into the red last year.
National Campaign Ends

(Continued from page 1)

The campaign can no longer be described by the Daley machine, many Illinois Republicans view it as a turning point on the national political stage. Thompson can be expected to receive a substantial endorsement from the Democratic leaders in Washington, a fact that is expected to help Rizzo in his campaign. The victory for the mayor has been confirmed by the victory of a number of other Democratic candidates in the Senate primary.

State Races

(Continued from page 4)

In addition to the general election, a special election will be held on November 3, 1976 to fill the vacancy created by the death of incumbent Henry Mastrangelo. The special election will be held in the 6th Congressional District, which includes parts of Center City and the University of Pennsylvania.

The campaign has been characterized by a sharp division between the two candidates. Henry Mastrangelo, who has been endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican parties, is widely regarded as the favorite. His Republican opponent, Samuel Coyne, is known for his strong anti-tax platform.

In other districts, Democrats are facing tough battles. In the 11th District, which includes parts of Center City and the University of Pennsylvania, incumbent Democrat Norman Talbot is facing a strong challenge from Republican Charles Murray. Talbot, who is known for his strong anti-tax platform, is expected to receive a substantial endorsement from the Democratic leaders in Washington.

The campaign has been characterized by a sharp division between the two candidates. Henry Mastrangelo, who has been endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican parties, is widely regarded as the favorite. His Republican opponent, Samuel Coyne, is known for his strong anti-tax platform.

In other districts, Democrats are facing tough battles. In the 11th District, which includes parts of Center City and the University of Pennsylvania, incumbent Democrat Norman Talbot is facing a strong challenge from Republican Charles Murray. Talbot, who is known for his strong anti-tax platform, is expected to receive a substantial endorsement from the Democratic leaders in Washington.

The campaign has been characterized by a sharp division between the two candidates. Henry Mastrangelo, who has been endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican parties, is widely regarded as the favorite. His Republican opponent, Samuel Coyne, is known for his strong anti-tax platform.

In other districts, Democrats are facing tough battles. In the 11th District, which includes parts of Center City and the University of Pennsylvania, incumbent Democrat Norman Talbot is facing a strong challenge from Republican Charles Murray. Talbot, who is known for his strong anti-tax platform, is expected to receive a substantial endorsement from the Democratic leaders in Washington.

The campaign has been characterized by a sharp division between the two candidates. Henry Mastrangelo, who has been endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican parties, is widely regarded as the favorite. His Republican opponent, Samuel Coyne, is known for his strong anti-tax platform.

In other districts, Democrats are facing tough battles. In the 11th District, which includes parts of Center City and the University of Pennsylvania, incumbent Democrat Norman Talbot is facing a strong challenge from Republican Charles Murray. Talbot, who is known for his strong anti-tax platform, is expected to receive a substantial endorsement from the Democratic leaders in Washington.

The campaign has been characterized by a sharp division between the two candidates. Henry Mastrangelo, who has been endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican parties, is widely regarded as the favorite. His Republican opponent, Samuel Coyne, is known for his strong anti-tax platform.

In other districts, Democrats are facing tough battles. In the 11th District, which includes parts of Center City and the University of Pennsylvania, incumbent Democrat Norman Talbot is facing a strong challenge from Republican Charles Murray. Talbot, who is known for his strong anti-tax platform, is expected to receive a substantial endorsement from the Democratic leaders in Washington.

The campaign has been characterized by a sharp division between the two candidates. Henry Mastrangelo, who has been endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican parties, is widely regarded as the favorite. His Republican opponent, Samuel Coyne, is known for his strong anti-tax platform.

In other districts, Democrats are facing tough battles. In the 11th District, which includes parts of Center City and the University of Pennsylvania, incumbent Democrat Norman Talbot is facing a strong challenge from Republican Charles Murray. Talbot, who is known for his strong anti-tax platform, is expected to receive a substantial endorsement from the Democratic leaders in Washington.

The campaign has been characterized by a sharp division between the two candidates. Henry Mastrangelo, who has been endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican parties, is widely regarded as the favorite. His Republican opponent, Samuel Coyne, is known for his strong anti-tax platform.

In other districts, Democrats are facing tough battles. In the 11th District, which includes parts of Center City and the University of Pennsylvania, incumbent Democrat Norman Talbot is facing a strong challenge from Republican Charles Murray. Talbot, who is known for his strong anti-tax platform, is expected to receive a substantial endorsement from the Democratic leaders in Washington.

The campaign has been characterized by a sharp division between the two candidates. Henry Mastrangelo, who has been endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican parties, is widely regarded as the favorite. His Republican opponent, Samuel Coyne, is known for his strong anti-tax platform.

In other districts, Democrats are facing tough battles. In the 11th District, which includes parts of Center City and the University of Pennsylvania, incumbent Democrat Norman Talbot is facing a strong challenge from Republican Charles Murray. Talbot, who is known for his strong anti-tax platform, is expected to receive a substantial endorsement from the Democratic leaders in Washington.

The campaign has been characterized by a sharp division between the two candidates. Henry Mastrangelo, who has been endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican parties, is widely regarded as the favorite. His Republican opponent, Samuel Coyne, is known for his strong anti-tax platform.

In other districts, Democrats are facing tough battles. In the 11th District, which includes parts of Center City and the University of Pennsylvania, incumbent Democrat Norman Talbot is facing a strong challenge from Republican Charles Murray. Talbot, who is known for his strong anti-tax platform, is expected to receive a substantial endorsement from the Democratic leaders in Washington.

The campaign has been characterized by a sharp division between the two candidates. Henry Mastrangelo, who has been endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican parties, is widely regarded as the favorite. His Republican opponent, Samuel Coyne, is known for his strong anti-tax platform.

In other districts, Democrats are facing tough battles. In the 11th District, which includes parts of Center City and the University of Pennsylvania, incumbent Democrat Norman Talbot is facing a strong challenge from Republican Charles Murray. Talbot, who is known for his strong anti-tax platform, is expected to receive a substantial endorsement from the Democratic leaders in Washington.

The campaign has been characterized by a sharp division between the two candidates. Henry Mastrangelo, who has been endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican parties, is widely regarded as the favorite. His Republican opponent, Samuel Coyne, is known for his strong anti-tax platform.

In other districts, Democrats are facing tough battles. In the 11th District, which includes parts of Center City and the University of Pennsylvania, incumbent Democrat Norman Talbot is facing a strong challenge from Republican Charles Murray. Talbot, who is known for his strong anti-tax platform, is expected to receive a substantial endorsement from the Democratic leaders in Washington.

The campaign has been characterized by a sharp division between the two candidates. Henry Mastrangelo, who has been endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican parties, is widely regarded as the favorite. His Republican opponent, Samuel Coyne, is known for his strong anti-tax platform.

In other districts, Democrats are facing tough battles. In the 11th District, which includes parts of Center City and the University of Pennsylvania, incumbent Democrat Norman Talbot is facing a strong challenge from Republican Charles Murray. Talbot, who is known for his strong anti-tax platform, is expected to receive a substantial endorsement from the Democratic leaders in Washington.

The campaign has been characterized by a sharp division between the two candidates. Henry Mastrangelo, who has been endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican parties, is widely regarded as the favorite. His Republican opponent, Samuel Coyne, is known for his strong anti-tax platform.

In other districts, Democrats are facing tough battles. In the 11th District, which includes parts of Center City and the University of Pennsylvania, incumbent Democrat Norman Talbot is facing a strong challenge from Republican Charles Murray. Talbot, who is known for his strong anti-tax platform, is expected to receive a substantial endorsement from the Democratic leaders in Washington.

The campaign has been characterized by a sharp division between the two candidates. Henry Mastrangelo, who has been endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican parties, is widely regarded as the favorite. His Republican opponent, Samuel Coyne, is known for his strong anti-tax platform.

In other districts, Democrats are facing tough battles. In the 11th District, which includes parts of Center City and the University of Pennsylvania, incumbent Democrat Norman Talbot is facing a strong challenge from Republican Charles Murray. Talbot, who is known for his strong anti-tax platform, is expected to receive a substantial endorsement from the Democratic leaders in Washington.

The campaign has been characterized by a sharp division between the two candidates. Henry Mastrangelo, who has been endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican parties, is widely regarded as the favorite. His Republican opponent, Samuel Coyne, is known for his strong anti-tax platform.

In other districts, Democrats are facing tough battles. In the 11th District, which includes parts of Center City and the University of Pennsylvania, incumbent Democrat Norman Talbot is facing a strong challenge from Republican Charles Murray. Talbot, who is known for his strong anti-tax platform, is expected to receive a substantial endorsement from the Democratic leaders in Washington.

The campaign has been characterized by a sharp division between the two candidates. Henry Mastrangelo, who has been endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican parties, is widely regarded as the favorite. His Republican opponent, Samuel Coyne, is known for his strong anti-tax platform.

In other districts, Democrats are facing tough battles. In the 11th District, which includes parts of Center City and the University of Pennsylvania, incumbent Democrat Norman Talbot is facing a strong challenge from Republican Charles Murray. Talbot, who is known for his strong anti-tax platform, is expected to receive a substantial endorsement from the Democratic leaders in Washington.

The campaign has been characterized by a sharp division between the two candidates. Henry Mastrangelo, who has been endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican parties, is widely regarded as the favorite. His Republican opponent, Samuel Coyne, is known for his strong anti-tax platform.

In other districts, Democrats are facing tough battles. In the 11th District, which includes parts of Center City and the University of Pennsylvania, incumbent Democrat Norman Talbot is facing a strong challenge from Republican Charles Murray. Talbot, who is known for his strong anti-tax platform, is expected to receive a substantial endorsement from the Democratic leaders in Washington.

The campaign has been characterized by a sharp division between the two candidates. Henry Mastrangelo, who has been endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican parties, is widely regarded as the favorite. His Republican opponent, Samuel Coyne, is known for his strong anti-tax platform.

In other districts, Democrats are facing tough battles. In the 11th District, which includes parts of Center City and the University of Pennsylvania, incumbent Democrat Norman Talbot is facing a strong challenge from Republican Charles Murray. Talbot, who is known for his strong anti-tax platform, is expected to receive a substantial endorsement from the Democratic leaders in Washington.
The Daily Pennsylvania

Page 4

Tuesday, November 2, 1976

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

One Vote Can Make A Difference

K. E. Hockett, Hubrecht, from poverty to prosperity voting word in the United States, he would be able to say that the consequence of these severe, those under- working white men and women are not the same. As long as we continue to let the rights of private enterprise and competition be violated, the consequence of the interviews will be matched only by the quality of the student cement that "walking talking resumes."" By P.H. Wiest

The pressure of the interview has created what some have termed, "walking talking resumes..."

These interview will be entitled only to the publicists of the deleting situation that follow For the few moments, the applicant is being shackled on the spot for carefully scrutiny. The process of the interview has created what some have termed "walking talking resumes..."

"Did you tell your grandparents," she said, "that you were diving into a more "no no, but I did sort of now some of my own stuff, like it, you know..."

HERBLOCK

It's like I said in 1968 and 1972- what difference does it make?"
Tuesday, November 2, 1976

The cost effectiveness of line item-based budgeting, which determines other administrative areas within the departments chosen for review.

for savings.

different problems," and administrators for years, about 40 percent of the alumni contacted made contributions. "Over the years, the Penn Alumni "budget" was made up of "all resources," Strauss said. "The useful," Strauss said.

within department budgets, could be needs.

cessibility, lack of knowledge about of the new Office of Student Life has organs, said the relationship between the Women's Center and the Office of Student Life has been informal, and thereby "satisfactory" with Coddin after asking "suggestions."

the purpose of keeping a steady fund policies. Sometimes these cor-said Monday.

Particularly important are gifts you'd never give up jeans!

But you might have to. You might not be able to

A part-time job as a Provident Mutual campus

But you might have to. You might not be able to

The Daily Pennsylvanian

“CLASS RINGS”
Order Your Official Univ of Pennsylvania
Class Ring Mon-Tues Nov 1-2
10-4 Main Bookstore
Deposit $10.00

Christmas Delivering Order Now
Kane Co.

You and your guests are invited to enjoy a complimentary dinner free with the purchase of a second dinner of greater greater value at

MAHARAJA

Indian Restaurant
110 South 40th Street, Phila. 2BA-2245
237 Chestnut St., Phila. MA-3200

Please bring this Coupon With you

INTRO TO PENN invites you to an
INTRODUCTORY MEETING
Help us put together next year's book!

Wednesday, November 3, 1976 7pm
Bishop White Room  2nd Floor Houston Hall

BLOOD DRIVE
Tomorrow
McClelland Hall from 1p.m. to 7p.m.
Coverage Program One donation assures you and your family for one year anywhere in the U.S. should any of you be in need of blood
Mardula Gets Straight A's for Flawless 'D'

BY JORDAN MINTZ

Hanging from the wall to the left of the back wall are Hollowbuck Center are boxes of baby powder. It’s the safest, she says. The players use it to play in the past week’s game. The top of the page lists the opponent, the number of goals scored, the number of assists, and the number of minutes played, plus save percentages, and all other numbers.

Across the table from Mardula, a man stands next to the computer. He has a beard, glasses, and a mustache. He is wearing a black jacket and a black shirt. He is holding a mouse. He is talking to Mardula. He is asking her a question. She is answering him.

The man is Bob, the coach. He is asking Mardula if she wants to go to practice. She is saying yes.

The computer is on the table. It is a desktop computer. It has a black monitor and a black keyboard. It has a black mouse. It is on a table. It is a desktop computer.

The man is Bob, the coach. He is asking Mardula if she wants to go to practice. She is saying yes.

The computer is on the table. It is a desktop computer. It has a black monitor and a black keyboard. It has a black mouse. It is on a table. It is a desktop computer.