Ivy Management Heads Schedule Discussion on Possible Tuition Tax

In the News

Ivy League management administrators will meet on December 27 to consider a joint proposal to tax university employee benefits. Harvard, reported recently that its president, Dr. Henry B. Mansfield, had received a letter from the Internal Revenue Service proposing that he tax benefits to the university's faculty and staff tuition benefits.

Under the proposal, discussed by Mansfield and officials at today's Wharton faculty meeting, the amount of tax benefits received by university employees would be at least $4,000 of earned income for each academic year.

Under the proposal, the tax would be determined on a case-by-case basis. It is expected that the tax would be a flat tax of $4,000 of earned income for each academic year.

The proposal is not yet final and will be discussed further at the December meeting.

Tenure Changes

Barnouw explained the dilemma at today's Wharton faculty meeting. Associate professors will be discussed until the December faculty meeting. However, no action will be taken before December 17.

The key subject that was discussed at the Wharton meeting is the decision to promote to associate professors. The decision was made, he noted.

Another means for a sponsor to push for the University is the "commercial bribes." Barnouw said. He cited the "formula and variations of that," as the "key subject that was discussed at the Wharton meeting is the decision to promote to associate professors. The decision was made, he noted.

President Martin Meyerson and Provost Eliot Stellar have postponed the search for the next University president, according to the Office of Public Relations.

The subject of the final development of the 3400 block of Walnut Street was discussed. According to Shabel, the group is the "best place to prepare a new proposal for the future of the 3400 block of Walnut Street." He added that the University should consult with the community before making a decision.

The special senate session was called for the purpose of "generating faculty views" on how the administration should proceed. The special senate session was held to provide advice to the administration.

According to Shabel, the group "has 'official status' as an advisory group on reallocation decisions."

Meyerson Postpones Proposal for SAMP

By R. L. M. KRISBEIN

THE COLUMBIA Times has learned that President Eliot Stetler has posthumously approved the proposal to phase-out the University's campus housing project. Stetler's decision will be announced at the Planning and Budget Committee meeting on December 17.

The special senate session was called for the purpose of "generating faculty views" on how the administration should proceed. The special senate session was held to provide advice to the administration.

The subject of the final development of the 3400 block of Walnut Street was discussed. According to Shabel, the group is the "best place to prepare a new proposal for the future of the 3400 block of Walnut Street." He added that the University should consult with the community before making a decision.

The special senate session was called for the purpose of "generating faculty views" on how the administration should proceed. The special senate session was held to provide advice to the administration.

According to Shabel, the group "has 'official status' as an advisory group on reallocation decisions."

Meyerson has said that he will consult with "all requirements" when he makes the final decision on the future of SAMP.

The guidelines, established by the Educational Planning Committee, call for a permanent review board to provide advice to the administration on issues of financial reallocation. The guidelines state that the decision to proceed will be based on a "cost-effective" standard. Meyerson said he is "generating faculty views" on how the administration should proceed. The special senate session was held to provide advice to the administration.

The subject of the final development of the 3400 block of Walnut Street was discussed. According to Shabel, the group is the "best place to prepare a new proposal for the future of the 3400 block of Walnut Street." He added that the University should consult with the community before making a decision.

The special senate session was called for the purpose of "generating faculty views" on how the administration should proceed. The special senate session was held to provide advice to the administration.

Meyerson has said that he will consult with "all requirements" when he makes the final decision on the future of SAMP.
Wharton Senior Learns Finance In Business World, Not in Class

By BARBARA DUBERSTEIN

A "C" in finance might have bothered some Wharton students, but not Bob Franklin. Of course, no one ever held the right to be a federal patent examiner.

Last spring, Franklin said he began having what he called a "terrible case with the Wharton image." But that was before his lawyer called him with word that he had federal patent for a new water safety device had been approved. Now he has the patent, worth $2000 of the patent's legal and other fees, often having to borrow money to begin his own manufacturing.

Despite the encouragement he received from a number of University business law professors, Franklin said his main support came from his fellow Wharton Department of Recreation, Franklin said, "I have a particular sympathy for theUSER error condition and your choice coloring & per-

The March Hare

...it is a small, cozy shop doing cutting, styling, coloring & per-

VISIT ISRAEL AFTER FINALS

ISRAEL BOUND ’76

Israel Collegiate Winter Seminar

An unforgettable experience for university under-

CAMPUS EVENTS

A notice to be placed in "Campus Events" must be submitted by 3 P.M. two days prior to the date it is to be published. Notices should be limited to 25 words. No notices will be accepted for any event or service with an admissions charge or fee. We must impose a limit of three notices per event. Official notices must be properly authorized by a faculty member or administrator.

When announcing the time of an event use the following format: "at 11:00 A.M. today," "at 7:30 P.M. today," "at 8:45 A.M. Monday.

"Today refers to the day the notice will be printed. Otherwise, word your choice coloring & per-advertisement for 50 cents. If sold outright.

The Daily Pennsylvanian reserves the right to edit or eliminate notices due to space limitations.

The Daily Pennsylvanian

4015 WJutSt. Philadelphia, Pa. 19104

C24-8255

A SUBSIDIZED PROGRAM

Limited number of spaces for Israel-Faculty semester at Dr. Loomer Monroe of Pers

HILLEL or JEWISH CAMPUS ACTIVITIES BOARD

202 South 36th Street

Philadelphia, Pa. 19104

A SUBSIDIZED PROGRAM

Limited number of spaces for Israel-Faculty semester at Dr. Loomer Monroe of Pers

SECTION I

December 18-January 5

December 21-January 6

For brochures and information, contact

SECTION II

The Daily Pennsylvanian

Philadelphia, Pa. 19104

For info, call 387-3123 or POM 174

The Daily Pennsylvanian

The Newspaper of the University of Pennsylvania will be closing its offices at

on Wednesday, November 24

due to the Holidays.

Ad Deadline for Tuesday, November 30

will be Monday Nov. 29 at 12 noon

Thanksgiving Special

All Combination Platters $3.75

Complete Dinner for Two $6.95

With This Coupon

Riech Speaks!

The Spooner of Bonita Reef

$1.95

A SUBSIDIZED PROGRAM

Limited number of spaces for Israel-Faculty semester at Dr. Loomer Monroe of Pers

The Daily Pennsylvanian

4015 WJutSt. Philadelphia, Pa. 19104

Daily Pennsylvania Campus Events

Date of Publication _

Date of Event _

Is this an "official notice" from University faculty administration? _

Text of copy (Limit 25 words)

Activity _

Telephone _

Signature _

Please return to The D.P.
By Dave Lieber

Spending days Lucast: one way many students spend the day, the boy had his first encounter with wild truck tracks.

It was not a happy meeting. As he slowed to take over one of the rails, the side wheel lost its grip and slid along the dipper, the truck continued on, creating a thunderous rumble as it went on to the next stop. The boy, taking cover in the bushes nearby, was left to grapple with the consequences of his encounter with the wild truck tracks.

Lucast is a popular spot for students to spend their days, with many choosing to spend their time exploring the area on foot, bike, or even in their vehicles. The wild truck tracks, however, pose a significant danger to those who venture too close, often causing damage to both the tracks and the surrounding environment.

The boy, in his attempt to avoid the tracks, was left with a sense of frustration and disappointment. "I was just trying to enjoy my day on campus, and now I have a bunch of problems to deal with," he said.

This is not an isolated incident. Many students have expressed concern about the state of the wild truck tracks, with some calling for action to be taken to address the issue. "We need to do something about this," one student said. "It's not safe to walk or bike on these tracks anymore."

The University has acknowledged the problem and has initiated measures to address it, including the installation of barriers and signs to alert students to the dangers. However, some students feel that more needs to be done to ensure the safety of those using Lucast.

In the meantime, students are urged to exercise caution when visiting the area and to avoid the wild truck tracks at all costs. The University continues to work towards finding a solution that will ensure the safety of all who use its facilities.

Letters to the Editor

Coping with Homelessness

The following is an open letter to President Morton H. Meyerson, Provost and Executive Vice President of the University, and the General Assembly Security and Advisory Board. It is written in response to the current state of student homelessness on campus.

"At a time when the University is undergoing significant changes, it is important that we address the issue of student homelessness head-on. Many students are facing unprecedented challenges, and we must ensure that everyone has a safe and secure place to call home.

The University has a responsibility to provide adequate resources and support to all students, regardless of their circumstances. This includes offering assistance with finding temporary housing or shelters, as well as providing information about long-term options such as housing assistance programs.

We urge the University to take immediate action to address this critical issue. The well-being of our students is of utmost importance, and we must do everything in our power to ensure their safety and welfare.

Signed,
[Name]

Misplaced Priorities

The Obstacle Course Called Lucast Walk

David Lieber

"It's the worst walking hazard on campus except for street crossing," said one student, who had just finished his first encounter with the wild truck tracks. "I was lucky to come out of it alive."

But there are others who see Lucast's role as more than just a simple obstacle to be overcome. "It's a test of endurance," said another, "and it helps us build character."

In reality, Lucast is a multifaceted challenge, spanning various aspects of campus life. From the physical obstacles to the mental and emotional demands, Lucast is a true test of resilience.

The University has acknowledged the difficulty of the obstacle course and has made efforts to improve it. However, the students' experiences vary widely, with some finding it truly challenging while others see it as a form of entertainment.

In conclusion, Lucast Walk is not just an obstacle course, but a reflection of the University's commitment to providing a well-rounded experience for all students. It is a test of endurance, a reflection of resilience, and a symbol of the University's dedication to excellence.
Baker
(Continued from page 1)
but out," he added. "In far, Baker is pleased with the "increasing visibility" of the Afro-American Studies program. "But we still have a long way to go," he observed.
"For me, the most rewarding thing about teaching is seeing a student actually come to a comprehension of the course," said Baker. "It's a result of the experience that takes place in class that I've come to value most.
"I do hope that we do finally have an administrative decision," Baker said. "There are a lot of things depending on the decision."
"Within a minute or so," Captain McGrath said. "I'm concerned, being a black administrator in a traditionally white University in even more taxing because you get fragmented in an Establishment, it is a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for administration. nor in the United States."
"The University, Baker believes, is "not in any sense an arena for the free flow of ideas." Rather, as part of the Establishment, it is a "laboratory for the implementation of white ideas."
Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
"Because the number of black faculty members at the University is so small, those who are here also overworked themselves in numerous activities," Baker said. "There is a sort of a "hothouse for minority students and employees, he added.
Oarsmen Place High in Regatta

Our low key fall did not last.

These were the words that Penn heavyweight crew coach Tom Chiswick spoke to the Rowing Club after the 1983 fall season. But they had just finished competing in the Western Intercollegiate Rowing Association (WIRA) Regatta, the last regatta of the fall season, and the weight-oarsmen were not a whole lot happier than their teammates about the new League's new rules concerning eligibility.

Penn held the team on defense immediately upon taking possession of the flag and began an offensive march. He played a role in every high-scoring threat the Quakers mounted all night. For the team, his offensive destruction was particularly evident in the second half of the game, when he scored two goals and added an assist to bring the score to 3-0. He was named the game's Most Valuable Player.

Sports Shorts

It was a holiday weekend, with the steady rain and snow keeping the stands empty. Bream; but the Penn crew did not disappoint, despite the heavy competition.

For the second straight month, the Penn heavyweight crew team placed second in all four of the major regatta events. Their performance in the WIRA Regatta was particularly impressive, as they won all three of the events that they entered. In addition to their victory in the 2000-meter event, they also took first place in the 1000-meter and 250-meter races.

Penn Club Achieves the Ultimate In Icy Ivry Frisbee Festival

The fledgling Penn Ultimate Frisbee Club, playing in its first intercollegiate match ever on the Ivy Ivy University Dorm Men's Volleyball, was ranked 20th in the nation. The club had a very disappointing year, but the players were determined to give it their all. They had a good time trying, and the team ended up with a winning record.

Scoring Kneaded Hinges on Hodge

WHERE'S THE PUCK?—Senior captain Jamie Hodge, 10th leading scorer in the National Team, and fellow WIRA Regatta.

Dean of the team, they played against Dartmouth on October 14th and 15th, finishing with a 4-2 record. They scored more goals than they allowed, and their defense was solid. The team was led by a strong group of forwards, including Hodge, who scored 13 goals on the season. The team also had a good defense, allowing only 11 goals in 13 games.

By DAVE GILBERG

Ask any player what his biggest test is, and they will likely say, "To be the best player on the team." It is the ultimate challenge, and the one that separates the great from the good. The Penn Ultimate Frisbee Club is no exception. They have a strong team, but they also have a competitive spirit that drives them to be the best.

Penn performs in the Icy Ivry Frisbee Festival, a key event on the team's schedule. The club has been preparing for this tournament all season, and they are ready to face the challenge.

The Morning Pennsylvanian

Penn's only entry in the NCAA Cross Country Meet, Steve Sholtes finished 61st in the event during the Penn Relays in Philadelphia. Sholtes had a good race, finishing in 31:58.11, but he was unable to break into the top 30. Still, the Penn Relays is an important early season event, and the team has many more opportunities to improve.