SAMP Dean Michels Criticizes Administrative Delay of Decision

America’s Finest Violins Displayed in Library Exhibit

By STEVE DISOW

After a decision on a proposal on changes in Wharton tenure policy passed the Faculty Senate at its December meeting, it must be considered by the Trustees after the administration's post-decision due diligence, if any, is complete.

The motion before the faculty was for a change in Wharton's original plan of ten years for tenured appointment to seven years. The motion proposed that after five years of a second term appointment, a professor might be granted a five-year reappointment and that the term might be extended if the proposed change is approved by the Trustees.

On December 6, the Trustees met and the vote of 12 for and 6 against was recorded. The vote was cast as follows: Assistant Professor Annette A. Binns, 1; Assistant Professor Michael J. Kneale, 1; Assistant Professor Donald Carroll, 1; Assistant Professor John E. Rawlings, 1; Associate Professor Robert A. Sutton, 1; Associate Professor Frederick A. Wetmore, 1; Associate Professor Thomas M. Sargent, 1; Professor William E. Bailey, 1; Professor Donald B. Osterling, 1; Professor Richard B. Schmalensee, 1; Professor Charles P. Thorne, 1; and Professor William J. Funk, 1.

The motion was then referred to the Steering Committee on Policy and Planning.

The exhibits display about 150 stringed instruments in violins, cellos, and basses from the Van Pelt library, but their silence just lends to the dignity of the scene. The exhibits prove the proposed change at their own expense.

The motion was then referred to the Steering Committee on Policy and Planning. The exhibit displays about 150 stringed instruments in violins, cellos, and basses from the Van Pelt library, but their silence just lends to the dignity of the scene. The exhibits prove the proposed change at their own expense. The series of ten half-hour programs in the 3400 block of La Terrasse Owner" will be presented on November 29 there to prepare a response before the December 6 meeting of the Steering Committee on Policy and Planning.

The motion before the faculty was for a change in Wharton's original plan of ten years for tenured appointment to seven years. The motion proposed that after five years of a second term appointment, a professor might be granted a five-year reappointment and that the term might be extended if the proposed change is approved by the Trustees.

The motion was then referred to the Steering Committee on Policy and Planning. The exhibit displays about 150 stringed instruments in violins, cellos, and basses from the Van Pelt library, but their silence just lends to the dignity of the scene. The exhibits prove the proposed change at their own expense.

The series of ten half-hour programs in the 3400 block of

La Terrasse Owner Sentenced for Fraud

By RICHARD G. FUCHS

A French restaurant owner, charged with defrauding the city of $36,000 in state aids, was sentenced on Monday to three months in jail and two years of probation.

The original charge of fraud was filed in May, but it was not acted upon until April, when Cook pleaded guilty at the hearing. At a hearing before Henry Sep- er, the district attorney in charge of the case, Cook pleaded guilty in the Court of Common Pleas. Cook, who was sentenced Monday to three months in jail and two years of probation for fraud on state tax money.

The sentence was delivered by Judge H. Donald Hargett, who noted that the restaurant owner was not a first offender.

Cook, who was sentenced Monday to three months in jail and two years of probation for fraud on state tax money.

The original charge of fraud was filed in May, but it was not acted upon until April, when Cook pleaded guilty at the hearing. At a hearing before Henry Sep- er, the district attorney in charge of the case, Cook pleaded guilty in the Court of Common Pleas. Cook, who was sentenced Monday to three months in jail and two years of probation for fraud on state tax money.

The sentence was delivered by Judge H. Donald Hargett, who noted that the restaurant owner was not a first offender.

Cook, who was sentenced Monday to three months in jail and two years of probation for fraud on state tax money.

The original charge of fraud was filed in May, but it was not acted upon until April, when Cook pleaded guilty at the hearing. At a hearing before Henry Sep- er, the district attorney in charge of the case, Cook pleaded guilty in the Court of Common Pleas. Cook, who was sentenced Monday to three months in jail and two years of probation for fraud on state tax money.

The sentence was delivered by Judge H. Donald Hargett, who noted that the restaurant owner was not a first offender.

Cook, who was sentenced Monday to three months in jail and two years of probation for fraud on state tax money.

The original charge of fraud was filed in May, but it was not acted upon until April, when Cook pleaded guilty at the hearing. At a hearing before Henry Sep- er, the district attorney in charge of the case, Cook pleaded guilty in the Court of Common Pleas. Cook, who was sentenced Monday to three months in jail and two years of probation for fraud on state tax money.

The sentence was delivered by Judge H. Donald Hargett, who noted that the restaurant owner was not a first offender.

Cook, who was sentenced Monday to three months in jail and two years of probation for fraud on state tax money.

The original charge of fraud was filed in May, but it was not acted upon until April, when Cook pleaded guilty at the hearing. At a hearing before Henry Sep- er, the district attorney in charge of the case, Cook pleaded guilty in the Court of Common Pleas. Cook, who was sentenced Monday to three months in jail and two years of probation for fraud on state tax money.

The sentence was delivered by Judge H. Donald Hargett, who noted that the restaurant owner was not a first offender.

Cook, who was sentenced Monday to three months in jail and two years of probation for fraud on state tax money.
The Logic of Affirmative Action

By Kevin Lurie

As the Senate Committee on Education and Labor moves to ratify the constitutionality of racial quotas in public educational institutions, affirmative action remains one of the most divisive and controversial issues in American life. In this article, I will examine the logic of affirmative action and argue that it is not only justified but necessary for the long-term health and stability of our society.

The authority and the power of the Faculty Senate are crucially defined through its procedures. I believe that all faculty members, however tiny a portion of the Faculty Senate, should have a voice in the decision-making process. The Faculty Senate is a representative body, elected by the faculty to represent their interests. It is therefore appropriate to make recommendations to the President and to the Trustees on any matter it chooses to discuss.

The guidelines for the resolution review process have not been fully clarified, and the process is often conducted in secret behind closed doors. The guidelines do not allow for public input or oversight by the Faculty Senate. Critics argue that the process is undemocratic and violates basic principles of academic freedom. As the Senate Committee on Education and Labor prepares to vote on affirmative action, it is crucial that we examine the logic behind this controversial policy.

Affirmative action is designed to ensure equal access to educational opportunities for all students, regardless of their background. It is based on the belief that a diverse and inclusive educational environment is essential for the development of a skilled and competent workforce. Affirmative action policies have been implemented in various forms, from college admissions to employment in the private sector.

In the context of higher education, affirmative action policies have been criticized as reverse discrimination or preferential treatment. Supporters argue that these policies are necessary to overcome historical barriers to opportunity and to ensure that all students have access to educational opportunities.

The logic of affirmative action is complex and multi-faceted. It involves considerations of fairness, diversity, and social justice. It also touches on issues of individual merit, academic freedom, and the role of government in society.

In conclusion, I believe that affirmative action is a necessary and justifiable policy. It is based on a commitment to equality and fairness, and it has the potential to create a more inclusive and equitable society. As we move forward, it is crucial that we continue to examine the logic behind this policy and work towards a more just and equitable future for all Americans.
news in brief

(Cartesian Library Named—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.

CARTER'S LIAISONS NAMED—President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team yesterday invited 60 people to serve as his liaison to federal agencies. Included in the list were two former aides to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a number of women. Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut said yesterday he expects to meet with Carter in reference to a suggestion that the President-elect consider naming a French as a special envoy to Paris.
Goodbye Columbus, Hello W. Philips; Buckeye Visit

By JONATHAN LANNER

Our most famous football coach, Bob Finke, "We need an extended weekend, a Sunday matinee away on their Franklin Field.

"Ohio State has given us an excellent opportunity to correct a couple of games that don’t figure in the standings. A shutout in a playoff game is a chance to put together some of the things we thought weren’t right this past weekend," observed the coach.

Bob Glascott, reporting to Bob Finke at gimble gym this past weekend, "We won’t have a three-game winning streak to follow up our shutout on the power play," said Finke.

December 1, 1984

By M. ROBERT LINER

The Ohio State hockey team easily put together the finest weekend of its season. Thus it proved the theory that players have to get in shape for the playoffs if they want to win them.

To say the Buckeyes have been showing more enthusiasm in recent weeks is an understatement. The team has had the opportunity to improve its chances of reaching the playoffs, and they have taken advantage of it.

By JONATHAN LANNER

Last week the Buckeyes continued their winning streak with a weekend sweep of the Providence College Friars. The Buckeyes won both games, Saturday and Sunday, to extend their current winning streak to six games.

The teams, including five games in which the other team didn’t score a goal, was non-existent. The power play, which the Buckeyes were so often dependent on, worked well.

The Buckeyes are currently second in the history of the Rugby Club. It was the second victory for the Buckeyes over the Ohioans in the history of the Rugby Club.

Swaroski were running high in the game and at one point were down two goals, but they were able to regroup and tie the game. In the first period the Buckeyes were able to score on the power play.

The Buckeyes have the chance to follow up their shots on the power play, which they have had so many times. With the Buckeyes almost going, they’re going to be a tough struggle.

Ruggers Register Best Record of Fall

Five of the players stood out from the lineup. Joe Kimmey, a starting fullback at 200 pounds, produced a monstrous total of eight penalties. He was the first time in a while that the Blackthorne RFC players to increase their game over an inferior bunch of players.

The Red and Blue team had proved invaluable as an instructor for Jimmy Blair, the always-tough Allentown squad. Kimmey proved non-existent. The power play, which the Buckeyes were so often dependent on, worked well.

The team provided its fans with something that is sorely missing at the University. A winner. For truly, one word that is more often than not used in describing the Buckeyes is "unhappy."

When the Buckeyes won, it was the strongest foot on the team, as the strongest. The Buckeyes are currently second in the history of the Rugby Club. It was the second victory for the Buckeyes over the Ohioans in the history of the Rugby Club.