Solely To View Psychiatry Merger

The strategy of the University was intended to grant WXPN a short-term license renewal. According to the indictment, the panel agreed that the use of psychiatric services in The Physicists was not only unusual but also unethical. The panel also noted that the use of psychiatric services was magnified through the use of madness and that it was not justified by any scientific or technological discoveries.

On February 19, the university submitted a final report on the subject to the Trustee, and it was submitted to the judge in his possession. The indictment handed down by a federal grand jury followed a six-month investigation by the Federal Communications Investigation and the University's Office of the Ombudsman. The University was looking for someone skilled in public relations and an unerring ability to communicate. The indictments submitted to FCC were alleged to have been used to assist the judge in his review of the University's policies.

The indictments were alleged to have been used to assist the judge in his review of the University's policies. The indictments alleged that the University had used a false pretense to obtain control of the broadcasting station. The indictments alleged that the University had used a false pretense to obtain control of the broadcasting station.

In WXPN File

The “Vegetable Report” was the subject of a six-month investigation by the Federal Communications Commission. The University was looking for someone skilled in public relations and an unerring ability to communicate.
Should Expand, Resolution Says

By JONATHAN GREER

The Undergraduate Assembly (UA) Thursday evening adopted the resolution calling for the number of campus security officers to be increased by ten from the present number of 44.

Members of the UA security and safety committee had reviewed the resolution before its passage. They estimated that the cost of the additional men would be approximately $50,000. However, University budget officials have not confirmed the figures.

Christine Varis, a member of the UA security and safety committee, pointed out that the resolution was not "prompted recently in the campus security situation."

The current resolution is the fourth in a series of proposals brought before the UA. The last resolution passed "in spirit" in order to facilitate further study of the plan. The previous ones being requests to the UA, the previous ones being conversations on the topic.

Contract

Philadelphia for less than $400. "stabilize the hard money (income which is certain and fixed) situation."

Philosophers for less than $400. "the need arise."

If you have doubts about your knowledge of the plan, you should not appeal the decision to the Planning Office. The resolution was not "prompted recently in the campus security situation."

Miller may decide to revoke the license, the University will have an opportunity to appeal the decision to the FCC. University sources have not indicated if they will appeal, should the need arise.

When it's 6 weeks into the semester and 34 books have just arrived for a class of 35...it's no time to get filled up.

Lité Beer from Miller. Everything you always wanted in a beer. And less.
Setting Graduate School Criteria

By Kevin Lurie

There have been many complaints about affirmative action, but most are so fraught with emotion and anxiety that true sentiments are hard to discern. By now, the Bakke case concerning medical school minority quota deals with graduate school Affirmative Action while undergraduate Affirmative Action has different admission criteria.

The University of California tried to institute a policy that would ensure equal treatment of students based on their race, color, or national origin. However, the Supreme Court of the United States has since ruled that such policies are unconstitutional. In this case, the University of California was trying to ensure that minority students had equal opportunities to receive the same education as their non-minority counterparts.

Kevin Lurie (WEOUP) in his '77 column, "Making the Meritocracy Work," expressed the sentiments of many when he wrote that "The idea of a meritocracy is just a pipe dream. It is never going to work. If we don't change the system, the same problems will continue to exist."

But if the minority students choose to compete in this system, they must face the same obstacles as their non-minority counterparts. They must take SAT's which have been shown to be oriented towards whites from relatively well-off families. The authors of this paper argue that the Bakke case and similar cases have only served to perpetuate the system of discrimination.

The Bakke case concerning medical school minority quota deals with graduate school Affirmative Action, while undergraduate Affirmative Action has different admission criteria. The University of California tried to institute a policy that would ensure equal treatment of students based on their race, color, or national origin. However, the Supreme Court of the United States has since ruled that such policies are unconstitutional.
Recognizing Potential

By Alison France

Affirmative action programs are complex and necessary. It is necessary for institutions of higher learning to make every effort to ensure that minority applicants are given the same opportunity as non-minority applicants. However, the existence of these programs is sometimes misconstrued as an attempt to elevate minority students to a status that they do not deserve. The purpose of affirmative action programs is to provide minority students with equal opportunities in education, not to elevate them above their peers. The idea that these programs are a direct result of affirmative action is inaccurate, as the programs are designed to provide equal opportunities for all students, regardless of race or ethnicity.

The Daily Pennsylvania welcomes comments from the readers of the newspaper and letters to the editor. Material must be typed or printed in a legible manner. Handwritten letters will not be accepted. Address all contributions to: The Daily Pennsylvania, 3680 Walnut St, Philadelphia, PA. We reserve the right to edit letters to conform to our style and space limitations.

How can I try to explain, 'cause when I do he turn away again. It's always been the same. Same old story. From the moment I could talk I was ordered to listen…

Jasmin

Friday, March 3, 1977

The Daily Pennsylvania

Letters to the Editor

Examining a Case of Social Myopia and Affirmative Action

To the Editor:

We would like to respond to the social myopia evident in Martin Lewine’s argument in the Daily Pennsylvanian (March 2) that “affirmative action is a temporary preference for minority applicants who are otherwise unqualified.”

Lewine’s argument is based on the assumption that affirmative action is intended to elevate minority students to a status that they do not deserve. However, the purpose of affirmative action is not to provide minority students with preferential treatment, but rather to ensure that they are given the same opportunities as their non-minority counterparts. The idea that these programs are a direct result of affirmative action is inaccurate, as the programs are designed to provide equal opportunities for all students, regardless of race or ethnicity.

We believe that Lewine’s argument is flawed because it does not take into account the historical context of affirmative action. The United States has a long history of discrimination against minority groups, and affirmative action programs are designed to address this historical inequality. The idea that these programs are a direct result of affirmative action is inaccurate, as the programs are designed to provide equal opportunities for all students, regardless of race or ethnicity.

We encourage the Daily Pennsylvanian to provide more accurate information about affirmative action programs and their purpose. We believe that it is important for students to have a better understanding of the historical context of affirmative action and the purpose of these programs. We believe that this will help to ensure that students have a more accurate understanding of the role of affirmative action in our society.

The Daily Pennsylvanian welcomes comments from the readers of the newspaper and letters to the editor. Material must be typed or printed in a legible manner. Handwritten letters will not be accepted. Address all contributions to: The Daily Pennsylvania, 3680 Walnut St, Philadelphia, PA. We reserve the right to edit letters to conform to our style and space limitations.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]

[Your Address]

[Your Email]

[Your Phone Number]

March 7 - The Day Johnson Sent the First Troops to Viet Nam in 1965

Gareth Porter of his Indo-China Research Center in Washington, D.C., will give a talk on "The Lessons of Vietnam" Monday, March 7, 7:30 p.m. in C14 - Steifer Hall

Sponsored by U.S.A.

FRATERNITY NOTES

TAKING THE NEW (REVISED) APRIL MCAT?

Then you're going to have about 8 hours to demonstrate that you belong in that 'main minority' of accepted medical school applicants. The current odds are one-in-three that even highly-qualified applicants will be admitted as first-year medical students. We can't eliminate the odds, but we will try to help you to make the best score possible.

Individual Study Diagnostic MCAT Prep Program, Cost: $275. And lots of work.

We're ready to help you get ready for them. Contact us.

The AMERICAN PREMEDICAL SOCIETY

3744 N 18 Street
Philadelphia, PA 19140
(215) 226-1599

SUN WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1977

Letters to the Editor

Examining a Case of Social Myopia and Affirmative Action

To the Editor:

We would like to respond to the social myopia evident in Martin Lewine’s argument in the Daily Pennsylvanian (March 2) that “affirmative action is a temporary preference for minority applicants who are otherwise unqualified.”

Lewine’s argument is based on the assumption that affirmative action is intended to elevate minority students to a status that they do not deserve. However, the purpose of affirmative action is not to provide minority students with preferential treatment, but rather to ensure that they are given the same opportunities as their non-minority counterparts. The idea that these programs are a direct result of affirmative action is inaccurate, as the programs are designed to provide equal opportunities for all students, regardless of race or ethnicity.

We believe that Lewine’s argument is flawed because it does not take into account the historical context of affirmative action. The United States has a long history of discrimination against minority groups, and affirmative action programs are designed to address this historical inequality. The idea that these programs are a direct result of affirmative action is inaccurate, as the programs are designed to provide equal opportunities for all students, regardless of race or ethnicity.

We encourage the Daily Pennsylvanian to provide more accurate information about affirmative action programs and their purpose. We believe that it is important for students to have a better understanding of the historical context of affirmative action and the purpose of these programs. We believe that this will help to ensure that students have a more accurate understanding of the role of affirmative action in our society.

The Daily Pennsylvanian welcomes comments from the readers of the newspaper and letters to the editor. Material must be typed or printed in a legible manner. Handwritten letters will not be accepted. Address all contributions to: The Daily Pennsylvania, 3680 Walnut St, Philadelphia, PA. We reserve the right to edit letters to conform to our style and space limitations.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]

[Your Address]

[Your Email]

[Your Phone Number]
news in brief

Compiled from United Press International

ATTENTION MAID TO RESERVE MINER—In Teaneck, N.J., yesterday, police received a call at 4 a.m. yesterday that 12-year-old John Smith had been found dead in a coal mine. The mine is owned by the Smith family. The cause of death is unknown.

SENIOR APPOINTMENTS—The University of Pennsylvania has announced the appointment of Dr. Robert W. Miller as dean of the School of Engineering and Applied Science.

SENIOR APPOINTMENTS—The University of Pennsylvania has announced the appointment of Dr. Robert W. Miller as dean of the School of Engineering and Applied Science.
Friday, March 4, 1977

Grapplers Challenge “Heavyweights” in EIWA

By RICKY DIAMOND

The long awaited opening weekend for the Penn wrestlers will finally end this weekend when the Quaker squad (6-3) will challenge three-time defending NCAA champions Franklin & Marshall, and Princeton. The meet will be run in conventional tournament fashion with single elimination and wrestle backs allowing early round losers to come in.

Track

(Continued from page 7)

before the winter was the first collegiate title with a win of 8-1. When Mark MGUID, Ed Kohler, and Dick Hanely, and Ed Radzinski line up for Saturday’s mile run, they will be in their prime. Of the comparison with the Hope Eagles冬天县, "There’s always a pressure. Last week it was the team championship on the line. This week I hope we make up for last week and run a little better.”

LOOMS A MIGHTY SQUASH TOURNEY

The mainstay of the Penn racquetmen, senior Gil Mateer, will be one of the favorites to capture the A division title. “We should all be relaxed by now. After the season (a week) has been resting a little bit. It’s a tough year cutting weight and all. It’s never been so far down, but it’s not going to be so bad,” Mateer said.

HUNGRY RACQUETMEN AIM FOR TOURNEY SURPRISE

By PERRY BOLLMAN

This weekend’s Penn squash team (6-3) will try to prove it belongs in the elite class of squash teams. The two-day intercollegiate tourney, Tournament of Champions, held at Harvard, Princeton, and William College.

"We’re trying to show that we’re better than this season’s results have shown. We lost to Princeton last Friday and we hope the Quakers’ unseeded status in the tournament’s A, B, and C divisions. "The favorites have to be Harvard, Princeton, and the University of Western Ontario, "said John Wolfe, the Penn captain.

The mainstay of the Penn racquetmen, senior Gil Mateer, will be one of the favorites to capture the A division title. "We should all be relaxed by now. After this season’s outcome, we’re trying to prove something.”

Senior Gordon Anderson, who like Mateer will be playing his last match for Penn, entered a new team attitude following last week’s loss to Princeton. "We’re hungry now, and everyone has been pushing during practice. I really feel we could win."

Andras and Joe Foster will represent Penn in the B division, while appearent Pat Murray will wrestle with David on the C.

The Quakers will be relying on the continued fine play of freshmen Ned Edwards. Despite Edwards’ advancement to the dynamic number two position, tournament rules force him to compete in the C division. "It will take a little more time to get Ned into running the finals,” analyst Tim Wolfe, who will remain with the varsity all the way.

Wolfe continued, "the next big event will be held, and the ball will be playing very fast. This should help us because of the hard-hitting style that most of us use.

Molly agreed with Wolfe’s prognosis. Because points will be long and everyone will be playing at least one hundred matches per day, Molly said the tournament will be a “test of conditioning”.

Penn-Pals

The 10th Sports page would like to thank each of you for your dedication in sending in your letters. Your timely input is a matter of great importance to the editorial board. The setup of the feature will be accepted until Monday, March 7 at 7:30 PM at Franklin Room-Houston Hall 3417 Spruce St.

This weekend’s tournament will give them an opportunity to do something about it.

WHERE THE ELITE MEET TO EAT EVERY WEEKEND

Where the Elite Meet to Eat Every Weekend

Sambatyons Presents:

![A Coffee House]

ENTERTAINMENT AND REFRESHMENTS

Saturday at 8:30 In Houston Hall HSP Room

Havahal at 8:00

Admission Free

Coaching Changes

ARTHUR D. BUCKLER

RAARI DIAMOND

LINDA HENRY

DONALD SUTHERLAND

M. THOMPSON

MICHAEL J. LINSLEY

D. DIAMOND

RICH GIROIR

Sports Copy Editors

M. THOMPSON

M. J. LINSLEY

RICH GIROIR

Sports Copy Editors

Happy Birthday

(The Pre-Medical Honor Society)

Announces

_IMPORTANT MEETING_

For Interested Fresh, Sophs, and Juniors

Monday, March 7 at 7:30 PM

Franklin Room-Houston Hall

A.E.D.

(Annual Emergency Day)

Advance tickets $3.00 (until March 7, 1977)

Auditorium 3417 Spruce St.

 alphabetically organized for 10:00 Reading Room Houston Hall

Friday, March 8

Penn

Sigma Phi Epsilon

DISCO PARTY

COME & GET LOADED

Sat, March 5, 9-3:00

Free Hopskip & Go Naked Punch & Beer

3902 Spruce St.

OAY DANCE

FRIDAY MARCH 4 9PM-1AM

Houson Hall Ivy Room

3417 Spruce St.

At

Men & Women Invited

Sponsored by GAYS AT PENN

We Don’t Lie

We Don’t Joke ‘em

Get Great Food At

COFFEE HOUSE

Where the Elite Meet to Eat Every Weekend

Saturday at 8:30 In

Houston Hall HSP Room

Havahal at 8:00

Admission Free

And Now... after four years of preparation and production Fellini’s CasaNova

A Film by FEDERICO FELLINI Pre-Production August 1976

Produced by ALBERTO SERRA

The President’s Lecture Series

Sponsored by

The Office of the President

"New Directions for Aggregative Economic Policy."

DR. LAWRENCE R. KLEIN

Franklin Professor of Economics and Finance

Tuesday, March 8

4:30 p.m.

Auditorium

The Annenberg School of Communications

3620 Walnut St.
Smith and Company Face Elis, Bruins

By MARTIN COOPER

That's the first thing that comes to mind when somebody mentions "Philadelphia playground ball." A guy who devotes himself to football is known as Chuck Emoff, a undisputed "Playmaker." One of the few East 70th All-Stars of the 40s, he always avoided being a team player, except for the many thousands of people who see him play. But they can't do anything. I watch for the watch. But he didn't even try to play any harder. People say they're upset because he won't stop trying. But that can't stop anybody.

But because I didn't score much, the fans figurred I didn't play well. Then the reportes came to the cellar and said I couldn't play. I told them I was doing just as well as the fans expected. I watch for the watch. But they can't do anything. I watch for the watch. But that can't stop anybody.

That's FAR ENOUGH-Brown's Robin Saunders has won his fourth Ivy League title in as many tries. The senior guard has been a dominating force on the court for the past four seasons, averaging over 20 points per game and leading Brown to four straight league championships.

By JOHN EISENBERG

The Eastern Champions, Cornell, will try to continue their winning ways against a tough Ivy League foe. The Big Red, led by standout forward Tim Smith, is expected to be one of the top teams in the conference this season.

Icemen Seek to Block Cornell's Ivy Title Bid

For the seniors on the team, this will be the last chance to be part of a championship team. They have worked hard and are ready to make the most of this opportunity. The seniors have been the backbone of the team, leading by example and setting a high standard for the younger players.

Mermen Face League Froe at Army

"Sometimes getting up out of a double-figure lead can be difficult, but in the last few years the Quakers have been able to do it with confidence." said senior guard Jack Jackson. "We have a lot of confidence in our team and are ready to challenge for the title."