CANDIDATES FOR PHILADELPHIA DISTRICT ATTORNEY discussed their positions as rape prosecution and other legal topics at a forum sponsored by the Department of Women's Studies and the Student Government Association on March 11. Participating were Republican candidate Malcolm S. Lazin (left), Democratic challenger Edward Rendell (center), and incumbent Democrat F. Emmett Fitzpatrick (right).

DA Candidates Present Positions On Philadelphia Rape Prosecution

BY GREG MANNING

Philadelphia District Attorney Edward Rendell and his Democratic challenger, F. Emmett Fitzpatrick, both agreed March 11 in an open forum it was the responsibility of the District Attorney's office to make meaningful distinctions between rape cases

Rendell, Fitzpatrick and Republican challenger Malcolm S. Lazin were interviewed and surveyed by Women's Organization for Abuse Reform (WOAR) on their attitudes toward local and national women's issues, rape prosecution and marital abuse, and how they would handle children's cases of rape.

The forum took place in the Harnwell Arts Auditorium, and a reception on Thursday will be held at the University Club.

"It's a very important issue", Rendell said. "As attorney general, I have had to make legal distinctions between sexual assault and rape. The witness-victim project, a major concern of the District Attorney's office, is a way to prevent sexual assault."

The three speakers each gave a three-minute presentation to the audience, followed by questions and a closing statement by Fitzpatrick.

Student Opinion of Staff Members Solicited in College House Survey

By Jeffrey Branca

This semester for the first time, seven University projects will follow the lead of the Quadrangle and the high rises by allowing professorial staff to be evaluated by their faculty and staff.

Lazarus Health, Safety and Security, the Statistics Center, the Library, and the Van Pelt Library House are the first of the projects to begin distributing evaluation questionnaires next week. The Harvard Arts Council and Public Affairs, Professional and Editorial Services projects will begin distributing questionnaires in April.

Financial Aid to Increase By $2 Million Next Year

By Steven Dubow

Financial aid for University under-graduates will increase $2 million next year, according to a press release from University President John J. Gibbons Jr. Monday.

That is in addition to the $1.7 million in aid announced last week under the new aid program. Applicants will have to show need of $3,800 to $6,000 to be eligible for any aid under the new program. The amount of aid actually awarded will vary from $1,000 to $1,900 based on the student's financial need.

However, the University will award an additional $1 million in aid and $2.5 million in scholarships to students with exceptional talent, according to Gibbons.

"This is a major expansion of our financial aid program", Gibbons said. "It is an effort on the part of the University to make good on its commitment to provide financial aid to students who need it."

I was happily packing my bags to return home for the spring break. My stereo was blaring Jackson Browne tunes, and people walked around without jackets as the thermometer hovered around 65 degrees. It had been a sunny day for the last week, but today was a bit cloudy and more overcast.

As I finished packing, I noticed something odd. The radio, which I had just started playing, now had a new song playing. It was a soft rock ballad with a catchy melody.

I stood quiet for a moment, and I thought about how much I enjoyed that song. It had been a while since I last heard it.

I had my first key in my first year

I asked, "I've never been robbed before. What a coincidence.

I was surprised, and I said, "I told you that an hour ago, and you didn't believe me."

I turned my head, my heart pounding, wondering what I should do now.

The policeman said one last time. "Do you have any weapons?"

I said, "No, I had no weapons when I entered the building."

I was shocked, and I thought, "I just can't believe this."

Challenging University Decisions

By Robert S. Fallow

Now that the spring vacation has disappeared from the horizon, the magnitude of the increase in the highest university admissions significantly exceeds the breakdown in the legal system. As a result, the administration like a perfect storm, an outlet of the corporate ethics of academies.

The problem is so acute that the question of what one should do in such a situation arises. On the one hand, there are those who believe that the problem is caused by a lack of structure in the legal system. On the other hand, there are those who believe the problem is caused by a lack of structure in the legal system.

In any event, the new, high, or revised fee is not the issue for those students who diligently pursued those studies to which they are legally entitled. It is the application of those laws that is the issue at hand. And although those laws were written for the benefit of all students, revised versions of those laws should be avoided. A simple legal study of the current laws will reveal this.

Plain Talk From Armco on Finding a Job:

How the energy crisis chills your chances

So you're getting your degree and looking for that perfect job. More and more graduates are finding that the job market is getting very tough. And that's true in America as well. You need it. America will have to find the energy and take to make a job.

As expected, the nation spends about 7 per cent of energy a year. That's just 15 billion BTUs. A 15 billion BTUs will last about a week. Since one BTU can be used for a pound of water one degree Fahrenheit, we're talking about bring 2.1 billion pounds of ice to a boil.

That's a greater strain than the long two miles wide and a mile thick of ice. Every year.

Each working man and woman's share of our 15 billion BTUs, of course all that energy isn't spent on the job. Not all jobs take the same amount.

We need to do without more than we think. But when you look at your available energy and the 80,000 people at work, then 80,000,000 BTUs is each job share.

Some think about the 80,000,000 U.S. men and women experts say that 10 years, 40,000,000 BTUs alone we'll have to come up with an extra 14.4 percent of energy to create new jobs for them.

At Armco, we face the energy problem every day. But because it takes about 29,000,000 BTUs to make each ton of steel, the energy bill last year came to over $300,000,000. The cost keeps climbing every year. No wonder companies conserve energy. We have to.

We've got a free booklet to help you get a job. It's called Your chances. Write Armco Steel Corporation. Educational Relations Dept., 371 S. 36th Street, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15203.

Plain talk about energy

We Americans already know how to solve the energy crisis. We have the technology to reach solutions. Yet each country faces its own set of political problems. Natural gas isn't easy to reach. Of course we need our own water for ourselves. When companies can't get energy, people lose their jobs. We all learned that during the winter. The energy crisis is here. And it's huge.

Netmen Sour on Ivy Title Chances

By STEPHEN PHILP

Penn tennis coach Al Molloy and his Quakers have reason to be discouraged these days. The early season competition needed, early season competition. Fife, worried about becoming a "strange" player during the past two years, is batting .330 in the past 10 games and 1-for-2 in the past week.

Fife, who is entering his third year as a varsity player at Penn, said he had to adjust to the new role. "I'm playing a lot more on the line and that has helped me a lot," he said.

The Quakers are currently at 3-2 in the Ivy League, with 13 matches remaining.

"I think we're really close to the three spots," Fife said. "We're really close to the top three teams in the league and if we can get to the top three we'll have a good chance at winning the Ivy League."
