WXPN Decision

We regretfully concur with FCC Administrative Law Judge Miller. Miller's decision not to renew WXPN's Federal Communications Commission license. We lament it because many of us know the reason.

As it stand, Miller's decision gives the University the dubious distinction of being one of the few major universities across the country ever to have its license renewal request denied. The University filed a petition with the Federal Communications Commission on March 25. The FCC granted the University's petition on April 5. Miller, charged the station with infraction of FCC regulations and ordered the University to cease operations.

The Trustees, however, could only offer a lackluster defense at that time. Since 1969, the license is being managed under the University not the station. Miller's decision appears not to impress the FCC.

Please help support the station by writing to the 34th Street Co-Editor, the University established council and committees and over 800 volunteers who have helped the WXPN.

Despite Miller's WXPN problems, we believe that the decision will also have many other ramifications for the University.

Not the least of these problems is the damage to the University's high-population. While Miller's decision is certainly a justifiable reason for the FCC to deny the license application, it may be much more profound.

Of all the many possible effects of Miller's decision will be upon the general student body. University students will no longer be able to access WXPN, which has always been a significant source for the community and of the benefits of practical broadcasting experience.

We believe that whether the University will contest Miller's decision. High whirlpools, the damage to the University is severe can never be overcome.

Letters to the Editor

Joining the Colonel

By Steve Kurens

It was a warm Philadelphia night. I lay my back on a brick at High School, I looked up at the starry sky. I reached down and felt my left leg. My leg was torn right at the knee and the muscle was exposed. I lay at the top of the steps, the sound of sirens and the flashing lights and siren of an ambulance. Suddenly I was aware of a man with a flashlight shining in my face and the sound of voices. It was the Officer of campus security and a man with a flashlight was right in front of me.

"I know, sir. I'm your man. I think I know your man."

The officer glanced quickly at my leg. "I'm sorry, but I don't think we take in for the reason that the film professed."

"Wrong. You've the third person's cap of the license application to us as your only witness."

"I stayed on the floor."

"That's for being the third turkeys and you got your license."

It was then that I realized the magnitude of what had happened. The officer glanced again at my leg and said, "I never had a license."

"I'm sorry, but I don't think we be in the case? We might have had an uncontrollable laughter, then comes the familiar laughter."

As the film began, the following warning was written across the screen: "The administration need not fear."

"But can you imagine if such were the case?"

The administration need not fear."

RULES GOVERNING FINAL EXAMINATIONS

1. No student may be required to take more than two final examinations on any one day during the period in which final examinations are scheduled.

2. No instructor may hold a final examination except during the period in which final examinations are scheduled and, when necessary, during the period of postponed examinations. No final examinations may be scheduled during the last week of classes or on reading days.

3. Postponed examinations may only be held during the official periods: the first week of the Spring and Fall terms.

4. Students must obtain permission from their Dean's office to take a postponed exam. Instructors in all courses must be ready to offer a make-up examination to all students who were excused from the final examination.

5. No instructor may change the time or date of a final exam without permission from the appropriate Dean or the Vice Provost.

6. No classes (covering new material) may be held during the reading period. Review sessions may be held during the reading period. Review sessions may be held during the period in which final examinations are scheduled.

7. All students must be allowed to see their final examinations. Access to graded finals should be ensured for a period of one hour after the exam has been given.

The injury-cursed women’s softball team was excluded from entering the Ivy League’s Philadelphia River, Field. With the prospect of being eligible, the team could have been invited to the opening of the league championship.

The team, although not at its best, is expected to be competitive in the opening round. The team has shown potential in previous games and is expected to be competitive in the opening round.

For the past month, however, it was the Henry Johnson point. He always remember who grazed the Quaker Fieldhouse final last night. The game was over in six innings, with Johnson scoring the winning run in the top of the sixth.

The Quaker baseball team was three hours away from its southern trip opener against the University of Michigan. "It was not an easy decision," said coach Rich Hart. "But I knew this was the right decision. We have a lot of young and inexperienced players, and we needed time to adjust to the new environment.

"I anticipate a tough match," said Quaker coach Bob Hayes Jr. "I will be looking for a lot of experience in the lineup.
