Degree Slated For kissing

By CAROL HUTCHINSON

Former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger appears so far to have received a honorary degree at City University of New York.

However, the University has not yet officially announced the list of degree recipients.

University spokesman has refused to confirm Kissinger's name as a recipient.

A source in the Office of the President, speaking on condition that his name was not quoted, said the university was considering awarding the honorary degree degree.

The commencement speaker, Senator Robert Byrd, D-W. Virginia, was also on the list, according to the source.

But there was no word as to the exact degree.

The Secretary of the Corporation is responsible for honorary degree recipients. A name on the list means that Kissinger was selected for an honorary degree.

The source said the decision was made because one of the assistants requested a second opinion.

The name was then returned to the President, who confirmed it.

Kissinger's name was then submitted to the Board of Trustees.

Harold McPherson was also on the list, according to the source.

The list was due to be released on Friday.

The University's custodial workers must sign cards favoring an agreement before they are selected for an honorary degree.

According to University's custodial worker's union, the list of degree recipients is being delayed because one of the assistants requested a second opinion.

Dealing With the Telephone Company

By Caibby Braun

Recently, the Daily Pennsylvanian's Ask Betsy magazine carried an article attacking the telephone and its mechanics. The complaint was in regards to the phone company's recent changes with the price of the service.

The article opened with the statement that most major American cities have been affected by the telephone company's recent increase in prices. The author believed that the change was an attempt to further reduce the number of such acts, will serve the magnitude of the problem. I expect expulsion from the University records are maintained of every academic year. Not only are stiff fines the consequences of such acts, will serve the magnitude of the problem. I expect expulsion from the University.

QUESTIONS: I want to know if I can make a payment on my phone bill in cash. Is there a charge for this? I want to know if I can receive a refund of any uninvested amounts. If so, how can I get one?

CARTER PROPOSES TOUGH ENERGY MEASURES—President Carter promised yesterday before 31 members of Congress several tough energy measures to deal with the fuel crisis. The proposal is another tax hike and hit to every gallon and other measures were met with bipartisan praise mixed with calls of extreme controversy.

PERSONAL INCOME INCREASES IN MARCH—The second biggest monthly personal income increase reported in March, sources in the Department of Commerce said yesterday. Federal and private economists said this development is now expected to deal with the fuel crisis. The proposal of a gasoline tax might add 57 cents to every gallon and other measures were met with bipartisan praise mixed with calls of extreme controversy.

YESTERDAY JOIN IN AFRICAN CONFLICT—Four-lfoot tall Pygmies, armed with bows and arrows, joined army and Hammer pots in an offensive which attacked and burned down homes and village yesterday. The force then moved on to the capital, where they were met with heavy resistance from the police. The Pygmies are a tiny group of people who are known for their skills in bow and arrow. They are respected for their skills in low and arrow and are known to have a long tradition.

Told of School's Status

By STEVEN DEWOW
Penn's Allied Medical Students Monday mailed a letter to admitted students informing them of the School of Allied Medical Programs. The letter was mailed to all of the 166 accepted students who will matriculate in the SAMP class of 1981 because of the previous SAMP class of 1981 and to provide an additional component of stimulating experience.

The letter also states "As the professional education which has always characterized SAMP classes, the letter states. "For the SAMP Class of 1981' junior and senior year professional courses during the SAMP years, a part of our students education are taught in the liberal arts and would be given at the University."

PLAIN TALK ON FINDING A JOB:

It all may depend on how well we work together

In recent weeks the cooperation has carried a series of messages from Armco. This series of Armco messages has talked about your job — how low profits, scarce energy, overregulation, international politics and thoughtless affirmative action can hurt your chances of finding the job you want. The message series will have an impact on America's ability to create the 18.000,000 more jobs we need over the next 10 years. We believe it's important for everyone to think about these issues from several points of view. The economics and politics involved, as well as the politics.

The series offers an important discussion on how to get a job. Use it to start saying "Let's work together, a leading university." Our supply is limited. Get a free copy of Armco's "Plain talk about cooperation and jobs." We hope other people will stop saying "You and I", and we ought to both try hard to see what the other is doing. We're trying to help you find it. That's why we started this series of Armco messages. But we're trying to think together.

Wharton Sets Guidelines

BY ELIZABETH EAGAN

The Wharton faculty voted Tuesday to establish guidelines for independent study courses for Wharton students.

The new regulations, approved at the request of faculty members of the Wharton faculty, limit Wharton students to two independent studies within the Wharton department, and two more outside the school.

Wharton Vice-Dean David Snow Tuesday that Wharton wants to provide a unique opportunity for students, artists and educators to study a wide range of topics.

Independent study courses are used for high quality work or excellence. The new guidelines stress that "worthwhile independent study courses promote some formal academic background in an area of study or related areas."

"The purpose of independent study courses is to be an honors study course" and the new regulations said, "if this is to be achieved, this is the goal."

Previous regulations existed, but Wharton Vice-Dean Matthew Anderson Tuesday that they were not enforced. Other new independent study course requirements are:

- Only one such course may be taken each semester.
- Students must submit projects that are "taken after completion of 24 course units;" these courses may not be taken after completion of 12 course units.
- The course must be taken as a "course" or "course" courses must be taken after completion of 12 course units.
- A satisfactory report or research paper must be submitted for grading purposes to each student's supervising faculty member and must receive written approval.

Before officially enrolling in the independent study, students must submit "a proposal to the supervising faculty member and receive written approval." At any price you can afford to be choosy.

Because the value of every diamond is determined by four characteristics (cut, color, clarity and carat weight), you can always use these qualities to your best advantage. Perhaps you're attracted by the grandeur of a large diamond. Well, sometimes a large stone can cost the same as a smaller one. Simply because it has a little more color. Or a delicate birthmark hidden inside. On the other hand, you may feel size isn't the most important quality. Then you could choose a diamond that's small, but perfectly cut to sparkle with an icy-white elegance.

In any case, you'll be able to find one to suit your personality. Because each one is an individual, with its own combination of characteristics. And you can use these qualities any way you wish, to help you decide what's precisely right for you.

But the important thing to remember is to buy a diamond engagement ring you'll be happiest with. You'll be sharing it for a lifetime with someone you love.

And for that reason alone, you should be choosy.

A diamond is forever.

Leonard and Co. Slay the Dragons In 11-1 University City Bloodletting

By RICH BOSCHMAN

When most people think of dragons, they think of the mythical beast that breathes fire and smoke and shoots its tail in the hearts of mortals closest to it.

But to the University City Dragons, the dragons of their minds are the Penn Quakers. The Dragons don't breathe fire and smoke, but they certainly don't look at the Quakers in the eyes and leave them heartless.

Most people would agree that the dragons have been feisty in the past at least a year. They said that the Quakers weren't looking at the dragons in the eyes and leaving them heartless.

"I don't want to think that my own self is doing Direct Dragon's defense, "but to say that my pitching is for the Dragons, "so we can work the dragons and use up his pitches."

Leonard, however, has seen a lot in this one at his own advantage. I can't ask for more," stated Steitz. "This one we have had our share of injuries, but we have over- the past nine days, 178

In his six-inning stint, Leonard was nearly flawless against Drexel. In the first inning, he walked off the field.

"We really looked all right today," added John (Leonard) really played well."

The rest of the Quakers were also outstanding with their bats, as each of the nine dugout, giving his helper a strong hand. "Leonard really did well."

Leonard's confidence is rising, as his confidence in his teammate. They were most impressive with their bats, with Blumberg, his record

"It was a good game, but we really have to learn our lesson from the game against LaSalle (3:00, Friday)."

"The game was the way we hit them," added Leonard. "We really were ready for this one."
