Federal Judge Bars Strikers At Work Sites

By STEVEN A. MARQUEZ

The American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations (AFL-CIO) has threatened a temporary injunction hearing Thursday in Philadelphia to halt all Pick蕙 by striking workers at two city construction projects where, according to the union, work has been disrupted by sympathy strikes.

The AFL-CIO, which has declined to name the projects, has threatened to file a temporary injunction under the federal labor law against construction companies operating in Philadelphia and surrounding areas if the companies fail to agree to put a halt to such strikes.

Construction companies have been operating in the area since the AFL-CIO began operations in the late 1960s. The union has accused the companies of engaging in "sensitive" or "inappropriate" practices, which the union has identified as "sensitive," or "inappropriate" practices.

The AFL-CIO said in a statement that it had issued a statement that will upset the Faculty Senate that the Faculty Senate will hold a meeting on April 4 to deny the station's license.

Exercising a World Financial Recovery

By Lawrence Klein

A world recovery is in full swing and intact for 1977 and 1978. The rate of inflation is coming in a very gradual, first-order scale, and it appears that the world business cycle is still alive.

The United States is forecast for the Western European Forecasting Center is bullish for 1977 and 1978, but the American economy is still on a cyclical downswing. In the United States, the economy is still in a recession. The forecast for 1977 and 1978 is less optimistic, but it is still a positive outlook for the United States economy.

The United States economy is expected to grow at a rate of 4% to 5% for West Germany and France, but the growth rate of Italy is expected to be lower, at 3% to 4%. The growth rate of Japan is also expected to be lower, at 2% to 3%.

Zero Mostel Dies—Actor Zero Mostel, famous for his starring Broadway role in Fiddler on the Roof, died yesterday at Thomas Jefferson Hospital in Philadelphia at the age of 62. A spokesman for the hospital said Mostel died of a cardiac disorder. He had been admitted to the hospital Saturday apparently suffering from a virus and was released on Sunday. He was readmitted later that day complaining of feeling ill. Mostel was in Philadelphia to star in a production of The Merchant, which was canceled last week after he became ill.

SOUTH MOLUCCAN STRIKE AGAIN—South Moluccan youths protesting the trial of eight comrades charged with rioting last May in a trial in Indonesia set fire to three kindergartens and a red cross station yesterday and opened fire on police and rioters. Officials said one policeman was shot in the stomach but was removed from the critical list after surgery.

Drug Test on Humans Scrapped—The National Cancer Institute (NCI) has decided to sidestep a proposed test of laetrile in humans and will instead seek evidence of effectiveness in cancer patients already taking the controversial substance, Deputy Director Guy Newell said yesterday. Newell said specialists from the NCI will meet today to decide how to carry out a study of laetrile in some of the estimated 50,000 Americans now being treated with it.

Governors Discuss Energy—Governors from the Northeast and Southwest grumbled yesterday about shortcomings in President Carter's energy program, but apparently were not ready to formally condemn it at their 69th Annual Meeting, held in Detroit. Excepting the energy issue, the National Governors Conference was a ringing endorsement of the administration's programs.

The seven Democratic mayoral candidates spent more than $3 million in the four-month period ending June 30, according to Federal Election Commission reports. The seven candidates accounted for more than $2 million in spending in the race, up from $1.5 million in the first quarter of the year.

Toomey was one of the candidates who did not spend all of his campaign funds in the race. Toomey's hands and five months of radio work at Drexel University, has been named interim station manager. By primary day, a fifth of the electorate was still reported uncommitted. But New York's financial woes did play a major part in shaping the outcomes.
