SAMP Students Get Guarantees In Open Letter

By RICHARD E. GORDON

A Faculty subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Priority, said he has been speaking with the University Trustees, who have agreed to meet with them this week. The statement issued by the Trustees' Executive Board last spring by Life Trustee John Ware. (Continued on page 5)

Five Colleges In State Lobby in Harrisburg; U. Allocation At Stake

CN Then Proprietor of The Onion Bar

In an open letter sent out Friday, President Bruce Johnstone. The statement withdraws the title of Professor Emeritus that was recently added to the President's title. The University Trustees' Executive Board approved the final draft over the objections of the faculty, which was never consulted during the preparation and implementation of the report. The President and Provost submitted a revised version of the report, which was approved by the Trustees last week. The statement on the new campus is backed by the University's decision to increase the size of its faculty to 350. The Senate Committee on Priority, which is responsible for the recommendation, said it will continue to be offered through June 1983. The Senate expects its members to have worked out a way to increase the number of students in the University to 3,800. (Continued on page 7)

Ware House Should Be Finished In Four Weeks, Says Spokesman

By JEFFREY N. BARKER

ROBERT LUCID

Horn called out to passersby, asking them to join the parade. The former site of The Onion was without incident. Occasionally, people would stop to watch the parade, but the majority of people just continued on their way. The parade was well received by the community, with a large group of people in front of the store. The store had a sign outside that said "The Onion Bar is Open" and was decorated with lights and flags. (Continued on page 7)

U. Faculty Halts Trustees' Report On Restructuring Administration

By ELIZABETH SANGER

The group, which formed last month, seeks to mobilize and inform students in order to stem the tide ofنقاط the University's administration was forced to take drastic measures to save the university. The group, which is called "The Onion Group," was formed by upperclassmen who were concerned about the future of the university and its students. The group's goal is to work with the administration and the trustees to find a way to save the university. The group has been working on a plan to save the university, and they have been meeting with faculty members and students to discuss their ideas. (Continued on page 7)

Former Proprietor of Onion Bar

The University's decision to increase the size of its faculty to 350 has been welcomed by the University faculty. The University Trustees' Executive Board approved the final draft over the objections of the faculty, which was never consulted during the preparation and implementation of the report. The President and Provost submitted a revised version of the report, which was approved by the Trustees last week. The statement on the new campus is backed by the University's decision to increase the size of its faculty to 350. The Senate Committee on Priority, which is responsible for the recommendation, said it will continue to be offered through June 1983. The Senate expects its members to have worked out a way to increase the number of students in the University to 3,800. (Continued on page 7)

Night Game, Concert Sets Crowd Spawning

By STEVE DICKINSON

It was business as usual Friday afternoon at the I. and S. Tavern where Daily Staff works. With the sun setting, a group of students gathered outside the tavern to watch the parade. The parade was well received by the community, with a large group of people in front of the store. The store had a sign outside that said "The Onion Bar is Open" and was decorated with lights and flags. (Continued on page 7)

PENSIONAL

By CAROL HUTCHINSON

The reason for all the festivities was the debt-ridden sports department's first win in its 14-year history. The win was a thrilling 17-7 victory over Temple in front of a packed crowd at Franklin Field. The win was a result of the efforts of the football team, which had been struggling through a difficult season. The team had been working hard to improve their play, and their hard work finally paid off. (Continued on page 7)

Dogs and Doctors Dig in at the official groundbreaking ceremony for the new Veterinary School held Monday afternoon at the University of Pennsylvania. The school will be built on a site near the campus of the College of Veterinary Medicine at 18th and Spruce Streets. The groundbreaking is the first step in the construction of the new school, which is scheduled to open in 1984. (Continued on page 5)
Landscape Plan Created to Unify Campus Expansion

By ERIC JACOBS

"...at the University of Pennsylvania, as in practically every other institution of its size, growth has proceeded without plan and through very secrecy..."

By UPHS Landscape Architect George Shepheard and his colleagues, a new landscape plan has been created to unify campus expansion.

Monday, September 19, 1977

The plan was introduced in the fall of 1976, and was developed in response to the University's need to expand its physical facilities. The plan is a comprehensive approach to landscape planning, with the goal of creating a cohesive and attractive environment for students and staff.

ARTIST'S VIEW OF HILL HOUSE FIELD

As it appears now and in an artist's conception after relandscaping, with diagonal path towards Drexel Campus. Hill House is at far right in both views.

VIEW OF HILL HOUSE FIELD

As it appears now and in an artist's conception after relandscaping, with diagonal path towards Drexel Campus. Hill House is at far right in both views.

FREE DIAMOND PROMOTION

With The Purchase Of ANY College Ring

by KANE

See your Kane sales representative or visit the Kane display in your bookstore.

Diamonds are forever. A genuine single cut diamond is simply a diamond cut in a chip. Nothing is more durable, and nothing is more enduring. And a diamond is a diamond in every single cut.

Monday, Tuesday & Wednesday

September 19, 20, 21

The Kane Representative will be in the Bookstore from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. on th: above 8 days!

A $10.00 Deposit is Required. Delivery will be 6 to 8 weeks.

Special Rings For Engineering, Medicine, Dentistry, Wharton School

WOMEN SWIMMERS AND DIVERS

Introductory Meeting

Tuesday, September 20 7 P.M.

Donaldson Weightman Hall

Team Members And Those Interested In Joining The Team Are Asked To Attend!

FENCING TEAMS

Candidates For All Intercollegiate Teams (Men, Women, Varsity, J.V.)

Meet At Wm. White Training House (333.) at 7:30 Tuesday

Bring Class Schedule

UNDERRADUATE ASSEMBLY

Meeting 7:30 P.M. H.H.

TUESDAY, WITH FOREST WOOD

OFF-BROADWAY SERIES

Zellerbach Theatre

1220 S. College Ave.

RESERVATIONS (215) 243-6791

WORK STUDENT ASST for Mail Room Assistant

Accepts students who have some experience in office work, preferably data processing, typing, word processing.

ANNENBERG CENTER

Contact: Where there is no receptionist, there is no Annenberg Center.

1150 S. College Ave.

Contact: Where there is no receptionist, there is no Annenberg Center.
Analyzing the Strike

The following are excerpts from an interview with Dr. Donald Safford, a professor of Economics and Management at the University of Pennsylvania. It was recorded on the morning of September 28, 1977.

"If you're going to share divergence, perhaps we should start with the President and reduce everyone's wages to encompass the cost of housekeeping employees which might mean less than a one percent cut across the board."

The Battle of Words

Revealing the PR War Machines

By Peter L. Chapman

The University says their losing money on the housekeeping employees which could have been avoided if the President had reduced everyone's wages to encompass the cost of housekeeping employees which might mean less than a one percent cut across the board.

The University has seen fit to publish a full-page ad in this week's issue of the Daily Pennsylvanian. The ad is a response to the Teamsters' recent protests over the University's decision to reduce the wages of housekeeping employees.

The University claims that the decision to reduce wages was made in response to a decline in the University's revenue, which has affected the budget for housekeeping services. The University states that by reducing wages, they hope to save money and improve the overall financial situation of the University.

On the other hand, the Teamsters Union argues that the decision to reduce wages was made without proper consultation with the unions and that it would have a negative impact on the lives of the housekeeping employees. The Teamsters Union also claims that the University's decision was made in an effort to avoid conflicts with the Teamsters, which could have implications for future negotiations.

The University says their losing money on the housekeeping employees which could have been avoided if the President had reduced everyone's wages to encompass the cost of housekeeping employees which might mean less than a one percent cut across the board.

The University has seen fit to publish a full-page ad in this week's issue of the Daily Pennsylvanian. The ad is a response to the Teamsters' recent protests over the University's decision to reduce the wages of housekeeping employees.

The University claims that the decision to reduce wages was made in response to a decline in the University's revenue, which has affected the budget for housekeeping services. The University states that by reducing wages, they hope to save money and improve the overall financial situation of the University.

On the other hand, the Teamsters Union argues that the decision to reduce wages was made without proper consultation with the unions and that it would have a negative impact on the lives of the housekeeping employees. The Teamsters Union also claims that the University's decision was made in an effort to avoid conflicts with the Teamsters, which could have implications for future negotiations.

The University says their losing money on the housekeeping employees which could have been avoided if the President had reduced everyone's wages to encompass the cost of housekeeping employees which might mean less than a one percent cut across the board.

The University has seen fit to publish a full-page ad in this week's issue of the Daily Pennsylvanian. The ad is a response to the Teamsters' recent protests over the University's decision to reduce the wages of housekeeping employees.

The University claims that the decision to reduce wages was made in response to a decline in the University's revenue, which has affected the budget for housekeeping services. The University states that by reducing wages, they hope to save money and improve the overall financial situation of the University.

On the other hand, the Teamsters Union argues that the decision to reduce wages was made without proper consultation with the unions and that it would have a negative impact on the lives of the housekeeping employees. The Teamsters Union also claims that the University's decision was made in an effort to avoid conflicts with the Teamsters, which could have implications for future negotiations.

The University says their losing money on the housekeeping employees which could have been avoided if the President had reduced everyone's wages to encompass the cost of housekeeping employees which might mean less than a one percent cut across the board.

The University has seen fit to publish a full-page ad in this week's issue of the Daily Pennsylvanian. The ad is a response to the Teamsters' recent protests over the University's decision to reduce the wages of housekeeping employees.

The University claims that the decision to reduce wages was made in response to a decline in the University's revenue, which has affected the budget for housekeeping services. The University states that by reducing wages, they hope to save money and improve the overall financial situation of the University.

On the other hand, the Teamsters Union argues that the decision to reduce wages was made without proper consultation with the unions and that it would have a negative impact on the lives of the housekeeping employees. The Teamsters Union also claims that the University's decision was made in an effort to avoid conflicts with the Teamsters, which could have implications for future negotiations.

The University says their losing money on the housekeeping employees which could have been avoided if the President had reduced everyone's wages to encompass the cost of housekeeping employees which might mean less than a one percent cut across the board.

The University has seen fit to publish a full-page ad in this week's issue of the Daily Pennsylvanian. The ad is a response to the Teamsters' recent protests over the University's decision to reduce the wages of housekeeping employees.

The University claims that the decision to reduce wages was made in response to a decline in the University's revenue, which has affected the budget for housekeeping services. The University states that by reducing wages, they hope to save money and improve the overall financial situation of the University.

On the other hand, the Teamsters Union argues that the decision to reduce wages was made without proper consultation with the unions and that it would have a negative impact on the lives of the housekeeping employees. The Teamsters Union also claims that the University's decision was made in an effort to avoid conflicts with the Teamsters, which could have implications for future negotiations.

The University says their losing money on the housekeeping employees which could have been avoided if the President had reduced everyone's wages to encompass the cost of housekeeping employees which might mean less than a one percent cut across the board.

The University has seen fit to publish a full-page ad in this week's issue of the Daily Pennsylvanian. The ad is a response to the Teamsters' recent protests over the University's decision to reduce the wages of housekeeping employees.

The University claims that the decision to reduce wages was made in response to a decline in the University's revenue, which has affected the budget for housekeeping services. The University states that by reducing wages, they hope to save money and improve the overall financial situation of the University.

On the other hand, the Teamsters Union argues that the decision to reduce wages was made without proper consultation with the unions and that it would have a negative impact on the lives of the housekeeping employees. The Teamsters Union also claims that the University's decision was made in an effort to avoid conflicts with the Teamsters, which could have implications for future negotiations.

The University says their losing money on the housekeeping employees which could have been avoided if the President had reduced everyone's wages to encompass the cost of housekeeping employees which might mean less than a one percent cut across the board.

The University has seen fit to publish a full-page ad in this week's issue of the Daily Pennsylvanian. The ad is a response to the Teamsters' recent protests over the University's decision to reduce the wages of housekeeping employees.

The University claims that the decision to reduce wages was made in response to a decline in the University's revenue, which has affected the budget for housekeeping services. The University states that by reducing wages, they hope to save money and improve the overall financial situation of the University.

On the other hand, the Teamsters Union argues that the decision to reduce wages was made without proper consultation with the unions and that it would have a negative impact on the lives of the housekeeping employees. The Teamsters Union also claims that the University's decision was made in an effort to avoid conflicts with the Teamsters, which could have implications for future negotiations.

The University says their losing money on the housekeeping employees which could have been avoided if the President had reduced everyone's wages to encompass the cost of housekeeping employees which might mean less than a one percent cut across the board.

The University has seen fit to publish a full-page ad in this week's issue of the Daily Pennsylvanian. The ad is a response to the Teamsters' recent protests over the University's decision to reduce the wages of housekeeping employees.

The University claims that the decision to reduce wages was made in response to a decline in the University's revenue, which has affected the budget for housekeeping services. The University states that by reducing wages, they hope to save money and improve the overall financial situation of the University.

On the other hand, the Teamsters Union argues that the decision to reduce wages was made without proper consultation with the unions and that it would have a negative impact on the lives of the housekeeping employees. The Teamsters Union also claims that the University's decision was made in an effort to avoid conflicts with the Teamsters, which could have implications for future negotiations.

The University says their losing money on the housekeeping employees which could have been avoided if the President had reduced everyone's wages to encompass the cost of housekeeping employees which might mean less than a one percent cut across the board.

The University has seen fit to publish a full-page ad in this week's issue of the Daily Pennsylvanian. The ad is a response to the Teamsters' recent protests over the University's decision to reduce the wages of housekeeping employees.

The University claims that the decision to reduce wages was made in response to a decline in the University's revenue, which has affected the budget for housekeeping services. The University states that by reducing wages, they hope to save money and improve the overall financial situation of the University.

On the other hand, the Teamsters Union argues that the decision to reduce wages was made without proper consultation with the unions and that it would have a negative impact on the lives of the housekeeping employees. The Teamsters Union also claims that the University's decision was made in an effort to avoid conflicts with the Teamsters, which could have implications for future negotiations.

The University says their losing money on the housekeeping employees which could have been avoided if the President had reduced everyone's wages to encompass the cost of housekeeping employees which might mean less than a one percent cut across the board.

The University has seen fit to publish a full-page ad in this week's issue of the Daily Pennsylvanian. The ad is a response to the Teamsters' recent protests over the University's decision to reduce the wages of housekeeping employees.

The University claims that the decision to reduce wages was made in response to a decline in the University's revenue, which has affected the budget for housekeeping services. The University states that by reducing wages, they hope to save money and improve the overall financial situation of the University.

On the other hand, the Teamsters Union argues that the decision to reduce wages was made without proper consultation with the unions and that it would have a negative impact on the lives of the housekeeping employees. The Teamsters Union also claims that the University's decision was made in an effort to avoid conflicts with the Teamsters, which could have implications for future negotiations.

The University says their losing money on the housekeeping employees which could have been avoided if the President had reduced everyone's wages to encompass the cost of housekeeping employees which might mean less than a one percent cut across the board.

The University has seen fit to publish a full-page ad in this week's issue of the Daily Pennsylvanian. The ad is a response to the Teamsters' recent protests over the University's decision to reduce the wages of housekeeping employees.

The University claims that the decision to reduce wages was made in response to a decline in the University's revenue, which has affected the budget for housekeeping services. The University states that by reducing wages, they hope to save money and improve the overall financial situation of the University.

On the other hand, the Teamsters Union argues that the decision to reduce wages was made without proper consultation with the unions and that it would have a negative impact on the lives of the housekeeping employees. The Teamsters Union also claims that the University's decision was made in an effort to avoid conflicts with the Teamsters, which could have implications for future negotiations.

The University says their losing money on the housekeeping employees which could have been avoided if the President had reduced everyone's wages to encompass the cost of housekeeping employees which might mean less than a one percent cut across the board.

The University has seen fit to publish a full-page ad in this week's issue of the Daily Pennsylvanian. The ad is a response to the Teamsters' recent protests over the University's decision to reduce the wages of housekeeping employees.

The University claims that the decision to reduce wages was made in response to a decline in the University's revenue, which has affected the budget for housekeeping services. The University states that by reducing wages, they hope to save money and improve the overall financial situation of the University.

On the other hand, the Teamsters Union argues that the decision to reduce wages was made without proper consultation with the unions and that it would have a negative impact on the lives of the housekeeping employees. The Teamsters Union also claims that the University's decision was made in an effort to avoid conflicts with the Teamsters, which could have implications for future negotiations.
U. To Establish Italian Studies Center

By ELIZABETH WILSON

The University has moved to set up a center that will provide a venue for Italian studies and scholarly research at the University, according to Robert Duvall, associate vice president for the Faculty of Arts and Sciences. "There is need for a center at this University," Duvall said. According to Duvall, expressions of faculty interest in Italian studies, along with growing interests in the study of Italian language, faculty members, and graduate student interest in being face to the field of Italian culture, along with a heightened interest in heritage and ethnic culture, due to the Bicentennial, were some of the reasons that brought about the idea of creating a center. An Italian House for students who wanted to live in an area where only Italian was spoken and where Italian-American community, both from abroad and friends of the University, Duvall and Frisby.

Contribution to Italian studies and scholarship research on campus.

Dean Vartan Gregorian said the program of Italian Studies, "FAS (Faculty of Arts and Sciences) will provide a focus for coordination of Italian-American community, both from abroad and friends of the University, Duvall and Frisby.

Onion Bar Memorial

(Continued from page 1)

Dressed in a black suit, Margie's boyfriend walked at the tail end of the group. He said he had come along to make sure the service "did not get locked up" by police.

But at Tech HI we invite you to some play any of the 70 brands of quality components we have on display. Not just look at them.

Once Again...

THE FALL KICK OFF!!

First Blood Drive Of The Year

Houston Hall Wednesday & Thursday Sept. 21st & 22 nd 10:00-5:30 P.M.

Freshmen-TRY ANDERS: A GREAT way of meeting new people and getting Connecting opportunities to old friends

So Come On Down & Give The Gift Of Life

It only takes a half hour of your time and ONE pint! Join us and you and your family BLOOD DONOR Coverage for one a year should fit in every need over ever.

The Student Committee For The Disabled Needs Your HELP

So That We Can Give Help.

Come To A Short Meeting Which Will Be Followed By A Wine And Cheese Reception On Tuesday Sept. 20 At 4:00 in The Harrison House (High Rise South) Rooftop Lounge.

For More Information Call Our Office In Irvine Aud At X 4638 Or Steve Cohen At 387-4817.

Tech HI offers you 70 brands. And soundrooms to play them in.

If your budget is around $600, one of the systems you might want to try this week features the powerful Pioneer D-10. The receiver, reliable Garrard AM/FM receiver, turntable, three-way speaker system, and Fisher cartridge. It's a great-sounding system. But don't take our word for it.

Come play it this week at the Tech HI near you.

NOW

is the time to complete your resume. Although it may seem early, interviews start soon and you will want to have your resumes ready to show prospective employers and to mail to others.

DP Graphics

is the place to go.

• Close, campus location: you don't have to trek all over the place.

• Real typesetting: We are equipped with fast, modern phototypesetting computers for the production of any offset printing. And we offer a variety of popular and attractive typefaces to suit your individual needs.

• Reliability and Experience: DP GRAPHICS has been typesetting for several years. We are professionals in our field and have a proud reputation for our work. We are not new to the resume business.

• Hundreds of satisfied resume customers.

• Sample resumes to help you choose your resume design.

• Great prices. Just compare us to others and look at the difference.

DP Graphics provides you with the highest quality resume at the lowest possible price.

When you are preparing your resume, please give us a call or walk over to our offices at 4015 Walnut St. on the second floor. We can probably save you quite a bit of money.
U. Judiciary Survives Despite Its Low Profile

By LARRY FREEDMAN
You probably see nothing of cheating and watering disciplinary actions. It is related in our daily lives, but you are not aware of it. Security changes very quickly, and the situation is becoming more and more complicated. Probably you will be confronted with the need to manage a case and not in a way you expected. For instance, an outline to In this paper, we focus on the relationship between the University Judiciary and the courts. We analyze the role of the University Judiciary System in handling cases and the impact of its decisions on the University's academic community.

We examine the procedural and substantive aspects of University Judiciary cases. We also discuss the implications of these cases for the University's policies and practices.

We argue that the University Judiciary System serves an important function in the University's academic community by providing a fair and impartial mechanism for resolving disputes that arise within the University. However, we also point out that the University Judiciary System faces several challenges, including, among others, the need for greater transparency and accountability to the University's constituents.

We conclude that the University Judiciary System is a vital component of the University's academic community and plays an essential role in maintaining the University's academic standards and integrity.
State Appropriation

(Continued from page 1)

The $31.8 million in federal educational education is the most important priority we have, and the Congress was told that the General Assembly must appropriate funds so that both sections will join together to meet this need.

It is a joint letter to legislators signed by University President Hartzell Mcclintosh and the Presidents of the faculty, the students, the staff, and the alumni, and it was sent to the members of the General Assembly.

The letter was sent to the members of the General Assembly in order to state the University's position on the budget crisis that has been faced by the University, and to call for a bipartisan solution to the budget crisis.

The letter expresses the University's concern about the current crisis and its effects on the University, and it states that both parties must work together to solve the budget crisis.

The letter also states that the University's position on the budget crisis is not influenced by political affiliation, and that it is a bipartisan solution that is needed.

Report on Administration

(Continued from page 1)

The statement advocates an effort to reduce the number of committees of the University, and focuses on lobbying and public information efforts.

The statement also advocates for the establishment of a joint position with the Director of Commonwealth Relations James Shada, and requests that the Trustees express no resistance to the subcommittee's recommendations.

The statement proposes that the Trustees' report suggested the establishment of a joint position with the Director of Commonwealth Relations James Shada, and requests that the Trustees express no resistance to the subcommittee's recommendations.

Ware House

(Continued from page 1)

The statement advocates an effort to reduce the number of committees of the University, and focuses on lobbying and public information efforts.

The statement also advocates for the establishment of a joint position with the Director of Commonwealth Relations James Shada, and requests that the Trustees express no resistance to the subcommittee's recommendations.

Spinners Concert

(Continued from page 1)

The statement advocates an effort to reduce the number of committees of the University, and focuses on lobbying and public information efforts.

The statement also advocates for the establishment of a joint position with the Director of Commonwealth Relations James Shada, and requests that the Trustees express no resistance to the subcommittee's recommendations.

Classified Advertising

1. All classified ads for publication are paid in advance.
2. First Insertion, $.75 up to 15 words. $.05, each additional word.
3. Additional insertions, ordered at the same time, $.15 up to 15 words. $.05 each additional word.
4. Deadline, 3 P.M., 2 publishing days preceding.
5. Ads must be paid in full at time of placement.
6. We must have two days notice to cancel an ad once it has been placed.

Classifieds are non-commissionable.

Earn $60 Per Month

Donate Blood Plasma

Simple, Convenient & Profitable

Earn Weekly Income While You Study or Relax

Permanent Location

Planned, Comfortable Facilities

INTERSTATE BLOOD BANK

2503 N. BROAD ST.

(215) 228-2343

SPEED READING

Double your reading speed in three short hours Money back guarantee. Only $2.00

E. S. Associates

600 Market St. Philadelphia, Pa. 19103

Remember How Good You Felt When You Were Doing Yoga?

Registration This Week: Introductory Classes For Beginners And Instructions For Experienced Yogis.

Call the SKY Foundation at CHE-4500 or WAD-9616 for details.

The Daily Pennsylvanian
Gridders Dance by Red

BY MARTIN COOPER

At 11:30 Saturday morning, the Ivy League football schedule called for a 1:30 start. In the 25-degree temperatures, the 1,000 spectators were nourished by 300 hot dogs, 250 bottles of pop, and 250 cups of coffee. The players were dressed for the weather.

The Ivy League has been in existence since 1982, but the teams are still looking for the big break. The Quakers have been waiting for years to break through.

The Quakers will be looking for their first victory of the season against Princeton. The game will be played at Saturday afternoon in Franklin Field.

The Princeton Tigers are currently 4-1 in the Ivy League, while the Quakers are 3-2. The game will be a tough one for both teams.

The crowd is expected to be large, and the game will be a close one. The Quakers will have to play their best if they hope to get their first win of the season.

The game will start at 1:30, and is expected to last for three hours.