Growing Computer Crime Problem

Cited at Annenberg Colloquium

BY DAVID B. COHEN
In the University Daily Funding scandal, the senior management of the University was found to be demanding a $7.5 million raise for the computer to steal the huge Reader's Digest subscription list in order to sell the list. An extremely common misuse, he said, is the theft of medical records or financial information which are new.

The second type of computer crime
Morgan cited in this article is a breach of computer service. As Morgan explained in his article, this is the most important type of computer crime. He said it is the most important because it is the type of crime that is the most difficult to detect. While this type of computer crime is the most common, he said, it is the type of crime that is the most difficult to detect.

The third type is the brute force method. If you're thinking about how to br强力 your food reserves, a new

Fatt of the Land is Now Kosher

At Student-Run Butcher Shop

BY JONATHAN GREEN
Many local supermarkets in the town of Robertsdale have a separate section for kosher meats and chicken. The store is owned and operated by Robert Lee Morgan, a former student of the University of Wisconsin. Morgan, a philosopher, said that he decided to open the store because "when I was in college, I felt that there was no way to buy kosher meat and kosher chicken that was not contaminated with the meat of other animals." Morgan said he decided to open the store because he felt there was no way to buy kosher meat and kosher chicken that was not contaminated with the meat of other animals.

SYRIA REJECTS PEACE CONFERENCE PROPOSAL—Syria and yesterday that it would accept East peace talks if the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) is not represented. The statement, which contains a non-committal rejoinder to the American offer of a new Geneva conference, was made in an interview by Syria's foreign minister.

CONGRESS TOLD REPORTS MAY HINDER CONTROL, CANAL—Having a gloomy picture of declining American military power, retired Admiral Elmo Zumwalt predicted yesterday that the Soviet Union may someday control the Panama Canal. Zumwalt added, however, that "it will take them even longer" if the new treaties are ratified. Zumwalt and Gen. Maxwell Taylor, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, both testified in favor of the controversial accords.

PSYCHOLOGIST SAYS CHILDREN MAY IMITATE T.V. VIOLENCE—A psychologist whose testimony would have supported a Florida youth's "insanity by television-intoxication" defense in a Miami murder trial said yesterday that T.V. violence can cause some children to imitate what they see. The psychologist, whose testimony was to have testified last week in Ronny Zamora's trial, but Judge Paul Baker refused to let her testify because he limited testimony to evidence that it will boycott Middle East peace talks if the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) is not represented. The statement, which contains a non-committal rejoinder to the American offer of a new Geneva conference, was made in an interview by Syria's foreign minister.

Innuendo is No Substitute For Objective Journalism

I read Dave Lieber’s “An Interview with the Governor” (Sept. 27) and couldn’t help but wonder about the quality of his reporting. He interviews anyone with some charisma and charm, and then builds a case that’s essentially based on personal political biases.

Lieber states that his goal is to “expose the lies” (op-ed, Sept. 20), but when he quoted me last week in his column, he presented it as if I had lied to him. When I pointed out that this was a misquote, he sat down, patiently explained that my comment had been a “misquote” and that he would print a correction. He did so, quite nicely.

In his column about the University of Pennsylvania’s Middle East Studies Program (Sept. 17), Lieber quoted me as saying that the program “cooperates” with the Iranian government. He further added that I supported their studies in Iran.

I hope university authorities will contact Lieber to verify his facts and correct the inaccuracies.

It was in the fall of 1973 that Peter Dickie, a freshman veteran from Westport, Conn, first began to appreciate the intensity of a Pop Warner season. The game was coming off 6-4, a margin that the players in the St. Peter's Pop Warner League could only dream of. The group was so small that they captured the Pop League title and then went on to claim the quarterfinals of the NCAA playoffs before dropping a heartbreaker to Howard in the finals.

“Perhaps one of the most formative experiences of my life was the intense competition that was present in Pop Warner football,” Dickie said. “I learned that with hard work and dedication, success was within our reach.”

The Pop Warner League has a rich history in the community, dating back to the early 1900s when the game was introduced to the area. The league has produced many successful players who went on to play at the highest levels of football, including the NFL.

To this day, Pop Warner football remains a popular and beloved part of the community, providing young athletes with the opportunity to learn the game and develop important life skills. The league continues to thrive and grow, inspiring new generations of players to follow in the footsteps of those who came before them.
