Fraternity Death Inquest
Reveals Repeated Beatings

BY JONATHAN GREEN

Philadelphia police said Tuesday they had new evidence that the 1976 death of a Penn student at the hands of his fraternity brothers was the result of a series of repeated beatings.

The inquest into the death of 19-year-old Craig Renfrow was held Tuesday at the Philadelphia Museum of Natural History, where the man's body was pulled from a glacier.

Renfrow's body was found with injuries consistent with a repetitive, violent assault.

Prosecutors said they believed Renfrow had been hit with a baseball bat, a hammer, and other objects.

"It was a violent attack," said Detective Chief Robert Ferguson. "There was no mercy."

Gary Pettipas, another Blitzle freshman, recalled that Blitzle, who had been a good student in his first year and had completed all his required courses, dropped out of the fraternity during the Spring 1977 semester. Blitzle also revealed that Blitzle had “dropped out” of the fraternity three days after the pledge period began, but that “Gary Blitzle is Internally motivated and he convinced his fraternity and he convinced his coeds to come back.”

The TI-57. The super slide-rule that’ll get you into programming... fast and easy.

Even if you’ve never programmed before.

For the student who requires slide-rule functions, the TI-57 delivers an exceptional combination of advanced mathematical and statistical capabilities. From functions such as trig, logs, powers, roots and reciprocals...to mean, variance, standard deviation and much more.

As long as you’re in the market for a super slide-rule calculator, why not buy one that can also put the power, speed and convenience of programming at your disposal?

Programming a calculator simply means giving it a long set of instructions for accomplishing what you want it to do. Programming enables you to solve lengthy and repetitive problems quickly by substituting new variables into the set of instructions which you have already entered into the machine.

The end result is more efficient use of your time in problem-solving. All this and more is explained in our unique illustrated, easy-to-follow guidebook, “Making Tracks Into Programming.” Two 108-page books come with each TI-57. It contains simple, step-by-step instructions and examples to help you quickly learn to use programming functions to make your problem-solving faster, more accurate and fun.

The Unwanted Position of the Undergraduate Assembly

The Daily Pennsylvanian is right to editorialize, Jan. 31, that the Undergraduate Assembly acts as a holding tank for the student body’s concerns. The Assembly does not have the ability to categorize these issues. Categories may not be the fault of the students, but they can provide a convenient framework through which to view the world. Those students who are working in favor of the umbrella categories have the most visibility. For instance, students in the category of “travelling” would have less visibility than those in “academic.”

The Physical Plant, the athletic office and the Energy Office are collaborating as a unique effort to save time, fuel and money on campus this winter. Instead of plowing the snow from the sidewalks after every snowfall, they plan to allow the entire campus to freeze into a ¼ inch thick layer of ice. This will save time, fuel and money on campus.

Smokey Joe’s To Move

“Or the block consists of a parking lot around Smokey Joe’s, if necessary,” Murray said. He said that the University would hold the parking lot around Smokey Joe’s, if necessary, and fill in the remainder once the building was razed.

University Director of Engineering

Adams said Monday. "I'm hoping it'll be some day this week." Ryan said Monday. "I'm hoping it'll

Self-Coached Thinclads Win

By GREG STONE

To the minute, the Quaker women's tennis team has been living with the consequences of losing coach Hilda Niebuhr and Denise Llslcy to illness. Under the leadership of new coach Anne Sage, the Quakers have been determined to maintain their winning tradition.

The Quakers were on the ropes against Franklin & Marshall (11-0), but they pulled out a 6-3 victory. The Quakers are now 5-0 on the season and have yet to drop a set this season.

Coach Wetzel feels she might be old-fashioned but she believes in the value of self-coaching. "I try to teach my girls to be athletes, not just players," she said. "They need to understand the game and be able to lead the team in their own way."

The remaining games this season will be a challenge, but the Quakers are determined to continue their winning streak.

Birdwomen and Mermaids Swings and Swim Against Main Line Foes

By CARL TURNER

The women's swimming team of the Pennsylvania Military Academy has been preparing for the upcoming season. This year, they will face some tough competition from the Main Line faves.

Coach Van Housen has been leading the team since its inception, and she has high hopes for this year's season. "We have some strong performers in what Lawlor calls the Eastern Championships," she said.

Ginger Etherldge, Robert Andrews, Robert Epstein, and Denise Llslcy are the leaders of the team, and they have been working hard to prepare for the upcoming season.

The outlook is a positive one for the Quaker Oat girls' team. Bryn Mawr is set to take on Garnet Five today at 4:00 PM, and the Quakers are looking forward to the challenge.

Take on Garnet Five

12-13-78

By ROY HOYD

"It's a turnaround," said coach Lou Ashby as the Quakers emerged from practice in final preparation for January 17's game at Garnet Five. The Quakers have been preparing for this game for weeks, and they are looking forward to the challenge.

"We have a very hard schedule," explained the coach. "After our first two games, we will have a rematch with Garnet Five, which will be a tough test for us."

"We're very proud of our team," she said. "They have worked hard and have shown a lot of improvement this season."

"We will be playing our best game," she added. "We are ready to take on Garnet Five and give it our all."
