Legislators May Cut Off State Appropriation To U.

By ERIK KACOB

SARRSBURG—An impasse between House and Senate leaders last week finally resulted in a tentative agreement to fund the University for the next fiscal year.

This is the fifth instance of a possible link between the U. and the University that has been revealed this year.

"This time it's going to be, " I" begin, "we all get along..." University President Martin Meyerson Monday. "And for a guy like me, every little bit helps.

The University's $10 million Program for Eighteen development drive has actually accumulated only $3 million to date, according to an independent audit completed recently. Auditors, the audit, conducted by the certified public accounting firm of Laventhol and Horwath, conclude that there is no evidence to support the claims of the development drive.

Rizzo Becomes Permanent Mayor;
Hizzoner To Abolish City Charter

By ERIK KACOB

Philadelphia Mayor Frank Rizzo has announced his intention to run for a "permanent mayor" today.

"Yes, without the charter, Mr. Rizzo will be de facto in office until the year 2000," he said. Democratic Party chairman Martin Menginger toplined reporters in the "inaugural news conference" Monday.

"There may be only sixteen years to office until the year 2000, he will be in the most "permanent mayoral" in the City of Philadelphia," he said.

"I have been long expected to challenge the charter in order to get a term limit for office. Making our permanent, or very short, re-

Rizzo has not commented directly on the possible fateful Monday. "Well, I tried to get in the phone, but I just couldn't get through," he said. "I'd like to see if the mayor is there, and I just haven't seen any major changes in the office since," he said.

The City Charter analysts will hopefully be accomplished because of a "populist mayor," as Mr. Rizzo is known. The "populist mayor" is defined as one whose budget is adopted with no opposition. The report states that an "independent audit" has been completed in accordance with a legal obligation to independent audit companies.

PlanToMove U. Unveiled; Long Island Site Likely

BY ROY BISEL
University administrators will unveil this afternoon a proposal to move the university to Long Island. The new campus will be a self-contained 200-acre site in the Great Neck area, 15 miles away from the University's campus in Philadelphia.

The plan is expected to be implemented within the next five years, and will involve the construction of a new academic complex, a residential college, and a variety of support services.

The proposed campus will be designed to accommodate the needs of the university's growing student population, and will include state-of-the-art facilities for teaching, learning, and research.

University President Martin Meyerson said at a press conference today, "This is a exciting new direction for the university, and we are confident that it will provide a strong foundation for the future of Higher Ed in Pennsylvania.

Officials Propose Firings Of Women, Minorities

By Anne Marie Stein
In reaction to a New York Times article that claimed that the university had one of the most ethnically diverse faculties in the country, university administrators have announced plans to fire several members of the women's and minorities' groups.

The university has announced plans to fire several members of the women's and minorities' groups. The administration has said that the firings are necessary to maintain the university's diversity.

Other reactions ranged anywhere from amusement to indifference to outrage. "Son of Program for the Eighties"—is counted as "District of America". Ray Troc the owner of the Troc, who requested anonymity, "We hope to see this go of without any problems.

Rohman has said the main campus will not be affected by the moves, but that the Long Island Site is a "new chapter" in the university's history. "This is a exciting new direction for the university, and we are confident that it will provide a strong foundation for the future of Higher Ed in Pennsylvania.

But the women's and minorities' groups have reacted with outrage. "We've been double-crossed! It's an outrage!" screamed the President of the Women's Center Monday night. "We won't be moved to the Bio Building." Greenberg giggled. "I'm going to the Bio Building office will be the new home of the offices of the university's top administrators.

"That shouldn't be any problem," Greenberg said. "We're not going to move the administration building, and we're not going to move the dining services."

The plan was introduced by President Martin Meyerson at a press conference, where he said, "We are committed to providing an excellent education for all students, regardless of their background."

"We're going to offer more resources to our students, and we're going to make sure that everyone has access to the same opportunities," Meyerson said.

Administrators Renege on Local 11 Contract

BY LAUREN FRANKLIN
A surprise move, University administrators announced this evening that they would not honor the Local 11 contract, which is currently the number one union contract in the school.

The move, announced by Vice President for Administration D. McFate, came after the union members voted unanimously to accept the proposal.

"We made the move after considering the options available to us," McFate said. "We feel that this is the best course of action for the university."
Bye, Bye, Martin

It is very difficult to put into words how this newspaper feels about President Martin Meyerson now that he plans to leave the University, which has been his home for nearly a decade.

His accomplishments have been great, but his effect on the students appears to be one of gratitude and loneliness. The student body as a whole has not been able to understand what he has done for the University, because he is not a student himself. He is a president and a leader, not a student and a friend.

We disagree. Marty Meyerson was fooled. He would never cause us to lose our idealism, our love of the University, or our respect for him. He tells us how he has assembled a great group of deans at the University. We believe him. He tells us of the great group of deans he has assembled at the University. We believe him. He is irreplacable, stated Dr. Meyerson. His accomplishments have been great, at least that is what he says.

We would like to beg Marty to stay with us, to provide us with a few more years of his wise leadership. But that would be unfair. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania needs Marty Meyerson more than the University of Pennsylvania. Maybe by solving the problems of the state, the evil political drama will end, and he will be able to alleviate some of the problems of the University.

There are those among us, the critics, who question his motives. That is what he says. But I believe that he is a great man, and a great president. He is a great leader.

The University of Pennsylvania is a place that has been around for over 200 years. It is a great place. It is a place where people can learn and grow. It is a place where people can make a difference. It is a place where people can be themselves.

We believe that the University of Pennsylvania is a great place. And we believe that Marty Meyerson is the right man to lead it. He is a great man, and a great leader. He is a great president.

We support President Meyerson for Governor of Pennsylvania.

Frankly, we don't know what all the fuss is about. We have been here for five years, and we have never seen anything like this. We have been here for five years, and we have never seen anything like this. We have been here for five years, and we have never seen anything like this.

Now, we are leaving. It is a shame. It is a shame. It is a shame.

The University of Pennsylvania is a great place. It is a place where people can learn and grow. It is a place where people can make a difference. It is a place where people can be themselves.

We believe that the University of Pennsylvania is a great place. And we believe that Marty Meyerson is the right man to lead it. He is a great man, and a great leader. He is a great president.

We support President Meyerson for Governor of Pennsylvania.

The Meyerzon Legacy

Pochos

Rhoden

Cohen

The Meyerzon legacy is one of incomparable wealth and power. It is a legacy that has been passed down through generations, and it is a legacy that will continue to thrive.

Rhoden, the founder of the Meyerzon family, was a man of vision and ambition. He knew that the future belonged to those who were willing to work hard and make sacrifices. Rhoden understood that success was not something that could be achieved overnight. It required hard work, dedication, and a willingness to endure the hardships of life.

Rhoden's legacy continued through his son, Pochos. Pochos was a man of great charisma and leadership. He had a natural ability to inspire those around him, and he was able to motivate them to achieve great things. Pochos was a man who was never afraid to take risks, and he was always willing to stand up for what was right.

The legacy of Rhoden and Pochos continues to this day through the work of their children and grandchildren. The Meyerzon family is a family that is dedicated to serving the community, and they are committed to making the world a better place.

The Meyerzon legacy is a legacy of strength and leadership. It is a legacy that will continue to inspire future generations.
Burbank Off to Uganda In Exchange Program

By STEPHEN A. MARQUIS

The University has decided to end the exchange program it had with the University of East Africa, Kampala, Uganda, after students from the African campus expressed their desire not to continue the arrangement.

The University's announcement was made by President Stephen Burbank, who stated that the decision was made after consultation with the administration of the Ugandan institution.

The exchange program, which had been in place for several years, was designed to allow students from both institutions to study and experience the culture of the other country.

However, Burbank said that the decision was not made lightly and that it was only after careful consideration and discussion with the Ugandan administration that the decision was reached.

The University's Administration has decided that for the current semester, the exchange program will not continue.

Students who are currently participating in the program will be provided with alternative opportunities to pursue their studies in Uganda, according to Burbank.

He added that the University is committed to maintaining strong ties with the University of East Africa, Kampala, and that it will continue to explore ways to foster educational exchange and cooperation with the institution in the future.

Penn Dome To Put U. In Sports Spotlight
By ROY SEIBER
Athletic Director Andy Geiger revealed last week that Penn will construct a new multiplex, "Penndome," to house various athletic activities on campus.

"The Penndome will be a tremendous asset to our athletic department," said Geiger. "It will provide us with a facility that will be the envy of every school in the Ivy League." The cost of building the multiplex is estimated at $15 million.

The multiplex will include a large indoor arena, a swimming pool, a weight room, and a field house. The arena will seat 6,000 spectators and will be used for basketball, volleyball, and wrestling.

"The multiplex will also serve as a recruiting tool," said Geiger. "It will give us a facility that is comparable to those of our major competitors." Geiger added that the multiplex will be completed by the fall of 1981.

The multiplex will be located on the east side of Locust Walk, near the Franklin Field.
