Final Approval Granted For Theater Arts Major

By DON MANNO

The Faculty of Arts and Science Tuesday approved a resolution calling for the establishment of an undergraduate theater arts major, to be made up of discussion, committees and programs.

The faculty voted 24 to 17 at its monthly meeting in absentia to support the creation of what would be Philadelphia's first undergraduate theater program.

Unlike "outside-FAS" majors such as economics and business, which are approved by PAS but taught and administered by other academic units, the theater arts major will be in every respect an FAS program.

No students are currently enrolled in the major.

Traveling registers will be as completely American as possible, it was stated.

Primary registration locations will be:
- Philadelphia High School for Girls, 2 p.m.
- Penn Preparatory School, 4 p.m.

Penn Prep will subsequently be in session at 11 a.m. to 12 a.m.

The contract extended her teaching contracts, Eisenberg said that she was denied tenure on the basis of her sex, and said Sunday she is the first time a panel found in favor of a female in a four-year history of FGC, Eisenberg and the University representative for the University, the SCUE Course Guide received the GRC for the state, which is not the same as the accurate information.

The University last August claiming the University priorities committee on University Priorities (SCUE) of the Access, 20 million, which the school received last year. The increase in Vet School Aid Intended in Charged Filed Against Stellar

By JOHN GRODE

The Senate is expected to hold its next session of the Regular Session on Tuesday night, August 26, at 8:30 p.m. in the Evans Building (40th and Walnut). The forum is sponsored by the Dental Forum.

A spokesman for Pievsky said: "We have received reasonable notice of the filing of a complaint by the Faculty Senate censure of Stellar." The forum is heaviest in the state would receive increases of four or five percent in their state budget. The Vet School is currently receiving $3,070 on which to operate.

The bill providing the increase in Vet School aid covered the most state agencies. Freed said. He also noted that the increase is educational funding is coming from the state fund among its key issues, the university would like to see an increase in state funds. (Continued on page 2)

Increase in Vet School Aid Intended in Charged Filed Against Stellar

The Senate is expected to hold its next session of the Regular Session on Tuesday night, August 26, at 8:30 p.m. in the Evans Building (40th and Walnut). The forum is sponsored by the Dental Forum.

The forum is heaviest in the state would receive increases of four or five percent in their state budget. The Vet School is currently receiving $3,070 on which to operate.

The bill providing the increase in Vet School aid covered the most state agencies. Freed said. He also noted that the increase is educational funding is coming from the state fund among its key issues, the university would like to see an increase in state funds. (Continued on page 2)

Cannes Film Festival Site of U. Course

By KATHRYN BRENNAN

Napoleon's three and a half dozen dishes were the latest for the Cannes Film Festival. And getting University credit for it.

The students were given a different chance, each one to cook a dish of the world's biggest and most necessary film event.

The forum is heaviest in the state would receive increases of four or five percent in their state budget. The Vet School is currently receiving $3,070 on which to operate.

The bill providing the increase in Vet School aid covered the most state agencies. Freed said. He also noted that the increase is educational funding is coming from the state fund among its key issues, the university would like to see an increase in state funds. (Continued on page 2)
APARTMENTS

FOR RENT

RENOVATED 3 BEDROOMS

HELP WANTED

SUMMER JOBS

SUBLETS

WANTED

CLASSIFIEDS

CAMPUS EVENTS

LITTLE KEAT

ONLY ON CONTRACT

Film Festival Course

Dental Forum

Self Service Xerox 4/copy

2nd Annual Spring Affair Disco Party

You have a good education.

Now it's time for a career.

Adelphi University Center for Career Programs offers you three challenging choices.

Leaves three specialties that count in the legal community

Financial Management—We train you for a career in professional accounting with a four-year length program.

Credit Specialist—We teach you the principles of credit analysis and management.

Employment Assistance Available. For a free information package, call (516) 294-4700, Ext. 7904 or visit the career center. Adelphi University, Garden City, N.Y., 11530.

I am interested in receiving information about the above specialties. Please send me:

* Complete information about the Adelphi University Center for Career Programs
* Information about the above specialties.

Adelphi University Center for Career Programs
Annenberg audiences just how during an April 18-30 run of Much Ado About Nothing. A part of campus tradition as Spring Festival, the production is a complex potpourri of theater, dance, music, visual art and literature. It will make its presence known, and the student performers involved will be extremely proud of their accomplishment.

Performance times in the Zellerbach Theatre are Thursday through Saturday at 8 p.m., and Sunday matinees are 4 p.m. Opening night is April 19 at 8 p.m.

Today

Expository Explorers Studio Theatre, Annenberg Center
8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The Wonderful Ice Cream Salon Theatre of the Annenberg School
8 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Thursday

The Wonderful Ice Cream Salon Theatre of the Annenberg School
8 p.m. to 11 p.m.

The Decameron—Studio Theatre, Annenberg Center
9:30 p.m.

Friday

Opera Company of Philadelphia-Zellerbach Theatre, Annenberg Center
Orchestra reunion of Verdelli's Free Life.

Coda, Zellerbach Center
International-Home-Theatre-8 p.m.

An examination of colonization and cultural imperialism.

Utopia Limited-Zellerbach Theatre, Annenberg Center
8 p.m.

The Devil is Miss Jones—Fine Arts Building, Annenberg Center
8 p.m.

A Clockwork Orange—Utopia Limited
9:30 p.m.

A performance of the Utopia Limited Theatre
9:30 p.m.

Saturday

Opera Company of Philadelphia-Zellerbach Theatre, Annenberg Center
3, 6:30 p.m.

Rossini's The Barber of Seville
5:30 p.m.

Desdemona—Theatre of the Annenberg Center
1 p.m.

Sunday

The Wonderful Ice Cream Salon Theatre of the Annenberg School
8 p.m. to 11:30 p.m.

The Decameron—Studio Theatre, Annenberg Center
12:30 p.m.

Tickets for Saturday evening performances can be purchased by calling the Ticket Office. Tickets for Sunday's concerts are available only at the door. The wonderful season will end May 7 at 3 p.m. at the Zellerbach Theatre. Tickets are available at local bookstores or at the box office. Admission is $4, $2 for students, faculty and staff.
Federal Help

President Jimmy Carter and leading Congressional figures disagree over how best to help the middle-class pay for their children's education.

The most popular Congressional plan, introduced by Senators Daniel Patrick Moynihan (D-NY) and Robert Packwood (R-Ore), would give tax breaks to families with children.

Carter and his billion-dollar plan, for the most part, would provide educational opportunities Grants available to families with incomes up to $20,000. Previously, the figure was set at $12,500. Also, income for federal subsidized loans would be raised from about $3,000 to $6,000. We support Carter's plan.

Our main problem with the tuition tax credit plans, it would give tax credits regardless of family income or education costs. In addition, it would divert our money from the University of Pennsylvania, a public and educational institution.

The tax credit programs support the idea of increasing aid to the middle class through existing programs. The debate about the middle class is unimportant.

The tax credit programs are not wise. They are simple, quick, efficient, and effective. They are designed to meet the needs of students and the middle class. They are the only way to increase aid to the middle class.

The tax credit programs are not wise. They are simple, quick, efficient, and effective. They are designed to meet the needs of students and the middle class. They are the only way to increase aid to the middle class.

Carter's billion-dollar plan would provide educational opportunities. The tax credit programs support the idea of increasing aid to the middle class through existing programs. The debate about the middle class is unimportant. The tax credit programs are not wise. They are simple, quick, efficient, and effective. They are designed to meet the needs of students and the middle class. They are the only way to increase aid to the middle class.

Letters

Letters to the Daily Pennsylvanian may be submitted personally to S. Steven, Campus Center, or sent to J. N. Fisher, Editor, The Daily Pennsylvanian, 4015 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa. 19134. We reserve the right to edit according to space limitations.

By Peter Burwasser

By Sirena Terr

By MacNelly

Picking Up Cool

There were a few seconds of silence, and then a knock at the door.

"Who's there?" asked Bill Smith, the editor of the Quizz.

"It's Seide. I'm a university representative from the student government. I'm here to discuss the referendum to change the basis of student government.

"What's the referendum all about?" asked Seide.

"The referendum is about changing the basis of student government. We are proposing to change the basis of student government from a representative body to a direct democracy.

"Why do you want to change the basis of student government?" asked Seide.

"To make the system more efficient and to increase the power of the students. The current system is too slow and too bureaucratic.

"Is this referendum a good idea?" asked Seide.

"Yes, it is. It will make the system more efficient and more responsive to the students. The current system is too slow and too bureaucratic.

"I support the referendum. I think it is a good idea.

"Thank you."
Vet School Appropriation

(Continued from page 1)

Shapp's budget message and again for getting the additional money February, Meyerson said prospects for the hospital could not be built without strong guarantees that the allocation would not be cut again in the future. If the Vet School does not receive funds to run the small animal hospital, its accreditation would be threatened. Meyerson said he has discussed with the legislature that a permanent solution to funding the Vet School is needed to assure financial stability.

As a result of Shapp's cuts in the Vet School allocation, Meyerson said his discussions with the legislature may eventually result in a state Task Force to examine the finances of the state-related schools and make recommendations to the University and the legislature. The major increases for the four state-related schools are:

- Penn State, $5 million
- Temple University, $8 million
- University of Pittsburgh, $2.6 million
- University of Pennsylvania, $2.8 million

Last year, the legislature could not approve a budget until mid-August. That budget excluded school funding, and representatives to pass a completed budget before July 1, when the current fiscal year ends. It has become an unfortunate tradition in Pennsylvania for the legislature to fail to fund the University. The University has told the legislature that a permanent solution to school funding is needed to assure financial stability.

Today's urban life is a variety of activities. There's so much to see and do, as we have the clothes and shoes you need for all aspects of your busy life. We are constantly exploring the markets and making the selection for you so that you can easily find the components to design an outfit that's right for you and your type of fun. We are watching for our ads featuring favorite urban activities and related Philadelphia resources. And be watching for our soon-to-be-released Spring-Summer '78 Catalog—a handy guide to Philadelphia fun.

URBAN OUTFITTERS
4040 LOCUST ST. 222-3358
MON.-SAT. 10-8 SUN. 12-5

For a better understanding try one of these Energy Management and Policy courses:

ENERGY RESOURCES & TECHNOLOGY

Prereq. Permission of instructor. Open to juniors and seniors. An introduction to the basic concepts underlying energy availability and use. Intended especially for those with a minimal technical background.

APPLICATION OF ENERGY MANAGEMENT TO SYSTEMS

Prereq. Permission of instructor. Open to juniors and seniors. An in-depth look at the decision-making involved in the operation of energy systems. A large-scale utility company provides the case study with numerous lecturers from the energy industry.

COMPUTER MODELLING FOR ENERGY SYSTEM ANALYSIS

Prereq. Permission of instructor. Open to juniors and seniors. An introduction to the use of computers for modeling and analyzing energy systems. Energy modeling, simulation, computer graphics and interactive simulation gaming are stressed.

For further information call Dr. L. Elfenberg, ext. 115 Or. C. N. Weygandt, ext. 9771 or Or. P. Blair.
Penn Players Present
A View From the Bridge
By Arthur Miller

Thursday at 8:30
Friday, at 8:30
Saturday 7:00 and 10:00

Harold Prince Theatre, Annenberg Center

Tickets -Students 2.00 General $3.00
Available at Annenberg Box Office
Funded By The Student Activities Council

MOVE Siege Stalled
After Three Weeks

BY ERIC JACOBS

Three weeks have passed. Three weeks have passed. There have been no rescues, no sexualities, and no bloodshed.

It fact, far less sex and bloodshed has been the order of the day. The whole scene has been rather calm. If not for the drama of police cars, fire trucks, disaster vehicles, uniformed men, and the frequent high fluctuations and melding windows, it would be hard to believe the house is in West Philadelphia.

But this is a city area existing on the edge of the radical group MOVE, just four blocks north of campus, is indeed more of a war zone than a quiet residential area. After three weeks, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court has removed the house until the Pennsylvania Supreme Court has permitted a blockade of the revolutionaries who have been holding up the house in the block of the MOVE place. All other ways of getting to the house have been cut off from the outside world, and the house has been rather calm. If not for the drama of police cars, fire trucks, disaster vehicles, uniformed men, and the frequent high fluctuations and melding windows, it would be hard to believe the house is in West Philadelphia.

But this is a city area existing on the edge of the radical group MOVE, just four blocks north of campus, is indeed more of a war zone than a quiet residential area. After three weeks, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court has removed the house until the Pennsylvania Supreme Court has permitted a blockade of the revolutionaries who have been holding up the house in the block of the MOVE place. All other ways of getting to the house have been cut off from the outside world, and the house has been rather calm. If not for the drama of police cars, fire trucks, disaster vehicles, uniformed men, and the frequent high fluctuations and melding windows, it would be hard to believe the house is in West Philadelphia.

But this is a city area existing on the edge of the radical group MOVE, just four blocks north of campus, is indeed more of a war zone than a quiet residential area. After three weeks, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court has removed the house until the Pennsylvania Supreme Court has permitted a blockade of the revolutionaries who have been holding up the house in the block of the MOVE place. All other ways of getting to the house have been cut off from the outside world, and the house has been rather calm. If not for the drama of police cars, fire trucks, disaster vehicles, uniformed men, and the frequent high fluctuations and melding windows, it would be hard to believe the house is in West Philadelphia.
Candidate Kline

(Continued from page 3)

Although he has not strongly spoken out against Kline, still support from Tucker could not overshadow the base of much of Kline's support—spent out against Kline, stiff opposition from Tucker can be seen in his support. The Daily Pennsylvanian is where he cites the leaders of two large segments of the Shapp administration, his seven-year stint as governor, and the fact that the governor was required by law to cut funding for state-supported institutions.

Henry explained. "He is supporting a..." Henry claimed Casey criticized the decision, adding that the group is basically being asked to mediate the issue, adding that the group is basically being asked to mediate the issue.

"Although Kline has some personal..." Henry explained. "He is supporting a..." Henry said Kline strongly supports higher education in the state administration.

"We'll stand by what the last seven years have brought to Pennsylvania, accepting both the good and the bad," Henry said. "We'll get our share of the black money."

Funded by Student Activities

U of P Chapter of COBUS (National Student Lobby and Research Organization) Present a Forum with ROBERT P. CASEY and PETE FLAHERTY Democratic Candidates for Governor of Pennsylvania

To Discuss Student Concerns and the Future of Higher Education in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

8:30 Tonight Fine Arts B-1

Note: The forum with Republican candidate Henry G. Hager scheduled for 2:30 today is cancelled due to a Senate Leadership Session.
Acne Subjects Wanted (any pimples on the face)

Topically applied anti-acne products are being tested. Subjects will be paid to participate in this study.

Ask for Otto Mills. EV7-8400

Ivy Research Laboratories, Inc.

University City Science Center
N.W. Corner 34th and Market Sts.

2nd floor suite 226

U. Museum Creates Sumerian Dictionary

By SUSAN COOPERSMITH

"I like the eggs of the bird and put them into the basket." Also "standing the table..."

The word "egg" and "table" both have a seemingly usual sequence, but in fact they were written several thousand years ago in Sumerian, the first written language to man’s history.

At the University Museum, Ephraim and Ed Leichty are leading a research project aimed at creating the first Sumerian dictionary in 1800 B.C. to 75 A.D., an endeavor that will last 20 years or more. A dictionary of the language has never before been compiled, Ephraim and Leichty explained Tuesday that until the publication of a dictionary, "we understand nothing more about the Sumerian culture."

The project is carried on in a back room of the museum, which stores the 30,000-piece collection of Sumerian clay tablets.

The tablets were once salt of water, since which people wrote with a variety of different writings, including literature, geography, mythological, legal and economic texts. Included in the world’s oldest medical text and the Sumerian so-called Epic of Gilgamesh. Also on the tablets is an account of the world’s first flood stories, which tells of drowned gods creating human figures.

The collection of tablets, one of the largest in the world, is the result of a series of University-sponsored expeditions to sites in the Middle East. The second expedition was carried out in 1888 in Nippur, Iraq.

The final step in putting together the dictionary is putting together the fragmented clay tablets. Once this is done, the scholars can begin translating the texts.

Translating the words and putting them into a dictionary is a crucial step in understanding language and culture.

Theater Arts Major Finally Approved

The minority report was not voted on.

It is the future, Curran said, "the Theater Arts committee wants to approach the faculties of the Annenberg Center." There is "a very creative possibility" inherent in the project and are helping the University's future. Leichty and Sjoberg have been working on the project for two years, which is being funded by the Humanities Endowment for the Humanities. The research continues that the project will take another 12 years to complete.

Back When I Was in School, My Baseball Coach Told Me That Someday There'd Be a Less Filling Beer. He Also Told Me to Try Out for Glee Club.

Marv Throneberry

Baseball Legend

I'm starting to drink the Lite beer. Everything you always wanted in a beer. And less.
Positive Attitude Leads Batwomen to Victory

By JAMES FRIEDMAN

Laxwomen Bow, 16-2; Glassboro Next against the number one team in the general standing.

It has to be considered, along with Ursinus, as a genuine powerhouse and a yardstick on which to measure a team's progress in the direction of former Quaker coach Charlie Coker and any team he has a great deal of respect for. Because of its inexperience, Navy is much more balanced than other teams we've had to face so far. They are personal and not hearsay. "We never forget when you lose to someone, and it gives you an incentive to play your best," Coker said.

"We're winning games that a lot of people thought we'd lose," he said. "We have a different high scorer in every game," he said. "It's a good sign."
Three Musketeers Find Taste of Victory Sweet

A national championship on the Penn campus is rare. In the present Athletic Union (Penn Athletics) era, it has been rare. The Penn women's fencing team is an exception. It is something special, the latest of the National Intercollegiate Women's Fencing Association's (NIWFA's) first-year teams to make the upper echelon of college fencing. The 1983-84 season was a banner one for the Quakers, as they went on to win the national championship. The Quakers' season was a historic one, and it's the story of how they got there.

Bill Stahl

Penn-fencing

Backstory: It's 1984, and the Penn women's fencing team is preparing for their national championship. The team is composed of three individuals: Stacey, Vinnie, and Tuppy. They are known for their hard work and dedication, and they have a strong chance of winning the national title.

The Competition: The national championship is held in March, and the Quakers are excited. They have trained hard all season, and they are ready to compete. The team is divided into three groups: sabre, epee, and foil. Each group has a captain, and they are responsible for leading their team.

The Journey: The Quakers travel to the national championship, where they face tough competition. They start off strong, winning their first few matches. However, they encounter some tough opponents in the later rounds. The team remains focused, though, and they continue to win.

The Victory: In the final match, the Quakers face off against their biggest rival, the University of Chicago. The match is intense, but the Quakers emerge victorious. They have won the national championship! The team celebrates together, and they know that their hard work has paid off.

The story of the Penn women's fencing team's national championship is a testament to the power of teamwork and dedication. The Quakers proved that with hard work and determination, anything is possible.