U., Cairo Negotiate Exchange

Meyserson Visits Israel

Chairman of the University, Dr. C. V. Repas, negotiated agreement with President of the University of Cairo, Dr. F. M. B. Badran, on Saturday. The agreement provides for a joint program in the Social Sciences and the Federal Government, involves faculty exchange, and establishes a joint department in Economics and Business Administration.

Bargaining between the two nations resulted in the establishment of a joint department that will be located in the Social Sciences Faculty of the University of Cairo. The department will be housed in a newly constructed building on the campus of the University of Cairo, and will be jointly administered by faculty members from both institutions.

In addition to the joint department, the agreement provides for the exchange of faculty members between the two universities. Each year, a number of faculty members from the University of Cairo will be invited to spend a semester at the University of Pennsylvania, while a similar number of faculty members from the University of Pennsylvania will be invited to spend a semester at the University of Cairo.

The agreement also includes a provision for the exchange of students between the two universities. Each year, a small number of students from the University of Cairo will be selected to study at the University of Pennsylvania, and a similar number of students from the University of Pennsylvania will be selected to study at the University of Cairo.

The joint department and the faculty exchange program will provide a unique opportunity for students and faculty members from both institutions to gain valuable insights into the cultures and economies of the two nations. It is hoped that this program will help to foster a greater understanding and appreciation of each other's cultures, and to promote cooperation and collaboration on a number of important issues.

In conclusion, the agreement reached between the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Cairo is a significant step forward in the ongoing efforts to promote cooperation and collaboration between the two nations. It is hoped that this agreement will help to strengthen the bonds of friendship and cooperation between the two countries, and to promote peace and prosperity in the region.

The joint program will be administered by a joint committee of faculty members from both institutions, and will be governed by a set of rules and procedures that are designed to ensure the success of the program.

Please note that this information is not intended to replace the official agreement, which contains all the necessary details and provisions.

Blackwell Supporters Face Green In Shouting Match At Local Office

By DAVID B. COHEN

The setting was one block north of the Rizzo administration. The crowd was a different world.

A throng of about 200 stood on a sidewalk along Locust Avenue, the primary commercial thoroughfare of the nearly all-black neighborhood. It was almost totally in green, appropriately awaiting the arrival of the green candidate. From all around the city, a day later, the news would be the same: Blacks should support Blackwell, not Green.

As the crowd gathered, a wave of derision used by blacks to castigate whites and persons who they claim are not black enough traveled across from the barber shop. The words were almost incomprehensible but the message was clear: blacks should support blacks.

In the basement of the barber shop, most of the crowd was gathered. A small crowd began to gather in front of the barber shop shop near 41st Street which Barber, state front of the barber shop near 41st Street which Barber, state.

I think unity is the thing," he said, echoing the Green campaign theme. "We've just gone through eight years of the Rizzo administration. Every time you fight," he said, "you just go through eight years with the same possible come with the Rizzo administration. Every time blacks go on the tube, they come out with you and you go on the tube."

The appearance was to be a part of the "West Philly Day".

The words were almost incomprehensible but the message was clear: blacks should support blacks.

The Mayor That Would Be Senator

By Lawrence Richie

Frank Rizzo's career presents us with a fascinating example of public service at its finest. He has been the mayor of Philadelphia since 1959. Rizzo's policies have been the subject of much debate and controversy. He is known for his tough stance on crime and drug trafficking, as well as his support for law and order. Despite his polarizing nature, Rizzo has been re-elected multiple times and has left a lasting legacy on the city of Philadelphia.

The article discusses Rizzo's policies and his impact on the city, as well as the challenges he faced during his tenure. It also explores the potential for Rizzo to run for higher office, such as a U.S. Senate seat or governor. The article concludes with a reflection on Rizzo's legacy and the possibilities for his future political career.

Letter to the Editor

The Inequality of Reverse Discrimination

One of the most important issues facing our society today is the question of reverse discrimination. Reverse discrimination occurs when a group that is not traditionally disadvantaged is given preferential treatment in order to make up for past discrimination. This form of discrimination has been the subject of much debate and controversy.

Unfortunately, the same philosophy that created and perpetuated discrimination on a massive scale in the past is still alive and well today. The University of Pennsylvania has been working hard to reverse the damage that has been done in the past. In order to do this, the University has taken a number of steps to create a more diverse and inclusive environment.

One of these steps is the creation of a reverse discrimination program. This program is designed to help students from underprivileged backgrounds by providing them with additional support and resources. The program has been successful in attracting a diverse range of students and has helped to create a more inclusive campus community.

It is important to remember that the goal of reverse discrimination is not to create a level playing field for all students. Rather, it is to give those who have been historically disadvantaged the opportunity to compete on an equal footing. It is only through this type of support that we can hope to create a truly just and equitable society.
Mayoral Race

Opponent to Bowser

"We've had a very difficult time
today as a few officials," conceded Greene, who had chased that day to inaugurate three neighborhood stations in predominantly black West Philadelphia. He then launched into his familiar city unity speech for those votes."

"He could have kept his mouth shut for us," said Thomas, referring to the former Bowser campaign head who ran as a Democrat. "I never had any reason to support the Rizzo-backed headquarters."

Finally, almost an hour behind schedule, Green's entourage arrived.

"When I decided not to run," said
Greene's backer who said he worked on Bowser's campaign in 1975, said he was fed up with the divisive rhetoric that has been espoused in city politics over the last few years. "I've had it," he said.

"I want to get back to the issues that Charlie (Bowser) did," James, a former Bowser campaign head who was said to have planned a run for mayor if he decided not to run.

"I voted for Bowser in the primary.
"I'm not sure if he would have made it," conceded Barber, who said
"I want to get back to the issues that Charlie (Bowser) did."

Green's run is a lot of white war-by not supporting the Rizzo-backed campaign for a rival and committed, claimed Barber, who said
"I want to get back to the issues that Charlie (Bowser) did."

"The candidacy did not stay long, but to be a Democrat, is also running for re-election for his vacant city council seat. He had to resign his post to run for mayor.

his "West Philly Day" schedule. The Blackwell, as a Democrat, is also for city council," he Joked.
