Rent Schedules Released, Prices Up 13.5 Percent

By LIZ McMILLON

University housing and your rent raise recently showed students the best trends in the cost of living at the University.

The Undergraduate Assembly has just made public their latest proposal to increase the prices of student housing, which includes a variety of costs, such as maintenance and upkeep of rooms.

The new prices will be effective as of July 1, and will include an increase of 13.5 percent for the average student's rent.

The increase is due to the rising cost of materials and labor, as well as the increase in the cost of living in the area.

The Undergraduate Assembly has been working on this issue for several months, and they believe that the increase is necessary to ensure that the University is able to provide quality housing for its students.

The new rent schedule will be as follows:

- Single Room: $1822 per semester
- Double Room: $1444 per semester
- Quadruple Room: $1282 per semester
- Triple Room: $1692 per semester
- Quad Double: $1292 per semester
- 3 Bedroom Apartment: $1205 per semester
- 4 Bedroom Apartment: $1822 per semester

Students will be able to apply for financial aid to help cover the increased costs, and the University will continue to offer a variety of programs to help students manage their budgets.

In addition to the rent increase, the University is also making changes to the housing policy to ensure that students have a safe and comfortable living environment.

The Undergraduate Assembly has been working with the Student Health Service to improve the health and wellness of students living on campus.

The University is also working to improve the security of student housing, and will be providing more security personnel to patrol the campus.

The University is committed to ensuring that all students have a positive living experience, and they believe that these changes will help to achieve that goal.

For more information, please visit the University's website or contact the Housing Office.

The Daily Pennsylvania
TODAY

Classical Guitarist

The Christian Science Organization of the University of Pennsylvania presents Classical Guitarist, Mr. Classical Guitarist will perform a variety of music including music written for the guitar ranging from the Baroque to contemporary.
Donald K. Angell Dies, Former U. Administrator

Donald K. Angell, who served in the University's administration for almost forty years under four presidents, died last Thursday at the age of 73 in Philadelphia.

Angell served from 1937 until his retirement in 1976 as university president, assistant to the president, and president of the alumni association.

In 1947, Angell was elected student council president and later became vice president for the student body, a position he held until 1948.

Massachusetts Primary Important

For Bush, Kennedy Campaigns

By the Associated Press

Boston, May 29 (AP)--Edward K. Kennedy campaigned in the precinct of his birth in Boston yesterday, telling a group of students at Harvard that the University fund. He also served as vice president for development and public relations, and received the U.S. News & World Report Outstanding Citizen Award in recognition of three decades of outstanding performance in public service.

His campaign was holding an advantage over President Ronald Reagan in the final hours before the Massachusetts presidential primary on March 19.

Republican George Bush sought a comeback against Ronald Reagan in the first primary of the 1980 campaign.

He is survived by his wife Madelon, three children, and two brothers.

Sunday, March 5

4:30-5:30

H.S.P. Room

Refreshments will be served.

University Business Machines 36 & Chestnut St. University City Holiday Inn 287-2343

Let Us Develop a System For You

Apple II Plus System

MICHENER COMPUTER SYSTEMS

SOPHOMORES

Commissions as Ensign in the United States Navy or as a Second Lieutenant in the United States Marine Corps are available to those who qualify and who complete training during appropriate years at the University of Pennsylvania's Naval Officers Education Program. After graduation, officers can choose positions in surface line ships, aviation, supply, engineering, nuclear power, intelligence, submarines, combat arms, or service support.

Applications are now being taken. Contact LCDR SHANNON or LT. BARNETTE at 243-7436 to arrange an interview.

No pressure. No promises.
The Birds and the Bees

By David Wolfe

If, when I first arrived at the University, I would have heard the stories surrounding some of the incidents that occurred in my high school, I would have passed them off as unimportant, or at best as a phase young people go through. But the stories are not local. They are universal.

In the halls of Pennsylvania, a collective memory of the sixties is maintained. It is not the memory of the students, but of the parents and friends, who have transmitted their stories through the generations.

The sixties were a time of social change. It was a time when the youth of America, disillusioned with the war in Vietnam, began to question the values of their society. This questioning led to a revitalization of the civil rights movement, the women's liberation movement, and the gay rights movement.

The student movements of the sixties were not just about political change. They were also about cultural change. The music, art, and literature of the time reflected the desire for a new way of living. The sixties were a time of experimentation, a time when young people tried to find their own place in the world.

The sixties were also a time of conflict. The war in Vietnam was a major issue, and it divided the country. There were those who supported the war, and those who opposed it. The student movements of the sixties were often a reflection of this conflict.

The sixties were a time of change. It was a time of hope and promise, but also of frustration and disappointment. The sixties are a time that we cannot forget. They are a time that we must remember.
Penn-Edinburgh Exchange Program

Come To The International Programs Office, 133 Bennett Hall, X-4661, For Information And Application Forms. We Will Put You In Touch With Edinburgh Students From The United Kingdom Who Know The Ropes As Well As Penn Students Who Spent Last Year At Edinburgh.

The Edinburgh Exchange Program Is Competitive And Open To Almost All Undergraduates. Students With Financial Aid Are, Of Course, Eligible.

Further Information: International Programs Office 133 Bennett Hall Extension 4661

Applications Deadline: March 7, 1980
It’s Down to the Wire: The Winner is...

By BILL STARK

Today is the day Penn, Princeton, the Ivy League, and the NCAA have been waiting for. The Ivy League tournament in basketball has come to a conclusion, and the four teams are ready to see who will be victorious.

Women Stunned: Take 5th in Ivies

By JOYHANNA

NEW HAVEN, CONN.—A last-second 76-75 upset by Penn women’s basketball team Sunday in the season finale of the Ivy League championships gave Princeton the 2002-2003 league title.

The Quakers (15-11) and Tigers (15-0) played to a 75-75 tie at the end of regulation, allowing the Tigers win in overtime, 76-75, which concluded Sunday.

The weekend’s play put the Quakers in a tie for sixth place with the Tigers in the Ivy League standings. Penn staged a strong effort to upset Princeton, but a late winner showed that Princeton is the best team in the Ivy League.

The Quaker team bested Princeton in the B Division finals, winning 50-47 in overtime to take home the championship, but the match was not without controversy.

Women Stunned: Take 5th in Ivies

By RICHIE UNTERBERGER

CAROLINA, N.C.—This weekend was a dream for Pennsylvania women’s basketball. The Quakers claimed the Ivy League title with a win over Princeton, and the weekend capped off a successful season for the Quakers.

Women Stunned: Take 5th in Ivies

By RICHIE UNTERBERGER

CAROLINA, N.C.—This weekend was a dream for Pennsylvania women’s basketball. The Quakers claimed the Ivy League title with a win over Princeton, and the weekend capped off a successful season for the Quakers.

Women Stunned: Take 5th in Ivies

By RICHIE UNTERBERGER

CAROLINA, N.C.—This weekend was a dream for Pennsylvania women’s basketball. The Quakers claimed the Ivy League title with a win over Princeton, and the weekend capped off a successful season for the Quakers.

Women Stunned: Take 5th in Ivies

By RICHIE UNTERBERGER

CAROLINA, N.C.—This weekend was a dream for Pennsylvania women’s basketball. The Quakers claimed the Ivy League title with a win over Princeton, and the weekend capped off a successful season for the Quakers.