Students Find Alternative Cap & Gown Companies

By DICK STEVENSON

A move by students to boycott Cotrell and Ginsburg on the grounds that they do not wish to patronize Cotrell and Ginsburg, found that alternative suppliers are mined that alternative suppliers are expected to release an official statement not wish to patronize Cotrell and Ginsburg and said they could provide caps and gowns to University students. Many Students Find Leave of Absence Rewarding for taking a leave of absence. Although a student may feel torn between his or her responsibilities and the desire to explore the world, a leave can be an opportunity to grow as an individual.

"I believe that a leave of absence is a valuable experience," said one student. "I think it is important for students to take a break from their studies and reflect on their goals. A leave of absence can provide a chance to discover new interests and gain valuable life skills." Another student added, "I think it is important to take a leave of absence if you are feeling uncertain about your career path. It can give you time to reevaluate your goals and determine what you truly want to pursue."

However, not all students are enthusiastic about the idea of taking a leave of absence. Some students are concerned about the financial burden of being away from school for an extended period of time.

"I don't think that a leave of absence is worth it," said one student. "I think it is important to focus on my studies and graduate on time. A leave of absence would only set me back in my academic goals." Another student added, "I don't think that a leave of absence is necessary. I think it is important to stay focused on my studies and not get distracted by other things."

Despite these concerns, many students find that taking a leave of absence is a rewarding experience. They find that it allows them to gain valuable experience and grow as individuals. Some students even find that it is a necessary part of their education.

Another student added, "I think it is important to take a leave of absence if you are feeling uncertain about your career path. It can give you time to reevaluate your goals and determine what you truly want to pursue."

While taking a leave of absence can be a valuable experience, it is important for students to consider their individual circumstances and goals before making a decision. Ultimately, the decision to take a leave of absence is a personal one, and each student must determine what is best for them.
An Alternative Must Be Found

Although I am chairman of the Graduate and Professional Student Assembly (GAPSA), I do not feel we can wait for a formal adjudication to take action. I am mindful of the refusal of the Undergraduate Assembly to act, but I do not feel we can wait for a resolution which may never come.

This is a matter of personal judgment because of the NEC action and the reasoning which is being used to justify it. The Undergraduate Assembly has the responsibility to implement the policies of the University and to maximize the students’ rights. They have failed to come to terms with the NEC proposal.

I have given you a copy of the memo I sent to the Assembly. I have also given you a copy of the memo I am sending to the Assembly. I sent it to you in order to provide an independent view on the issue.

Laxwomen Blast Crimson For 2nd Straight

By ELLI HONE
The women's lacrosse team (3-4), which has not played a game in more than a month, dropped a 19-15 setback to Harvard (6-2) on Tuesday. After a dominant first half, in which the Crimson scored 10 goals to the Quakers' three, the team was behind 14-9 at halftime.

In the second half, theQuakers attempted to come back, but the Crimson scored five of the first six goals to put the game out of reach. The Quakers rallied to cut the deficit to 19-17 with 6:20 remaining, but the Crimson scored three of the last four goals to win. Despite the loss, the Quakers will focus on improving their defense, which has allowed more than 10 goals in seven of their nine games this season.

"We have been working on our defense all season," said Quaker Coach Cissie Tuppeny, who yielded only two hits on 20 shots, including 14 saves in the loss. "We need to continue to improve our ball control and transition on offense." The team also struggled with turnovers, with 14 in the game. "We need to work on minimizing turnovers and being more efficient on the field," Tuppeny noted.

Despite the loss, the Quakers hope to continue their improvement as they prepare for their next game against the University of Pennsylvania. "We need to continue to work on our fundamentals and improve our overall execution," Tuppeny said. "We are confident in our ability to compete with any team in the Ivy League." The team has already faced tough competition this season, with losses to ranked opponents such as Dartmouth and Harvard.

"Our players are working hard and we are confident in their ability to compete," Tuppeny added. "We need to continue to improve our defensive efforts and focus on our transition game on offense. We are confident in our ability to compete with any team in the Ivy League." The team will look to build on their recent improvement as they prepare for their next game against the University of Pennsylvania.

While the Quakers may not be enough to qualify for the NCAA tournament, a top-four finish in the Ivy League could still be within reach. The team has already faced tough competition this season, with losses to ranked opponents such as Dartmouth and Harvard.

Weinhauer Stays at Penn

By BILL HOFMANN

A young man of astonishing potential could have left Penn without a second’s thought. He was that good. But instead, Philadelphia’s top recruit, Bob Weinhauer, will remain in Philadelphia for the next four years, according to reports. The basketball team has been up-and-down throughout the season, but the addition of Weinhauer was a major boost for the team. He is expected to solidify the starting lineup and help lead the team to a successful season.

It was a day to remember for the Harvard baseball team. They played a close game against the Yale Bulldogs, but ultimately fell short, losing 1-3. The game was a nail-biter, with both teams putting up a good fight. In the end, it was the Bulldogs who came out on top. The loss was tough, but the team remained positive and is looking forward to the next game.

The weightlifting team had a successful day, winning several events. The team was led by Captain Anne Kaylor, who finished third behind Penn State and San Jose State. The Quakers’ team total of 74.5 beats the Explorers, Dragons respectively. The Quakers, who scored a 74.5, 55, 41, 36.5 win over the Hawks, Explorers, other teams, we did about as poorly as we could have. But we hung in there. The runners, however, did not have it easy, as the hills were steep and the wind was strong. But they kept on going, determined to come out on top. The final results were as follows: First place finishers on the basis of less than Yale. This means that Penn will be back in the mix next year and that the team will be competitive again.
