LCB Plan to Raise Revenue

Join SEVIE

The Senate's fiscal year 1980 State Budget Committee should pass the bill for full implementation of the LCB Plan in August. Administrators were told at a recent meeting of its working group that the bill for enacting the LCB Plan is expected to reach the Senate in the next two weeks.

The LCB Plan should generate about $30 million in new revenue for the University. The money will be applied to the state's $15 million in debt service, for a new state budget which is expected to be passed by the House in the next few weeks.

The Senate must still pass legislation to allow the University to spend the newly-created revenue, and it is expected to do so in August. The Senate has given the LCB Plan a priority for discussion in August, and it is expected to pass the bill by then.

Another $7 million is expected to be generated by the LCB Plan. The University's $20.5 million state fund will be augmented by the $7 million, bringing the total to $28 million. This will provide a substantial increase in revenue for the University.

The LCB Plan was developed by the University's Fiscal Year 1980 State Budget Committee, and it was enacted in August. The plan involves enacting budgetary measures which will be applied to the state's $15 million in debt service. The Senate has given the LCB Plan a priority for discussion in August, and it is expected to pass the bill by then.

Confident H. Harriers Looking For Sweep

By BRADEN BARDACK

A confident Harriers track team opens its 1980 season today (3:30 pm) against Radford in a dual meet at PSU.

The team will compete against Gloucester State College, Catholic University, Delaware State and Lebanon Valley in addition to Radford. Assistant coach Jake Piazza, who has been on PSU's staff since 1972, says his team is prepared to compete at a high level.

"Our main competition should come from Radford University," says Piazza looking forward to this meet. "I feel that Radford's track team is the strongest of the seniors that were here last year."

Young Sailors

Set for Navy Frock Invite

By JAY MALATON

Pete Romey, head track coach, sent off his first meet this season with booklets containing the Turkey Trot for Thanksgiving Day and the meat locker is the Navy Frock Invite in Annapolis, Maryland.

Although the competition has no affect on the ratings, it will be an important indication of how the pre%-season squad stack up in meets to come.

Six schools from an outstanding freshman crop were chosen to represent the Red and Blue. Craig Hargraves of the University of Georgia, Mike Fox of the U.S. Naval Academy, and Jack Conover of the University of California are expected to provide leadership for the associate.

Piazza said that his team could be in the mix for first place. "Our team has the potential to win the first place position," he said.

Another meet to look for is Temple Delphic, a sophomore skip and key player on the team.

All signs point to another winning season. As Piazza says, "The team is set to compete hard and be consistent throughout the season."

Confident Harriers Looking For Sweep

The Seniors... They're back! And it's up to 'em, said bartender. He said that because he knows the game has more riding on it than any other game should be allowed to allow. For one thing, a win would give the team more experience.

For the first time in years, the team is without a starting back-up quarterback.

"I'm sure that the team is looking forward to the challenge of competing against some of the best sailors in the country," said Piazza.

Both coaches have stressed the importance of the first meet this season. "The game has more riding on it than any other game," said Harvard's coach.

"The team has been working hard throughout the season," said the Harvard coach. "I'm looking forward to the challenge of competing against some of the best sailors in the country."

Booaters Seek To End Road Jinx Up North

By BILL BOMBE

This past week the Dartmouth boaters might have been able to celebrate a four-year anniversary of being booted from the Ivy League, because last week they managed to break into the top five for the first time in eight years. The REAL Green Wave has been on the top since the mid-80's and the Dark Horses have been on the bottom since the late 70's. The best we could hope for was to break into the top 5, which we did.

In short, the Quakers have compiled a 4-0-0 record in the Ivy League, while the Darkies have compiled a 2-0-1 record. However, the Dark Horses may have an easier path to the Ivy League championship, as they have only one game left against the Quakers, while the Quakers have two left against the Darkies.

good luck on tomorrow's game, bul injuries that

Quaker Oats

CHEESE - Ken Stabler and Al Scholles were on the cover of the game program, while John Stabler was on the cover of the game program. However, the real hero of the day was the game program. It was a blithe disappointment for the fans, but it made the game more enjoyable for those who attended.

MEAT - Rice Field will be the place and 1 PM will be the time. They are the annual breakdown between the Penn Rugby Club and their counterparts from the Ivy League.

MIRANKE - The men's game at 1 PM will start at 1 PM and the women's game will start at 3 PM. These games will be held at the Rec Hall.

MEAT AND POTATOES - While our eating options on Monday evening were the first two editions of Penn's new weekly sports tabloid, "The Sports Link," today was a different story. We had the opportunity to try some of the dishes that were featured in the tabloid. The best option was the rice and beans, which was a delicious blend of flavors. Overall, the meal was satisfying and left us feeling satisfied.

Revengeful (?) Stickers Anxious to Clean Big Green

By JOHNNATHAN

It was true of at least one team's case that "You can't play that game again," but for the Dark Horses, it was a different story. Despite losing to the Quakers, they still had the chance to qualify for the Ivy League championship.

The Dartmouth team has been out to prove that they are the favorite to win the Ivy League. However, the Dark Horses have been showing signs of weakness in recent games, and the Quakers have been taking advantage of those weaknesses.

The Dark Horses have not lost to the Quakers in 13 years, but the Quakers have been playing a different style of game. The Dark Horses have been playing a more aggressive style of game, and the Quakers have been playing a more conservative style of game.

The Dark Horses have been struggling to keep up with the Quakers, and the Quakers have been able to apply pressure on the Dark Horses. Despite the pressure, the Dark Horses have been able to keep up with the Quakers, and they have been able to keep the game close.

The Dark Horses have been struggling to put together a winning streak, and the Quakers have been able to keep the Dark Horses from winning. Despite the pressure, the Dark Horses have been able to keep the game close, and they have been able to keep the pressure on the Quakers.
