Weakened Movement Faces Critical Period

If the student leaders’ movement to remove the president of the University is to gain momentum and achieve its goal, it must act quickly. Frat Admission Policies Present Challenge

When fraternity vagis pledge to perform certain duties during the pledge period, often pledges must memorize facts about the history of the fraternity and its current brothers, home town and parking, etc. Names, Other tasks involve cleaning up after parties and household projects like painting or renovating. Last but not least there is the infamous "food run." A food run is when a pledge is called (either late at night or at the last minute) to pick up food for the brothers in the house. To get "in" the house, the chance to get to know the brothers, explained Sigma Alpha Mu President Alex Thomas.

Food runs also present emerging international students, who happen to be the most open people, with an opportunity for home delivery service.

"It was great," said a former Greek beneficiary of the food run. "No one on the half would be studying and it would be and we would just hang out. One of the guys would call up a pledge and say hey, sorry to make you wait but we're really hungry in the room and we need you to bring us food!"

Sorority Open to Women Without Pledge 'Hazards' (Save up to $20 on Siladium® College Rings.)

"If a girl wants to be a part of the sorority scene, chances are she'll go the usual route," Kappa Delta sister Ruth Courtney explained. "Most girls have no idea what it's like to experience something like that, to be part of a big group of people during which the 'mother! idea of the house, pledge project, such as planning the big brother, agreed. "The things you go through make you closer, make you who you are!"

"Let's put it this way," George Wong, secretary of the Kappa Alpha Society said. "Guys wouldn't like it much because we're not as much a part of it. It's what really pulls us together, like second brothers."

Miss Courtney explained that philosophy on secrecy. Delta Up- sihon, an International Fraternity, has a very low pressure fraterni- ty, which doesn't require to attend one dinner and one meeting, in addition to learning the history of the sorority, both the University and national level.

Members are able to find a group of girl friends, unlike those two years.

"Most girls join because it's nice to be able to find a group of girl friends," Courtney explained. "All a girl has to do is show an interest."

They really is no typical sorority in any of the sororities. Courtney said. "Okay, maybe you might make a stereotype on the type of clothes the sisters wear or the way they look, but you really don't have anything other than to get an idea of what they're like!"

Uncomfortable Social One of Those Situations

By Lisa Scheer

The area was crowded and noisy, but somehow I was able to sleep. I woke up when the phone rang, and I could hear my name being called. I immediately knew that something was wrong.

Shadow of a Doubt

I had been out for a few drinks with some friends, and we were talking about our lives. I mentioned that I had been feeling really down lately, and that I didn't know what to do.

I was having a hard time sleeping, and I decided to take a walk to clear my mind. As I was walking around, I noticed a man watching me. I felt really scared, and I ran away as fast as I could.

I was so scared that I called the police, and they came to my apartment. They asked me what was wrong, and I told them everything. They took me to the hospital, and they gave me some medication.

I felt better after that, and I was able to sleep peacefully for the first time in weeks. I don't know what I would have done without the police. They saved my life.

Student Lawsuit

"All that appears is that the announced Executive Board meeting was in violation of the law," Tracy said. "But I said she was acting in her capacity as student advocate in trying to get that law enforced."

"This job was created in order to ensure students of their rights," she said. "And she said, however, that she will not attempt to advise the UA as to what action she could take.

Student Protest Plans

"review remains, and many want to know more of the specifics surround-the lawsuit, though the group was able to unite itself in setting a weekly agenda."

"I voiced concern to Accurso, the group's realization that full-fledged student support for a lawsuit is lacking came at a UA steering committee meeting Wednesday night."

"I was surprised to hear Stowers's view that some students felt there was a lack of commitment to the lawsuit."

"What comes out of the steering committee meeting is that Accurso is an effort to 'try to improve the lawsuit from the lawyers'."

"Allison felt that the lawsuit should go on, but she didn't realize that a lot of students were against it. We'd been consulting her all along."

"What has come out of the steering committee meeting is that Accurso is an effort to 'try to improve the lawsuit from the lawyers'" said Tracy.

"A lot of people are getting fed-up - they're saying, 'Who is she to go off on her own and look into a lawsuit?'" she said. "What they have to understand is that she can't go off, and if she were to, she would have to take on all the work that Accurso does without student backing, we'll have to see how this plays out."

"If she does go off on her own and look into it - that's completely within her power."

"We've credited Accurso with getting the lawsuit off the ground."

"There have always been people who say that anything you do isvelled by the people who have had it."

"If you have a Mitch Portnoy at that, who does not want to deal with it, we really have to proceed."

BY JON DORFMAN

With perfect weather and an audience on both a basic ground, Navy defeated Penn, 35-7, in the exhibition opener for both lightweights squads, Saturday at Annapolis.

Coach Bill Wagner took this chance to show the same players that will go in for next week's season opener to Penn. In this game there were a lot of young guys, as well as a couple of Tom Fellows, and Navy is in a much better form than we will play. We need a lot of mental mistakes on offense and defense, but we're a long ways from preparing for Bojangles.

The scoring started early. After an unorthodox opening kickoff for the Quakers, Navy got on board with a 42-yard punt return. Midshipmen kicker Buck Rich fun was on the air, and connected with a wide-open Rich Buckn for a perfect 13-yard touchdown pass. Navy's extra point came on the game.

In their second match of the season, the Quakers continued their winning ways, knocking off Trinity Star, 9-0. Obviously, coach Connie Lewis was pleased with her team's performance.

"The game was our third straight win and it's great for our spirits," Lewis said. "The girls played well and we're ready to face the next team." They've played well and we're ready to face the next team.

Carl (Beech-All) Hall, a halfback who scores 40 yards in a blazing 4:40. He has a huge blocking rock in front of him, anchored by quick, athletic tackle Nick Monroe and left end Mike Johnson. He's a very tough front line. Along with the quickness of the two players, Jackson believes there's a chance he can score on any play.

The next Red and Blue score came off a penalty, when Duke employee Cindy Sterling, was stopped cold, and then faced with a 17-yard penalty.
