Textured Art at Faculty Club

MARGOT COHEN

 Mention the members of the faculty and the name of the school, and the chance of a painting, so the key elements of a faculty member's work at the Faculty Club.

A recent trip to New York allowed me to see the wonderful collection of works at the University of Pennsylvania's Permanent Collection of Contemporary Art. mangoes says, noting that the show features several paintings executed with a special technique. "I'm very interested in this technique," she says, "because it allows the artist to create a sense of depth and movement in their work."

I was also impressed by the color and texture of the paintings. "I love the way the colors interact and how they create a sense of movement," mangoes says. "I'm also fascinated by the way the artist uses light and shadow in their work."

Overall, I thought the show was a wonderful representation of the talent and creativity of Pennsylvania artists. I would highly recommend it to anyone interested in contemporary art."
Unjustified Means

The leadership of the Undergraduate Assembly has a majority of students who are familiar with the fact that the Title IX act has been in effect for decades. This act, which prohibits sex discrimination, is a law that most students know was passed by the United States Congress in 1972. The law has been quite effective in protecting the rights of students who have been sexually harassed or assaulted. However, the law has also been used to claim that the Undergraduate Assembly has violated Title IX by failing to address sexual harassment on campus.

The Undergraduate Assembly has been criticized for not taking action on sexual harassment cases. However, the Assembly has been working hard to address these issues. It has created a task force to investigate sexual harassment and has provided training for all members of the Assembly. The Assembly has also been working with the administration to ensure that students are aware of their rights and the resources available to them.

In addition, the Assembly has been working to increase the number of women on the Assembly. The Assembly has a goal of having a majority of women on the Assembly, and it is making progress towards achieving this goal. The Assembly has also been working to increase the number of students of color on the Assembly.

Overall, the leadership of the Undergraduate Assembly is taking action to address sexual harassment on campus. The Assembly is committed to creating a safe and inclusive environment for all students.
UA Referendum
Representative Norman Berson and Mark Bernstein, a lawyer, as to the feasibility of a lawsuit and procedures that would be followed.
Even if the referendum does show that the student body favored a lawsuit.
however, the UA will have only 48 hours in which to take action before the Trustees meet.
After voting on the referendum,
the UA agreed to conduct an opinion poll on other issues concerning students. This survey will be conducted October 13 and 14.

Marzonie: Gamble's Trump Card

By GORDON ALTER

Two years ago Penn's hurling head coach, Buck Dickey, was perhaps looking too deeply into the hand of the team's batting lefty, Tom Marzonie. It was in that spring of 1978 that Marzonie had been at the helm of the Quaker hurling team. But 1979 saw Dickey playing his high school ball in Norway, Michigan, pursuing his first key personality and a quick, loud voice to carry over the field. Buck knew that Marzonie's style of play was very similar to that of a high school hurler, and in the end he was left with no choice but to switch to the hurling style of play that was best for Buck Dickey's team. But the result was that Marzonie was left with a very similar style of play, and this turned out to be a very successful one for Buck Dickey's team.

That was 1979 that would be a starting year for the Quakers and Gamble. Gamble's style of play was very similar to that of Buck Dickey's hurling team, and in the end it turned out to be a very successful one for Buck Dickey's team. The only difference was that Gamble had to change the style of play from hurling to football, and this turned out to be a very successful one for Buck Dickey's team.

All of the improvement and respect attributes to Buck Dickey's team, and that put to bed the notion that Gamble's experience on defense against Dartmouth and Lehigh was related to Buck Dickey's team, and that put to bed the notion that Gamble's experience on defense against Dartmouth and Lehigh was related to Buck Dickey's team. The result was that Gamble's experience on defense against Dartmouth and Lehigh was related to Buck Dickey's team. But the result was that Gamble's experience on defense against Dartmouth and Lehigh was related to Buck Dickey's team.

Stickers Win Fifth Straight, 4-0

By RUBY LEVY

For this fall season, the women's field hockey team has some very good goalkeepers. Last night was no exception as they defended their home field against freshly-serummed Princeton. For the whole first half, the Princeton were only able to get one shot on goal. By the time the first half was over, the game was 0-0. In the second half, the Princeton were able to get a few more shots on goal, but they were all stopped by the goalkeepers. The game ended up being a scoreless draw, with the score remaining 0-0.

Penn vs. Cornell

Despite the large amount of questions that people have about the team, they are still doing well. The team is currently ranked number one in the country.

Shannon, the Quaker's Marching 101 Leader, truly believes that the team has grown and improved this year.

"The band has really matured this year," said Shannon. "We've had a lot of new members this year, and I think they are all doing a great job. The band has really stepped up their game and I think that we are going to be a strong team this year."
