New Flu Affecting Students

By ROBERT WOPITZCH

A virus that is affecting students across campus, Students Health Office spokesman said Monday, is "nothing dangerous because the symptoms are mild." An estimated 15 to 20 students have been affected, according to Robert Wopitzch, who said the virus is spreading slowly. The virus causes mild symptoms, such as fever and fatigue, which typically last for a few days. Students are advised to stay home until they feel better. The virus is not contagious and can be transmitted through direct contact with an infected person.

U. Energy Office Plans Waste-Cutting Moves

By BARRY TRUEMAN

The Department of Energy Management is planning to spend $3 million a month for a program designed to reduce energy waste at the University. Assistant Vice President for Budget and Planning, Steve Page, said the program is not yet in the planning stages, but a meeting on this topic is scheduled for next week. The meeting will be attended by members of the Energy Office, Engineering, and Facilities Management departments.

It seems that the savings generated by the program will be used to pay for the loss in tuition made up a year. The major focus of the program, according to Energy Management Director, is to reduce energy use and the amount of waste generated at the University.

Finally, several buildings which are large energy consumers will undergo specific technical engineering studies. Engineers will be asked to reduce energy consumption at the Departments of Biomedical Engineering, the Energy and Environment Laboratory, and the Department of Biochemistry and Biophysics.

Two Trustee commissions, the Campus and Facilities Planning Commission and the Budget and Finance Committee, will draft a plan for the University to save 10,000 dollars and to reallocate the money saved.

"We want to find out how people feel about certain issues and see what issues we should be looking at this fall," Vice chairman Charlie Rich said.

There was a case in the 1980s where the government could not be reached immediately for comment on a case involving the judiciary and Ivy Day would be something that has been floating around for a long time.

members of the assembly want to discuss prospects and opinions on a solely Ivy Day plan. According to Nathan, who supervises the Chicago investigations, the government believed it could get their money back from the congressmen who were charged with bribery and conspiracy. Included under the concerns being looked at are the residence halls and the campus bookstore. Included are opportunities to rate the residence halls and the campus large in terms of safety, and to determine how secure students feel compared to how secure they felt when they first matriculated at the University of Pennsylvania. Saban, who will be dealing commensurately with security issues as the liaison to the Trustee Student Life committee, said responses to the survey would be held under the Inauguration of the new president in the spring. Owen indicated that one concert might be held with the inauguration of the new president.

"Hopefully people will take it seriously," he said. "Many of the questions ask for comment, and the Assembly is very interested in getting it."

Neg. Richard Kelly (R-Fla.), would not be a target of such a suit even if it is convicted of a criminal offense while serving in the House.

Kelly has selected public and government officials have confirmed privately that he returned all of the $22,000 he received except for about $110 he sold to be used as pocket money to a personal, private investment. Kelly then indicated that one concert might be held with the inauguration of the new president in the spring.

Concert Cancelled

Stuart Ross, Ferguson's manager, said Wednesday that the concert was tentatively set for October 23, although a contract had not been signed. Ross said he was told by Lane that "it was postponed because they (the movers) are installing a new piano."

Robert Casher, Ferguson's booking agent, said yesterday that as far as he knew "they decided to postpone it until the spring — to combine it with the installation of a new president."

Nathan indicated that one concert might be held with the inauguration of the new president in the spring — to combine it with the installation of a new president.

The U.S. movement known as Black Caesar was an attempt to create a black state in the South of the United States. It was a response to the negative impact of the Civil War, in which people from all over the South migrated to urban centers in search of work and political rights. The movement was led by people who believed that black people should have their own government and that they should be able to have their own culture and traditions.

The movement was founded by W. E. B. Du Bois in 1909. The aim of the movement was to create a separate government for black people in the South. The movement was short-lived, but it was a significant event in the history of the civil rights movement. It was the first time that a black movement was organized to create its own government.

A Pleasing Leader

Although I am not associated with the Daily Pennsylvanian, I would like to express my admiration for the job that your staff has done. My friend, who is a student at Temple University, has mentioned your newspaper to me several times. He says that it is well-written and informative. I have read several articles from your paper, and I have been impressed with the quality of the writing.

One aspect of your newspaper that I particularly appreciate is the way in which you cover the political landscape in the United States. Your reporting is thorough and balanced, and your analysis is insightful. I think that your newspaper does an excellent job of providing readers with the information they need to make informed decisions about the candidates and issues that are facing our country.

I would like to commend you for your coverage of the presidential election. Your articles have been informative and thought-provoking. I think that your newspaper has done an excellent job of keeping its readers informed about the candidates and their platforms.

I hope that your newspaper will continue to provide excellent coverage of the political landscape in the United States. I look forward to reading your articles in the future.

A Feable Attempt at Humor

I must say that I am very disappointed with the humor section of your newspaper. As a reader, I have come to expect a certain level of intelligence and wit from your newspaper, and I am sorry to say that I did not find it in the humor section.

The humor section of your newspaper seems to be aimed at the lowest common denominator. The jokes are predictable and unfunny, and they do not seem to be aimed at any particular audience. As a result, I find it difficult to laugh at the humor section of your newspaper.

I hope that your newspaper will consider revamping its humor section. I think that it could be a valuable addition to the newspaper, and I would enjoy reading more intelligent and funny content.

The Straight Lines

At the beginning of the semester I made a resolution to improve. I am not sure if I will succeed, but I am willing to try. I want to improve in all aspects of my life, both personally and professionally.

I have made a list of the areas in which I want to improve. I want to be more organized, more punctual, and more efficient. I also want to work harder and be more ambitious.

I am going to start by setting small, achievable goals for myself. I am going to make a plan for each week, and I am going to stick to it. I am going to keep track of my progress and adjust my plan accordingly.

I am also going to make a list of the things that I enjoy doing. I am going to try to fit those activities into my schedule, even if it means sacrificing some sleep. I think that it is important to take time for myself and to do things that I enjoy.

I am going to try to be more positive and to have a more balanced perspective. I am going to try to see the good in people and in situations, even when it is difficult.

I am going to try to be more patient and to have more empathy. I am going to try to understand other people's points of view, even if I don't agree with them.

I am going to try to be more open-minded and to be more willing to learn from others. I am going to try to be more flexible and to be more willing to try new things.

I am going to try to be more confident and to have more self-esteem. I am going to try to believe in myself and to have more faith in my abilities.

I am going to try to be more kind and to be more helpful. I am going to try to be more generous and to be more giving.

I am going to try to be more giving and to be more grateful. I am going to try to be more humble and to be more modest.

ATTENTION PHILOSOPHY MAJORS:

Q. Why is Bacon so respected?

A. Because Bacon is the best thing that ever happened to a cheeseburger.

And you can save 30¢ when you buy our brand-new bacon cheeseburger.

We're pretty sure that Bacon didn't write Shakespeare. After all, he didn't invent Roy Rogers bacon cheeseburger either. It takes a real imagination to top our perfect cheeseburger with crisp, delicious bacon.

Nevertheless, even Bacon would approve of our offer. For a limited time only when you buy one bacon cheeseburger, we'll give you 30¢ off. But Sir Francis still can't take credit for our bacon cheeseburger. So why's it named after him?

Absolutely! I want to save 30¢ when I buy Roy Rogers brand-new bacon cheeseburger.

Ltwts. Try to “Win One for the Bull”

Peter Friedman

If you were on hand at the football kickoff, and you tried to compte Kevin Brown and Red, and probably laughed right out of the gate. However, each team was ready to go and had those buildings full of fans.

The Jillians, who were long overdue for a victory, had finally won.

Darryl is Darryl, the tailback fullback until he had to be taken out with an injury. He's the kind of player that can take the ball and run with it and often gets the visitors on their seats. Then, they have to pick up the ball against the Cadets.

One of the most important parts of the game was the diving pass from Bill. The Cadets have been practicing this diving pass for weeks.

The game was a close one, and it ended with the Jiillians defeating the Cadets, 28-21.

This week will be a tough match; Maryland, a “good solid team,” according to the Jillian. This will be the Quakers’ “biggest game of the year.”

This week will be tough, but we can do it. We’ll need to work hard and put in the practice to win.
