Sen. Street Switches To GOP

By APHORIDHCE VALLARIS
As the Republican leadership tussles over the future of Pennsylvania's state government, much of the high-levelasis is in the upper house.

The Pennsylvania Senate, currently held by a Republican majority of 26 to 24 in the upper house, could be shifted to the Democratic Party, giving the GOP a newly-elected State Senator Milton Black State Senate committee chair.

The change in leadership would be a victory for the Democratic Party, which currently holds 18 of the 40 Senate seats. The switch in leadership would give the Democrats more control over the agenda and the ability to pass legislation without the support of the Republicans.

The Republican Party, on the other hand, would lose its majority in the Senate, and would be forced to work with the Democrats to pass legislation.

The Senate switch is the latest development in the ongoing battle for control of the Pennsylvania legislature. The Republican Party has held a majority in the Senate for the past decade, but has been facing increasing challenges from the Democratic Party.

The switch in leadership would not only change the dynamics of the Senate, but would also have implications for the rest of the state government. The Governor and the House of Representatives are both held by the Republican Party, and the switch in Senate leadership could lead to conflicts between the two branches of government.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's budget and policy priorities. The Senate is responsible for approving the state budget, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over funding priorities.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to the COVID-19 pandemic. The Senate is responsible for approving state-level policies to combat the pandemic, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to the pandemic.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to climate change. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to tackle climate change, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to climate change.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to social justice issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address social justice issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to social justice issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to economic issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address economic issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to economic issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to education issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address education issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to education issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to health care issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address health care issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to health care issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to environmental issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address environmental issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to environmental issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to immigration issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address immigration issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to immigration issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to transportation issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address transportation issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to transportation issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to energy issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address energy issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to energy issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to housing issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address housing issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to housing issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to infrastructure issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address infrastructure issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to infrastructure issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to public safety issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address public safety issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to public safety issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to social services issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address social services issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to social services issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to natural resources issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address natural resources issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to natural resources issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to tax issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address tax issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to tax issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to health care issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address health care issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to health care issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to immigration issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address immigration issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to immigration issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to transportation issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address transportation issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to transportation issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to energy issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address energy issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to energy issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to housing issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address housing issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to housing issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to infrastructure issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address infrastructure issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to infrastructure issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to public safety issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address public safety issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to public safety issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to social services issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address social services issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to social services issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to natural resources issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address natural resources issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to natural resources issues.

The switch in leadership would also have implications for the state's response to tax issues. The Senate is responsible for approving policies to address tax issues, and the switch in leadership could lead to a divide between the two chambers over the response to tax issues.
Campus Events

NEWS IN BRIEF

Complied from Associated Press Dispatches

Reagan Begins Washington Meetings

WASHINGTON — President-elect Ronald Reagan, building for improved White House relations with Congress, opened a round of meetings yesterday on Capitol Hill.

Reagan's second morning in the capital was a prompt opening of a series of rumors and reports about the shape of the new administration. Reagan did nothing today to clear the air on whether his meeting with Senate Republican leaders yesterday could lead to the confirmation of his choice for defense secretary, Caspar Weinberger.

“Just John Tower, R-Texas, who figures prominently to be the man best qualified to head the Pentagon, held off some questions last night by saying he would discuss President Ford's recommendation with his committee and return on Capitol Hill this afternoon,” said his chief aide, Richard Veroney.

Chevy Chase Goldie Hawn Charles Grodin

Violent Protests Plague West Bank

WASHINGTON — President-elect Ronald Reagan — who is planning to appoint several close friends and associates to key posts — has moved a pace closer to improving White House relations with Congress by meeting yesterday with Senate Republican leaders.

In the opening salvo of his second day in the capital, Reagan said he had told the Senate Republicans that he will work to improve White House relations with Congress if he is put into office.

Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, who figures prominently to be the man best qualified to head the Pentagon, held off some questions last night by saying he would discuss President Ford's recommendation with his committee and return on Capitol Hill this afternoon.

Reagan's meeting with Senate Republican leaders yesterday could lead to the confirmation of his choice for defense secretary, Caspar Weinberger, who has been recommended by the Senate Republican leadership.

Marcos' Son Receives Death Threats

WASHINGTON — President-elect Ronald Reagan, building for improved White House relations with Congress, opened a round of meetings yesterday on Capitol Hill.

Reagan's second morning in the capital was a prompt opening of a series of rumors and reports about the shape of the new administration. Reagan did nothing today to clear the air on whether his meeting with Senate Republican leaders yesterday could lead to the confirmation of his choice for defense secretary, Caspar Weinberger.

“Just John Tower, R-Texas, who figures prominently to be the man best qualified to head the Pentagon, held off some questions last night by saying he would discuss President Ford's recommendation with his committee and return on Capitol Hill this afternoon,” said his chief aide, Richard Veroney.

Reagan's meeting with Senate Republican leaders yesterday could lead to the confirmation of his choice for defense secretary, Caspar Weinberger, who has been recommended by the Senate Republican leadership.

MARCOS’ SON RECEIVES DEATH THREATS

WASHINGTON — President-elect Ronald Reagan, building for improved White House relations with Congress, opened a round of meetings yesterday on Capitol Hill.

Reagan's second morning in the capital was a prompt opening of a series of rumors and reports about the shape of the new administration. Reagan did nothing today to clear the air on whether his meeting with Senate Republican leaders yesterday could lead to the confirmation of his choice for defense secretary, Caspar Weinberger.

“Just John Tower, R-Texas, who figures prominently to be the man best qualified to head the Pentagon, held off some questions last night by saying he would discuss President Ford's recommendation with his committee and return on Capitol Hill this afternoon,” said his chief aide, Richard Veroney.

Reagan's meeting with Senate Republican leaders yesterday could lead to the confirmation of his choice for defense secretary, Caspar Weinberger, who has been recommended by the Senate Republican leadership.

MARCOS’ SON RECEIVES DEATH THREATS

WASHINGTON — President-elect Ronald Reagan, building for improved White House relations with Congress, opened a round of meetings yesterday on Capitol Hill.

Reagan's second morning in the capital was a prompt opening of a series of rumors and reports about the shape of the new administration. Reagan did nothing today to clear the air on whether his meeting with Senate Republican leaders yesterday could lead to the confirmation of his choice for defense secretary, Caspar Weinberger.

“Just John Tower, R-Texas, who figures prominently to be the man best qualified to head the Pentagon, held off some questions last night by saying he would discuss President Ford's recommendation with his committee and return on Capitol Hill this afternoon,” said his chief aide, Richard Veroney.

Reagan's meeting with Senate Republican leaders yesterday could lead to the confirmation of his choice for defense secretary, Caspar Weinberger, who has been recommended by the Senate Republican leadership.

MARCOS’ SON RECEIVES DEATH THREATS

WASHINGTON — President-elect Ronald Reagan, building for improved White House relations with Congress, opened a round of meetings yesterday on Capitol Hill.

Reagan's second morning in the capital was a prompt opening of a series of rumors and reports about the shape of the new administration. Reagan did nothing today to clear the air on whether his meeting with Senate Republican leaders yesterday could lead to the confirmation of his choice for defense secretary, Caspar Weinberger.

“Just John Tower, R-Texas, who figures prominently to be the man best qualified to head the Pentagon, held off some questions last night by saying he would discuss President Ford's recommendation with his committee and return on Capitol Hill this afternoon,” said his chief aide, Richard Veroney.

Reagan's meeting with Senate Republican leaders yesterday could lead to the confirmation of his choice for defense secretary, Caspar Weinberger, who has been recommended by the Senate Republican leadership.

MARCOS’ SON RECEIVES DEATH THREATS

WASHINGTON — President-elect Ronald Reagan, building for improved White House relations with Congress, opened a round of meetings yesterday on Capitol Hill.

Reagan's second morning in the capital was a prompt opening of a series of rumors and reports about the shape of the new administration. Reagan did nothing today to clear the air on whether his meeting with Senate Republican leaders yesterday could lead to the confirmation of his choice for defense secretary, Caspar Weinberger.

“Just John Tower, R-Texas, who figures prominently to be the man best qualified to head the Pentagon, held off some questions last night by saying he would discuss President Ford's recommendation with his committee and return on Capitol Hill this afternoon,” said his chief aide, Richard Veroney.

Reagan's meeting with Senate Republican leaders yesterday could lead to the confirmation of his choice for defense secretary, Caspar Weinberger, who has been recommended by the Senate Republican leadership.
A Different Sort of Chicken

By ROBIN DAVIS

Jubilant performance of Beastie Boys' Fabulous
Frankiedel's new album, on which he plays a lead role. As in prior releases, this album features multiple guest appearances, including those from massive hip-hop stars like Dr. Dre and Jay-Z.

The album, titled "The New Kid on the Block," is a departure from the group's previous work, which was mostly composed of party anthems. Instead, it features more introspective tracks that showcase Fab's growth as an artist.

The album's lead single, "Nervous," is a slow-building track that builds to a powerful climax. The song's lyrics touch on themes of anxiety and uncertainty, and Fab's delivery is both soulful and raw.

The album's second single, "Cuddle," is a more upbeat track that features a driving beat and catchy hooks. The song is about the joy of physical connection and the power of love.

Overall, "The New Kid on the Block" is a strong release from a mature artist who is still eager to push boundaries and explore new sounds. It's a must-listen for fans of Fab and for anyone interested in the current state of hip-hop.
The Moderate View

By Sandra Wilson

The battle of wits is always more than a game. "Barugan is open to interpretation," one of the players said. Barugan is more than just a word. It is a philosophy. A way of life. It is about respect, about patience, about perseverance. It is about the power of the mind over the senses. It is about the ability to think outside the box. It is about the ability to see the world through different eyes. It is about the ability to understand others, to empathize with them, to connect with them on a deeper level. It is about the ability to communicate, to express oneself, to be heard, to be understood. It is about the ability to learn, to grow, to improve. It is about the ability to challenge oneself, to push oneself, to strive for excellence. It is about the ability to live a meaningful life, to make a difference, to leave a legacy. It is about the ability to be a leader, to be a role model, to inspire others. It is about the ability to be true to oneself, to be authentic, to be real. It is about the ability to be happy, to be content, to be at peace. It is about the ability to love, to be loved, to give and to receive. It is about the ability to laugh, to cry, to feel. It is about the ability to be human. It is about the ability to be. Barugan is about the ability to dream, to aspire, to hope. Barugan is about the ability to be free, to be wild, to be wild. Barugan is about the ability to be... Barugan is about everything. Barugan is about life. Barugan is about love. Barugan is about joy. Barugan is about pain. Barugan is about struggle. Barugan is about victory. Barugan is about defeat. Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is about... Barugan is...

---

Latin American Population

(Continued from page 1)

Central American groups to speak about the political situation in El Salvador, Guatemala, and El Salvador.

"We're trying to improve our service to the Latin American Population. After a meeting with outside groups

On Tuesday, October 25, the Latin American Population will hold its annual meeting to discuss the political situation in Latin America.

In addition to the political discussions, the meeting will feature a panel of speakers representing different Latin American countries.

---

Teaching

(Continued from page 1)

We're trying to open up a lot more opportunities for students to combine their studies with political activism.

(Author's note: This statement is a continuation of the previous paragraph on political activism within the Latin American Population.)
The Daily Pennsylvania - Wednesday, November 19, 1980

Tonight

Take 2 Presents
at the CA, 36th and Locust Walk
Pabst's Kameradschaft
Ger/French workers struggle with capitalism, militarism
7:30 and 9:45 PM
Admission - $2.00
Plus
Free intermission jazz show with
The Devin Leonard Quintet
9 - 9:45
386-1530 for info.

New London Style
Pizza

• Small Pizzas
• Grinders
• Steaks
• Large Pizzas
• Hoagies
• New! Stromboli!

Open:
11 a.m. - 1 a.m. Weekdays
Till 2 a.m. Fridays & Saturdays
6 p.m. - 12 a.m. Sundays

For Convenient Take Out Call:
EV2-1492
EV2-0508

Near The Hi Rises
44 South 40th St. Sorry
No Delivery

Did you know that noon Thursday (11-20) is the Advertising deadline for the D.P. Basketball Supplement? Don't miss this chance to wish the Quakers luck! Call 243-6581 to find out how to place your ad, or stop by our offices at 4015 Walnut.

D.P. Advertising
Your direct line to Penn.

Journal Editor

Perkin-Elmer seeks a person with both a scientific background (Physics/Optics preferred) and experience in journal editing to publish its quarterly technical journal (approx. 32 pages per issue). Must work closely with Perkin-Elmer's authors, providing help in all stages of writing for this and other publications. Candidates must be prepared to bring to an interview a portfolio that demonstrates both editing and writing ability and familiarity with all phases of magazine publication.

Please forward resume and salary history to Mr. Jim McGuinness, The Perkin-Elmer Corporation, 100 Wooster Heights Road, Danbury, Connecticut 06810, or call collect (203) 797-5841.

An Equal Opportunity Employer M F

Perkin-Elmer

Thanksgiving Hours 1980
Van Pelt and Lippincott Libraries

Van Pelt
Main
Collection & Reserve

Lippincott

Wednesday,
Nov. 26
8:45 am-5:00 pm
8:45 am-5:00 pm

Thursday, Nov. 27
(Thanksgiving Day)
Closed
Closed

Friday, Nov. 28
8:45 am-5:00 pm
8:45 am-5:00 pm

Saturday, Nov. 29
10:00 am-6:00 pm
10:00 am-6:00 pm

Sunday, Nov. 30
4:00 pm-12 midnight
12 noon-2:00 am

Monday, Dec. 1
Resume Regular Hours
Resume Regular Hours

Sen. Street
(Continued from page 4)

...political... for refusing to attend House meetings when he was a slate representative because he claimed his office was a firetrap, and for disrupting City Council meetings to protest the lack of housing for minorities.

In the conference's closing statement, Virginia Governor John Dalton said the recent Reagan landslide in the November 8 elections meant that "we may encounter a political reality (in trying to return) to the original concept of federalism."
Murals To Decorate Halls Of University Residences

By MARTHA LEHR

"There'll be no more the monotonous look of a residence wall come February," said Liz Cooper, Associate Director of the Philadelphia board of Residential Living. "We're on an all-out construction campaign to beautify the halls of residence, starting with the sculptured murals we'll be installing very soon."

The murals will be installed in the halls of the dormitories, and will depict various scenes from the history of the University. The murals will be created by local artists and will be individually designed for each hall.

"We're very excited about this project," said Cooper. "It's a great way to involve the students in the design process, and we're looking forward to seeing the final results."
Penn Tourney Will Feature Irish and Gaels

By DAVID ZALENE

If a basketball tournament in the Palestra doesn’t have a few of the top teams and best players in the country playing in your backyard, you can’t seriously claim to be on top of your sport. Not that there’s anything wrong with that. The Penn Tourney is a major event, but its reputation as one of the best in the country has been somewhat tarnished. Everybody who has been to the Palestra and played in the tournament agrees that it’s a great place to be. Not that there’s anything wrong with that. The Penn Tourney is a major event, but its reputation as one of the best in the country has been somewhat tarnished. Everybody who has been to the Palestra and played in the tournament agrees that it’s a great place to be.

This year’s tournament is no exception. The Quakers, who are traditionally one of the best teams in the Ivy League, are back in action and looking to make some noise. The tournament will feature a number of top teams, including the Gaels of St. John’s and the Irish of Notre Dame. The Quakers will be looking to improve on their performance from last year, when they were eliminated in the first round.

The tournament will be held this weekend, with games scheduled for both Saturday and Sunday. The Quakers will open with a game against the Gaels on Saturday at 1 p.m., and then face the Irish on Sunday at 2 p.m. Both games will be televised on ESPN.

Women’s Basketball Preview

Not long ago, the women's basketball team was just another team in the Ivy League. But in recent years, they've made a name for themselves and have become a force to be reckoned with. With a mix of experienced players and talented freshmen, the Team is looking to make a deep run in the tournament.

The team's star player is Mary Monahan, who is coming off a strong junior season. She was named the Ivy League player of the year last year and is expected to once again take the league by storm. In addition to Monahan, the team has a talented group of guards and forwards who will be looking to make their mark.

The team will open the tournament against a tough opponent, but they're confident in their ability to come out on top. With Monahan leading the way, the Quakers are poised to make a run in the tournament and make a name for themselves on the national stage.