In conclusion, Dom Manno has proven himself to be a true community activist. His efforts have not only benefited the residents of Center City, but also the entire city. His dedication to improving the lives of the homeless is an inspiration to us all. As we move forward, let us remember the importance of working together to create a better future for all.

has on its identity.

"We would be more focused, and I think our students would have more of a sense of identity," Dixon said. "There is an Engineering School, and we crop through the program. We form a school."

"The administrative structure in terms of budgeting and personnel appointments would center around an integrated system," he added. "It would remove a single planning process under the Dean."

President Emeritus Martin Moses said the idea of renaming FAS has been discussed for a long time. "We have discussed this for the past four years, and that is the reason that we are changing the name."

"It would bring back a tradition that date to the middle of the 18th century," Dixon said, adding that the faculty of the Engineering School in the past has been associated with the Constitution. "It was formed in 1784 when the College for Liberal Arts merged with the College for Women, incorporating what Wharton School departments."

"The name is the name of the school, was being absorbed by another," the memo added. "Jane Brown, former dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, points out that we have no reason to continue that.

in private, Currie said. Much of the student protest focuses on the performance of President Frank Rohey, whom CACS member Bill Brown said "students regard with a great deal of antipathy to the idea of going back to the old system.

"I think that there is a great deal of suspicion among the students," Dixon said. "This is the first time we have been able to bring back to the past."

Benjamin Franklin is associated with the change.

"I really have no idea when these discussions will end," he added. "When we will do this is a matter of concern to the students."

"We'll get you home in time for dinner," Culhane promised.

President Reagan Recovers

Washington, April 22--President Ronald Reagan, after being shot four times in an attack yesterday in an attempt on his life, was recovering well today, his doctors said.

The President, who was rushed to the Washington General Hospital in the District of Columbia last night, was flown to the Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington, D.C., this afternoon. He is expected to make a full recovery.

The shooting, which occurred at a downtown restaurant in Washington, D.C., was the first public attack on a sitting President in American history.

Reagan was shot by John W. Hinckley Jr., a 25-year-old college student from Denver, Colorado. Hinckley was taken into custody by Secret Service agents and was charged with attempted assassination of the President.

The shooting occurred at about 11:20 a.m. when Reagan was on his way to a meeting of congressional leaders at the White House. A Secret Service agent said the President was shot as he was entering his limousine.

The President was rushed to the hospital by helicopter and was treated by surgeons at the hospital. He was then flown to the Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

Reagan's doctors said he was in stable condition and that he was expected to make a full recovery.

The shooting has set off a wave of shock and grief across the country. People have been expressing their support for the President and his family.

The Secret Service has increased security at all presidential sites and has tightened security at the White House.

The President's condition remains stable and he is expected to recover fully.

In other news, a letter was found in Hinckley's possession that was addressed to Ronald Reagan. The letter stated, "I am a member of the KKK and I am going to assassinate President Reagan in the name of the KKK."

The letter was found by Secret Service agents who searched Hinckley's hotel room after the shooting.

Hinckley is scheduled to appear in court today and will be held without bond pending the outcome of the investigation.

The shooting has led to an outpouring of support for the President and his family. People have been sending cards, flowers, and letters to the White House expressing their support.

Reagan's doctors have said he is expected to make a full recovery and will be discharged from the hospital soon.

Golfers Play Host To Princeton, Columbia

Coming off a disappointing quadrangle match weekend that saw the Owls fall to both Army and Navy, the Owls' golf team faced the Penn Quakers at the Tanglewood Golf Club yesterday afternoon. The match, which represented the only regular-season encounter between the Owls and Quakers, was played at the Owl's home course. The Owls, who are the defending champs in the Ivy League, won the match, 202-216, and are now in second place in the league.

Several things set this match apart from the Owls' previous matches. First, the Owls' previous matches took place at the Owls' home course. Second, the Owls' previous matches were against teams that were not ranked as highly as Princeton and Columbia. Finally, the Owls' previous matches were against teams that were not as well-prepared as Princeton and Columbia.

However, the Owls were able to overcome these challenges and defeat Princeton and Columbia. The Owls' strong showing was due to the excellent play of several of their players. The Owls' best performer was Alex Alexander, who shot a 71 and was the only Owl to break 80.

The Owls' victory over Princeton and Columbia was significant because it was the first time that the Owls had defeated both Princeton and Columbia in the same match. This victory was also significant because it was the Owls' first victory in the Ivy League.

Recruiting Outlook Bright For Cagers, Griddlers

In volleyball, the Owls' recruiting efforts are paying off. Several of the Owls' top recruits have already signed commitments to play for the Owls. The Owls' top recruit, Alex Alexander, has already signed a commitment to play for the Owls.

In addition, the Owls' recruiting efforts are paying off in other areas as well. The Owls' women's basketball team has already signed several recruits, and the Owls' men's basketball team is expected to sign several more recruits soon.
