To Elect New Leader

"Wanted: Dread and Alive," played with the late Bob Marley. The concert is part of a series of three on-campus concerts for this semester. And if all goes well, the extra work to organize the organization's leadership will be easier for vista students to support us," he said.

Butler said that after the process is over, the executive committee will discuss the results and make a decision before the next meeting.

"We are excited to see how this process unfolds," Butler said.

Doc Days at Sigma Chi — A big supporter of Sigma Chi's permitting the group to host a rock concert on campus next weekend. Modeling a new Decks The Halls, he pleaded for a weekend of fun for students — and profit for this year's charity, the Ronald McDonald House of West Philadelphia.

The Black Student League will be holding elections this semester to elect a new president from among its members.

Acting President Dionte Evered said that former President Carrie Harris resigned over the sum it was feared that he would not.

Evered said that the BL is currently being reviewed and that he is looking towards the past of the BL.

"We are very happy with how the process is going," Evered said.

On the issue of the upcoming nomination for the position of Student Body President, Evered said, "We are excited to see how this process unfolds."

Concert Committee as they plan for second semester

"The people who are planning them, the organization that will handle the concerts," Cooper said.

"I realize that students need a variety of options for entertainment and that graduates are an important part of the organization," Cooper added.

Cooper said she was "very disappointed" at the decision. "I hope we can work together to make this happen," she said.

Cooper also said that the people who are planning the concerts are doing a good job for the University. "I think we can do better next year," she said.

Butler said that the executive committee will discuss the results and make a decision before the next meeting.

"We are excited to see how this process unfolds," Butler said.

Greek Week Opening the Year with Celebration

ADAM SINGER, founder of Diabetes group:

Greek Week — which began its 16th year on Oct. 18 — will feature culinary treats ranging from tiny hors d'oeuvres to larger calorie-burning events, numerous fraternities and sororities, and the University has donated $10,000 to Juvenile Diabetes Foundation.

A WARM GESTURE

B. MARILYN SIEGEL

Superblock will be shaded with the presence and concern of Greek Week managers, and technical crew step out of their usual roles and take to the stage. The more the hand can get, the more they agreed, that they can give a better show when performing in front of a large number of people, said director Conly. "The more people, the better the show." A Matter of Courage

The damage the Law School has done to the University in refusing to grant tenure to Ralph Smith may be inexcusable in the instance only by President Sheldon Hackney's subsequent decision not to reverse the decision. The term action has gravely set back the cause of bestowing minority presence on the campus. And it is time that the University not only reconsider its decision but that it join the University into the 1980's.

Simply, Ralph Smith is a highly qualified law profes-

Journalism 101

It's your basic course in news reporting. It's learning the ropes, starting out as a writer. It's at the heart of every major journalism program in the country. But there is no journalism school at the University of Pennsylvania. No journalism department. Very few journalism courses. That's where we come in.

The Daily Pennsylvanian is the student-run newspaper of the University of Pennsylvania. And we can provide you with hands-on journalism experience you just can't find in a classroom. Our beat reporters and general assignment writers cover the campus, the city, and the nation. Our sportswriters are there on the sidelines, following the action wherever it is. And our photographers are there, too.

With the DP's Thursday magazine, 34th Street, readers get complete information on arts and culture right alongside the most thorough campus coverage of any Ivy League newspaper.

We'll show you all you need to know, on the job. Unlike other college newspapers, we don't believe in special training programs for new staff members. We need news, sports and feature writers, columnists and cartoonists.

There are many different reasons to be a DP staffer, from enjoyable people and rewarding work to practical experience if you're after a career in journalism. Our new computerized system for reporters and editors makes journalistic training at the DP even more valuable.

Minding The Business

The DP Business Office can also offer you practical and enjoyable experience you can't find in a classroom, in a number of different ways.

Our advertising department can teach you things about sales that you'll never learn in a textbook. Our sales representatives are constantly in touch with regular advertisers and always on the lookout for new accounts. And they're well paid for their efforts. If you have experience in sales, come join us. And if you don't, we'll be more than happy to show you just what it takes to become a successful member of our team.

Our financial and credit offices can provide you with the opportunity to put your accounting and financial management skills to work. Together, the two offices manage the ins and outs of the DP's growing $450,000 budget. Staff members work as much or as little as they wish, from a few hours every now and then to 40 hours a week and more.

Our production department can provide an outlet for your creativity. Staff members are responsible for the layout and design of all the ads in each DP. And if you don't know the difference between a pica and a point, don't fret. We'll teach you all you'll need to know. We're also looking for staff artists to provide artwork for our advertisements.

Put your knowledge to work. And have fun doing it. Join The Daily Pennsylvanian business staff.

Here's What You Do

Simply come to our introductory meeting on Friday September 18, at 4 p.m., at the DP offices – 4015 Walnut Street. Just follow the signs to the second floor. Or if you can't make it, call Scott Heller at 423-6355 any evening. Be a part of a tradition of excellence nearly a century long. And enjoy yourself. Join The Daily Pennsylvanian.

The Daily Pennsylvanian

Introductory Meeting, Friday at 4:00 p.m.
The quickest way to get emergency money.

These days, a trip to the college bookstore can reduce your available funds to some small change. Luckily, that's about all you need to make the one phone call that can replenish your depleted funds in a couple of hours. Here's what to do:

1. Call home. Report the situation, and toll the folks they can get emergency cash if they'll pay the service fee in their MasterCard® or Visa® card. A Western Union Charge Card Money Order, up to $1,000, will be flushed to the Western Union office or agent nearest your emergency.

2. Pick up your money—usually within two hours—at the local Western Union office or agent. There are 5,000 nationally, except in Alaska. Conveniently, about 200 locations are open 24 hours. It's that easy.

Be sure to remind your parents about our toll-free number. It's all they need to back you up at the bookstore.

Get a new slant on math.

"The Texas Instruments new TI-40 and TI-55-II calculators have angled displays for easy-to-see answers."

The slanted display makes these calculators easier to use at arm's length, and that's just the beginning. The essential TI-40, with built-in functions like sin, cos, tan, reciprocals and more, will help you through math and science courses, especially since it comes with the informative book, Understanding Calculator Math.

The book explains how to use the TI-40 to work through and understand common problems. If you're an advanced math or science major, you'll be more interested in the TI-55-II, which comes with the Calculator Decision-Making Sourcebook. The TI-55-II features 36-step programmability, multiple memories, scientific and statistical operations, conversion factors and much more—a total of 112 functions. An extremely powerful calculator, at an excellent price. Both calculators have LCD displays, long battery life, and fit right in your pocket. TI-40 and TI-55-II calculators. Texas's slant on math from Texas Instruments. Look for them wherever calculations are sold.

Hinkley Thrives On College Life

"Everyone expects freshmen to act silly, so we might as well, because next year we’ll have no excuse."

Hinkley's friends, Cheryl Kolbor, who lives on the same hall, agreed, but said she was surprised at the friendliness she has experienced. Kolbor, a resident of Los Angeles, said she was glad that the stigma of eastern snobbery was dispelled by the friendliness of the other end, claiming, "People are even friendlier here. There are so many cliques in L.A."

Hinkley did not waste her time during the beginning of her year and has taken time to enjoy Philadelphia. For the rest of the year, she plans to get involved with performing arts groups and hopes to major in English. Hinkley takes her responsibilities as a student very seriously, saying, "If you can't have the personal contact with teachers and the amount of time to ask questions that you did in high school, you must take your work much more seriously. Lectures alone aren't enough to teach you anything."

"Everyone expects freshmen to act silly, so we might as well, because next year we’ll have no excuse."

"The paying for much of my own education, and for that much money, I want to get something out of it," she said, stating that she also hopes to create a friendship network at the university. "It's more attractive toward businesses that consider educational achievement material."
Don't Sell Us Short.

The Daily Pennsylvanian is looking for sales representatives. It's that simple. As a sales rep for the DP, we can offer you practical experience you just can't find in a classroom. And we'll pay you for your efforts, as well. Our sales representatives service all the DP's regular advertising accounts. And for their work, they receive regular commissions. It's one of the few non-work study positions around.

Our sales representatives work in a professional environment. No matter what you're looking to do after college, solid sales experience will be an asset to your resume. And if you're looking for a position in sales or marketing, we'll give you the experience no textbook can.

If you've had previous sales or marketing experience, that's great. And if you don't, don't worry. We'll train you, equip you, and put you to work right away — where you'll receive even more training on the job.

Don't sell us short. And don't sell yourself short. You can be a DP sales representative.

The Canterbury Press

The Canterbury Press will be in the Philadelphia area for 1 night only to present a unique course in speed reading. Conventional speed reading courses cost too much ($325 to $595), take too long (6 to 8 weeks), and aren't designed specifically for students. The One Day Course changes all that. Tuition is $85, and the complete technique is taught in one highly charged 5-hour class. Results are positively guaranteed, as follows:

The guarantees state:

"If you do not at least double your reading rate . . . or are not completely satisfied after taking the One Day Course, you will receive a full tuition refund."

TheOneDay SpeedReadingCourse IS COMING AGAIN!

One Night Only

Wednesday, Sept. 23rd, 7 to 10 pm

Holiday Inn, 36th & Chestnut Street

(FingerTips . . .)

Will I be able to use the new technique right away?

Improvement is gradual, comfortable, and almost immediate. You will use the techniques in daily studies as soon as you have completed the One Day Course.

How does it feel to read this way?

The average college student reads approximately 300 words per minute (that translates to one typical novel page). At 600 words per minute there isn't much difference in the sensation. But when you reach 1000 words per minute, it's been computed to watching a movie. Perhaps that sounds a bit exaggerated, but instead of just words, graduates say whole ideas, scenes, and conversations enter the mind. At 1000 words per minute, data is perceived in a more life-like manner, as opposed to just words. The Canterbury Press guarantees that you will double your rate in only one day. Continued practice will further your skill.

How do I know if I need it?

If you can answer yes to any of the following, you need the One Day Speed Reading Course:

- you spend too much time reading
- you've had trouble keeping up with your workload
- you've had more free time
- you have trouble remembering what you read
- you wish to improve your grades
- your low reading rate is a source of endless worry
- you've trouble remembering what you read
- you are very anxious about your reading speed
- you've been told you read too slow

With exams coming up, there is nothing you can do in one day that will have as great an effect on your test results.

The guarantee states:

"If you do not at least double your reading rate . . . or are not completely satisfied after taking the One Day Course, you will receive a full tuition refund."

Steinberg heads, has diverse interests, including insurance and management services. Neither Steinberg nor Dietrich family members were available for comment yesterday.

Carroll said the $4 million was pledged "with almost no strings attached."

"About $100,000 of the total donation will go toward the addition of a student-servicing and studying lounge, in accordance with Mr. Steinberg's wishes," Carroll said. "His daughter goes here, and he is very sympathetic to the needs of students."

A maximum schedule of $1 million a year for four years has been agreed upon by both University officials and Steinberg, Carroll said, and the first $1 million check has been received. He added that between $9 million and $10 million of the $10 million total project cost is in the bank. $4 million of which came as alumni, corporate and private gifts.

WASHINGTON - President Reagan plans to propose new cuts in Social Security that will not balance the federal budget "at the expense of those dependent" on the program.

The President told hundreds of supervisors of his economic program he will not hesitate to veto legislation that would save spending over his budget projections. Reagan plans to make budget adjustments in months to follow.

"We've put our proposal to Congress, and ing had caused "a great deal of conservation" and noted: "We've made

In 1981, Reagan declared a "government crisis" and announced cuts in defense spending and Social Security benefits. The cuts were part of a broader effort to reduce the federal deficit and reverse the trend of government spending.

Reagan's stance was in line with the budget proposals of his Republican colleagues, who sought to limit the growth of entitlement programs such as Social Security.

The President's decision was met with mixed reactions, with some praising his commitment to fiscal responsibility and others critiquing the potential impact on vulnerable populations.

Reagan's stance on Social Security was a central issue in the 1982 congressional elections, with many candidates campaigning on their positions on the issue.

The story was published in the Christian Science Monitor, which covered the political landscape of the time, including the ongoing debate over government spending and the role of Social Security in the economy.

The Pennsylvania soccer team opened its 1980 season last night with a convincing 2-0 victory over three times national champion La Salle at Franklin Field. Kevin Kinney, goalkeeper for both team goalie Mike Moore, scored a goal in the first half to give Penn a 1-0 lead in the early going. The team’s performance, keeping in mind the conditions, was very effective. The Penn back-four played its best game so far, and the midfielders got the ball to the Penn attack, although the second half proved to be more of a struggle. The team’s performance was a reminder of how well the team played last season. The victory over La Salle seemed to be a perfect way to start the season. The players were able to show their skills and put in a good performance. The victory also set the stage for the team’s upcoming games, which will be against some tough opponents.
